Community Center Meets Approval of Ranger Merchants

The advent of the first day in Ranger, many of the merchants and the entire board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce have expressed approval of the plan to have a community center in Ranger.

Therefore when people from rural sections, or from surrounding towns, shopped in Ranger, they had no common meeting place and no place where they could leave purchases. When the plan for the community center was outlined it met with instant approval of everyone.

The committee has been appointed to work out the details, and the center was not established and opened in time for the trades day, many expressed belief, today, that it would be in time for the second trades day, which will be held the first part of this month.

Plans call for someone to manage the community house open shopping hours every day of the week, if necessary, and at least Saturdays and trades days.

Southwest Cattle Association Meets

AMARILLO, March 10.—Southern cattlemen crowded Amarillo for the convention of Texas Southwestern Cattle Association.

Mayor Ross Rogers, in an address of welcome to the session, said the cattlemen that "higher prices are coming and we must meet the issue courageously."

The cattle industry needs help from the Lord in plenty of money second from the federal government in rebuilding the tariff to limit imports of beef, he reminded them.

House Broadens the Townsend Probe

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The House, without a dissenting vote, today amended and broadened a resolution authorizing investigation of the Townsend and other old age pension plans.

The resolution, similar to one approved by the House earlier, granted the investigation committee power to file and print its report of findings, should congress not be in session.

LARGE CROWD IN TOWN FOR TRADES DAY

Shetland ponies, small calves, steers, cows, horses, mules, jacks, buggies, trucks, wagons, automobiles and hundreds of people were on hand long before noon Tuesday morning for the first of the Ranger trades days and auctions.

The crowd began gathering at the lot on the corner of Austin and Walnut streets early in the morning and by noon a much larger crowd had gathered.

Water was being furnished, free, for all the livestock with a large tank being installed at the edge of the grounds for the convenience of any having stock on the grounds.

The main features of the trades day came in the afternoon and at present time the crowd had grown considerably.

The next trades day will be conducted on Tuesday, March 24, at which time an even larger crowd is expected to be present.

Many Merchants Are Taking Part In Cooking School

The Ranger Times "Happy Kitchen Chautauqua" with the merchants of Ranger co-operating will open next Tuesday, March 17, in the New Recreation Building promptly at 2 o'clock. This will be the best school ever conducted in this part of the state and all women in this part of the state are invited to be present and the guests of the paper and the merchants on all four of the afternoons that the school will run.

Miss Jessie Hogue graduate of the school of home economics of Chicago and noted home lecturer, will be in charge of the programs each afternoon and will have numbers of free prizes to be given to ladies. On Friday afternoon, the last day of the school, there will be 10 grand prizes sponsored by several of the business firms that will be given to women.

The Times has secured the New Recreation Building so that plenty of seats will be available at each show.

In addition to the school the electric refrigerator dealers of the city will have on display at each program models of their various merchandise and this one feature alone will be very interesting.

Those making the school possible are the following business firms: Joseph Dry Goods Co., Hassen Co., A. J. Ratliff, Oakwood Jersey Dairy, Schooley Bakery, Montgomery Ward & Co., Mills Grocery & Market, Killingsworth, Cox & Co., Ranger Furniture Exchange, Piggy Wiggly, Leveille Motor Co., Texas Electric Service Co., Community Public Service Co., Electric Shoe Shop, Ranger Laundry, Ranger Floral Co., J. C. Penney Co., C. L. Hyatt Norge Products Co., Wm. N. McDonald, J. C. Smith Store, Clyde H. Davis Music Co., Gholson Hotel, Gholson Coffee Shop, Ranger Mattress Factory, Dry Cleaners of Ranger, Arcadia Theatre, Harold Wright, Dupress Service Station, McMillen Service Station, Guy's Confectionery, Modern Studio, Southwestern Ice Co., Exide Battery Co., H. H. Vaughn Service Station, S. R. Wood Maytag Co., and Zuelia Beauty Shop.

There have been several who have signified their intention to enter and additional names will probably be added to the above list.

The school will draw a large number of women from other towns and all will be welcome. So the message from the merchants is for the ladies to make their plans to be present at each demonstration.

Remember the dates, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week. There will be plenty of seats for all.

C OF C BUDGET FOR THE YEAR IS APPROVED

At the regular meeting of the directors of the chamber of commerce, held in the office of the secretary Monday night, the budget for the year 1936 was approved unanimously. The budget has been cut until it comes within the expected revenue for the year and it is hoped that the organization can be kept on a cash basis throughout the year.

Announcement was made that a group of Fort Worth citizens would visit Ranger on Wednesday morning at 9:20, at which time they will advertise the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock Show. A. J. Ratliff and Hal Hunter were named to meet the delegation at the railway station and welcome them to Ranger.

It was decided, upon request of R. V. Galloway, old age assistance investigator for this part of the county, that the chamber of commerce aid anyone in filling out his application for an old age pension, the service being given to anyone who wants it, free of any charge. It was pointed out that the investigators are not allowed to assist in filling out applications.

The directors discussed the possibility of putting on a Ranger Day program at the Centennial on Sept. 23, and also discussed making it an Eastland County Day, since it is of greater magnitude than was at first expected.

There Are Fashions In Foods Cooking, School Head Says

The Ranger Times, which is bringing Miss Jessie Hogue to this city under its auspices, to start the Kitchen Chautauqua dealing with subjects of cooking school, home economics, food fashions and parade of foods, has just received a letter from the lecturer in answer to a question asked her recently: "Is there really fashion in foods?"

Miss Hogue starts her letter with an emphatic statement: "Sure, and most surely indeed, there is fashion in foods. Fashion the same as there is in dresses, hats, shoes and other wearing apparel. The Daniel Webster meaning, my dear fellow, of the word 'fashion' is: 'to make according to rule, to form, give outward appearance, shape, pattern, to lend a revivifying mode, custom, usage, common practice, style, manner, mode, sort, well bread, polished. Anything capable of being shaped, etc.'"

"And the self same book of common reference gives the definition for 'pie' as follows: 'An article of food, consisting of suitably prepared meat; fruit, or reasoned and sweetened composition; baked with an undercrust, as a pumpkin pie.'"

"And there being no state statutes or United States rules against it, could not an apple pie be fashioned, with a little alteration of the original and time-worn Webster meaning given it, as given or suggested above, of the original meaning of the word 'fashion'? Is a little hide and seek game at artistry in cooking an unlawful offense, most particularly if it change in dress would make it more palatable, or more tempting to appetite, or suit the whim and fancy of some member of our society circle? A major part of our information comes to us through the eyes, my dear fellow editor. Why not appease the sight of mankind and womankind, and maybe that of childlike, with a few new changes in the old regime of doing just for happy-kitchen and happier home-life, and friendly relation's sake. That is no crime, is it?"

"Sure there is fashion in foods. The greatest form of fashion in this land of ours, and it is made with the simplest kinds of foods, many times, tactfully and artfully done, when the plan of it and the new information of it is fully understood by a wide-awake housewife. Just you pay my cooking school a visit and let me prove my facts to you."

Admission to the Kitchen Chautauqua will be free—no obligations of any sort. The dates are May 17, 18, 19 and 20, at the Recreation Building.

America's Farmers Are "Doing Well" With Income 48 Percent Above 1933

Commodity	1933	1935	Percent Increase 1935 over 1933
Washing Machines	63,367	184,987	192
Radio Sets	92,284	260,000	182
Spensible Income	$2,500,000,000	$3,700,000,000	48
Farm Equipment Sales	$120,000,000	$332,000,000	177

So much has been printed and said about the reversal of the AAA and its possible effect on farm buying that it is interesting to learn that the 1935 payments of $480,000,000 actually were less than 6 percent of last year's gross farm income, which totaled more than eight billion dollars. Since 1932, furthermore, the farmer has enjoyed a gain of two and three-quarter billion dollars in his gross income, and benefit payments were only 17 percent of the whole gain.

The farmers' "spensible" income in 1935, it is interesting to note, was 48 percent greater than in 1933. This is the money the farmer has left after paying taxes, interest, and production expenses and assuming all cost of farm consumption.

It is this "spensible" income that settles how many washing machines and radios and how much farm equipment farmers can buy. Every indication is that it will be considerably larger in 1936 than it was in 1933.

Admission to the debate will be free.

Chances for PWA Grants Uncertain

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The chance of states, counties, and cities to get government financing of more than $3,000,000,000 in PWA projects depended on the 1936-37 work relief policy of the New Deal.

The PWA has 6,810 applications from political divisions for $1,166,333,000 in loans. PWA, however, has distributed all its available funds and it is without money, except for small amounts.

FRANCE TAKES NEW ATTITUDE ON RHINELAND

PARIS, Feb. 10.—France decided, today, to waive her demands for military sanctions against Germany and even, on certain conditions, to withdraw her demands that German troops be withdrawn from the Rhineland.

The adamant French attitude veered suddenly today after a conference of the powers which Germany has denounced.

The change came while Captain Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, was telephoning London advising that Foreign Minister Pierre Flandin of France wanted economic and financial sanctions, but not military ones.

France decided to abandon her demand for withdrawal of Rhineland troops on two conditions: 1—Germany must pledge not to rebuild fortifications in the Rhineland.

2—Chancellor Adolf Hitler must modify the proposition he made in a speech on March 21, 1935, to assure "certain guarantees for the future."

In the speech Hitler outlined the conditions under which Germany could return to the League and agree to a European aerial defense pact.

Building Service Strike Broadened

NEW YORK, March 10.—Building service strikers opened their "major offensive" today when they extended the walkout to the skyscrapers of the Grand Central area in Manhattan and to office and residential structures in Brooklyn.

Approximately 25,000 workers in 4,000 buildings will be affected by the strike extension, union leaders said. The new move was by way of reply to the Hickey Advisory board failure to accept Mayor Laguardia's arbitration plan, which proved satisfactory to the strikers.

Officers from Athens brought the negroes to Dallas and last night announced they had solved the murder of the elderly couple shot to death as they lay in bed and robbed of $300.

RUSSIA WILL HELP LEAGUE IN EVERY WAY

LONDON, March 10.—Russia officially informed Great Britain today that the Soviet government is "resolutely opposed" to negotiations with Germany and the Soviets are ready "actively to participate in any action decided upon at Geneva."

The Soviet ambassador visited the House of Commons and delivered an important oral communication based on instructions received from Moscow.

It was learned the Soviet ambassador to France conveyed a similar message to the French foreign minister.

The Soviet communication was believed to foreshadow a united front at the League council meeting of Russia, France, the Little Entente—Roumania, Jugo-Slavia, and Czechoslovakia, Turkey and possibly others, not only against Germany but against the British inclination to compromise with Hitler regardless of Germany's repudiation of the Locarno pact.

Refund On Interest On School Bonds Is Approved by Board

Announcement was made in Ranger today that the school board had been notified by the state board of education that the state board had approved a refund on the bond interest, which would enable the schools of Ranger to get the full apportionment of funds for the remainder of the school year.

The announcement comes at a time when many of the merchants were uneasy about accepting school script because they feared that the full apportionment would not be received this year.

DUST STORM IS NEARING FIVE STATES

AMARILLO, March 10.—Amarillo was besieged by waves of heavy thick dust this afternoon, with visibility dropping from 15 miles at 5 a. m. to half a mile in the afternoon. The dust was moving outward by an unseasonal strong wind.

KANSAS CITY, March 10.—

Zero visibility was reported at Canadian in the Texas Panhandle, at Amarillo visibility fell from 10 miles to half a mile in a few hours. Dust was reported at Abilene and Big Spring.

The storm area spread over Southwest Kansas, Northeast New Mexico, Western Oklahoma and Southeastern Colorado.

Dust started rising in the Dodge City, Kansas, region yesterday noon. A sudden wind shift from south to north today resulted in steadily diminishing visibility.

Northerly winds prevailing throughout the region indicated the Texas Panhandle would bear the brunt of the storm. The storm probably will grow worse during the day. There was no indication the winds would subside.

Public Not So Foolish As Congress Thinks

The great American voter is popularly supposed to believe that the average congressman is a blockhead and a nitwit.

Meanwhile, most of us fail to notice that the average congressman returns the compliment, with interest.

That is to say, Congress, collectively, seems to feel that the electorate is made up principally of egg-heads who have to be led in out of the rain by kindly policemen.

For proof, consider the flurry that has swept through our congressional halls because of the suggestion that Congress vote upwards of a billion dollars in new taxes.

The background of this request is perfectly simple. A soldiers' bonus law is on the statute books. A new farm bill is also on the statute books, and the old one has left behind it certain inescapable obligations. Added up, these things will put the bite on the treasury to the extent of a billion or more.

Considering the fact that the budget has been out of balance for something like seven years, and that our national debt is higher than it ever was before, it is hard to see how any legislator in his senses could hold back when it comes to voting money to pay some of these bills.

Yet the president's suggestion that new taxes be voted has aroused a perfect storm of congressional resentment. Hearty congressmen go about looking as if their best friends had sneaked up behind them and delivered a collective kick where it would do the most good.

Why? Because this is a campaign year. Congressmen must run for re-election this fall, and they don't like to take into the arena a record of having voted for new taxes only six months before.

And that reluctance is the measure of Congress' contempt for the intelligence of the American voter.

Why would any voter, old enough to be trusted out alone after dark, resent the fact that his congressman had voted for new taxes at a time when new taxes were absolutely unavoidable? Isn't this country intelligent enough to realize that it can't live on credit forever, and that what it buys has to be paid for sooner or later?

"Red" McFarlane Sheriff Aspirant

The candidacy of A. D. (Red) McFarlane for sheriff, subject to the Democratic primary election, was announced Tuesday.

McFarlane, a resident of Eastland county for 18 years, has been a spudder contractor and connected in oil field work in that time and in 1933 through 1935 he was a special agent for the Texas rangers in East Texas.

He has been connected with the major oil developments in Texas for many years, leaving the county occasionally for new fields near Cross Plains, Coleman, Borger, Kilgore and other points.

McFarlane has also been a special officer for the Prairie Oil & Gas company, working at Cushing, Okla.

NYA Workers In 142 Counties Making A Physical Survey

(Editor's Note: This is the last of a series of United Press stories on the work of the rehabilitation division of the state department of education.)

By RICHARD M. MOREHEAD, United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN.—National Youth Administration workers in 142 Texas counties are surveying 145,000 families to determine physical disabilities that the state may help correct.

"I expect we'll find in those families 50,000 persons with physical handicaps," said J. J. Brown, director of the state department of education's rehabilitation division.

Lack of information has hampered work of the state department of education and Texas society for Crippled Children in the past. A card index system will enable officials to quickly and economically make plans for aiding such underprivileged.

The five-year program already accomplished has aided some 4,500 persons directly. The cases are from El Paso to Texarkana, Amarillo to Houston.

For $100, the state trained a El Paso youth to help fellow sufferers. He graduated from the Texas School for the Blind here and returned to El Paso as a home teacher of other sightless persons. The man is now in charge of "The Lighthouse," El Paso blind center.

Nearly 500 miles to the East, a man in Roscoe, Nolan county, has a prosperous watchmaking shop. Several years ago his leg was amputated after an accident gunshot wound endangered his life. Useless in his former occupation, the man turned to the state who spent $340 sending him to a watchmaking school in St. Louis.

Two Coleman citizens have made their own following a "lift" from the state. One man, 22, was trained to make watches after undergoing an operation to amputate his leg. The other youth, 20, was rehabilitated for $165 and got a job in a jewelry store.

A Brownwood girl was afflicted with curvature of the spine. She was trained in dress-making and now has a prosperous home business. A young man, 24, lost his left arm. The state sent him to business college and he now has a job keeping books for a grocery store.

A 24-year-old Cisco youth was handicapped by paralysis of the legs. The rehabilitation service used $328 training him in a tailor shop and he became a master cleaner and dyer. Another young man was disabled, unable to follow his ambition of a law career. He was trained as a barber at $419 cost, worked in a barber shop while going to law school and now has a license to practice law.

In Waco, a handsome 24-year-old youth wanted to be a certified public accountant, but was without funds and handicapped by an injury received from a leg fracture. He was trained as a bookkeeper and now has a job in a wholesale grocery firm, still working to achieve his ambition.

Every city in Texas has similar cases. With an increased federal and state appropriation, Director Brown expects to develop the service to extent hitherto unreached.

Your Income Tax

Extension for Filing Returns and Payment of Tax

It is important that the taxpayer render on or before the due date, which is March 15 if the return is filed on the calendar year basis, as complete and final return of income as possible. However, when by reason of illness, absence from home, inability to secure the necessary data, or for other good and sufficient reasons additional time is required, a reasonable extension of time may be granted. Application should be made in writing to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer files his returns on or before the due date of the return, a full recital of the causes for the delay being given. Except in the case of taxpayers who are abroad, no extension may be granted for a period of more than six months.

An extension of time for filing the return does not extend the time for payment of the tax, or any installment thereof, unless so specified in the extension. Application for an extension of time for payment of the tax or any installment thereof should be made on form 1127 to the commissioner of internal revenue through the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer's return is filed. The applicant should set forth under oath the specific reason for desiring an extension and should clearly indicate what hardship, if any, would result if the extension were not granted. In addition, a statement of assets and liabilities showing the taxpayer's financial condition as of the last day of the preceding month, or as of the close of the last taxable period, and a separate statement of receipts and disbursements for each of the three months immediately preceding the month in which the application is filed should be submitted. The amount of tax for which the extension of time of payment is desired should be stated. The commissioner will not consider an extension of time of payment unless request is made on or before the due date of the tax or installment thereof. If the extension is granted, interest at the rate of 6 per cent a year is collectible from the date the payment should have been made if there had been no extension to the expiration of the period of the extension.

Each Puff Less Acid
A LIGHT SMOKE
OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

Over a period of years, certain basic advances have been made in the selection and treatment of cigarette tobaccos for Lucky Strike Cigarettes. They include preliminary analyses of the tobacco selected; use of center leaves; the higher heat treatment of tobacco ("Toasting"); consideration of acid-alkaline balance, with subsequent definite improvement in flavor; controlled uniformity in the finished product. All these combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette rich, ripe-bodied tobaccos—A Light Smoke.

Luckies are less acid

Recent chemical tests show that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.

Good Coffee Is Worth the Money

You buy good coffee to get the full coffee flavor, but the true flavor can be captured only by making the coffee properly, and one requirement is the right amount of HEAT.

The heating element in an electric percolator or electric coffee-maker is designed to provide the exact amount of heat needed to bring out the full flavor of good coffee—and none of the bitterness that too much heat draws out of the coffee grounds.

CRUISE TO NOWHERE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANE WESTON feels her dreams come true when she sets out on a three weeks' ocean cruise. She is in payment for the magazine which she worked as typist's assistant. Then a misunderstanding comes between them. She is battered by the attentions of two ROSS, opera singer, and becomes the frequent escort of VERA LANE, famous actress and owner of the Kokoiro dining room.

Among the passengers are: SAMUEL DOREMUS, wealthy executive; DUTCH LENZ and NIP JACKSON, blacksmiths; MARTIN, a doctor; and a floor show entertainer. Snowshoes persuade Nora Lane to the pursuer. They go to her room to get it and find Nora Lane, dead from a bullet wound. The diamond is missing. Snowshoes takes charge of the investigation. Most of the passengers are anxious to get away, though they know of the "loving Nansu" behind a storm which up that threatens to become a hurricane. Snowshoes persuades passengers to get their life jackets on.

Madame Doremus' companion, who is missing. She is discovered in a closet and Nip Jack is a masked man trying to steal Madame's jewels. A shot is fired outside the main cabin door. The door is closed. Snowshoes goes on board. The whole ship is an uproar.

GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIV

TILL no report came down from the bridge, though the crew was standing tensely by at stations.

The whole world seemed to pitch and roll. Passengers were flung about on the floor. The ship pitched violently as her propellers were lifted out of the water. The nervous strain had reached the boiling point, with all the passengers huddled in white-faced groups, a sudden grinding noise that was different from all the other noises of the fury, assailed them. A sharp, grating sound as of a rock.

There was a shock, which flung half the passengers on their sides while the boat quivered from stern to stern.

A white-faced ship's officer came through the lounge, and spoke to one steward after another. All a welter of hushed voices set up to the ceiling. "On a reef!" the ship had been driven off the reef, and was now held fast on the reef, and water was coming into the hold.

Orders came in short bars now. The SOS was flashing out from a radio control-room, telling the whole world that the de luxe ship Oceanic was fast on a reef, and at the mercy of the hurricane.

When the passengers knew it had happened, their plight was different. Nothing mattered now but saving of lives. Word came that the ship was not sinking, but all passengers were to be spaced to take to the boats. They saw that life boats would crumple up like paper on the surf beaten by the waves. Members of the crew were rebelling them into order, where they remained, miserably huddled together, clutching their life preservers.

A steward found a few life belts. There was a mad moment of confusion as the men should stampede them. Grateful feminine hands found them. But one little girl four or five, separated from her mother, was found sniveling in a corner, terrified. She hadn't a life preserver, and there were no more.

IT was a weird manhunt the passengers of the stricken S. E. Oceanic witnessed on the boat-deck. The waves still broke over the bow and flowed along the polished boards, rendering footing difficult. It was almost impossible for a human being to make any headway against the wind.

Tino had a start, and was clinging to the rail, pulling himself hand over hand against the wind. His progress was incredibly slow as the rivers of water sucked about his legs, but Dirk's progress was not much faster.

Dirk was in a crouching position, head down, making his way into the wind, trying to keep in the lee. He struggled up the cabin wall, occasionally holding on to a demolished deck-chair in its lashings.

It was like a pursuit in slow motion. Tino's face was white and drenched with spray, and agonized. Dirk's was drenched but grim.

A false hand-hold, one bad step, would lose for either in the race. Tino lost his footing first, and a wave coming down the deck left him floundering like mad in the middle of the floor. Somehow he scrambled to his feet, and got hold of a deck-chair before he was swept away.

Dirk was close behind him, moving cautiously now, for he saw that Tino, tiring rapidly in this strenuous work, was clutching his gun menacingly.

The lights were dim on deck. Tino plunged into a band of blackness, and Jane saw the yellow flash and then heard the bark of the gun.

One expected every minute to hear that the ship was breaking up on the reef, but to Jane this chase and death-grip was agony. She realized now what Dirk really meant to her. She loved him! She had been mad to let him go out there after Tino. Tino had a gun, and he was so raked with fear that he was desperate.

But with her face glued to the panes, she saw that Dirk was on the floor, riding on his hands and knees, unhurt.

In this moment of relief Jane's thoughts raced along an impossible channel. Her mind was doubly alert; she correlated past events, time and place, like a drowning person. All in a flash. After a moment, she turned to the detective and said, "Now I know I know. Tino isn't just a coward, afraid to give up his life belt to a little girl. He's the murderer. He's the one! Tino killed Mannie Jackson and Dutch Lenz."

An angry murmur ensued from the people around Jane, but Snowshoes simply stared at her. "How do you know? If you had any clue that connected Tino with the crimes why didn't you reveal them? I was with him, on deck, at the time Mannie Jackson got his." He shook a finger at her, admonishing: "You can't accuse the opera star, just because you've turned against him, a shocking coward who's threatening the life of the one you really care for—"

Here they are in an exciting new novel to appear in this newspaper March 12 to April 15.

Father Prophet on the Sun

Dr. Finkel also said that it would be "wetter." Figures reveal a half an inch more precipitation a month for the past five summers. Included in the period, and predicted by Dr. Finkel, was the 1934 drought, with temperatures seven degrees a day hotter than normal. "I've done all right so far, and rest on my laurels," Dr. Finkel said in refusing to make another prediction.

Dr. Finkel bases his prediction on the sunspot cycle—an 11-year cycle during which solar activity goes from one period of greatest intensity to another.

The cycle, he explains, is "due to the shrinking of the sun's volume and mass, until it gathers sufficient tension—and then there is an enormous explosion, just like a volcanic explosion would be on this earth.

"After one of these explosions," Dr. Finkel explains, "it takes about 11 years more for the sun to settle and accumulate once more the same amount of force that caused the explosion, and then it happens all over again.

"These explosions create enormous quantities of heat, and there is no doubt that this does affect

What Has Spring and Summer Clothes to Offer?
When seasons change, the urge for new clothes is usually given due thought. What has spring and summer clothes to offer, will be entertainingly answered at the Recreation building Thursday night at 8 o'clock, when a group of some 38 models representing the D. Joseph Dry Goods Store, stage a colorful promenade, to music which is now being given careful attention under the direction of Mrs. Leslie Hagaman and Mrs. Fred Warren.

Black-Draught's Good Reputation
The confidence people have in Black-Draught, built up from satisfactory use so many years, is shown in its being handed on from one generation to another. It must be good to have such a strong following.

Here is a typical reference to Black-Draught by a satisfied user: "We have used Black-Draught for twenty years," writes Mr. Fred Richardson, of Hartshorne, Okla. "My mother has used it for fifty years. It is the best medicine I know anything about. I take it for sour stomach and constipation, as when I feel sluggish and bad. Black-Draught is splendid to regulate the bowels, cleansing them of waste matter, ridding them of constipation. I expect to use it twenty-five more years if I live and it gives satisfaction as it has always given."

Caroline Miller Slated to Make Personal Appearance in Ranger March 31 at Recreation Building
Caroline Miller, author of "Lamb in His Bosom," which won the Pulitzer prize for American novel published during the year of 1934, is slated to make her personal appearance in Ranger on the afternoon of Thursday, March 31, at 2:30 o'clock, at the Recreation building.

Mrs. Hal Hunter and her English department of Ranger Junior College, are sponsors of this unusual occasion, which is indeed a rare privilege to those interested and appreciate writers and particularly one of the South, who is thoroughly familiar with Southern customs.

For those who are less familiar with Pulitzer prizes for American novel authors, the summary is this: "Pulitzer prize for American novel published during the year which shall present the wholesome atmosphere of American life and the highest standard of American manners and manhood, $1,000."

Caroline Miller was born August 25, 1903, in Waycross, Ga., a few miles from where the Swanee River rises. She went to the Waycross High school but never went to college. She says, "I finished from the Waycross High school one June and was married the following August to the English professor who had taught me "Hamlet," "Ode to a Skylark," and the "Scarlet Letter," and the little I know about English composition. Never the less her book, "Lamb in His Bosom" has drawn comment from Sinclair Lewis, Dorothy Canfield, New York Evening Post, Anne Parrish, Lewis Gannett, and New York Herald-Tribune.

At this time members of Ranger clubs and others interested in Southern writers are invited to attend this outstanding feature.

Virgie Sue Wyatt III
Miss Virgie Sue Wyatt, who is ill at the home of her parents at Olden is reported to be somewhat improved. She is quite popular in social circles both in Ranger and Eastland, and her host of friends are wishing for a rapid recovery.

Royal Service Program Planned
The study for the Women's Missionary Society of First Baptist church, was carried forward at the Monday afternoon meetings conducted in separate groups at the homes of hostesses as announced in Sunday's column.

Each group reported interesting study under the direction of leaders who made completely worthwhile the lessons and later business periods. A Royal Service program was outlined for next Monday's lesson, which will be given at the church at 2:30 o'clock.

A satisfactory attendance was reported for each circle group.

Last Chapter of Missions Heard at W. M. U. Meeting
The last chapter of the book of Missions, made up the study program for members of the Women's Missionary Union of Central Baptist church Monday afternoon when the lesson was held at the home of the president of the Union Mrs. H. S. Packwood.

Mrs. Sarah Sawyers, a Bible student of unlimited knowledge, gave the chapter and concluded by offering a colorful summary of previous chapters. She was assisted during the lesson by Mrs. H. H. Stephens, whose talk was rich and well expressed.

Bringing to a close the social which followed, the hostess passed a daintily prepared plate of salmon salad on lettuce, Ritz crackers, potato chips, stuffed olives, cakes and iced tea, to Mrs. W. O. Walker, Roy Wilkes, Sarrett, E. A. Arney, S. E. Mahoney, T. J. Anderson, W. S. Emfinger, J. A. Stevenson, Grover McGowan, H. H. Stephens, Dan Neville and E. S. Brink.

Surprise Program and Pounding Pava Honor to Return of D. W. Nichol
D. W. Nichol, minister of the Church of Christ, who has been vacationing for the past month at the home of his brother, Charles Nichol, and family, at Seminole, Okla., returned home last evening, and immediately upon his return was driven to the church where a group of 100 friends were awaiting his arrival, and paid honor to his return through an entertainingly arranged program and pounding.

A long table attractively surfaced held the array of gifts, the compliments of members and a group of close friends.

The program presided over by L. E. Gray, introduced as first number, a quartet, naming Messrs. Jim Head, E. R. Green, Lemley, and Ollie White. Bob Love offered an address of welcome to the minister, and extended greetings to guests. Appropriate remarks were given by D. W. Bills of Eastland, minister of the Church of Christ at that place, and another guest of Eastland, Bill Barnett. Rev. H. B. Johnson, pastor of the local, First Christian Church, was numbered among the guests whose talk was enjoyed. Little Miss Betty Bradley added to the program with two readings, "The Preacher" and "When a Little Girl Prays." A one-act negro play was presented by two of Ranger's talented speech instructors, Mrs. W. W. Jarvis Jr. and Mrs. L. E. White. Mr. Nichol's response was well expressed, and he again thanked the church membership for the month of absence which has done so much for his general health.

Drawing to a close an hour enjoyed to the fullest by the 100 guests, the refreshment committee served a delicious plate of cake, sandwiches, stuffed celery, and coffee.

When Joe B. Webb's Circus, Menagerie and Wild West exhibits here on Wednesday, March 18, people of this vicinity will have an opportunity of seeing the largest elephant in America. In an interview with her trainer recently, Capt. Joe Riggers, who puts the big pachyderm through her act daily, said this of the famous elephant: "Big Vera is 35 years old, and calculated in the life of an elephant, means about middle age; she weighs seven thousand pounds. A most unusual thing about an elephant which the public does not know is that twice the circumference of her foot is her height. We use Vera to pull the heavy wagons on location, and she will push or pull as desired. Her daily ration is four bales of hay and every other day she is given grain. People often ask me as to the amount. As a special added feature this season Joe B. Webb's Circus presents Betsy Ross, "The Texas Tomboy," in person, and her entire company of Wild West entertainers. This little miss hails from far down on Texas' borderland. At an early age she showed such an aptitude in rodeo events such as trick riding, trick roping, bronc riding, bulldogging, sharpshooting, that she soon earned the title of "America's youngest rodeo contestant." Invading Hollywood at the age of 11 years, she literally took the studios by storm; then of water she will consume, but we usually refer them to the small boys that bring water to the elephant for passes. Oftentimes, I am asked are elephants mean. My answer is that mean elephants are very few; they are a highly nervous animal and are frightened very easily."

Captain Riggers trained Big Vera to carry him by the head in her mouth the entire distance around the hippodrome track, which is approximately 800 feet, and local circus goers will have a chance to witness this exciting exhibition on Wednesday, March 18. "Valencia" is the title of the spectacular opening pageant, and thousands of dollars have been spent on wardrobe and equipment for this new spectacle. Miss Betty Webb is the dainty prima donna of the circus. Act after act follows in amazing rapidity and all are presented in three rings and a hippodrome track. Comedy is injected into the performance by a dozen funny clowns, and Capt. Jimmy Hamster's mechanical riding school, his act demonstrates how circus bareback riders are made. "King Kong," the giant man ape, will be on exhibition daily.

"Ranger is one of the few cities that will have the privilege of seeing this production this year, as the general release date is many months in the future."

"A Midsummer Night's Dream" is the first motion picture ever to be made by Prof. Reinhardt, the genius who staged the mighty theatrical spectacle "The Miracle," and it was only after many months of persuasion that Warner Bros. were able to prevail upon him to film the "Dream," which he produced so successfully in Hollywood and San Francisco.

Come to Ranger early on Wednesday, March 18, see the erection of this tented city, and go to the show early, so there will be plenty of time to inspect the free menagerie, where the wonders of the animal world will be on display.

Shakespearean Play Coming to Arcadia
Ranger will see the much discussed Max Reinhardt production "A Midsummer Night's Dream," according to B. E. Garner, manager of the Arcadia Theatre, who has just completed arrangements for the presentation of the Warner Bros. film masterpiece.

Heralded as the greatest motion picture ever filmed, and produced on an unprecedented scale of elaborateness, Shakespeare's comedy masterpiece will be shown here as a special attraction with all seats reserved.

"Our present plan is to hold the premiere on March 18," declared Mr. Garner, "and to present it twice daily for one day only."

"This is the first time in a number of years any screen production has been 'road showed,'" Mr. Garner continued. "Ranger is one of the few cities that will have the privilege of seeing this production this year, as the general release date is many months in the future."

"A Midsummer Night's Dream" is the first motion picture ever to be made by Prof. Reinhardt, the genius who staged the mighty theatrical spectacle "The Miracle," and it was only after many months of persuasion that Warner Bros. were able to prevail upon him to film the "Dream," which he produced so successfully in Hollywood and San Francisco.
