Diplomats Defeated by Own 'Peace Plan'

If you can imagine the emotions of the village atheist, who mounts his soapbox to invite God to strike him dead and is promptly obliged by a thunderbolt which knocks him over into the horse trough, you may be able to figure out how such diplomats as Pierre Laval and Sir Samuel Hoare are feeling these days.

These men summoned the League of Nations lightning down the skies. They didn't really want to hit anything with it, but they had a little job to put over and some off-stage thunder would help a good deal.

But it turned out to be real, sure-enough lightning, when they got it, and they are still wondering just how it all happened. And neither of them will ever be the same again.

This whole business of the League of Nations peace plan and what happened to it is one of the most significant things that the world has experienced in a good many years. The common people are accustomed to being taken for a ride by their diplomats; here, for just about the first time, they have reversed the process.

The plain fact is that British imperialism sought to use the league for its own purposes, and did so with an hypocrisy that would be astounding if diplomatic hypocrisy were not such an old story.

These Tory diplomats cared not a fig about Ethiopia or the rights of small nations. They were out to keep Mussolini from muscling in on a fat British racket, and the league looked like a handy instrument. Since this sort of game was dear to the hearts of the French, they took a hand, too.

So these statesmen presented the common people of the world with a great moral issue. They waved the flag of international justice, turning back their cuffs so that they could reach out beneath them to pull the proper strings; and after they figured the thing had gone far enough, they slipped the loaded dice into the game and prepared for the killing.

And then the whole thing flew up and hit them in the face.

The "peace plan" by which Mussolini would have been given two-thirds of Ethiopia in return for putting his gun away, was just too raw for the world to swallow.

Plain people everywhere—in England, in France, and innumerable smaller nations—got up on their hind legs and announced that this particular bit of chicanery was all right.

For the ordinary people, who are sick to death of wars, this league seriously. They want to see the law of the jungle replaced by something saner and decenter, and they have at last found a way to do it.

They are capable of more intelligent, altruistic action than their rulers ever demand of them; and this impractical and idealistic League of Nations may yet be turned into one of mankind's most precious possessions.

Suing for divorce, a radio singer says she saw her husband twice in the three years they were married. She should have hidden his golf clubs.

There seems to be many men in public life who are always trying to appear as crusaders on an expedition to slay an imaginary monster.

Better Year Is Seen Ahead For Cotton Industry

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Cotton futures were depressed sharply early in the year but recovered and the spot position closed 1935 not far below a year ago. Cotton traders looked ahead to 1936 more cheerfully because of the change for the better in fundamental conditions.
Abandonment by the government of its price fixing venture and recapture subsequently of American foreign markets were features of the year.
The Italian-Ethiopian war and general business improvement combined to aid the cotton market once it had overcome the difficulties of a change in the government loan plan. Before those changes the market was gloomy. Exports fell as did world consumption of the American staple while foreign growths were stepped up.
With start of the 1935-36 season the AAA abandoned its price fixing program and substituted a bounty system designed to allow American cotton to compete abroad and at the same time to check the rising trend of government accumulated loan staple.
It guaranteed an average return of 12 cents a pound to co-operating farmers by payments to equal such difference between 12 cents and the average price of middling in the 10 designated spot markets.
It fixed the loan basis at 10 cents so that if prices fell below that mark, farmers could turn staple into the pool until the price was bettered.
The immediate result was a price break. Later, however, prices made progressive improvement.
Exports were accelerated. Ship-

Mexico Planning New Hospitality

SAN ANTONIO.—Stirring activity on the other side of the Rio Grande is going on now with Mexico completing plans for hospitality when Texas Centennial visitors start pouring into the country, according to Thomas Sinclair Gore, president of one of Mexico's leading hotels.
Completion of the Pan-American highway was given by Gore as one of the reasons why Mexico is going ahead with plans.
Gore has just completed a two-month tour of the United States and indicates that Texas and Mexico may expect a wealth of "company" during the celebrations next year.

Women Find Life At Middle Age Best

PHILADELPHIA.—A woman's life is happiest when her first baby or her first grandchild is born, rather than during her courtship or honeymoon, 409 members of the Twentieth Century Club of Lansdowne decided.
"About 50," was the favorite age of the women considering the problem. They expressed varying opinions, but voted for the contentment of middle age, after children are grown, the hard work of home life is over, and when a woman's time is her own.
Many of the women recalled happy memories of "sweet 16," but none wanted to return to that period. The older members of the club said they preferred to look forward to the "quiet of the twilight years."

Livestock Prices At 5-Year High; Receipts Lower

CHICAGO, Ill. — Livestock values at the Chicago stock yards boomed to the highest levels in five years in spectacular price fluctuations during 1935.
The smallest receipts in the modern history of the market forced hog prices to the highest level since the boom days of 1929. A peak of $12.25 per hundred pounds was paid for choice hogs on Sept. 14, climaxing two months of steadily advancing prices. It was the highest price paid at the world's largest stock yards since July, 1929.
Drouth in 1934 and the reduction program resulted in small receipts which formed the background for the advance in hog prices. The supply of swine was the smallest since 1872, and stock yards officials were forced to close acres of hog pens in August when receipts were lightest. Refusal of housewives to pay the high prices asked for dressed pork and slightly increased receipts of new crop pigs finally brought a recession from the highest points.
The low price for the year was the $8 top per hundred pounds paid on Jan. 5 and February 2. Receipts for 1935 were 2,750,000 head lighter than a year ago.
Light receipts also prompted an advance in cattle prices. Best steers sold at a top of $16.25 per hundred pounds on May 14, the peak since January, 1930. The drouth largely was responsible for the small supply. Receipts were 375,000 head lighter than in 1934. The high price on choice vealers was $11.50, touched four times in September and October. The $8 top paid for vealers Jan. 5 and July 20 was the lowest of the year.
An improved wool market and the advance in other livestock prices lent strength to the sheep market. The top on lambs sold at the highest point in more than five years. Old crop lambs sold at a top of $11.65 early in December, while the low of $8.25 on these kinds was touched in the spring. On the new crop a peak of $8.15 per hundred pounds was reached on July 22. The low of $7.15 on clipped lambs was paid May 2.

"From 1922 to date, the fundamental problems of agriculture have not changed other than to become more malignant," Dr. Cox asserted. "I grant you that because of dollar devaluation, government bonuses, and some other measures, most farmers, especially land owner producers of the so-called 'political crops' are temporarily better off than they were, and that the bracing effects of these 'shots in the arm' will last for a little while longer. On the other hand, the agricultural industry as practiced in the United States is fundamentally much sicker than in 1922 because of a loss of world markets, so-called social legislation, and the stimulus of synthetic fiber production caused by attempts at artificial price boosting."

Solution Of The Farm Problem Is Urged By Speaker

MINERAL WELLS, Jan. 10.—With the Agricultural Adjustment program of the United States government finally disposed of by the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court, solution of the agricultural problem must be considered along lines which will not involve restriction of crop production, it was declared by Dr. A. B. Cox, internationally known agricultural economist and director of the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas, in an address here today before the Texas Agricultural Workers association, in convention assembled. He said that curtailment of production is a step toward subsistence farming, and that dries up markets.

"The supreme court has killed what I believed to be a detrimental piece of legislation, but that has not solved the agricultural problem," Dr. Cox said.

He advocated regional agricultural planning as part of a program for betterment of farm conditions.

Study Lamps
Reading-Study Lamps are like the lounge lamps, except they are designed to be placed on tables, desks or low stands to give the lamp the same height from the floor as the lounge reading lamp.

Read in Bed... If You Have a Good Light

Don't be afraid to read in bed if you have the right kind of light. The old idea that reading in bed is harmful to the eyes was based on the lack of suitable light, free from glare and contrasting shadows.

Read in bed to your heart's content if you have a new Better Sight lamp, either a reading-study lamp or a lounge lamp. The translucent glass bowl removes glare and at the same time throws a portion of the light to the ceiling to give a general illumination throughout the room to make seeing easier and reduce eye strain.
