All He Could Do Was Spin Yarns—But How!

The shade of Rudyard Kipling must be rather disconcerting to some of the earnest writers of this day.

Kipling was not an intellectual. His creed involved the blind worship of a strong-arm sort of imperialism which the World War and subsequent events showed was altogether too bloodily expensive to be worshiped by thoughtful men.

He was a staunch aristocrat in a day when the common man was feeling his oats. In economics, sociology, and political science he was a full half century behind the times.

So much was this true that it has been the fashion of late years to speak of his work with a species of lofty contempt. His poems, we have been assured, were jingles, his stories were easy glorifications of the robber-baron tactics of a predacious empire. He lacked almost everything that modern writers pride themselves on possessing.

Except one thing—and there he could give all living writers cards and spades and leave them lashed to the mast. He could tell a story.

Now a genuine story teller is not the sort of citizen that can be found under every bush. Such a person comes along once in a generation—not oftener; and when he comes he may possess all the defects which pain the critics and a whole flock of new ones that the critics never heard of, and still he will win the world's affection.

For human beings have had a special place in their hearts for the born story teller ever since the days of blind Homer. The man who can say "Once upon a time—" and then make you free of a brand-new world into which you could never peer without his help, gets into that special place and stays there, and the world remembers him long after it has forgotten all about his more serious and intellectual contemporaries.

And what a world Kipling opened for us! He started when we were children, with his "Jingle Books" and "Just-So Stories," and he kept at it down through the years.

He made Mulvaney as real to us as Al Smith; he made us see and smell and feel the bazaars and the cantonments of India; he dug into our secret, hopeless dreams with stories like "They" and "The Brushwood Boy" and persuaded us that they were really true.

All this must be pretty discouraging to our self-conscious moderns. They have so much that Kipling did not have, and it counts for so little in the face of the one thing Kipling did have.

Like Dickens and Mark Twain, he could tell a story, and tell it superlatively well. And when the world gets a story teller of that caliber, it does not let him die.

"French boxers used to kiss instead of shaking hands." To some current U. S. heavyweights, that must have seemed rather undemonstrative.

Automotive executive says the automobile has made different men of Americans. They're not so different, though, if you discount a few limps and scars.

Your Income Tax

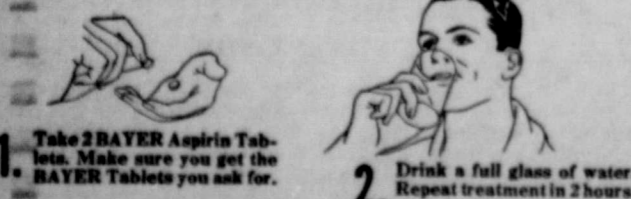

WHO MUST FILE RETURNS

Returns are required of every single person who for the year of 1935 had a gross income of $5,000 or more or a net income of $1,000 or more and of every husband and wife living together who for the year 1935 had an aggregate gross income of $5,000 or more or an aggregate net income of $2,500 or more. Widowers, widows, divorcees, and married persons separated by mutual consent are classed as single persons. The personal exemptions are $1,000 for single persons and $2,500 for married persons living together and for heads of families.

Husband and wife living together may make separate returns of the income of each, or their income may be included in a single joint return. If separate returns are filed, one may not report income which belongs to the other, but must report only the income which actually belongs to him. If a joint return is filed, such return is treated as a taxable unit, and the income disclosed is subject to both the normal tax and the surtax. Husband and wife may elect each year whether to file a joint return or separate returns. Where, however, joint or separate returns have been filed for a particular year, neither husband nor wife may after the due date of the return file an amended return or returns on a different basis for that year.

GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

By RODNEY DUTCHER, Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The American Liberty League raised and spent more money last year than did the Republican party and almost as much as the Democratic party.

In many respects the league is a political party. You begin to sense that when you go into the National Press Club building here in Washington and you see President Joseph Shouse's name on the door of Room 1046—which, with a couple of dozen contiguous office rooms, is league headquarters.

Until June, 1932, that space housed the Democratic National Committee and Shouse, who still has his same old desk, was in charge. His secretary of those days, Miss Garey, still guards the Shouse door.

Propaganda is the league's chief mission and from the same old office Shouse directs a constant fire at the New Deal in somewhat the same manner that he and Charlie Michelson once plastered President Hoover.

The league's financial support comes in the same way as that of political parties, but it seems to come easier. The organization received $483,000 in contributions and loans in 1935 and spent $290,000. There's no fund-raising staff and no need of $50-a-plate Jackson Day dinners.

There are no dues and membership is free unless you elect to join up as a "contributing member," yet the organization's mailing list—nothing to sneeze at—contains few more than 100,000 names.

The fact is that the league hasn't had any membership drive, because it figures it's much more important to get its ideas across. And 9000 applications—with checks—poured in for the 2000-seat dinner, with Al Smith's speech as its main attraction.

The league has issued 95 separate pamphlets—attacks on most important phases of the New Deal, and New Deal speeches by Shouse and many others, adverse constitutional analyses of New Deal laws, proposals by its lawyers' committee, and so on.

The league estimates that it has sent out about 3,500,000 such pamphlets since it began to operate in 1934 and of course there have been many public statements, radio and other speeches, and other uses of the propaganda technique.

The league has members in all states and organizations in 20—most of which have offices for publicity and other purposes. The organization hasn't lobbied yet except through propaganda pressure—which may have helped in modification of the 1935 banking act, slight modification of holding company legislation, and suppression to date of the 30-hour week bill.

THE league resents charges that it is the instrument of "vested interests" or "entrenched greed," since it campaigns for "government by law rather than men," preservation of the present constitutional form of government, a curb on presidential power and on the congressional delegation of such power.

It has received many letters from farmers, storekeepers, and other small business men and likes to point out that $35,000 of its 1935 money came in driplets of less than $100. Nevertheless, the league is controlled by representatives of a tremendous aggregation of wealth—once estimated as at least $37,000,000,000 in industrial and financial assets.

Political plans for 1936 are still unmade. Apparently the league people aren't seriously considering promotion of a conservative third party. But their motto seems fairly sure to be something like: "Anybody but Roosevelt."

How Cardui Helps Month After Month

Where there have been severe pains every month, from functional disturbances resulting from poor nourishment, Cardui has helped thousands of women to obtain relief. Their confidence in Cardui makes them eager to recommend it to other women needing such a medicine.

"I suffered a great deal with pain in my side and a weakness in my back," writes Mrs. Walter Page, of Evansville, Ind. "This made me so nervous I couldn't rest. Each month I would suffer all over and would have to go to bed. One of my neighbors told me how Cardui helped her, so I took it and it helped me. After taking eight bottles, I was much better. I surely can recommend Cardui for weakness and pain."

Of course, if Cardui does not benefit you, consult a physician.

Joseph Installs a Shoe Reshaping Unit

A most modern machine takes its place in the shoe department at Joseph's with the arrival this week of the new Dundee shoe reshaping machine.

This machine has attachments that make it possible for the operator, either E. L. Martin or L. E. White, to shrink, take out wrinkles, lengthen or shorten straps, raise vamps or throats of either new or old shoes. It shrinks heels and sides, both inside and outside, in one operation, which will prevent shoes slipping on the heel or gaping at the side of the foot.

Valentine Motif Given
Pretty Accent at Party
With Valentine so closely approaching all social attractions are given accent to the colorful motif in matching tones, and all the other appurtenances, to make the occasions completely enticing.
Wednesday afternoon the home of Mrs. H. C. Kelley, Eastland highway, was gaily dressed in the above color tones, for a party shared by members of the Gleasons Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church. She had as her co-hostess, Mrs. D. L. Powell.
Mrs. C. P. Hazard, president of the class, called to order a business session brief, but all matters of importance were sufficiently discussed. First vice president, Mrs. M. O. Attebery, presented for the entertainment feature an arrangement of novel games in keeping with St. Valentine's Day.

District Meeting Postponed Due to Death of State Manager
Wednesday afternoon at the meeting of the Julia Alexander grove, No. 1954, of the Woodman Circle chapter, brought the announcement of the postponement of the district convention which was formerly scheduled to have convened at Mineral Wells this month, due to the death of Mrs. Etta Davidson of Houston, and who was capably serving as state manager. The passing of this great leader will be keenly felt throughout the entire organization.

Mrs. Edna Williamson, presided, and the session was an unusual success since every officer was present and carried forward their duties in their respective places.

Mrs. Pauline Fullwood was presented with a friendship quilt. Each block carried the name of a member making a total of 29. She graciously thanked the grove for this gift, which comes among with others she has received prior to her approaching marriage which takes place Monday, Feb. 10.

The resignation of the advisor, Mrs. Lueta Bray was regretfully accepted and Mrs. Viola Cash was elected to take her office.

Next Wednesday afternoon will bring forth a Valentine party to be held at the home of Mrs. Ruby Greer, Country club road. Eighteen members were present.

P. T. A. and City Council Operetta Tonight's Outstanding Feature
The Parent-Teacher and City Council operetta, under the direction of Mrs. P. A. Nelson and presenting pupils of Mrs. Nelson, is outstanding feature on tonight's program of social doings.

The entertainment will take place at the Ranger High School auditorium at 7:45, and parents, friends and others interested in a splendid role of entertainment are invited to attend.

A small admission charge will be made and the proceeds will be used for fine purposes by the associations, under whose auspices it is being given.

Fifty-fifth Anniversary of Christian Endeavor to be Observed at Sunday Evening's Service
The fifty-fifth anniversary of the Christian Endeavor will be observed with a playlet, "Links in a Glorious Chain," under the direction of Mrs. Nath Pirkle, at Sunday evening hour at the First Christian Church, Feb. 9, at 7:15 o'clock.

Mrs. Pirkle asks that members of the choir also be present at the rehearsal tonight at 7 o'clock, since they, too, are taking a fine part in the program. Hal Hunter acts as director of the choir.

Inside Done
A. L. Miller, who is visiting his brother of the Lone Star Gasoline Company in Ranger, will be remembered by many Ranger friends several years ago. Mr. Miller has recently been released from the United States marine corps, where he served eight years. He was badly injured in an accident on board ship at Shanghai, China, some three months ago and is recuperating and resting. He has not decided what he will do when his leg heals but said he was certainly glad to get back to Ranger and see his friends.

Miss Marguerite Harman of Breckenridge visited at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harman, Route 3, this week.

Mrs. Lora Crews, aunt of B. A. Tunnell, who is very ill at his home, has taken a change for the worse and her condition is considered most discouraging at this time.

E. F. Fuller of Dallas was a business visitor in Ranger yesterday, calling at the Ranger Floral Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Powell, who have been making their home at Del Rio, where he was associated with Montgomery Ward & Co., have within the past two days received a transfer to Corpus Christi. The Powells lived here before going to Del Rio.

A. E. Brooks of Mineral Wells was a business visitor in town yesterday.

Carl Jansing, manager Montgomery Ward & Co., is visiting in Austin, where he is attending a managers and service department meeting, which has to do with the demonstration of electrical appliances.

LITERARY NEWS
 Union Community Literary will present a three-act on the night of Feb. 14, is "Beads on a String," of humor and will further throughout. The characters will be published in Union Oak Leaflet's next issue until Friday night, due to a desire to present on a String." We invite both of these programs.

TO PATRONS
 We have attempted something that is new to the school in offering ourselves as participants in the Interscholastic League, which is held annually in the form of county meets. This offers various opportunities which with limited space I will not be able to relate. What we are asking for is this: It will be absurd for us to say that this is a new undertaking for your children and it will take all available encouragement on all of us to produce winners.

We are vitally interested in advancing this program, especially the literary side, and earnestly solicit your co-operation.
 The time that your child spends in this work can never be regretted for their part and your part.
 Those who desire their child to enter in declamation, spelling, arithmetic, or any other event that we will be able to offer, please encourage them to become interested.
 We will thank you very much for your aid in this undertaking.

THE WORKER AND THE DRUDGE
 By Mrs. D. R. Holliday
 Two women were seen walking down a winding road together. It was an early fall morning and there had been a light touch of frost. The trees were changing color and the early sun made them appear beautiful.

STRANGE CASE OF JULIA CRAIG

BEGIN HERE TODAY

... CHAIR, secretary to the WOODFORD lawyer, is about to become a night club. Because of this she has with PETER KEMP, a lawyer who is in love with her.

... shares an apartment with SANDERS. Sanders gives a yacht party which Julia to come as a guest. In the party, the widow, EUGENE NASH, goes to Evergreen Island. Woodford sees a judge who tells her that Peter Kemp is nearby Woodford. Nash goes hunting and Nesbitt. The party leaves to get him to a doctor.

... gets a job singing on the ATTA's singing ship. She frequently receives telephone calls and never says anything of what is on the yacht.

... GARLAND opens a new club and hires Julia as the singer. On the opening night, she sings "The Stranger." Julia reaches home. Cintra says, "I know if you have any idea what happened to Roy!"

... ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXI
 ... stared at Cintra Lee. ... wordless, she opened the door of the apartment and ... and bulbs ... inside.

... dancer looked at her for a moment, all her hard sophistication ... a cloak. ... saw ... in Cintra's eyes ... fear she carried for ... Nesbitt.

... sure something's terribly ... Julia Woodford ... and asked me to say ... the cruise of the Wood ... made some feeble ... secrecy, out—

... did the same with me!" ... "That makes me ... every way I know to ... Nesbitt. I thought it ... that he would leave the ... about some word to me ... I'm sure ...

... Small, unfeeling ... newly ... there anything we can ...

... took her head slowly ... the best thing we can ... quiet, Julia, until we ... something. Woodford's ... will allow ... had. If Roy is ... better ... it won't hurt to see ... he's not—there's noth ... do about it, you and I ... there'd be trouble."

... said that's just what ... going to be, Julia. ... took up her gloves ... I'll be off, I'm at the ... if you want me ... asked to see Cintra ... could see Cintra ... walk below. Her ... do this slim girl who ... knew what had ... found the man ... to come ... A. J. Ratliff ... no more than ...

One of the women spoke in a clear, soft voice. "Isn't it beautiful. Oh, isn't this a beautiful picture?" The other one answered, "Why do you think it is beautiful? What is beautiful? I don't see anything you could admire—except this old rocky road that we are stumbling over, and just look what a steep old hill to climb. I am al-was but recreation. To her another step heavenward. While to her partner the climb ended in fatigue and her eyes were blinded to the beauties it was the other's joy to behold.

 In this we view a picture: one looked at the roughness with a smile. The other with a grudge. Why? The one was a worker and the other was a drudge.

BLAIR, Neb.—The oldest life guard in the middle west, Jonas M. Burcham, 74, has received a renewal of his appointment as examiner for the American Red Cross life saving service. He is credited with saving 93 persons.

PENSION SEEKER THWARTED
 TACOMA, Wash.—Mrs. Parmelia J. Ellis, 74, a widow, was told she would be ineligible for an old-age pension if she kept her home, and decided the property to a relative. Superior Judge W. O. Chapman set aside the deed, returned the home to her.

MONTREAL.—Three Beaurépair, Que., Boy Scouts, who found nine pieces of a $10 bill at a New York state camp near Lake George, have received a new $10 bill in exchange from the federal treasury in Washington.

SCIENTIFIC REPORT FAVORS BRAN

Relieves Common Constipation Safely

Read this statement, taken from an article in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association, pages 133-134, Nov., 1932:

"The inclusion in the diet of a small portion of bran . . . would seem a very practical way of getting fiber which is not likely to be digested. This bran has the additional advantage of furnishing a considerable amount of vitamin B and of readily available iron."

Exhaustive tests, over a period of five years, have proved Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to be a safe, effective way to correct constipation due to insufficient "bulk" or fiber in meals. It is accepted by the American Medical Association Committee on Foods for this purpose.

You will enjoy this pleasant way to prevent the dangers of constipation. You can eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream. Or cook into delicious breads and muffins.

Usually two tablespoonfuls apiece daily are enough to protect your family from common constipation. How much better than taking pills or drugs!

Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Grafters Will Get Veterans If They Don't Watch Out

From Texas Legion News

The average veteran of the World War is now "forty, fussy, fiery, and fat." As a man of mature years, and experiences, he need not be told how to spend his money when Adjusted Service certificates are paid. He has already, during the long years of waiting and working and watching, spent his so-called bonus over and over again. He knows just what he is going to do with it. If he needs it, he will know what to do with it. If he does not need it, he knows just how he is going to save it.

A recent survey published in the American Legion Monthly sets forth just where the money distributed from the bonus bonds will go.

It will wipe tears of distress from the eyes of veterans who have felt that they did not have a friend.

It will transform the cries of needy children of veterans into songs of joy.

It will give a loaf of bread and a glass of milk to the under-nourished.

It will enable the soldier of 1917 and 1918 again to stand up straight as an Indian at attention. He will be able to stand "chest out" with eyes straight forward, looking to better things, and face his fellow men with a new lease on life and a determination to make this final payment of the bonds a genuine investment.

In many instances, the money will be used for a payment on a home or on a business. Automobiles and luxuries in many instances will be purchased, but he will be wise in his spending.

While the veteran of the World War may not need any advice as to how to spend his money, it is not out of place here to sound a warning.

Just as during the Great World War, there were citizens who were found around every army camp and in every community who were forever doing things and making "bargains" at the expense of the soldiers and their country in its hour of need. There are citizens abroad in the land right now who have already figured out just how they can fleece the veterans of their bonus money. Even before they receive the money plans have been made. Word has already come to Department Headquarters of how these public enemies, under the guise of rendering a service, are selling their products to veterans at exorbitant prices and taking their notes for same, payable sometime after June 15. Some veterans, in their distress, have begun to fall for this and other schemes and plans. They feel that a dollar today will help them earn two dollars tomorrow. They are already buying clothes and making other investments at increased and unreasonable prices, to so-called business men who do not have the heart to render a helping hand unless they can exact a pound of flesh and a gallon of blood.

Beware of haste! The money will not be available until June 15, and possibly later. The wisest policy of every veteran would be not to eat the cake until the cake is baked; not to spend the money until the money is in hand, or at least not to spend it with those who would advance their prices to exorbitant figures and thus place themselves in the ranks of racketeers and inhuman vultures that swoop down on their prey and make the road rough and rocky for everyone else.

No better investment can possibly be made by a veteran of the World War than to join The American Legion and other patriotic organizations to which he may find himself eligible. Looking into the future, The American Legion is needed today and will be needed tomorrow, just the same as it was yesterday.

A Ceaseless Warfare
With the final passage of the Adjusted Service Certificate Measure, a long and uphill fight has been won by The American Legion and other veteran organizations. They stayed in there and fought. Commander Ray Murphy made many friends for The American Legion and for the just cause.

He served as the National head of The American Legion during the days and weeks while the bill, that was finally favored, was being considered. He and Buddy Wright Patman of Texas and Buddy Vinson of Kentucky were as one man, according to all outward appearances. Their faces were always smiling and when the final vote was taken by which the President's veto was over-ridingly overridden, this trio of Legionnaires began to receive their dues from the people who believed with Theodore Roosevelt that the man who bares his breast to the bullets of a foreign foe should be given a square deal at home, when the battle flags are furled, and the boys come marching home. Congratulations, Commander Murphy! Congratulations, Buddy Patman! Congratulations, Buddy Vinson! And congratulations to every man and every woman within and without The American Legion who made possible the bonus victory by which a long siege has been ended.

While The American Legion has never worked merely for the payment of the Adjusted Service Certificates, for many years now it has been a National point on the program of most of the 11,000

Posts of these United States. The passage of the bonus takes the measure out of the realm of politics. The passage of the measure which is to bring relief to thousands of veterans of the World War means that The American Legion and other organizations that have had to spend so much time and so much money and so much energy in behalf of the measure will be enabled now to direct their full force toward programs that will inspire the confidence of every man—every member.

The fight for veterans, however, is not yet over. It will never end so long as there is a war-disabled Buddy without hospitalization. The fight of The American Legion will never end so long as there is a neglected orphan or widow of a war Buddy. The fight of The American Legion will never end so long as communists and bolsheviks operate in this country, over which flies the Stars and Stripes of Democracy and Liberty. The fight of The American Legion will never end so long as community services are to be rendered by which the patriotic impulses of the people are inspired to be bigger and better Americans.

Eligibles who disagreed with the Legion on the so-called bonus, and who have stayed without the organization because of that matter, need no longer remain without the ranks of the largest patriotic organization that God's glorious sun ever shone upon. "There is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us, that it little behooves any of us to talk about the rest of us." There is so much good in the program of The American Legion that it is a challenge to every eligible man and woman in America to fall in line and keep step and march with a smile, not to the beat of drums and the sound of trumpets of war-time, but to the music of progress in peace-time. Join the Legion and let's continue to carry on in a manner that will win the commendation of our finest citizenship and best of all that will meet the high and holy demands of our own minds and conscience.

Lions Ladies

ture newspapers, "The Lions Tale," which had been worked up by Lion Rip Galloway and contained four pages of caricatures and jokes on the members of the club, in addition to the following program:

7:15 to 7:30—Finding partners; ladies draw questions, men draw answers.

Sing-song, led by Lion J. E. Meroney; Mrs. Weldon Webb at the piano, all joining in.

Invocation, Lion H. H. Stephens. Dinner.

Meeting brought to order by Lion President Andy Anderson; welcome to the ladies. Turns meeting over to Lion Larson, chairman of program committee.

Sing-song, led by Lion Meroney; Mrs. Weldon Webb at the piano.

Boxing stunt; two Lions, T. J. Anderson vs. J. C. Shaw. Referee, Lion Galloway.

Marshmallow stunt; two Lions, C. J. Moore vs. W. B. Crossley.

"Friendship and Fellowship," Lion Harry A. Logsdon.

Meeting turned back to Lion Andy Anderson. Discussion on basket supper for about April 1; program to be put on by ladies.

Closing song, "Till We Meet Again."

Tournament.

Cold type will not reveal the fun the program provided, for by the time partners had been found and crepe paper hats donned everyone had entered into the spirit of the evening, and dozens of pranks and impromptu stunts, not on the program, had been thought of and sprung which kept the entire group in laughter.

There were only two serious parts in the entire program. They were the address by Dr. Harry A. Logsdon on "Friendship and Fellowship," in which he brought out the accomplishments of the Lions Club here in Ranger and in the nation and in the five other countries where the 2,700 clubs are located. The other was the discussion of an old-time basket supper to be held sometime about the first of April. Lion President T. J. Anderson appointed three Lionesses, Mrs. W. B. Crossley, Mrs. W. L. Jackson and Mrs. J. J. Kelly, as the committee to perfect plans for the supper and the program.

Those enjoying the evening's fun were: A. N. Larson, Mrs. Saule Perlstein, C. J. Moore, Mrs. H. H. Stephens, J. C. Shaw, Mrs. J. E. Meroney, J. J. Kelly, Miss Lucile Buchanan, H. H. Stephens, Mrs. A.
