

West Texas—Fair, colder in north and west portions; near freezing in Panhandle. Frost in west portion tonight. Friday fair, cooler in central portion.

To anyone who recently visited Pittsburgh, and was unaware of the flood, the first mental reaction must have been: "The campaign is off!"

W. L. Jackson President of New School Board

At the regular meeting of the junior school board, held this evening, L. H. Flewellen retired as president of the board and C. B. ... who was elected to fill the vacancy on the board, was sworn to office, as was R. H. Hodges, secretary.

After the board was reorganized an election of officers was held and Dr. W. L. Jackson was elected president, A. N. Larson, vice president, and F. P. Brashier, secretary.

The meeting date was changed to the second Tuesday in each month, which until recently was the regular meeting date.

It was decided that at the next meeting, which will be on Tuesday, April 14, recommendations for positions as teachers will be considered and teachers elected.

New Manifest Form Now Being Used

By United Press
AUSTIN.—Manifests upon motor trucks will be allowed to include motor gasoline and other petroleum products from the East Texas area, which will look like an enlarged "transfers" generally used by street car lines, combined with a meal ticket.

The form has been devised by Sullivant, chief of oil enforcement for the State Railroad Commission.

It is believed to be proof against charges of duplication. Manifests are made impossible by printing many written notes. Date by month, day and the number of gallons must be punched with more than one time depicted by the punching.

Similarly punches will designate number of gallons of gasoline and other products loaded on the motor truck when it was checked out of refinery.

The manifests will be in triplicate and will be numbered serially. They will be printed on water-resistant paper like that used in broad tickets and protected seals. Only the printer who is permitted to furnish the manifests to the state will be able to change the paper with the particular marking.

Wooden Blocks Will Do Away With Wooden Paving

By United Press
DALLAS.—Wooden blocks which cover the streets of the inner business district will give way to modern surfacing on another two blocks under bids to be opened by the city council.

The offers will be for relaying Elm street from Ervay street to Elm street from Ervay street, with brick specified material. Total cost of the project will be $9,147. Property owners who petitioned for the project will pay $7,313, the city will pay $1,834, and the street car company $1,035.

At a meeting of the Ranger Chapter No. 394, Royal Arch Masons, held at 8 o'clock, the meeting will be conducted in the presence of the Master's Degree. All members have been urged to attend and visitors have been cordially invited to be present.

Mother Accused as Poison Killer

Murder by poisoning of her two daughters, Dorothy McCausland, 13, lower left, and Billy Mae McCausland, 11, right, is charged to Mrs. Velma Patterson, top photo, of Commerce, Tex., said by police to be "Hunt county's 114,000 r. queen." County officials declared they were investigating deaths of six other persons, including patrons of her alleged liquor resort and her second husband.

Smith is survived by his wife; two children, Maxine and Joy Ann, all of Eastland; three sisters, his mother, and a brother, Jake Smith, of Eastland.

Threatt was born in Mississippi and had lived in and near Eastland 12 years. Survivors include a brother, E. M. Threatt of Eastland. Hamner Undertaking Company, Eastland, is in charge of both funerals.

PUBLIC SAFETY DISPUTE HAS BROKEN OUT

DALLAS, April 9.—Differences over affairs of the Texas public safety commission developed today in a sharp duel of words between Albert Sydney Johnson, chairman, and Sheriff Albert West of San Antonio.

Sheriff West, seeking appointment of Sheriff J. B. Arnold of Beville as public safety director, criticized the qualifications of L. G. Phares and accused the commission of "discrimination" against Bexar county.

"The only sheriff in Texas who has protested Phares' appointment has been West, and I have had no communication from him. On the other hand there are 95 sheriffs who send the safety department records of criminals daily and 147 other sheriffs constantly were telephoning the department for assistance and co-operating in its work," Johnson replied.

To the charge of Sheriff West that horse race "bookies" in San Antonio had been closed by rangers while those in Dallas were permitted to operate "side open," Johnson parried with the reply, "That's a lot of bunk."

Anti-Gas Waste Laws to Be Tested

AUSTIN, April 9.—Attorney General William McCraw today announced plans for a test of the Texas anti-gas waste law in the United States supreme court.

That course was decided upon at a conference in Houston attended by Sen. Clint Small, author of the act; Maurice Cheek, Fort Worth; Charles Francis, Houston; and Alvin Maloney, Tulsa, Okla.

They are attorneys representing gas companies that want to sustain the conservation law. A three-judge federal court held a retrial taking of gas is not an anti-waste measure although coupled with the waste act.

FUNERAL FOR ONE EASTLAND MAN, VICTIM OF AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT, HELD, ANOTHER DUE

Funeral services for Durant Smith, 28, of Eastland, who was killed instantly in an automobile accident 18 miles west of Fort Worth, were held Thursday afternoon from the First Methodist church in Eastland. Burial was in the Eastland cemetery.

Funeral arrangements for Marvin Threatt, 37, also of Eastland, fatally injured in the same accident, were held in abeyance Thursday pending information from sisters in Mississippi.

The men were returning from Fort Worth, it was reported, where Threatt, farmer and cattle dealer, had completed business.

Smith's death was instant from head injuries, while Threatt died in a Weatherford hospital from a leg injury.

The Rev. E. R. Stanford, pastor of the First Methodist church in Eastland, officiated at the funeral services, and was assisted by the Rev. W. A. Tate, pastor of the Carbon Baptist church.

Smith is survived by his wife; two children, Maxine and Joy Ann, all of Eastland; three sisters, his mother, and a brother, Jake Smith, of Eastland.

Threatt was born in Mississippi and had lived in and near Eastland 12 years. Survivors include a brother, E. M. Threatt of Eastland. Hamner Undertaking Company, Eastland, is in charge of both funerals.

Italy Is Shipping Poison Gas, the League Is Told

GENEVA, April 9.—Italy has shipped 200 tons of poison gas to Ethiopia by way of the Suez Canal, Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, announced today at a meeting of the committee of 13.

He urged that both nations be asked to pledge not to use gas in the future.

The committee received a jurist's report indicating the committee is without authority to protest Italy from using the gas.

The report suggested those nations who signed the 1925 anti-gas conventions might call Italy's attention to her violation of it. That would raise the question whether the United States would join the protest.

Rains Form New Flood Menace In Southern States

ATLANTA, Ga., April 9.—Additional rains today renewed danger from swollen rivers of the South.

In several sections the rivers were beginning to recede and new rains brought fear the streams may continue to overflow.

The Tennessee river rose toward a crest of 36 1/2 feet at Chattanooga, where families in low-lying sections of the city moved from their homes again. Below the city waters were pouring through Alabama, where the Tennessee river may go to six feet above flood stage.

The three rivers that converge on Rome, Ga., forced 500 from their homes.

Germany Seeking Acquisition of Colony Territories

By United Press
BERLIN, April 9.—Germany has opened its diplomatic drive for re-acquisition of colonial territory, it was reported today.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, Adolf Hitler's envoy, was said to have raised the question in conference with Anthony Eden at London before Eden went to Geneva.

The report was taken as an indication of Hitler's determination to proceed with his international policies regardless of French anger.

Officials refused to comment but there was no doubt Hitler planned a campaign to place Germany in its pre-war position as a colonial power. The controlled press is more and more driving at the idea that Germany must have colonies.

Loss Woods Aided In Solving Tarver Case He Reveals

Loss Woods, who recently resigned as deputy sheriff of Eastland county in order to conduct his campaign for sheriff, was deputized by Constable G. C. Daniels of Cisco, to aid in the Buford Tarver case, and aided materially in tracking down the clues and making the three arrests that have been made.

In an interview today Woods stated that statements had been obtained from Bert Bradberry, 25, who was arrested in Big Spring, and from Jim Campbell, 40, of Cisco. Both statements, the officer said, involve Fate Campbell, 37, also arrested in connection with the case.

According to Woods' story, three men admitted that they had visited a place where Bradberry, Campbell and Elliott were operating a still. Thinking the three were officers, the operators of the still ran, Woods says one statement reveals.

The three, among whom was Buford Tarver, took the still and moved it about a mile away, Woods said. They also took about seven gallons of liquor. As they were returning to Cisco the three who had originally operated the still ambushed them, Woods said.

Tarver, who was riding in one car alone, was cut off from his companions and shot, the officer's statement continued.

Woods said that the solution of the case was not very difficult after the first leads were found, as one led to the other and that most of those contacted talked readily, telling stories that appeared to tally in all details.

Ranger Captain Not to Resign

AUSTIN, April 9.—Capt. J. W. McCormick, head of the Texas rangers, will not resign, he told Governor Allred today in a conference that was an aftermath to the appointment of L. G. Phares, former chief of the motor patrol, to be director of the department of public safety, combining rangers and highway patrolmen.

D. D. Baker, member of the safety commission, who was opposed to the appointment, told the governor his resignation will not be withdrawn. Baker's successor to the commission will be named with little delay, Allred said. He expressed regret Baker would not reconsider.

Germany Seeking Birth Control Head Returns

Crigler Paschall Resigns NRS Job

Crigler Paschall of Cisco, manager of the Eastland county office of the National Re-employment Service since its creation, resigned Wednesday afternoon to accept a position with an Abilene contracting firm.

The county office, established in 1935, was moved from Cisco to Eastland in 1934. Paschall, as assistant director of District 5 of the NRS whose headquarters are in Abilene under E. A. Elliott, placed 1,500 on works progress administration projects. Three thousand and five hundred were placed on contracting and other jobs, including W.P.A. in 1935.

While serving the government primarily recently, the office also acts as an employment agency to firms and individuals who desire any classification of worker.

No successor to Paschall had been appointed Wednesday afternoon. Paschall reported Thursday as time keeper and labor management officer on a job at Winters for the J. Floyd Melton & Co. of Abilene.

There are 48 counties in this NRS district.

J. A. Beard Escapes Injury In Accident

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Beard of Eastland escaped injury Sunday in an automobile accident en route to the bedside of their son, Dean, who was ill at his home in Dallas, friends learned. The son was reported improved.

The automobile was badly damaged, it was reported.

MAYOR'S HOME IS DYNAMITED AT BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE, Md., April 9.—Mayor Howard Jackson's home was bombed today in what was believed an attempt on his life.

The explosion tore a hole in the lawn about 12 feet from the mayor's home and shattered windows in the residence in the fashionable Homewood section.

Dr. Robert Woods, professor of physics and explosive expert, who investigated, told police he believed the blast was caused by dynamite, exploded by a time fuse.

Police, however, believed the explosive was hurled from a passing automobile. They said the bombers had apparently attempted to throw the bomb through a window on the first floor below the mayor's bedroom.

Bond of $10,000 Set for Campbell

Bond of Fate Campbell, 37, one of three charged in the alleged shooting of Buford Jack Tarver, 27, at Cisco recently, has been set at $10,000 by Justice of Peace Joe Wilson at Cisco, in whose court the complaints are filed, officials reported Thursday. Figure on a "possession of whiskey still" complaint was quoted at $500.

Jim Elliott, 40, has executed 500 appearance bond on the murder complaint and a bond of the same figure on the "possession of whiskey still" charge.

Bond of the third accused, Bert Bradberry, 25, has been set at $50, it was reported.

Due to an inadvertent error, it was reported Wednesday Campbell had executed $500 bonds, wherein it was Elliott.

Eastland Group to Attend Funeral For Kansas Man

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Fiensy, accompanied by Paul Newlands, left Eastland Wednesday afternoon for Columbus, Kan., to attend funeral services of John Newlands, father of Paul, and the brother-in-law of Mrs. Fiensy.

Newlands died Wednesday morning of heart failure. The funeral was scheduled for Friday.

FRANCE SEEKS ACTION UPON THE RHINELAND

By United Press
GENEVA, April 9.—France, in a verbal communication to Great Britain, has warned that she intends to seek concrete action against Germany if Adolf Hitler fortifies the Rhineland, it was reported today.

It was assumed the action contemplated was to seek economic and financial penalties to be imposed by other signatories of the Locarno treaty.

Pierre Flaudin, French foreign minister, declared the message to Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, yesterday, it was learned.

Flaudin was reported to have said Hitler's April 1 note to the Locarno powers constituted a rejection of proposals made to him and that now the Locarno nations, France, Britain, Belgium and Italy, must consider the next step, especially if Germany erected fortifications.

Flaudin denied reports he had indicated France might occupy the Saar in event of fortifications.

Fight Looms Over Custody of Child Moving Picture Star

By United Press
NEW YORK, April 9.—Mrs. Lillian Bartholomew, a thin-faced little woman with a grimy eye, laid plans with a New York lawyer for a fight over custody of her 10 year old motion picture star son, Freddie Bartholomew, that may rival the battle over Gloria Vanderbilt or the Dionne quintuplets.

Freddie, now starring in Little Lord Fauntleroy, is in custody of an aunt in Hollywood. Mrs. Bartholomew said the aunt virtually kidnapped Freddie in 1934 and had refused even to let him talk to his parents on the trans-Atlantic telephone. Freddie's father, who lost a leg in the war, gets a $90 a month pension.

Port Houston ranked first in both export and import tonnage and value of commerce. Galveston was second in value of commerce with $220,550,758 and Beaumont was second in tonnage with 16,573,288, according to the report.

Time to Do Something About the Weather

Mark Twain once remarked that, although everybody talks a great deal about the weather, no one ever does anything about it. And a nation which has suffered from the weather as much as has the United States could very well take that sage remark to heart.

For we seem to have gotten ourselves into a position where we get our paws caught in a crack no matter which way the weather goes. If we get a long dry spell, our soil blows away and our crops blister and die; if we get heavy rains, we have floods, property damage, and more loss of soil.

If we can't do anything about the weather itself, we can at least start making our country weather-proof. And from Morris L. Cooke, rural electrification administrator under the New Deal comes a sharp warning that if we don't do exactly that we shall pay a terrible price.

"Our country is afflicted with earth disease," he tells a Senate committee. "No individual ever hastened to a faster doom than we are doing today. We are like a man well gone with cancer or tuberculosis. We cannot remain a virile nation for another hundred years unless something is done."

So far, according to Mr. Cooke, we have hardly made a start toward "doing something." We have built and are building some great flood control dams; but, he warns, if these have to stand by themselves they are doomed to utter uselessness within a few years.

The streams they impound will bring down silt, the silt will raise the river bottoms behind the dams, and before we have got over being proud of our engineering prowess our dams will be rendered ineffective.

If Mr. Cooke is correct, it becomes evident that this business of soil and flood control is a more complicated affair than we have been supposing. To stop floods and erosion it may be necessary to go all the way to the headwaters of the little tributary creeks and brooks that feed our great rivers; to keep the water on the land, we should have to do a great many expensive and difficult things.

These things, says Mr. Cooke, would include control of the use of land by farmers, coupled with the erection of a vast number of small run-off dams at the headwaters of rivers. Downstream dams would still be built, but they would be smaller than the ones now being erected.

Now Mr. Cooke may be unduly alarmed about things; but he is at least sounding a warning which we cannot afford to ignore. If the danger is as great as he says it is, we cannot wait any longer to apply a remedy; and if the remedy, in turn, is what he says it is, we need to put our best brains to work drawing up a vast national plan.

In other words, it is high time for us to investigate this whole question of flood and erosion control, and to investigate it with a thoroughness and a completeness beyond those of any previous investigations. Our national future itself may be at stake.

The very least we can do is to take counsel with the most expert authorities—and, if their verdict is as unfavorable as Mr. Cooke's, to do exactly as they advise, regardless of the cost.

MOISTURE CONTROL
The most important single attribute of cigarettes, other than the tobacco itself, is moisture content. To its influence we owe the ability to make uniform cigarettes, to control combustion, and to govern quality of smoke. Excessive moisture interferes with proper combustion, and makes cigarette smoke unpalatable. Insufficient moisture permits dry, dusty cigarette smoke to impinge upon the delicate mucous membrane of the smoker.

MONTGOMERY WARD

ON TEXAS FARMS

"The new farm act to be based on the conservation of our soil," comments the Farmer-Stockman in an editorial in March 15 issue, "will be just as valuable as we make it."

"If we take the attitude that the conservation of the soil is made the excuse for paying cash benefits to farmers, we will do merely those things necessary to get the money."

"But if we accept the act in the spirit in which it is being offered, it will mark the turning point in the farm industry in the south-west."

"Up to this good day we have mined our soil of the store of fertility which nature put in it. Few of us have farmer to maintain the fertility. That farm is an exception which is as fertile as the day it was broken out."

"That sort of farming can't continue. Sooner or later it runs its course. The gullied hillsides and the dead, hard soils which contain no longer a proper store of humus testify to our destruction."

"In the past three to five years we have done, in total, a fine lot of terracing. But the known total of land terraced as compared to that needing terracing, does not comprise a record of which we can be proud. The big job is still ahead of us."

"In fact, we have not yet reached the point that we are holding our own. We are losing soil faster than we are saving it. This new program can reach every farmer in the South during the first year of its operation. If we wholeheartedly accept the program, we can, in 1936, make a most definite start in conserving the soil resources on each and every farm."

"... this new farm bill will be offered to every farmer engaged in growing any of the major crops. Thus the set-up is perfect for getting the maximum results in the shortest possible time. If we do our whole part, we will find at the end of three to five years that we have stopped our loss of soil and have, at least, started the process of building back to a once more productive agriculture."

THROCKMORTON—Contouring 70 acres of land in 1934 gave H. E. Builes, Throckmorton county farmer, $300 more profit in 1935 than he would have realized had the contouring not been done, according to R. O. Dunkle, county agricultural agent.

"The 70 acres produced 165 pounds of lint cotton per acre, while near-by lands not contoured produced only 130 pounds per acre. The contouring was done in August, 1934, at a total cost of $32."

GIDDINGS—Terracing to stop the washing and fill up the ditches in his field is the first step that A. N. Beasley of the Adiana community in Lee county has taken in restoring the fertility of 50 acres of his farm, according to L. M. Gandy, county agricultural agent.

Beasley aptly describes the fertility of his farm when he states that today 25 acres are necessary to produce as much corn as 70 acres did when he put the land into cultivation.

This land was very difficult to terrace, as the major portion of the farm sloped from both sides to the center of the field where a large ditch was forming. This ditch, if not prevented, would take out 10 acres of good land. The land had an average slope of 8 per cent, and in the last 15 years had washed down to the clay.

CONROE—By the use of artificial inoculation on his peanuts in 1935, C. H. Page of Montgomery county increased the production of both peanuts and hay by 35 to 40 per cent, according to G. L. Clyburn, county agricultural agent.

"The difference in the inoculated plants and those that were not inoculated, was visible right up to the row," Page said. "It seems that any farmer could hardly make a better investment than the 20 or 25 cents per acre for artificial inoculation of peanuts and legumes. Although cowpeas and peanuts will grow in this section without the addition of bacteria to the soil, it has been learned recently that a fresh supply of "canned" bacteria often increases the yield noticeably."

Governor Proud Of Parole Reform During First Year

AUSTIN.—If Gov. James V. Allred were to choose the accomplishment he was proudest of during his first year as executive of Texas, probably that choice would be prison and parole reforms.

One serious reverse was encountered last year when Dave Nelson, first Allred choice as prison manager, died. O. J. Ellington, Nelson's successor, has taken over, however, and is putting into practice many of Allred's ideas gained as a governor, attorney general and prosecuting attorney.

Classification and segregation work at Huntsville's prison, undertaken jointly by the University of Texas bureau of research in social sciences and the Rockefeller foundation, is a pet project of the governor. Even more proud is he of the county parole board system.

Observers at the conference here last week were surprised at the enthusiasm of voluntary parole agents. The spirit was something like that of a "big brother" club which many cities sponsor at Christmas time. Few of the board members have had important dealings with law or lawlessness, yet they have given of their own time and money to aid paroled ex-convicts.

Allred read one letter which he viewed half-seriously despite a chucking in the crowd. It was from an anonymous Houston writer:

"Dear Governor: I am sure that you do not have time to be bothered with every fool thing that arrives at your desk. However, here is the home-spun opinion of a cotton tail rabbit chaser in Harris county on the apprehension of criminals which is as follows:

"Put them to death just as quickly as they can be got to the chair and also put his lawyer to death if he appeals the case. This nation has got to be rid of these damn scoundrels."

Allred termed the letter "an attempt to express the feeling of a large number of our people." Prisoners in Texas penitentiaries are getting more studios—at least more are going to school. Not always is the attendance at prison classes an indication of desire of learning—the inmates get "time" deducted for going to school. Significant figures were revealed in the prison's 1935 report.

More than 6,000 convicts are now in prison. Of those admitted in 1935 alone, 956 were unable to read or write. Prison classes attracted 4,484 men last year, with 1,686 in the first and second grades. Tests given 3,000 prisoners revealed that less than one-third have the equivalent of a grammar school education.

While the total served in prison schools was 4,484, the daily average attendance was 2,234, a 30 per cent increase over the last year.

While ex-convicts "pardoned" have legally served their sentence, those who leave on parole are expected to be meticulous in their personal conduct. If returned to

NOT for many moons has this column considered fish as a piquant first course. Yet fish cocktails and appetizers get more popular all the time.

Shrimps, lobster, oysters and clams and crabmeat make excellent cocktails. You can buy pre-prepared sauce bottles but it's easy to make your own, too. One excellent sauce is done thus:

Cocktail Sauce
Two tablespoons tomato catsup, 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1-2 teaspoon lemon juice, 1-2 teaspoon minced onion, 1-2 teaspoon salt, few drops tabasco sauce.

Mix ingredients several hours before wanted for serving and keep on ice to chill thoroughly. Use about 1 tablespoonful of the mixture for each serving.

Clam Cocktail
Mix clams with sauce in cocktail glasses. Sprinkle with finely minced sweet green pepper. Shrimps are served the same way.

Oyster Cocktail
Mix oysters with sauce in glasses and sprinkle with finely minced celery.

Scallop Cocktail
Mix cooked and chilled scallops with sauce in glasses and sprinkle with tiny pearl onions. Capers are good with scallops as well as with lobster and crabmeat.

Another crabmeat cocktail is made with a mayonnaise sauce instead of the tomato sauce given above. Juice and minced parsley add to this cocktail.

Smoked fish such as salmon and tinned haddock often are used for hors d'oeuvre. The shell-fish suggested for cocktails are popular, too.

Shad roe is expensive but has ring roes are moderate in price and are delicious fried in butter and served on tiny fingers of toast.

For a sardine canape, split, bone and skin sardines, put on strips of toast just the size of the sardine and broil under the flame. Serve hot.

Put small oysters in a shallow pan and brush over with melted butter. Broil under the flame for a few minutes. Toast small fancy shapes of whole-wheat bread, spread lightly with butter, then with chutney sauce or any rather sweet highly-spiced chopped pickle. Put a hot oyster on each piece of toast and serve hot.

Remove yolks from hard cooked eggs which have been cut in halves crosswise. Stuff with a mixture of chopped shrimps, cocktail sauce and minced parsley. Chill. Cut in slices and serve on crisp crackers a little larger than the egg slices. Put a border of rice egg yolk around the edge of each cracker. You could use the crabmeat and mayonnaise mixture in place of the shrimp and tomato sauce as suggested.

Any of these canapes are suitable to serve with drinks, tomato juice or something of a more spirited nature.

THE first robin and the first bunch of asparagus in my market bring spring cheer and stimulate my winter ambition. Of the two, my prosaic nature cares more for the asparagus.

There are fashions in asparagus, did you know it? Some sections of the country prefer green, others white. Either suits New York but New England and the South choose white, while the North and West stick to green. The matter of color may be due either to the way two same roots are planted and taken care of or to different kinds of roots.

To be at its best, asparagus should be freshly gathered. Its delicacy and sweetness of flavor disappear soon after it is cut. When buying, look for straight, crisp stalks with the little pointed scales pressed tightly against the stalk at the tip where the growth is newest. Thick stalks are more desirable than thin ones, since the lengthy ones mean long growth and consequent toughness. Be sure, too, that the cut surface is not dry and that the stalk does not feel tough and woody nor look shriveled.

Keep in Water Until Used
After buying fresh asparagus, treat it well. If tied in a bunch, cut the cord. Keep fresh by standing in a little water to retain its natural moisture. Put in a cool place.

If you have an asparagus cooker, tie your asparagus in bundles for individual serving and stand upright in the cooker. Add boiling water to the water line, cover and cook about twenty minutes. If you don't have a cooker, tie the stalks in bundles just the same and cook them standing upright in boiling water. Enough water to cover the thickest part of the stalks should be used, so that the heads cook merely in the steam. The heads are much tenderer than the stalks and do not require as long cooking. Salt when half done and lay the bundles flat in the water when almost tender. Cook ten minutes longer. This insures a perfectly cooked, unbroken tip. When ready to serve, remove each bundle, cut strings and serve at once with melted butter or drawn butter sauce made with the liquid in which the asparagus was cooked.

Cook Uncovered
Asparagus will retain its color better if cooked uncovered. The time depends on the freshness and state of maturity of the vegetable, but twenty minutes at least should be calculated. Overcooking damages both taste and appearance. The tips are described by scientists as being "rich in actively functioning cells and resembling leaves in their dietary properties. Calcium, iron and phosphorus are the principal ash constituents—all valuable for body building. Asparagus also is an excellent source of vitamin B. Since it is a low calorie vegetable, it is a boon to the person on a reducing diet when served plain with salt and pepper. It takes almost a pound—twenty stalks eight inches long—to furnish 100 calories. Of these calories 32 are protein, 3 fat and 60 are carbohydrates.

Sub-Strato Sea Hop, Air Ace's Aim

A 5000-mile sub-stratosphere flight from Dallas, Tex., to Paris, to test benefits of flying in lighter air, is the ambitious aim of Clarence Chamberlin, pioneer ocean pilot, right, with the type of plane he will use pictured above. The Douglas air liner, with two 1000-horsepower motors, will carry a navigator, radio equipment, about 1500 gallons of gas, and be sealed for liquid oxygen in the high altitudes. As the hop, set for June, will require 2000 gallons of gas, Chamberlin plans to refuel over New York, as indicated by the loop on the route shown in the map.

county council. Those committees will consist of three farmers, who will elect a chairman and a treasurer. The treasurer of such an organization need not be a member of the committee.

Other points of the emergency wind erosion program are: The county committees will appoint community committeemen, who must approve farmers' applications and, after the work has been completed, certify before final payment is made that the work has been completed as specified by the county committee and agreed to by the applicant.

The county agricultural agent will act as secretary and be responsible for the educational phases of the work and generally supervise the program. The county agricultural agent will represent the director of the Texas Extension Service.

Checks for 60 per cent of the total grant will be issued to each farmer upon approval of application, and the balance paid upon certification that the work has been completed.

Only solid listing or strip listing or chiseling can be approved by the county committee, and all work must be done on the contour.

"This requirement has been made," the director explained, "in order to conserve all moisture and assure a vegetative covering that will prevent the occurrence of the same situation next spring."

K. J. Edwards, who has been appointed as assistant district agent for soil conservation work for the Panhandle area, will assist in the wind erosion program. He will have his permanent headquarters at the Potter county agent's office in Amarillo.

All field work will be carried on by Parker D. Hanna, extension district agent of the Panhandle area, and O. G. Tumlinson, Extension district agent of the South Plains area, through the county agricultural agents in each of the counties affected by the emergency wind erosion program.

State Health Officer Warns of Typhoid

AUSTIN.—"High up on every health officer's list of Disease Prevention Duties" at this time of the year, is the reminder, "Typhoid Fever Immunization," stated Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

Through the protection of public water supplies from contamination, the pasteurization of milk supplies, vaccination against the disease, improved sanitation homes not served by pretreated supplies, sanitary supervision of sources of food supplies, other protective measures, typhoid fever can be controlled.

Here are the facts: As a body has aptly said "Nobody catches typhoid—he swallows it." Typhoid is a fifth-borne disease, causes great suffering and deaths. That is not all. It is an endless chain. A certain number of the people who have the disease and recover from it, become "carriers." They continue to be the typhoid-producing germs in discharge from the bowels and urine. If the discharges are disinfected before they are discharged, the germs may spread the soil and pollute it, or they be carried into an unprotected water supply and contaminate it. A carrier may also spread it when he handles or prepares food and is not careful to wash hands.

In vaccination against typhoid we have an effective means of protection which lasts a year or more and then must be renewed. If you have not been protected against typhoid within the last year or three, go to your doctor and have it done now. The disease is both preventable and curable.

Emergency Erosion Program Is Ready To Be Started Soon

Four printed forms fairly accurately describe the life of a law-breaker out on parole. Two of them are addressed to the department of state at Austin and signed by county parole board members. One shows when the parolee "checks in" at his home county after receiving clemency. The other is the regular monthly report form, showing how the parolee spent his wages—if any.

Form three is addressed to L. G. Phares, director of the department of public safety. It is a notice that (blank) parolee has failed to appear for his regular monthly report and would the state police please "contact" him.

The fourth form is a small card carried by the parolee. It gives the name of his county advisor and the parole number. For the bearer, the cards are often valuable. Zealous local officers sometimes know their one-time criminal on sight and wonder how he got out of prison.

Director Williamson explained that the program will be handled in the counties by county wind erosion committees elected by the

NO LADIES WILL BE ARRESTED FOR BUYING CHINTZ!

Here's a funny little item about sales-tax troubles 160 years ago in London.

To protect the English weavers of linen and wool, cotton chintz was stiffly taxed, and the Lord Mayor was "shocked and grieved" to see three gentlewomen walking in St. James Park on Sunday dressed in chintz gowns. On Monday morning, the three ladies were haled into court but all promptly paid their fines . . . because chintz was so pretty and so cool!

It still is. Crisp little dot and flower chintz for warm weather frocks. Red-rambler-rose chintz for summer bedrooms. Chintz slip-covers for dining-room chairs. Chintz blinds when you take the winter draperies down.

Right now is the time, to do your chintz-choosing. Or gay cretonnes and bold blocked linens . . . clothes at special after-Easter savings . . . porch and lawn furniture . . . garden tools . . . ALL the things you'll need and enjoy this summer.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

The attractive salt codfish platter is ideal as a luncheon dish for one or two guests. You may have fresh tomatoes as suggested in the recipe or stewed tomatoes with half a dozen croutons dropped in each serving. Or you could serve a tomato jelly salad, but tomatoes in some form you ought to have.

Salt Codfish Platter

Two cups salt codfish, 1-2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 tablespoons flour, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 egg, 6 rounds brown-bread toast, 1 cup grated cheese, 6 small tomatoes, 1 small onion, 1 cup coarse bread crumbs, 2 teaspoons sugar, buttered crumbs.

Measure codfish after picking into small pieces. Cover with cold water and let stand several hours. Turn into colander to drain. Pour over two cups boiling water and let drain again. Melt butter in sauce pan, add drained fish and mix thoroughly. Brown slightly over a low fire. Sift over flour and stir until the flour is absorbed. Add milk, stirring constantly, and bring to the boiling point. Add pepper and remove from fire. Stir in egg which is unbeaten. Serve on toasted brown bread, making a border around the stuffed tomatoes which are arranged in a circle around the mound of grated cheese in the center of the platter. Serve a round of toast with grated cheese sprinkled over the top and a stuffed tomato as each portion.

To make the stuffed tomato cut a slice from the stem end of each and scoop out the pulp. Chop onion very fine and cook in two tablespoons butter until a pale straw color. Add bread crumbs, sugar, salt and tomato pulp. Simmer ten minutes and use to fill tomatoes. Cover each tomato with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until crumbs are brown.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Chilled tomato and lemon juice, cereal, cream, baked French toast, maple syrup, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Creamed macaroni and cheese, mixed fruit salad, whole wheat Parker House rolls, chocolate drop cakes, milk, tea.
DINNER: Salt codfish platter with stuffed tomatoes, dandelion salad, banana pudding, milk, coffee.

Banana Pudding
Four or five bananas, 1-2 lemon, 4 teaspoons butter, 1-2 cup fine bread crumbs, 1-2 cups milk, 2 eggs, 1-2 cup sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoons vanilla, grated nutmeg.
Cut bananas in slices and put a layer in a well buttered baking dish. Beat with bits of butter and sprinkle with lemon juice and grated rind. Cover with fine bread crumbs. Add another layer of bananas and proceed as before. Beat eggs slightly with sugar and salt. Scald milk and slowly beat into egg mixture. Add vanilla and pour over bananas in baking dish. Sprinkle with nutmeg and bake forty minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) with the pudding pan placed in a larger pan of hot water.

Athens May Ship 100 Carloads of Black Eyed Peas

ATHENS, TEXAS.—Shipments of black-eyed peas from Henderson county this year are expected to reach a total of 100 cars, approximately double the shipment of 1935, buyers here estimate at Henderson county growers prepare for what appears to be the best market in years.

Successful canning of black-eyed peas last summer opened a new market of great potentialities for the Texas pea grower and the Texas Centennial is expected to greatly stimulate the demand for green peas this summer.

Although some few growers already have seed peas in the soil the major part of the planting will not get under way until April 15. Largest acreages this year will be in the eastern half of the county where landowners have contracted with Dallas packing firms for thousands of pounds of green peas to be canned. Extensive planting for the dried pea market will be done south of Athens on soils which have long been planted to this crop.

MOB TRAPS LOVERS IN HIDEOUT

They are an ordinary, sweet young couple driving along the California roads with their baby without warning a storm strikes, sheets of rain envelope their car . . . an abandoned farmhouse offers refuge . . . they enter . . . and suddenly they face violence, threats of death . . . the paralyzing fear of the new underworld terror!

From this point, the gripping, searing story of 20th Century's "Show Them No Mercy" which ends its engagement today at the Arcadia Theatre, carries its story of a nation's organized fight against crime.

Rochelle Hudson, who has the leading role, is teamed romantically with Edward Norris, while Cesar Romero and Bruce Cabot are prominently cast as the leaders of the outlaws.

When Miss Hudson and her husband blunder in on the hideout of criminals waiting for the alarm of their crime to blow over, they become prisoners.

The illness of the baby makes them demand freedom, but their captors have other ideas. They force Norris to pass some of the "hot" money, discover that it is marked. Then, as the net of the department of justice tightens about them, the criminals become terror-stricken.

In the slashing, powerful climax, "Show Them No Mercy!" reveals how a gentle girl can become a killer in the defense of the people she loves.

Kubec Glasnow wrote the screen story of "Show Them No Mercy!" The picture was produced under the personal supervision of Darryl F. Zanuck and directed by George Marshall.

WPA Workers to Be Ready for Any Floods Over Texas

SAN ANTONIO.—Works Progress Administration workers will be ready for action wherever flood dangers may arise in Texas this spring, according to plans of H. P. Drought, state administrator.

Anticipating annual floods, Texas Works Progress officials have secured a statewide project for emergency flood control.

The scope of work may be done under the project is limited to that which is essential to provide for necessary emergency work when danger to life or grave risk to property is endangered by flood conditions. Only work of a preventative nature is permitted, no funds having been provided for repair or damage after the flood has occurred.

Last September a hastily assembled crew of 250 WPA workers were stationed along the banks of the rising Rio Grande from Mission to Brownsville as a safeguard against a threatened major disaster. Speedy approval of this project was made possible through a now-exhausted flood allocation similar to the one which has been secured for this year.

Plans For Lighted Soft Ball Field Moving Rapidly

That Ranger will have a well-equipped, lighted soft ball field seems now assured.

Besides donating the ground for the field, the city has allowed Fire Chief G. A. Murphy to use the city street machinery in leveling and otherwise preparing the ground.

Coke Martin, chairman of the committee appointed to secure enough pipe for the light poles, has reported that the pipe has been secured and that J. E. Matthews will see that it is delivered at once. Hal Hunter has advised that he will look after getting the welding done. A. N. Larson, chairman of the committee appointed to ascertain the cost of fixtures, reports that he has secured an estimate on what his committee considers first class equipment and he has received a sample of the reflectors selected.

The finance committee, of which Felton Brashier is chairman, is already on the job. A few minutes of solicitation by Brashier and Hunter Tuesday morning brought in about one-third of the amount of money needed to defray the cost. All interested in soft ball can help. Some may not be able to give a great deal of money but can give what they can and though it be small it will be appreciated.

There will be some labor needed and anyone who wishes to offer their service for a few hours may register with the chamber of commerce. Thus far several hundreds of dollars worth of material has been donated by the oil and gas companies as well as by our city administration.

All clubs, firms, or other groups that contemplate entering a team in the city league should begin to give some thought to organization now. When the organization is completed the chamber of commerce would be glad to have the names of the team manager and captain. The organization will then be able to call together the team officials and organize the league. All have been urged to attend to this matter just as soon as possible so there will be no delay.
