BOY INJURED IN ACCIDENT DIES MONDAY

The body of Hulon Houston Fowler, about 19, who died at a Ranger hospital early Monday morning as the result of injuries received in an accident Sunday morning, was shipped to Grand Saline Monday by Killingsworth, Cox & Co.

The youth was riding in a car loaded with pipe when the accident occurred in the Ranger yards of the Texas & Pacific Railway company. As the train was switching the pipe shifted, catching Fowler and crushing his skull.

Three other occupants of the car were slightly injured in the accident.

Fowler was taken to a hospital at 5 o'clock Sunday morning, immediately after the accident, and he died at 3:10 Monday morning.

Funeral services are to be held from a chapel near Grand Saline, near the farm home of the youth, Tuesday afternoon.

Will Geese Escape Death Trap And Continue Journey To South

NIAGARA, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Thousands of Arctic wild geese today eluded an apparent death trap that held them on the upper Niagara river for 24 hours and flew away on their annual southward migration.

They left behind 200 of their number, victims either of the mighty Niagara Falls or the guns of hunters.

The geese, estimated at 10,000, were trapped when ganders leading their flight from the Arctic to the Carolinas unsuspectingly brought their followers to rest on the current of the upper river.

Confused by the roar of the falls the birds conducted an "endless chain" flight of the waters from yesterday morning to this morning. Swept to the brink of the falls they continually took wing up stream to light on the water and rest again until carried to the edge of the falls.

Admits Slaying Lottery Winner

The luck that brought a $40,000 sweepstakes prize to Roland E. Steele of Eastaw, Ala., led him on to his death when he celebrated his good fortune. Elva Cross, 22-year-old Oklahoma girl of Indian descent, confessed to New Orleans police that she fatally stabbed Steele when he attacked a bartender in the night club where she was hostess. She is pictured after her arrest.

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce will be held tonight, at which time all members of the board have been urged to be present. The meeting will begin promptly at 7 o'clock.

A 100 per cent attendance has been urged as several matters of importance, including the selection of a president to replace J. E. Meroney, who has resigned to become secretary, are to be taken up and it is the desire of all to complete the business as early as possible.

Suspect Suicides

Albert Stern, alias Stein (above), held in connection with eight gangland murders in New York City, and the shooting of Martin Krompfer, who was moved down on Broadway at the same time Dutch Schultz was assassinated in Newark, N. J., who committed suicide in his jail cell when captured.

AUTOMOBILES ARE CAUSE OF MOST DEATHS

Several Others Seriously Injured In Accidents Over the State.

Week-end accidents and violence caused six deaths in Texas. Two boys and a girl returned to their homes from a dance which was held early Sunday near Georgetown when their car collided with another machine. Those killed were Earle Henderson Jr., 1; Georgetown; Doyle Klein, Taylor and Jimmy May, 13, Georgetown; Miles Davis of Georgetown, driver of the other machine, was unhurt.

Four companions of young Henderson, who were riding in the back seat, were injured, three seriously.

Miss Lillian Bonnett, 22, of Skellytown was killed and 19 others injured when two cars carrying merry-makers home from a dance collided near Littlefield. Doctors feared Miss Katherine Monroe might not survive, and Jack Greer, 19, suffered several head injuries. Members of the party said one car attempted to pass a truck and ran head-on into the other car.

Miss Leonia Frowling of Waco was killed Sunday and five others were hurt when the truck in which they were riding overturned near Waco.

Ned Merchant, 57, creamery employee in Fort Worth, died in Fort Worth hospital after he himself, a coroner's verdict said.

Plans For Credit Association Are Part of Program

STEPHENVILLE, Oct. 28.—Plans for the annual stockholders meeting of the Stephenville Production Credit association in January and a tentative educational program for prospective members were discussed at a meeting of the board of directors of the association held in Stephenville.

G. D. Kennedy, field representative of the Production Credit corporation of Houston was in attendance and addressed the meeting. Production Credit associations of which there are 38 in Texas, have advanced more than $8,000,000 to Texas farmers and stockmen and are preparing for the rush of next season's business.

More and more stockmen and farmers, Kennedy said, are coming to a realization of the many advantages offered by production credit loans with their low rate of interest, which at present is 5 per cent.

One of the important actions at this meeting was the appointment of membership committees in the several counties composing the territory of the association. These committees will function to develop greater interest in the association among the members, and assist in informing non-member farmers and stockmen about Production Credit services. The committee members also expect to stimulate interest in the annual stockholders' meeting in January when officers and directors of the association will be elected. Committeemen in this territory include M. O. Hazard of Eastland; W. A. Marshall of Cisco; L. R. O'Brien of Cisco; Joe McNeely of Gorman.

JUDGE GARRETT ELECTED HEAD TEXAS GROUP

County Judge Clyde L. Garrett was elected president of an organization composed of 1,500 members—the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas—at the final session of a meeting held in San Antonio Saturday.

The election marked the second similar body with wide geographical proportions that Judge Garrett has headed. Until last month he was president of the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners' Association.

R. O. Jacobs, commissioner from Rising Star, also attended the meeting.

Mrs. Garrett accompanied Judge Garrett to the meeting.

ITALIANS PUSH NOT STARTED IN ETHIOPIA

The thirteenth anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome found Mussolini's troops awaiting the word to advance sought in the second offensive of the conquest of Ethiopia.

Dispatches from the front indicated the "big push" had not begun early today. Instead there was a holiday of rejoicing and minor penetrations of Ethiopian territory all along the line without resistance.

The largest and most powerful army ever assembled on a war basis since the World War is in Ethiopia.

Hope in Europe for a peaceful settlement was dimmed. Britain was adamant and determined to push for the application of sanctions at Geneva. Nov. 15 is indicated as the date she probably would propose—incidentally the day after the British general election.

On a visit to London Frederick Kuhl found the British position as steadfast as ever. Britain thought so little of Mussolini's terms she did not even communicate them to Haile Selassie. She also was determined to oppose open or veiled annexation of Tigre province in north, as Italy proposes.

France, although still hopeful for some miracle of compromise, stood side by side with Britain to enforce all league penalties.

Years Devoted to Assembling of Much Miniature Furniture

JACKSON, Mich.—Russell Carter, a young man who resides here, has two hobbies—one is building miniature furniture and buildings and the other is collecting guns.

His collection of miniature furniture includes a table, six chairs, an extension dining table with extra leaves, a high chair, davenport, overstuffed chairs and tables with sliding drawers. Enough to outfit a miniature home.

Of his miniature buildings one in certain—a cow barn is his favorite. It is built to scale and complete in every detail, with 28 workable stanchions, grain bins with removable front boards. Doors and windows work perfectly, and throughout the structure every beam and rafter is braced exactly as a large barn. He says he spent a year and a half completing this creation.

Several guns of different makes are included among his collection.

PENSION BILL CAUSES RIFT IN THE SENATE

AUSTIN, Oct. 28.—Sales tax and anti-sales tax forces clashed in the senate today for the fourth time of the special session.

The issue was raised when Senators W. R. Foote, Waco, and Ben Oneal, Wichita Falls, sought to instruct conferees on an old age pension bill not to incorporate a sales tax or any gross receipts tax on retail sales in the pension bill.

The senate has voted three times against the sales tax. Senator D. J. Holbrook, Galveston, predicted that the senate will accept a limited sales tax if it passes a pension bill that can be financed.

Lieutenant Governor Walter Woodfill held the conference committee would have the right to attach a sales tax to the pension bill.

Three of five house conferees on a pension bill are said to be for a sales tax to finance it. Senate conferees had not been named when the debate began today.

Exciting Bouts Are Promised at Elk Arena For Tonight

Arrangements have been completed and two fast and exciting wrestling bouts are on the Elk program tonight at their arena.

Anderson and Davis clash in the main event which is two best out of three falls, two hour time limit. Anderson hails from San Antonio and is known as the tough Dutchman and comes recommended as such. Owen Davis, the Texas University mat champion, who gave Pat Swanson a tough bout, will be Anderson's opponent.

The semi-final, one-hour time limit, brings in a new comer, from the Bowery of New York, Mickey Sullivan. This is Sullivan's first appearance in Texas, having just arrived from a successful trip through Kansas and Oklahoma. He takes on the tough but boy, Tommy Kaiser. These matches will furnish plenty of action. The show starts promptly at 8:30.

BRAZOS RIVER PROJECT TO BE DECIDED UPON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—A decision on whether or not immediate construction of the first dam of the Brazos river project will be started on the basis of the present survey will follow a conference with H. P. Drought and army engineers in San Antonio tomorrow.

Believing he has done everything possible to pave the way for the project Senator Sheppard left Saturday to arrive home Nov. 1.

Drought has notified the Texas attorney general funds are set aside for the first dam, estimated at $3,500,000. This money is made available out of an $11,000,000 warrant just countersigned for Texas projects.

"WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins is ready to approve construction of one or two dams," Senator Sheppard said.

"It is up to Drought as to what is to be done. He is the key man in the situation."

In a conference tomorrow with the State WPA head will be district Army Engineer Marks and Engineer McCosh, who will study the preliminary made at a cost of more than $300,000.

"We must convince the army engineers this survey is satisfactory if work is to proceed at once," Sheppard said.

"If they decide additional surveys are necessary naturally we shall have to accept their opinion. It would delay work."

Sheppard pointed out both WPA and WPA engineers are satisfied as to the adequacy of the survey. WPA engineers found the preliminary report satisfactory but the project was never passed by the WPA.

Highway Board Of South Carolina Is Ousted Today

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 28.—With the aid of national guard, armed with machine guns, Gov. Olin Johnston today replaced the 14-member state highway commission with a board of managers of six members.

The move was the climax of a long fight in which the governor has sought to remove Ben Sawyer, chief highway commissioner. Johnston in campaign speeches charged the department with building up a "political octopus."

Joe Claus, Spartanburg, was named by the governor as executive manager of the highway department.

Port Arthur Port Infested By Sharks

PORT ARTHUR, Tex.—E. E. Duplantis, furniture salesman, has reported Lake Sabine infested by sharks. He was standing on a pier several days ago with some companions and watched the sea monsters feed for over an hour.

They were early identified by the sail fin, and were said to be of the man-eating variety due to their actions, peculiar to the species.

The sharks were judged to be from 15 to 20 feet in length. They would approach debris on top of the water, flip over on their sides and snap at it, Duplantis said.

Duplantis said that was the first time he had ever seen sharks in the lake, but fishermen reported such an occurrence not improbable at this time of year, when sharks chase trout into fresh water.

K. of C.'s Seeking A Statement of Religious Policy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The supreme board of the Knights of Columbus charged in a letter to President Roosevelt he had broken his promise to make a public statement of this government's attitude toward religious situation in Mexico.

The letter asserted 14 presidents had acted under similar circumstances to console people of faiths other than Catholicism.

"The fact that in every case," the Knights wrote, "the persons on whose behalf representations were made were of different faiths, while almost the entire Mexican people are of the Catholic faiths, surely does not warrant a change in the policy of this government in that regard."

Keep Minute Check On 1,300 Convicts

LEWISBURG, Pa.—Something like the "old woman who lived in a shoe," Capt. E. J. Lloyd has so many charges he always has plenty to do.

His responsibility is that of knowing at all hours of the day where on the 1,500-acre reservation of the federal Northeastern penitentiary each of the 1,300 convicts may be found.

Lloyd issues passes allowing inmates to go to various parts of the huge prison area for work or recreation. He checks his pass record four times a day by roll calls at many points on the grounds.

The captain's desk resembles the working place of a train dispatcher. His work must be just as accurate. If he finds an error in his records, all activities at the penitentiary halt until the missing man is accounted for.

Before coming to Northeastern penitentiary when it opened in 1932, Lloyd was responsible for the whereabouts of the inmates of Leavenworth penitentiary for three years.

Brine In a Lake Preserves the Body Of a Red Soldier

SEBASTOPOL, U. S. S. R.—The perfectly-preserved body of a Red Army soldier, killed 15 years ago during the Russian civil war, recently was found in a salt lake by Crimean peasants. The brine, far saltier than that of the sea, was said to be responsible for the body's preservation.

Even the soldier's clothes and shoes were intact as well as his documents which showed he was Phokhor Onovov.

The body will be buried with military honors.

Mrs. Ed Dakan's Funeral Is Held

Funeral services for Mrs. E. Dakan, about 55, who died Saturday afternoon, were held from her residence on South Ostrum street in Eastland Sunday with Rev. Fred C. Eastham, Baptist church pastor, officiating. Burial was in the Eastland cemetery.

She had been sick for several months.

Survivors include a brother, Weaver Hague, of Eastland.

Full bearers were Frank Castleberry, John S. Hart, Elmo Hill, Milton Newman, J. A. Beard and A. A. Edmondson.

3rd Transfusion Given Eastland Man at Gorman

Doctors attending M. L. Keasler of Eastland who recently underwent an appendix operation at Blackwell Sanitarium in Gorman, today awaited reaction of a blood transfusion given this morning.

Blood for the transfusion, the third, was given by Dace Myers of Eastland.

Doctors told Eastland citizens hope for Keasler hinged on a favorable reaction to the transfusion.

Should the transfusion fail to aid Keasler, physicians were reported to have predicted his death likely in 48 hours.

New York Gangs Continue Battles

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Two men, described by police as racketeers, were shot today in a new outbreak of underworld violence.

The attempted assassination followed the slaying of "Dutch" Schultz and three of his lieutenants in a war to control the racket. Today's victims were shot by gunmen who waited for them in a hallway of a rooming house.

Hidalgo County's total of $5,278.92 was for cotton program participation alone. Cameron County's total of $2,651.68 was divided into $1,989.11 for cotton and $662.57 for corn-hog participation. Wilbrey County's total of $1,052.07 was divided into $968.72 for cotton and $83.35 for corn-hog.

Speeders Must Read 'And Sudden Death'

DALLAS, Tex.—Three high school boys were taken before Judge King S. Williamson of the Corporation Court for speeding and besides being fined $10 were given a reading lesson.

After taking their money the judge sent them with their attorney into the witness room, where they were made to read over the bloody description of traffic accidents. "—And Sudden Death."

When the youths came out of the room their faces were very pale and they left the court telling companions about the horrors of automobile accidents and resolving to do better in the near future.

Work Relief Collapse Due To Own Inertia

The three great collapses of the year seem to be those of Maxie Baer, the New York Giants and President Roosevelt's work relief program.

In no case was the collapse altogether unexpected; but while the first two can be laughed off by everybody except those who put their money down on the wrong side, the work relief program's collapse is somewhat more serious.

A fund of $4,000,000,000 was set up, if you remember. With it the administration promised to give work to no fewer than 3,500,000 people by the first of November.

Shortly after the middle of October it was disclosed that 1,310,000 people had been given jobs under this program. Bad enough in itself, this figure is even more discouraging when analyzed.

In the first place, that total includes some 580,000 CCC workers, and approximately 133,000 men working under other than federal agencies. In the second place, far from a last minute rush as the deadline drew near, there was an actual let-down in the work of re-employment, only about 180,000 men having been taken off the relief rolls by the WPA during the first two weeks of October. And of the 600,000 men actually given jobs by the WPA, a full third are in New York City.

These figures reflect something unpleasantly like an utter collapse of one of the most vital of the administration's efforts. In spite of the proven executive ability of WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins, this collapse must be at least partly due to sheer fumbling and bungling. The greater part of the blame, however, seems to have been caused by confusion in the administration's mind as to the form which a work relief program ought to take.

The original idea was that it would be a vast public works program. Bridges would be built, slums would be cleared away, roads would be paved, parks would be laid out, public buildings would go up, canals would be dug, and a great number of highly useful, permanent works would be added to the country's possession.

In such jobs, however, a great deal of money has to be spent for materials. The administration decided that there would be too little direct re-employment that way. So the plan was modified. Projects for public works were scaled down ruthlessly, to make way for ventures in which most of the money would be paid out in actual wages.

The result was a revival of a long series of leaf-raking projects, and local enthusiasm ebbed. It was easy to think of big jobs that needed doing; it was hard to cook up schemes for transferring topsoil from one side of the road to the other.

The original public works program would have picked up speed as it went along. By stimulating business in the heavy industries, it would have created many jobs indirectly. The work relief stunt has no momentum of its own. An artificial thing from the start, it is bound to lag and wobble.

A Question That May Come Up Any Day Now

ALLEY OOP By HAMLIN

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—If there were trustworthy figures as to the cost of making a loaf of bread, the merits of the battle between Secretary Wallace and the baking companies over increased bread prices might be more easily decided.

It's all very technical and complicated. But bread prices are likely to be a political issue, and certainly they're causing plenty of excitement here at the moment, so perhaps you'd better know the facts.

The national average price per pound of bread was 6.4 cents in early 1933. It had increased to 8.3 cents by July, 1934, and remained at about that figure until the current boom of one to two cents a loaf. The original increase was considered more than enough to cover the half cent in processing taxes, the higher costs of ingredients, and still leave three-quarters of a cent for added labor costs and larger profits.

Thus Wallace tries to laugh off the claim that the latest increase is due to that favorite goal of food-makers, the processing tax. But he has to admit that the cost of ingredients—flour, sugar, malt, shortening and dried milk—has advanced in the last year. So he says that no more than a maximum of half a cent increase is justified and that a general one cent increase means $60,000,000 or more of added profit for bakers.

AAA has plenty for which to answer, but it also has the uncomfortable assurance that it will have to answer for plenty for which it isn't to blame. The recent blast of the National Restaurant Association—promising to discourage consumption of pork foods, blaming the government entirely for high meat prices and completely ignoring the big drought—was a case in point.

WHAT Wallace doesn't know is just how much less than half a cent of increase is justified by higher costs. His figures, showing that the cost of flour in a pound of bread is 35-100ths of a cent higher and shortening 15-100ths of a cent up, are computed on an old base with the assumption that bakers

Sport Glances. By Grayson

PHILADELPHIA—The case of the unhappy James Emory Fox is not likely to become a new symbol for frustration in America, supplanting that of Evangeline and Gabriel, who spent 40 years looking for one another among the prairies of New Orleans.

Fox's services are much too valuable and his salary a bit high for him to be permitted to pine for new playmates and surroundings.

The fact that Fox is dissatisfied in Philadelphia and has given up on the city and Connie Mack is as good a reason as any for suspecting that the all-around star of the Athletics will appear in strange livery in 1936, most likely in that of the immensely wealthy Boston Red Sox.

Fox made the world series trip with Thomas Austin Yawkey, the young man of many millions who owns the Hub entry; Edward Trowbridge Collins, his general manager, and Joe Cronin, his field marshal and shortstop. Yawkey, Fox, and Collins are close personal friends. Fox and Collins formerly resided next door to each other just outside of Philadelphia. They hunt together.

Upon leaving for his home in San Francisco, Cronin hinted that a large transaction with the Athletics was on—one that should enable the Red Sox to cop the plums in 1936.

Mack Asks $200,000
YAWKEY would pay the Athletics a fancy figure for Fox, the longest-distance right-hand hitter of all time, but believes that the $200,000 asked by Mack would be more wisely invested in a flock of young players.

When Mack placed the $200,000 tag on Fox, Yawkey didn't bring up the question of the transfer of Roger Cramer, Frank Higgins, Bob Johnson, Wally Moses, or Johnny Marcum, other Athletics mentioned as having a good chance of getting reprieved in Philadelphia in a deal with the Red Sox.

The Golden Feather

JEAN DUNN, secretary to DON MONTAGUE, lawyer, delays her marriage when HOBBY WATSON, automobile salesman, asks her to marry him. At the Golden Feather night club Jean meets SANDY BARKER, whose business connection is a vague, shady introduction.

Small Songster

Listen, if you'd rather not, don't bother. I can make it to this next point okay. I only wanted to cash a small one. "Of course I don't mind. Why should I? Come on."

MR. HOBART inspected the check with that air of reserved suspicion peculiar to bankers, glanced briefly at Jean, and handed Sandy two $10 bills. Sandy took them and thanked him, and they stood there indulging in a moment or two of small talk.

SHE'S JUST TRYING TO COVER UP... TO TRY TO SPARE US A LOT OF WORRY! SHE DOESN'T EVEN THINK I SUSPECT SOMETHING IS WRONG WITH HER!!

GOSH, MOTHERS ARE WONDERFUL! IT'S A GOOD THING FOR THE WORLD THAT EVERY BOY AND GIRL HAS TO HAVE ONE!

ON TEXAS FARMS

Using well developed wood six or eight inches long, Louise Lowe, 4-H Club girl of Glen Fawn in Rusk county has rooted 30 rose cuttings for her yard improvement demonstration. She put them out about a year ago. Planting close together in a small space made the cuttings easy to care for.

Louise Lan, 4-H Club girl of Jarrel, in Williamson county, planted 11,998 feet to 21 varieties of vegetables in her work as garden demonstrator. She estimates the value of the produce used fresh and canned for home use to be $127.32. The expense of the garden was $11.21.

F. J. Smith, 4-H Club boy of Stonewall county, bought two Hereford calves in May weighing 190 and 205 pounds. The calves now weigh 430 and 465 pounds. They were not started on feed until the latter part of August.

Sixty bushels of yellow dent corn is the harvest from one acre of land worked by George Huffman, 4-H Club boy of Brannon county in Hopkins county. In the same field his father's harvest ran about 15 bushels less per acre. Young Huffman attributes his success to methods of cultivation.

GOLIAD—N. Borth of Melrose community in Goliad county has made a net profit of $117.81 from his flock during the past three months. Borth has about 266 white leghorn hens.

This poultry demonstrator adheres strictly to all the best methods of poultry production, including proper feeding methods of balanced laying mash, correct amounts of home grain, periodic worming with pure white gasoline, and shipping his eggs through the Goliad co-operative egg shipping associations.

Borth attributes much of his profit to the prices he receives for his infertile eggs. He claims that he has received about $20 more for the period by shipping co-operatively.

JEFFERSON—R. K. Brown of the Mims Chapel community of Marion county reports that he has had good results from a few acres of pop corn which he tried this year.

DICKENS—Mrs. T. D. Hale, yard demonstrator in the Prairie Chapel Home Demonstration Club of Dickens county, believes "a grassed front yard."

"We have solid turf in our front yard," she said, "and it doesn't seem possible since we only put out the grass the latter part of March." She kept putting soil over the runners or setting runners in the bare or thin places until the yard was completely covered. Bermuda grass was used.

Just a Bit Personal

Mrs. J. S. McDowell and daughter, Cecelia, accompanied by Mrs. R. A. Tunnell and daughter, Gwendolyn, motored to Fort Worth Saturday, where a pleasant day's visit was had.

T. J. Anderson, D. N. Waggoner, J. A. Johnson, R. C. Stidham and Nath Pirkle are in Dallas today attending a sales meeting of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

According to postcards received from Mrs. E. V. Reynolds, who has been visiting relatives in California and New Mexico for the past four months, she plans on bringing her visit to a close on Nov. 5, at which time she will begin her journey homeward. During her absence she has had the paper sent her and states she has enjoyed receiving it immensely, and although her visits have been most pleasant, her home state, Texas, is mighty hard to beat. Mrs. Reynolds' Ranger home address is 214 South Marston street. She was accompanied on the trip out to the west coast by a daughter, who teaches school in Oklahoma.

D. R. Holliday of Eastland, Route No. 2, teacher at Union School, was a visitor to the Times office Saturday afternoon. Another visitor during the day was W. O. Barrett of Route No. 2, Ranger. Both are readers of the Ranger Daily Times and Eastland County News.

John Hassen has just returned from Sulphur, Okla., where he has opened a ready-to-wear store, and reports business is very good at this time.

C. E. Maddocks, who has been ill for the past three weeks during which time he was confined to a local hospital a part of the time, is now able to resume his duties at the C. E. Maddocks & Daughter Insurance Office.

D. Joseph is in Dallas this week where he will transact business several days in behalf of the Joseph Dry Goods Company.

Woman, 102, Finds Life Uninteresting
MUSCATINE, Ia.—Mrs. Julia

Plenis, 102, asserts that she is weary of life and is anxiously awaiting death. The white-haired woman, her eyes dim after a century span in which she has never worn glasses, voluntarily spends most of her time in bed. She reads, sews and converses brightly if she can find someone to speak to her in the French language.

She was born in Franco and came to New York at the age of 18 years. After her marriage in St. Louis, she moved to an I truck farm with her husband. New air-cooling equipment stalled in Capitol. It remains seen whether the machinery survive a filibuster.
