McCarl Okays Millions for White Collar Projects

Compt. Gen. J. R. McCarl is moving with the procession. He is responsible for the release of more than 14 million dollars for 13 bell ringing projects designed to provide jobs for white collar workers. One of the largest projects will be an effort to determine which type of relief—the dole, work relief or transient aid—has done the most good.

Winter is here. There is a vast number of people who are broken and penniless. They are listed as men and women who are "incapable of making a living." Now what would the so-called defenders of the constitution do if they were called upon to face the issue? Would they shoot or would they feed the houseless, the poorly clad or the sick and the penniless?

Phares Hands Out Important Ruling

Acting Director L. G. Phares, speaking on behalf of the state Department of Public Safety, has announced that hereafter "the local peace officers will have to keep order in local elections" and that the rangers will not be used for that purpose. And why not? Why should the rangers be used to settle local political rows? There are 254 sheriffs in Texas. Each sheriff has a corps of deputies. Each city has a police force. There is an army of constables and deputies in Texas. If the sheriffs, the police superintendents and the vast army of sworn agents whose duty it is to keep the peace are unable to control and enforce laws why should they run to Austin or telephone the governor and the adjutant general every time there is a conflict on between the heads of political factions or local organizations?

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE

MANY a ribbon slipper-bag and embroidered pillow case have I worked over for long hours because I wanted some dear friend or relative to be remembered at Christmas with a product of my own handwork.

I still have this feeling that I want to make some of my Christmas gifts, but I turn to my kitchen these days instead of my thimble. One of my friends waits about her soggy pie crust. To her this is really a tragedy because it's long been a custom in her husband's family to serve mince pie with mulled wine on Christmas eve after the trimming of the tree.

Pie Dough for Christmas So to this friend I'm sending enough pie dough for two 2-crust pies. Stored and chilled in a closely covered container, it's all ready to roll out and bake.
And I'm adding a jar or two of mince meat.

My plum puddings are good gifts, too, small-sized ones for small families and larger ones for larger families. Boxes of cookies, baskets of candy, squares of fruit cake, jars of jelly and preserves—any special kind of food that you make and that your friends particularly like is sure to be welcome on Christmas morning.

And now I want to give you a recipe for a plum pudding that is baked. Most of them are steamed and that often presents difficulties.
This pudding is baked to begin with and again put in the oven to reheat.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Chilled apple sausage, sausage cakes, creamed potatoes, cornmeal muffins, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Clam broth, tomatoes on toast with cheese, peach cabinet pudding, crisp cookies, milk, tea.
DINNER: English cut of beef roasted, potatoes browned with meat, brown gravy, turnips in cream sauce, stuffed celery salad, baked plum pudding with sterling sauce, milk, coffee.

Baked Plum Pudding

One cup finely chopped suet, 1 cup chopped apple, 1 cup molasses, 1-2 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 3 1-cup flour, 1 teaspoon cinnamon 1-4 teaspoon cloves, 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 cup seeded raisins, 1 cup currants, 1-4 cup shredded citron, 1-4 cup candied cherries 1-2 cup blanched and shredded almonds, 2 tablespoons shredded candied orange peel, 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Put suet and apple through food chopper. Add sugar, molasses and milk. Mix raisins, currants, citron, cherries cut in halves almonds and orange peel and add to mixture. Mix and bake in a slow oven (275 to 300 degrees F.) for one and one-half hours. Do not remove cover until ready to serve. Reheat in oven.

MAJOR ISSUES FEWER IN 1936 FOR CONGRESS

WASHINGTON Jan. 30.—Congress assembles Jan. 3 for a session expected to be short, snappy and generally devoid of the New Deal legislative novelties that marked previous Congressional meetings under the Roosevelt administration.

Unless unanticipated difficulties are encountered, the session is expected to end by late May or early June. The fact that 1936 is election year makes both senators and congressmen anxious to clear up legislative duties promptly.

The legislative session will not, however, be lacking in controversial issues. Among the measures to receive attention are: The soldier bonus. Permanent neutrality legislation. Permanent public works program. Relief. The Townsend plan. Remedial legislation in case of supreme court invalidation of the AAA and other New Deal laws. "Little" NRA proposals for textile, anthracite and possibly other industries. Thirty-hour work bill. Ship subsidy legislation. Changes in housing program. New food and drugs regulation. Frazier-Lemke inflation bill.

Bonus Comes First The bonus issue will be the first to come up. Bonus forces probably will center their drive behind the Byrnes-Steiwer compromise lending constitutionality of such New Deal foundation stones as the AAA, TVA, Bankhead cotton act, and processing taxes under the AAA amendments. Other tests are due shortly.

Should any of this legislation be outlawed, Congress almost certainly would be put to the task of devising laws intended to meet such objections as the court might offer.

Other business stems from the court's invalidation last spring of the NRA and includes proposals for some new form of control over industry and suggestions for "little NRA" setups for textile, an thrastic and other industries.

Guffey Act to Be Tested Action on these bills may await, however, a Supreme Court ruling on a pending test of the Guffey coal act, on which model the new laws probably would be drafted.

Labor will renew its drive for the Black 30-hour work week bill.
Support for this measure is believed to depend largely on the trend of Supreme Court rulings and business recovery.

A unified ship subsidy legislation program is one of the more pressing administration measures certain to be brought up for action.

Many changes in present housing legislation have been proposed including a comprehensive plan devised by Sen. Robert Wagner, D., N. Y. Action, however, is uncertain. Frazier-Lemke inflation supporters are planning a new fight. Outcome of this is likely to depend largely on whether they are able to effect a coalition with other inflationary groups in Congress.

WILLY MOTHERS GET GRAY

With All My Love

Begin here today... A word from that fussy little fat man yonder would bring an end to their marriage. "Sit down, dear," Aunt Ellen whispered. "You look pale." "I'm not going to faint," Dana said. "Don't worry, Aunt Ellen." "Faint?" Mrs. Cameron sat down heavily, giving her granddaughter a sharp look that was like a stimulant. "What nonsense!" "I don't believe Scott will show up," Mrs. Cameron continued. Her lawyer interposed quickly. "There's nothing else she could do, your honor. The man has been cold and unfeeling." "Yes, yes," the judge agreed.
Dana suspected he had gone over the same procedure so many times that he was tremendously wearied by it all. "You're too good to know that there's a time when hoping doesn't help much." Dr. Osborne sighed and left the room. He was devoted to Scott. So many times Scott had gone over his battleground. Always the longing to see Dana had been combated when he remembered the words of her note, "Don't ask me to come back, Scott. I don't want to—no ever." Burning resentment carried him over the first days of their separation. Then had come Mrs. Cameron's letter commending him for philosophically accepting Dana's decision. Around those two notes Scott had built a reserve of strength and determination to carry him through the lonely days and nights.
There were many such days and nights behind him—and more ahead. He faced them calmly but with bitterness in his heart. ABOUT the time Scott, from a deep chair on the Osborne lawn, was watching the shore line recede, Dana was on her way to the courthouse. It was like a dream, mounting the wide, worn steps of the cold gray building. There was a dreadful chill feeling in her heart that matched her surroundings. The thin young man with the thick glasses, her attorney, was taking over her life and Scott's support. If he had— Those Wisconsin war veterans

Gomez Dead, Venezuela Riots

How death, stilling the iron hand of a dictator, can unleash long pent-up mob resentment is shown in this remarkable picture of a riot in Caracas, Venezuela, following the death of Dictator Juan Vincente Gomez. Vandals are busy venting their fury by destroying the equipment of a newspaper that had supported the Gomez regime. More than 40 were killed in this and other Venezuelan riots.

NEA Service Star Writer

If there's one thing that can eliminate that early morning blue feeling it's pancakes for breakfast. At least, in my family. Just let them small flapjacks on the grill and you'll hear them come rushing.

Griddle cakes make a grand emergency dish for a simple and satisfying luncheon or supper, too, accompanied by a crisp salad, say. The English way of serving plain wheat cakes adds interest to accompany breakfast or Sunday evening supper. The cakes are baked as large as supper plates and are spread as they are baked with butter and jelly or butter and sugar or butter and marmalade. They are piled one above the other and must be kept warm until all are baked. They are cut in wedge-shaped pieces, pie fashion, to serve.

Instead of Crepes Suzettes

Crepes Suzettes of France are famous but difficult to make and something just as good is made in our own kitchen by spreading delicate wheat cakes with butter and jelly creamed together, rolling each cake like a jelly roll and dredging each roll with powdered sugar. For a finishing touch, score the sugar by burning with a red hot poker.

Old-Fashioned Buckwheat Cakes

Our foremothers used a big pitcher to mix these cakes in and nothing could be more convenient. Use your waffle pitcher if it's big enough.

Right Foot

Too many of the New Year's resolutions we make are negatives—"don'ts"—silly to begin with, and impossible to keep.

Yet the impulse to make the new year better than the old one is almost irresistible when we face the clean expanse of a fresh calendar.

Let's get off on the right foot this year. Let's combine our ambition with common sense. There are things we can do—constructive, positive things—that will make 1936 a year we can be proud of. One of them is to live within our budgets.

That doesn't mean skimping and doing without. It means deciding on our needs and getting the most for what we pay.

Resolve now to buy wisely—to read the advertisements in this newspaper regularly—to know in advance what you can afford to buy and where to buy it. Compare prices and values in the advertising pages first. Make every dollar do more. Then step forward into 1936 with assurance.
