Parlous Times? Yes,
But U. S. Is Tough!

If you hear a queer flapping noise up and down in the land these days, it is undoubtedly being caused by honest citizens throwing back the lids of their cyclone cellars and sticking their heads out to learn what all the hollering is about.

The combination of a presidential race which is about to break loose, a Congress which has divers discordant things on its mind, and a supreme court which is swinging a big ax, has created an uproar which will probably get worse and worse until next November arrives.

So far it seems to be producing more heat than light, and more noise than heat.

On the one hand we are assured that the only way to preserve the liberties of the American people is to toss the administration out, neck and crop, and install a leader of the opposite political faith.

On the other hand we are assured that these same liberties will inevitably die in agony unless the administration stays in power and keeps its foot on the neck of the opposition.

And shuttling back and forth between these two camps we have a similar row over the supreme court. If it fails to stand firm and crack down on all unwise legislation, our liberties are as good as done for; contrariwise, if it does not stop exercising its power to nullify acts of Congress, the American eagle will be caged forever.

All these claims are being made, these days, by orators and nation-savers all up and down the land. It is perfectly obvious that all of them can't be right; sooner or later, the honest citizen is apt to start wondering if any of them can be right.

Are we, that is in as much danger of losing our liberties as our rival leaders seem to think? This republic has endured for more than a century and a half, and it has been through some very bad times—through foreign and civil war, through boom and depression, through incompetence in high places and corruption in government, through looting by irresponsible financial pirates and indifference on the part of the electorate.

It has survived the Ku Klux Klan and the Know-Nothing movement, the Populists and the Greenbackers, the Credit Mobilier and Teapot Dome. It has lived through the Abolitionist and Prohibitionist eras, the times of Jay Gould and the times of Al Capone, the California gold rush and the Miami land boom.

It has taken an awful beating from every imaginable source, including its own official stupidity, and it has always come back for more.

In other words, it's a pretty tough country, and the liberty it prizes is one of the hardest growths on the planet.

It's just possible that this liberty will survive and grow no matter who wins the next election or what happens to the supreme court.

The governor's salary, now fourth smallest in the 48 states, would be increased to $12,000 a year.

Woodul believed no extensive speaking campaign for the amendment would start before next fall.
Combined interest in the six individual offices are counted on for victory where individual increases might be opposed. As the amendment is worded, voters must take all or none.

Greatest public interests attaches to the amendment for a state monopoly on hard liquor sales.
Drys predict that package law violations in some wet areas will react in favor of strict state control.

A proposal in which metropolitan areas are vitally interested would limit the representation of counties with large populations.
Seven state representatives are offered as the maximum for any county under 700,000 population, with an additional representative for each 100,000 thereafter. No county would be immediately affected, but Dallas county now has six House members and Harris county five.

Other amendments on which the people will vote are: creation of a contributory old age retirement system for public school teachers; authorizing the legislature to provide workmen's compensation insurance on state employees; and limiting the governor's pardoning power to clemencies recommended by the board of pardons and pardoners.

Activities on the 1936 political calendar begin May 26 when the state Democratic convention meets to select—perhaps to instruct—delegates to the national party convention. This normally Democratic state has its first statewide election on July 25—the first Democratic primary. Aug. 22 is the date of the second party primary.

The final election of the year will be on Nov. 3—on the six constitutional amendments and offices ranging from the president down.

All candidacies must be filed by June 1 for participation in the party primary elections.

Duorc-Jersey Sow Has Litter Record

BORGER, Texas.—A three-year-old red Duorc-Jersey sow owned by E. H. Chisum of Fringale, would have to sing "Three Little Pigs" all of 27 times to include all her off springs. She has just given birth to her sixth litter, making a total of 81 pigs. Three of the litters have consisted of 14 pigs and three of 13. The average litter for ordinary sows is from six to 12. Chisum's prize sow was one of a litter of 19. He purchased her from his brother-in-law, Theodore Pike, who lives in Bentonville, Ark. The pringle farmer has lived in Hutchinson county since 1901, and has been county surveyor for the last 18 years.

League Spurs U.S. To Build Better Aviation Defense

PHILADELPHIA—Creation of the National Air Defense League, with Paul Thomas as general director has been announced. Thomas has been prominent in the aeronautical world for some time.

The national organization is the nominal outgrowth of a local Air Defense League which was organized four years ago and which has functioned since on limited scale.

Officers of the league explained that the nationalizing of the organization "has been taken in response to a public demand that the Air Defense League be truly national in scope and that a permanent organization, with representation in the different states, be established."

The primary purpose of the organization will continue to be to carry on a forum for the gathering and dissemination of unbiased knowledge about aviation.

Col. Samuel Price Wetherill, Jr., president of the league, said that the national organization will remain a "non-partisan, unsubsidized, patriotic movement," and that no individual associated with the manufacture of aircraft, their engines or spare parts can become a member.

"While the league realizes the necessity of properly supporting airplane manufacturers as a definite part of national defense, nevertheless it will not permit itself to become an organized lobby, putting the interests of the industry ahead of the interests of the country," Col. Wetherill said.

"The league will continue its stated policy of encouraging any program which assures maximum air defense per tax dollar expended," the league head continued.

"The American people must be aroused to the potency of this new weapon, for aviation today, while still in its infancy, is dominating Old World diplomacy.

"We in America are interested in but one kind of defense, and the Air Defense League is enlarging its field of activity and will continue its past policy of securing recognition for the most powerful weapon of modern science.

"We in this country are pitifully unprepared. At the present time the army announced it has approximately 1,100 airplanes, fewer than 400 of them modern. A large percentage of the total number are out of date and not even fit for training purposes in view of the greater speeds and cruising ranges of newer ships.

"While the Air Defense League does not stand for saddling the American taxpayer with the cost of maintaining a large number of planes specified by the Congress for the army and navy shall be up to date and efficient," Col. Wetherill concluded.

Other officers of the League are Jay Cooke, executive vice president; Effingham B. Morris, Jr., treasurer, and Virgil H. Frazier, secretary.

The Homestake is leading the drive for mineral wealth, with its new Ross shaft that eventually will sink a mile into the ore-bearing earth. Above ground a new hydro-electric plant and assay office have been erected.

Gold has revived the ghost town of Rockford where three mills are being built and two mines are expected to be producing ore soon.

Two miles from here new interests have acquired the Capitol Hill mine where a new ore vein recently was discovered.

The Maitland mine successfully has worked out a treatment of blue ores and is now employing 70 men.

Other minerals are also sharing in the mining boom.

Columbite is being shipped from Pringle and the Keystone is producing feldspar, they reported.

This area is also aiding in the production of flares, fireworks, batteries and medicines from the Etta mine at Keystone. It's content of lithium ore is said to be the largest in the world.

Bentonite is attracting capital to the edge of the Black Hills where a new mill has been built and two others are under construction.

Rice Grid Team Will Have Four Intersectional Games

HOUSTON—Rice Institute's football team will meet four intersectional teams in 1936, according to Dr. Gaylord Johnson, athletic director of the Owls.

The Rice team will open the season on Sept. 26, in a game with Louisiana State university at Baton Rouge, and the following week-end they will journey to Pittsburgh where they will face the Dequesne eleven.

Dr. Johnson announced that Rice will oppose the University of Georgia at Athens for the first time in the history of the school on Oct. 17.

The final intersectional contest is scheduled with George Washington University, Oct. 31, at Houston. In addition, Rice will play the six-member members of the South-west Conference.

The schedule:
Sept. 26—LSU at Baton Rouge.
Oct. 3—Duquesne at Pittsburgh Penn.
Oct. 10—Sam Houston at Houston.
Oct. 17—Georgia at Athens, Ga.
Oct. 24—Texas at Houston.
Oct. 31—George Washington at Houston.
Nov. 7—Arkansas at Little Rock, Ark.
Nov. 14—Texas A. & M. at College Station.
Nov. 21—Texas Christian at Houston.
Nov. 28—Baylor at Houston.
Dec. 5—Southern Methodist at Houston.

Mile-Deep Pit Is Sunk Seeking Gold

DEADWOOD, S. D.—Gold is luring men deeper into the ground as this famous mining region, home of the fabulous Homestake mine, continues to expand.

New mills are being built. New properties are opening and new companies are organizing. Gold production is increasing. In 1934 the value of gold mined in South Dakota was $16,989,858 and mining experts are agreed that this will be surpassed when 1935 figures are available.

THE STRANGE CASE OF JULIA CRAIG

THE STRANGE CASE OF JULIA CRAIG by Ned Jones
Copyright NEA 1935

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JULIA CRAIG, pretty young secretary to GEORGE WOODFORD of the law firm of Woodford and Brooks, is ambitious to become a night club singer. Julia has a apartment with AMY SANDERS.

PETER KEMP, also employed by Woodford and Brooks, is in love with Julia, but she discourages his attentions. He gives Julia a letter of introduction to HENRY LAMB, band leader, but, in the letter, asks Lamb not to give her a job. Julia discovers this and tells Peter everything is over between them.

ROYAL NESBITT, friend of Amy's, promises to help Julia find a job as a singer, but days pass with no word from him.

Woodford tells Julia he is giving a week-end party on his yacht and asks her to come to sing for his guests. SMITH GARLAND, night club owner, is to be in the party.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VI

AT the mention of Smith Garland the best known night club owner in the state, Julia's heart literally skipped a beat. Woodford smiled as her mouth opened slightly and she stared at him unbelievably. He knew perfectly well that to anyone with Julia's ambitions the name of Smith Garland was magic indeed.

"Of course," Woodford went on. "I don't know that Garland can do anything. But it won't hurt to have him hear you. Like to come along?"

"I'd like very much to," said Julia quickly.

"Good! We expect to pull out some time late tonight. But I suggest you go along to the yacht club about 9 o'clock and get aboard. The name of the boat is the Wood Nymph. I'll phone the skipper to expect you."

"Thank you, Mr. Woodford. I can't tell you how much I really appreciate—"

"Forget it, Miss Craig." He smiled up at her. "I need a singer aboard, and you're a good one."

Julia hoped so. She hurried back into her office, her thoughts in a whirl. For the rest of the afternoon she went through her work like an automaton, and got precious little done. She could scarcely wait to get to the apartment and tell the good news to Amy Sanders.

But Amy wasn't at all surprised that Julia was to get her chance. "I knew you'd finally bump into a break, Julia. When a girl wants a thing as bad as you want this, she finally gets there. But it does bowl me over that you'd find the rainbow right in your own office. Right in the place you've been trying to get away from."

JULIA laughed. "I've found the rainbow. But not the pot of gold yet. Nobody knows whether Smith Garland will like my singing."

"Nobody but Smith Garland," admitted Amy. "But think what a break it is for him to hear you aboard Woodford's yacht. He'll know you work for Woodford, and that you're a guest on board, and—"

"Not a guest," amended Julia. "I'm just going along as an entertainer."

Amy gave Julia a long look. "Do you really believe that?"

"Why, of course, Mr. Woodford said he needed a singer, and he Julia said, "Anything special you should take on a yacht trip?"

"I'm Captain Baskely. Looking for the Wood Nymph?"

Julia told him that she was. "I'm Miss Craig, and I believe Mr. Woodford said I should be here about 9."

"Of course, Miss Craig. Come right aboard and I'll show you your stateroom. Mr. Woodford and the other guests aren't aboard yet."

When Baskely had taken Julia to her stateroom and deposited her bag on the berth, he paused a moment at the door. "Please make yourself at home, Miss Craig. There are deck chairs aft."

"Thank you. I think I'll just stay here a while."

He nodded. "I'll tell Mr. Woodford when he comes that you're aboard."

When Baskely had gone, Julia looked about her. The stateroom was small but very pleasant, and furnished in quiet taste. She wondered whether she should accept the captain's invitation to sit on the after deck, but at length decided not. Baskely might not know that the owner had invited her as an entertainer rather than a guest.

TAKING a magazine from a little table in the corner of the room, she sat down to read. She read through one story, and began another. Then, impatient, she looked at her watch. It was after 10, but she had heard no one come aboard, yet the gangplank was quite close to the portholes of her stateroom. "But he said they wouldn't leave until late," Julia told herself, and resumed her reading.

When another hour passed, however, with no word from Woodford she began to wonder. All she had heard were vague sounds from below her, possibly in the engine compartment—and the occasional soft footfalls of someone on deck above.

She was about to put on her coat and go above when there was a light knock at her door. It was Captain Baskely.

"I've just had word from the clubhouse that Mr. Woodford telephoned and said there'd be some delay in getting the rest of his party aboard. He suggested you needn't wait up unless you wanted to."

Julia thanked him, relieved—and decided that she wouldn't wait up. After all, the day in the office and the ensuing excitement of Woodford's interview hadn't prepared her to be at her best. "I'll get a good night's rest," she told herself, and saw what the world holds in the morning."

A moment later she was between the sheets of the berth and the stateroom was in darkness. With the water lapping rhythmically against the hull of the boat, Julia was soon asleep.

She awakened with a start, conscious of a new, yet still rhythmic sound. Unmistakably, it was the sound of the yacht's engines. Julia tossed back the covers of the berth and looked from a porthole. Deck and gangplank were gone! All she could see was an expanse of water which dissolved into the pitch blackness of the sky.

But beyond the soft throb of the engines and the swish of the hull driving through the water, there seemed to be not another sound aboard.

Mrs. J. C. Carothers Hostess
At the home of the above hostess, Deddema boulevard, the Women's Missionary society of First Christian church Monday afternoon gathered for the presentation of a fine Bible lesson offered with Mrs. Carl Clemmer in charge. As the hour opened Mrs. Nath Pirkle, called to order a business session which had to do with matters of class interest.
The Lord's prayer, in unison, prefaced the program, with Mrs. W. T. Walton, giving a reading of "My Soul." The first four chapters of First Peter, were ably offered by co-leaders, Mmes. Walton, C. L. Childs, E. T. Matthews and R. A. Stelle.
Mrs. Childs will entertain the society at home next Monday afternoon. Tonight at 7 o'clock members are asked to assemble for choir practice under the direction of Hal Hunter.
The hostess served at the close of the afternoon a delectable plate to Mrs. Lawrence Bryant, C. L. Childs, Carl Clemmer, B. S. Dudley, E. M. Glazer, E. R. Greer, R. A. Jones, E. T. Matthews, E. L. Nelson, Glen Simmons, R. A. Stelle, W. T. Walton, Nath Pirkle and Francis Lemley.

"WE'RE ONLY HUMAN" IS DRAMA OF FEAR, COURAGE AND LOVE
Dramatizing a braggart's soul-racking struggle against tortuous fear,—with love as the fortifying element,—the vivid screen production, "We're Only Human," comes with Preston Foster, Jane Wyatt and James Gleason in top featured roles. Appealing romance is blended with the stirring action of the theme to provide completely rounded-out entertainment.
Audiences will live, breathe and suffer with Preston Foster, who plays "Pete" McCaffrey of the New York police force. The swaggering, big detective sergeant arouses at the same time, both admiration and scorn as he daringly ignores the bullets of public enemies, and then gloats over his exploits.
It is with confused emotions that Sally Rogers, newspaper reporter, played by Miss Wyatt, views McCaffrey and his daring forays against crime. "Big Mac," is good newspaper material and good heart interest, too, until a bullet grazes his forehead. Then comes the man's terrific battle to recover his nerve and the esteem of the girl as well.
In presenting Preston Foster and Jane Wyatt, teamed together for the first time, RKO Radio offers an exciting departure from the typical Hollywood sugar and cream romantic team.
Foster, a virile type, is known for a magnetic ruggedness and pleasing style that combine to ignite that certain "spark" in feminine hearts.
Miss Wyatt is a vivacious brunette, whose every gesture bristles with electric appeal, and whose beauty is significant with artistry.
The story of "We're Only Human" is based upon "Husk," by Thomas Walsh which intrigued millions of Saturday Evening Post readers and provides a natural vehicle for the special talents of this new screen duo.

Foster was cast in "We're Only Human," following spectacular triumphs in "The Last Days of Pompeii," and "Annie Oakley." Miss Wyatt, New York socialite, made her screen hits in "One More River," and "Great Expectations." Many critics have called her the outstanding young actress on the New York stage, where she scored in "Dinner at Eight," "Love Story," "Joyous Season," and other shows.
James Gleason played the featured role in "Hot Tip" for RKO Radio and is being teamed with Helen Broderick in a Stuart Palmer detective yarn.
John Arledge, following his impressive interpretation of "Dude" Lester in "Tobacco Road," takes the part of a jaunty newspaper cameraman in "We're Only Human."
Add to these players and forming an unusually strong and well-balanced cast are Jane Darwell, Arthur Hohl, Moroni Olsen, Effie Elsler, Mischa Auer, Christian Rub and Harold Huber.
James Flood directed, with Edward Kaufman as RKO Radio's associate producer, currently showing at the Arcadia Theatre.

YOUNG LOVE BANNED
By United Press
SINGAPORE—Flirtations between boys and girls in Siam are forbidden by a government decree. The ministry of education has circulated all schools instructing them that pupils must not behave as lovers or write love letters.

THIS NATURAL FOOD GENTLY REGULATES YOUR SYSTEM
Furnishes Needed "Bulk" for Regular Habits
Your doctor will tell you that keeping healthy depends far more on proper diet than on drugs, that common constipation is usually due to insufficient "bulk" in meals, and that patent medicines give you only temporary relief.
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies gently acting "bulk" which corrects the cause of common constipation. This "bulk" takes up moisture, forming a soft mass which helps to cleanse the system.
ALL-BRAN gives your body the regular internal exercise it needs to prevent sluggishness. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron. Studies on normal men and women have shown that this delicious cereal is perfectly satisfactory. Serve All-Bran regularly for regularity, with milk or cream—or use in cooking.
Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Consult your doctor if you do not gain relief this way. All-Bran is much more effective than part-bran products. Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Political Announcements
The Times is authorized to publish the following announcements of candidates for offices, subject to the action of the Democratic Primaries:
For Sheriff: STEELE HILL, LOSS WOODS
Tax Assessor and Collector: CLYDE S. KARKALITS, C. H. O'BRIEN
Commissioner, Precinct 1: HENRY V. DAVENPORT (Re-election)
Justice of the Peace, Precinct 2: J. F. MITCHELL, J. N. McFATTER (re-election)

SLEEPER TOO HASTY STEUBENVILLE, O.—Eman (Sunnybrook) Osgood crawled the first convenient place he found to sleep and woke up the morning a few yards away from jail. Osgood's temporary lodging were the patrol wagon shed.

I can broil a WHOLE MEAL with

The New ROPER Gas Range with Slide Broiler and Astogril

● Now you can broil hamburger, steaks, fish, chops, vegetables, oysters — any food that can be fried—on the new Astogril Broiler. The aluminum grill sears foods instantly on the bottom while the flame sears the top, sealing in food flavors and juices. Hot fats cannot catch fire.
● This wonderful broiler grill is located in the Roper
Sensational New Astogril makes you want to broil foods.

Slide Broiler, which slides out and in with the broiler oven door. No stooping or bending. No burned arms or wrists. Door drops down to serve as shelf for platter. Special construction makes possible broiling with the oven door open.
● See these new refinements on the modern Roper Gas Range — now on display.
