Townsend Plan's Aim Is Splendid, But—

If you have heard the ancient fable about the people who, being cast away on a desert island, supported their little lesson in economics which may come in very handy selves by taking in one another's washing, you have had a in the near future.

The lesson, of course, is that although one person may make a nice living by taking in washing, a daisy chain of washers will fall to the ground of its own weight.

While this is self-evident, our perfectly natural wish to spread the good things of this earth around among all the people sometimes leads us to forget it.

At this moment a great many excellent people are deeply committed to the Townsend plan. Let it be said, at once, that everyone must sympathize with this attempt to end poverty and dependency among the aged.

We ought to be able to protect our old people from want. Will this famous $200-a-month pension plan do the trick? Will it work?

It would be enormously expensive, of course. The plan's backers are the first to admit that. They say, however, that the great increase in business—in "purchasing power"—created by the spending of all these pensions would make the country able to carry the load.

John T. Flynn recently analyzed this particular aspect of the plan; and his analysis carries one back irresistibly to that picture of the people taking in one another's washing.

Suppose, says Mr. Flynn, that you have 10 persons earning $100 a month each. Their mass purchasing power is $1000 a month.

Suppose, now, that these people are taxed $10 a month each to pay a $100 pension to an eleventh person. This person now has $100 a month in purchasing power which he did not have before.

But it is not new purchasing power; it is offset by the $10 which has been knocked off the monthly purchasing power of each of the other 10 persons. Total monthly purchasing power of the 11 is the same as that of the original 10—$1000. The gain in purchasing power is nothing.

It is the same, Flynn asserts, in a wider field. The Townsend Plan would put some $19,000,000,000 worth of annual purchasing power in the hands of the aged; taxes to provide these pensions would take $19,000,000,000 in purchasing power away from the wage-earners.

In the end, we would be right where we started. We would simply be taking in one another's washing on a national scale.

This, of course, doesn't mean that the problem of providing for the aged is insoluble. That is a problem which can and must be solved.

Dr. Townsend's flaming insistence that we meet it is of immense value to the nation. But his particular plan for solving it does seem to contain an economic gap precisely like that in the fable about the desert islanders.

FORMS FOR MAKING RETURNS

Forms for filing returns of income for 1935 have been sent to persons who filed returns last year. Failure to receive a form, however, does not relieve a taxpayer of his obligation to file his return and pay the tax on time, on or before March 16 if the return is made on the calendar year basis, as is the case with most individuals.

Forms may be obtained upon request, written or personal, from the offices of collectors of internal revenue and deputy collectors. Persons whose net income for 1935 was derived chiefly from salary or wages and was not in excess of $5,000 should make their returns on form 1040A. Persons whose net income was in excess of $5,000, or, regardless of amount, was derived from a business, profession, rents or sale of property, are required to use a larger form presents difficulties to both the taxpayer and the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Therefore, it is emphasized that a taxpayer engaged in a business or profession from which he derived a net income of less than $5,000 is required to use the larger form.

The return must be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer has his legal residence or principal place of business on or before midnight of March 16, 1936. The tax may be paid in full at the time of filing the return or in four equal installments, due on or before March 16, June 15, Sept. 15, and Dec. 15.

Pay Increases are Noted in the West

By United Press

SAN FRANCISCO.—Salary levels in this city, although still below the 1929 boom level, are steadily swinging upward, a survey of officials of San Francisco employment agencies shows.

In some instances, employment executives said, certain types of help are difficult to get, because some persons prefer to remain on relief.

"There is a noticeable, steady trend for more workers," one official said. "The bars are still up against old workers, though. It is still difficult to get an employer to hire anyone over 40."

The agency men agree that salaries of 1929 were out of proportion. Where a girl received $110 a month then for ordinary clerical or stenographic work, she is now receiving about $85 or $90.

The head of one agency, catering to construction and building companies, complained of the difficulty of procuring competent help. He blamed federal relief, charging that many laborers are developing an attitude that the "government will support me, and even if I have to work on a relief job, I won't have to work as hard as I would for some boss in private industry."

An executive of a business employment agency said there has been more demand for white-collar workers during the past year. He estimated the increase was approximately 35 per cent over the 1931 and 1932 level.

The trend in employment and payrolls since 1929 is shown by the state division of labor statistics—the monthly average of 1926 being taken as 100 per cent—as follows:

In employment, for 1929, the average was 101 per cent; for 1930, 96; for 1931, 82; for 1932, 68; for 1933, 71, and for 1934, 77. The monthly average for 1935

has not been tabulated, but the high for the year was 85 per cent in August.

In payrolls, also on the basis of a 100 per cent average in 1926, the average in 1929 was 102 per cent; for 1930, 97; for 1931, 77; for 1932, 53; for 1933, 51; for 1934, 57. High for 1935 was 68 in August.

New Chevrolet Truck on Economy-Safety Run

Carrying a 10,000-lb. cement block from Los Angeles to New York, a 1 1/2-ton Chevrolet truck—one of the 1936 models just introduced—demonstrated that safe driving means economy. Speed limits were observed in the community, with 35 m.p.h. the maximum on the open road. The 3511.4 miles were completed on two quarts and 308.6 gallons of gasoline, at a cost of 01.6 cents per mile, or one-third of a cent per ton mile. The entire run and 308.6 gallons of gasoline, repairs, or even a scratched fender. The illustrations show the test completed without any mechanical failure, repairs, or even a scratched fender. Full-floating rear axle, and full-lift water jackets, are some of the improvements. In the lower right, Harry Hartz, who drove the cross-continent test beside the 10,000-lb. block. The test was officially observed by the American Automobile Association.

Townsend Plan's Aim Is Splendid, But—

If you have heard the ancient fable about the people who, being cast away on a desert island, supported themselves...

The lesson, of course, is that although one person may make a nice living by taking in washing...

While this is self-evident, our perfectly natural wish to spread the good things of this earth...

At this moment a great many excellent people are deeply committed to the Townsend plan...

We ought to be able to protect our old people from want. Will this famous $200-a-month pension plan do the trick?

It would be enormously expensive, of course. The plan's backers are the first to admit that...

John T. Flynn recently analyzed this particular aspect of the plan; and his analysis carries one back irresistibly to that picture of the people taking in one another's washing.

Suppose, says Mr. Flynn, that you have 10 persons earning $100 a month each. Their mass purchasing power is $1000 a month.

Suppose, now, that these people are taxed $10 a month each to pay a $100 pension to an eleventh person. This person now has $100 a month in purchasing power which he did not have before.

But it is not new purchasing power; it is offset by the $10 which has been knocked off the monthly purchasing power of each of the other 10 persons.

It is the same, Flynn asserts, in a wider field. The Townsend Plan would put some $19,000,000,000 worth of annual purchasing power in the hands of the aged; taxes to provide these pensions would take $19,000,000,000 in purchasing power away from the wage-earners.

In the end, we would be right where we started. We would simply be taking in one another's washing on a national scale.

This, of course, doesn't mean that the problem of providing for the aged is insoluble. That is a problem which can and must be solved.

Dr. Townsend's flaming insistence that we meet it is of immense value to the nation. But his particular plan for solving it does seem to contain an economic gap precisely like that in the fable about the desert islanders.

GOOD TURNS We hope that each troop and each scout will endeavor to find a new troop or some boy who will become a scout...

Forms may be obtained upon request, written or personal, from the offices of collectors of internal revenue and deputy collectors.

Pay Increases are Noted in the West

SAN FRANCISCO.—Salary levels in this city, although still below the 1929 boom level, are steadily swinging upward, a survey of officials of San Francisco employment agencies shows.

In some instances, employment executives said, certain types of help are difficult to get, because some persons prefer to remain on relief.

"There is a noticeable, steady trend for more workers," one official said. "The bars are still up against old workers, though. It is still difficult to get an employer to hire anyone over 40."

The agency men agree that salaries of 1929 were out of proportion. Where a girl received $110 a month then for ordinary clerical or stenographic work, she is now receiving about $85 or $90.

The head of one agency, catering to construction and building companies, complained of the difficulty of procuring competent help. He blamed federal relief, charging that many laborers are developing an attitude that the "government will support me, and even if I have to work on a relief job, I won't have to work as hard as I would for some boss in private industry."

An executive of a business employment agency said there has been more demand for white-collar workers during the past year. He estimated the increase was approximately 35 per cent over the 1931 and 1932 level.

The trend in employment and payrolls since 1929 is shown by the state division of labor statistics—the monthly average of 1926 being taken as 100 per cent—as follows:

In employment, for 1929, the average was 101 per cent; for 1930, 96; for 1931, 82; for 1932, 68; for 1933, 71, and for 1934, 77. The monthly average for 1935

has not been tabulated, but the high for the year was 85 per cent in August.

In payrolls, also on the basis of a 100 per cent average in 1926, the average in 1929 was 102 per cent; for 1930, 97; for 1931, 77; for 1932, 53; for 1933, 51; for 1934, 57. High for 1935 was 66 in August.

Speed limits were observed in the 3511.4 miles were completed on two quarts and 308.6 gallons of gasoline, at a cost of 01.5 cents per mile, or one-third of a cent per ton mile.

BETTER POSTURE DRIVE ON TOLEDO.—Stooped posture and eccentric eating are getting the critical once-over at the University of Toledo. Youths Prevail In Crime Record of Justice Department

WASHINGTON. — Statistics compiled by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, U. S. Department of Justice, show that 15 out of every 100 persons arrested during 1935 were 19 years of age or younger.

The facts were gained from the examination of 392,251 arrest records of persons whose fingerprints during 1935 by state and municipal law enforcement agencies.

The compilation disclosed that during the year 13,290 individuals were arrested and charged with robbery, 32,649 with burglary, and 11,094 with auto theft. The predominance of youth in those types of crimes is shown by the fact that 7,108 (53.5 per cent) of those arrested and charged with robbery; 19,290 (59.1 per cent) of those charged with burglary, and 7,488 (68.0 per cent) of those charged with auto theft, were under 25.

Many previously arrested During 1935, approximately one-fifth of the 392,251 persons arrested had a record of arrests previous to attaining their majority. The fingerprints of 1,795 deceased persons were submitted to the bureau from May 1, 1935, to Jan. 1, 1936, in order that they might not be buried unidentified.

Through a search of its files containing a total of more than 5,500,000 fingerprint cards the bureau and law enforcement agencies throughout the country forwarding these fingerprints as to the identities of 437 of the deceased. The contributors of 666 of the 1,795 fingerprint cards had no knowledge of the identities of the deceased persons.

A check of the bureau's files revealed the identities of 138 of these unknown dead persons. They unwittingly in life had provided a means of being identified by committing criminal offenses. The 508 unknown deceased persons who were buried unnamed apparently led respectable lives and had not availed themselves of the opportunity of sure identification by placing their fingerprints in the civil identification section of the bureau, which is maintained separately and apart from the criminal records.

Civil Identification File Grows
Nearly 6,000 persons sent their fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigation during December, 1935, to be placed in its civil identification file. These personal identification records came from such far away points as Yokohama, Honolulu, England, Puerto Rico and Alaska, as well as from all sections of the United States. The value of having a permanent and reliable means of identification on file is rapidly becoming apparent, officials said.

All personal identification records are filed apart from the criminal records. The fact that the stigma of criminality is being divorced from fingerprints is evidenced by the receipt in the bureau on Dec. 10, 1935, of 25 sets of fingerprints taken at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association, Yakima, Wash.

Civic Groups Aid
Among those actively engaged in furthering civil identification are the Junior Chamber of Commerce, San Francisco, and the Sheriff's Office in Detroit. These organizations have submitted a large number of personal identification fingerprint cards to be placed in the files.

The value of a sure means of identification is well illustrated in many cases throughout the country, officials point out.
All citizens, if they so desire, may have their fingerprints placed in the Federal Bureau of Investigation's files for personal identification purposes in its civil identification section. In this manner they will insure their identities for all time, safeguarding against possible accidents, catastrophes, and attacks of amnesia.

Royal Mounted Rides In Autos

OTTAWA, Ont.—Canada's famous Royal Canadian Mounted Police force has more motors than it has horses but its name is not to be changed.

Recently Sir James MacBrien, Commissioner of the famous Mounties, made a speech which was misinterpreted as a suggestion that in view of the changed conditions, the "Mounted" should be dropped from the name of the organization. Public reaction was instant and unfavorable to any change. The name of the force speaks of its pioneering tradition and it is quite certain it will not be altered.

Force Totals 2,573
The force consists of 91 officers, 2,148 non-commissioned officers and constables, 115 special constables and 219 members of the marine section a total of 2,573 of all ranks. For transport purposes it has 277 horses, 413 dog sleighs, 411 passenger automobiles, 34 motorcycles and 19 motor trucks. The marine section has 19 cruisers and patrol boats.

The duties of the Royal Mounted Police are of almost infinite variety. It is engaged in the prevention of smuggling, on sea and land and in enforcement of the Excise Act, the laws against drugs and narcotics and sundry other federal acts. In six provinces by agreement with the Dominion Government, the R. C. M. P. undertakes the duties of provincial forces and enforcement of the criminal code.

It performs such routine duties as the patrol of government buildings in Ottawa and of government driveways, the search for truant Indian children on the reservations to hunting run-runners on the coasts and enforcing law and order in the wild spaces of the sub-arctic.

In the preliminary Will Perry of Abilene will take on Don Carver of New Mexico, in a match which most of the fans will be hoping will go to Carver, as Perry has few bouquets thrown at him while in the local ring, but who goes ahead with his wrestling just the same.

Legion Post Will Meet On Thursday

The service office of the post will be open from 7 o'clock tomorrow evening until meeting time at 7:30 in order that any veterans who cannot conveniently come during office hours may have the opportunity of getting assistance in completing their adjusted service certificate claims.

The post wishes to especially extend an invitation to any of the veterans, regardless of whether or not they are members, to be in attendance at this meeting. A portion of the program will be used in answering questions that may arise in regard to the filing of these applications.
