Moscow Proves Value of Private Industry

The ways of unbridled capitalism may lead to sin, but they do keep salesman and producer up on their toes. Whatever else may happen to the man who is out to make a dollar, he at least has to remember his customers.

Over in Soviet Russia, where they ate the last capitalist for breakfast long years ago, they seem to be having trouble with their department stores. They have fine stores and the stores sell fine goods, but something is missing—and a glance at the machinery leads one to wonder if the missing article may not be the lubricating oil supplied by your old pal, Individual Initiative.

An American newspaper correspondent sent an account of the situation to the New York Herald-Tribune recently. He explained that the Moscow stores are experiencing a big buying boom nowadays.

The city's largest department store is entertaining 230,000 customers a day. Soviet industry is at last beginning to turn out goods in something like the volume that the citizens demand, and business is swell.

It is swell, that is, except for one thing; the would-be buyer is having a terrible time finding the things he wants.

The correspondent tested this by taking a Russian in town and setting out to buy some of the things which the factories are turning out in quantity lots.

Boots, for instance. The biggest store had lots and lots of boots—but none in the sizes between 4 and 10. The would-be purchaser was advised to come back in maybe three weeks.

Sheepskin coats, fur-lined vests—made desirable by the thermometer-depressing tendencies of the Russian winter—and plan, every-day (proletarian pants were in a like case. The counters overflowed with them, but getting a fit was something else again.

Russian customers seem to be much like any other kind, so loud squawks have been filling the Muscovite air.

The Russian government has been looking into things, and it reports that the trouble lies in the relations between retailer and manufacturer.

The retailers simply don't know how to keep a sufficient assortment of things on hand. Factories may be turning out plenty of shoes, coats, vests, and pants—but the Moscow version of the purchasing agent doesn't seem to know how to take advantage of it.

Now the point of all this is simply that this is one place where the lure of private profit looks irreplaceable. The department store man in America stock up with what his customers want or he goes out of business. The process is automatic and speedy.

The relationship between producer and salesman adjusts itself. Take away this compulsion and you inevitably put the customer on a take-it-and-like-it basis.

Relief To Be—

While WPA will have absorbed a big majority of all employable families now on relief rolls by Jan. 1, we know that there will be some, who for one reason or another, will not have employment on WPA projects, but they will not be granted any relief from Texas Relief Commission funds. Therefore, each city and county must become aware of and realize the seriousness of the situation that will exist in some of the families in their communities, and we earnestly beg you to begin immediately the formulation of plans for assisting those families and individuals whom the Texas Relief Commission will not be able to assist.

In Eastland county, there are now approximately 321 unemployable cases and it is estimated that the funds now on hand will provide in part only for these families until April 1. Some of the services that we have been in the past able to render, such as medical aid, hospitalization, dental care, and etc., cannot be rendered in the future, beginning Jan. 1. Therefore, it is important that each community and county be made aware of the responsibility that will fall on their shoulders Jan. 1, in order that they can immediately start preparations for rendering those services that the Texas Relief Commission has formerly rendered but will be unable to render after Jan. 1.

We want you to know that we will be only too glad to work with you in planning for the future care of indigent people in your county, and if you will call on your local relief office or the district office in Eastland, we will be glad to assist you in any way within our power and ability.

In the near future announcement will be made as to the personnel in your county who will carry on the relief program from Jan. 1 to April 1, 1936.

SANTA CLAUS OR THE BOGY MAN?

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

NO matter how many quills a porcupine loses in battle, he never is found unarmed. Counts were made of two porcupines, a male and a female, and the results were 36,459 and 24,800 quills, respectively, or an average of about 30,000. The quills on the head are used for defense, while those on the tail serve offensively.

LETTERS FOR SANTA CLAUS

Dear Santa: I am a little boy four years old and have tried to be a good little boy. Please bring me a train with a truck. I also want a tractor, a drum, a ball and a car with lights. Don't forget the other little girls and boys. Your little friend, Billy Ray Burnett.

Dear Santa: I am a little girl just five years old. I help my mother do lots of work. I have been a good little girl. This year I want you to bring me a Shirley Temple doll, a set of dishes, some candy, nuts and fruit. Please do not forget my little brother. He's a pretty good little boy. Remember all the sick, and poor little children, please. Your little friend, Sammie Lee Powers, Desdemona.

Dear Santa: I'm a little boy two years old. I pull my little sister's curls, but that isn't very bad. So I want you to bring me lots of things little boys like. I want a car, train and ball. Remember all the little children please. Your little friend, Truman Dale Powers.

Dear Santa: I want a Shirley Temple doll and blackboard. I love you very much, and Santa I would like some candy and fruit. Love, Belva Glen Blackwell, Gorman.

Dear Santa Claus: I am a boy eight years old and in the third grade at school. These are the toys I would like you to bring me. A big desk, a set of boys books, a play machine gun, a wagon with real tires, and a headlight that will burn, and a Dick Tracy detective game. Hope you will remember all other little boys and girls too. With love, Billy Anderson, Ranger, Texas.

Dear Santa Claus: I thing I have been a good little boy. I wish you would bring me a little red wagon, airgun, boots and lots of fruit, nuts and candy. Your friend, Royce McGaha, Route 2, Gorman.

Dear Santa: I am a little boy six years old. I have been a very good little boy and I want you to bring me a little wagon and a tractor and old Santa I have a little brother. He is three. Please don't forget him. Bring us some puts and candy, apples, oranges. I will go hoping to see you Christmas night. Edwin and Jurel Varner, Route 1, Desdemona, Texas.

Western Roads to Cut Fares Down

CHICAGO.—In their efforts to combat competition from the automobile, bus and airplane, western railroads will offer the lowest passenger rates ever installed in any territory, it was announced by H. W. Siddall, chairman of the Transcontinental Passenger association. The new rates will go into effect next May 15 and will be maintained until Oct. 15.

Navy Honors Hero With Second Ship

The first ship named in honor of Lieutenant Commander Andrew Boyd Cummings having been scrapped a few years after being built, the U. S. Navy honored him a second time by naming a new destroyer the Cummings. The speedy war dog is pictured as it slid down the ways when launched at Mariner's Harbor, Staten Island, N. Y.

Round trip fares to Western and Southwestern points also will be reduced net summer, according to Siddall and J. E. Hannegan, chairman of the Southwestern Passenger Association.

Tickets with an Oct. 31 return limit will go on sale June 1 and will be available until Sept. 30. These provide for a first class rate of 2 cents a mile. Tickets with a 21-day return limit will be 1.65 cents a mile.

John L. McKelvin Honored on Birthday
Honoring the tenth birthday of her son, John L. McKelvin, Mrs. R. H. McKelvin entertained with a gala party at her home, 700 Walnut street, Monday evening.

The entertaining rooms were in gray Yuletide dress, with the bright decorations centering about colors of red, green, orange and blue.

Games were played during the hour and refreshments served on dainty plates appointed with Christmas favors, brought to a climax the delightful party attended by Leo Jean Reese, Dewey McGregor, Harry Neville, Jack Thomas, Mary Allen Lanier, Wayne Richardson, Wilton Lee Bernd, Eddie and Anesee Hassen, Virginia Coulson, Minnie Sue Thomas, Betty Rucker, Don Hamon, Nurel Stiles, Ross Lee May, Russell and Lloyd Fondren.

Informal Ring Ceremony
Rev. H. B. Johnson, pastor of the First Christian Church, read the informal ring ceremony at his home, West Main street, last night, uniting in marriage Miss Vivian Davidson and J. B. Fleckenstein. The young couple were paid honor by a group of close friends who attended the ceremony.

Mrs. Houghton Hostess To Christmas Party
With her home gaily decorated in the red and green motif, effectively sounding the color note in smart fashion, Mrs. J. B. Houghton was at home to the Ruth Sunday School Class of Central Baptist Church Tuesday afternoon for a Christmas party featuring the presentation of gifts in colorful wrappings.

The entertaining program was opened with Mrs. W. W. Webb playing "The Rosary" at the piano. Mrs. H. H. Stephens gave the story of the birth of Christ, and the class quartet composed of Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Frank Hicklin, Mrs. George Rogers and Mrs. C. D. Coe, gave a special vocal selection. Mrs. Rogers offered a reading, "A Gift From Him."

A plate of pimento cheese sandwiches, olives, fancy cakes and combee repeated the red and

Christian Endeavor Union Meets in Ranger
Ranger, Cisco and Eastland were well represented at the union meeting on Friday night at the First Christian Church in Ranger with 38 Eastland members present.

A violin and piano prelude by Misses Mattie Beryl Montgomery and Mary Helen Childs of Ranger, opened the program.

Vocal, "Silent Night, Holy Night," by Miss Juanita Smith of Ranger, with Miss Florine Richardson of Eastland at the piano, was followed by the carol, "Joy to the World," by congregation with Miss Childs as pianist.

Mr. Don Hallcock of Abilene, district publication superintendent, a guest, led the group in prayer.

Miss Richardson of Eastland, presented a list of reasons for changing time of the county union meetings, and a financial report of the union was given by Mr. Bob Winston, county union treasurer.

G-Men Return To Arcadia Today

American youth and science swing into action in the war against organized crime, pitting microscopes against machine guns, in "Let 'Em Have It," the Reliance thriller, released through United Artists and currently at the Arcadia Theatre. Above, Herman Giesen, well-known artist, sketches his impression of Gordon Jones, Richard Arlen and Harvey Stephens as three of the fearless federal men who relentlessly track down unknown mobsters, apple, the heel of a woman's shoe, the heel of an old, oil-stained glove. Virginia Bruce is the beauty who inspires them to "get 'em and let 'em have it!"

The program proper had Miss Mildred Matthews of Ranger, presiding, who gave an interesting talk, "In Him Lies Life."

Congregational hymn, "Christ Is King," was followed with prayer by Joe Bob Winston of Cisco.

A Christmas story, from second chapter of Luke, was read by Miss Florine Richardson. The host pastor, Rev. H. B. Johnson, was interesting in an educational talk, "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men."

Miss Mildred Matthews presented a discussion, "Christmas Birthday of Christ."

During the congregational singing of "I Gave My Life for Thee," the Christmas offering was made for the Juliette Fowler Orphan's Home in Dallas.

The session was dismissed with prayer by Rev. W. A. Richardson of Eastland.

A delightful social hour was spent in the church annex, and refreshments were served of small cakes and cocoa.

By HARRY GRAYSON

SPORTS followers must have their thrills, and most of them are not content with those offered by the game as constituted. They demand innovations.

The addicts, as a whole, are rather hard to satisfy, which is their privilege, inasmuch as they are paying guests. After all, they attend for the purpose of being amused.

The fan goes to an American football game and wonders why the boys do not pass the ball as freely and frequently as they do in Rugby. A good, tight defensive game falls to entertain him. He wants plenty of open field runs, long forwards, and laterals. Even if the tomes are fumbled and recovered by the opposition, the customer has had his pulse quickened, and generally is pleased.

It Can Be Overdone
AMATEURS try to comply, too, although theirs usually is an altogether different problem, particularly in football.

The past season of more than one outfit was marred by its coach's keen desire to turn crowds away happy.

Offhand, I suspect that Francis Schmidt of Ohio State was one. The huge stadium at Columbus demanded a super production containing all the newest stunts, and fear that Schmidt put in a little too much time on frills to the neglect of things more important, not the least of which was defense against passes, the entire lack of which cost the Buckeyes the spine-tingler with Notre Dame.

Personally, I'm one of those old-fashioned blokes who prefer the real thrills derived from the feats of the polished team or performer adhering strictly to the game as it should be played or fought.

The Minnesota varsity and Joe Louis will do as examples. It is unnecessary for the soundly coached Gophers to go out of the way to be spectacular in carrying out their assignments. No more than Louis needs to gramate and make a lot of wild and foolish swings in dressing up a Levinsky, Carnera, or Barr.

Minnesota and Louis take the more important engagements in stride. That is an overwhelming sufficiency—for both the opponents and the clientele.

Show Is the Thing
THE customer attends a Rugby game, which is replete with open field running and laterals, and he is dissatisfied because the rugger does not run straight to touchdowns, behind blocking interference, as is done in American football.

In basketball, which is based on speed, skill, and deceptive passing, the patron wants the athletes to run over one another as they do in American football.

The inside was taken out of baseball in compliance with the demand of the trade for home runs during the Babe Ruth era.

The bug patronize the wrong there, not to view the toehold with which Frank Getch tortured beneath, the hammerlock a la Fred Beall, Joe Stecher's body scissors, or Strangler Lewis' headlock, but to see the strange acrobatics and curious emoting of members of the new school.

The show is the thing, and the professionals of sport are smart enough to fill the prescription.

D. L. Jameson Is Back From Three Day Convention

D. L. Jameson recently returning from a three-day convention of his company at Houston reports a most delightful time. He says from the inspiration gained no one could fail to plan for a bigger and better year that is just about here.

Jameson reports some of the interesting things seen and some of the places visited. A trip to the San Jacinto battlefield which required 11 large buses to take care of the delegates. Showing the historical points among which were where General Sam Houston received the surrender of Santa Anna. Luncheon at the San Jacinto Inn, where 500 were served. Large sea-going vessels could be seen from the dining room plying between the Houston port and other cities of the world. Then came an historical account of the Battle of San Jacinto, by Judge Wharton, whom it is claimed is one of the best authorities on Texas history in the world giving an account of how many men were engaged on each side, closing his remarks by claiming it to be one of the most decisive battles of the world. Jameson said he did not agree with the Judge on this as this battle hardly assumed military proportions.

In explaining his reason for the disagreement with Judge Wharton Jameson said General Houston with a bunch of wild cowboys, charged down upon a number of

Leap Year's Almost Here

Of course, she's leaping for joy. Why shouldn't she? Joan Manley's vacationing under the beaming Florida sun at Miami Beach, far from the "northern" that sweep across her native Texas. And besides, beginning Jan. 1 there's Leap Year, which may bring her to the matrimonial jumping off place. Beverly Clark of Boston is her playmate.

Mexicans who were asleep, the result being disastrous to the Mexicans, the fight was over in 15 minutes. Jameson says the scrap was decisive in its effect upon history but in his opinion could hardly be classed as one of the major battles of the centuries.

Then back to his hotel in Houston—band concert by S. M. U. band after which dancing.

Friday was also a busy day. Adversity by the lieutenant-governor and other prominent speakers, in which all were inspired for bigger and better things.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calumet—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. One dose of your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sore, sick and the world looks pink.

Calumet is only a mild cathartic. A more powerful movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Flaccid, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Saturday being the last day of three-day session the meeting was adjourned to the tune of Home Sweet Home.

Jameson says the year has been one of the best for him and that he is planning for bigger and better things and that the company he represents is a Texas company puts all their eggs in one basket and then watches the basket. That he is looking forward to even better year in 1936 than in 1935.
