Italy Promises Protection for Foreign Residents of the City.

The drama of Italy's conquest of the ancient kingdom of Ethiopia eached its climax today when Italian troops occupied the smouldering ruins of what was the capitol of the last independent kingdom in

The Italian arrival relieved the seige of 4,000 foreigners, entrenched in various legations. The troops streamed past the British legation, where the American colony, having evacuated its own, poorly defended compound, had taken refuge.

Prior to the Italian entry the oting and burning already had abated as Ras Hilu, provential governor, entered the city with 150 warriors and attacked the disorganized rioters. The deposed emperor, Haile Se-

Every Day Should Be Devoted To Mother

Mother's Day is going to be upon us one of these Sundays, and if the past is any guide to the future the occasion will be marked by a great deal of useless gush.

It seems to be a habit of ours to work ourselves up to a perfect lather of sentimentality about something one day in the year, and then to ignore it for the other 364 days.

Not that the sentiment isn't very pleasant and touching. There is something heart-warming about the custom of setting aside one day to let Mother know that she is loved and appreciated. The flowers, the little gifts, the extra attentions that appear on Mother's Day come from the heart, and it's good for us to give them.

But why, oh, why, must we try to pack it all into one day? Why can't we carry over a little of this sentiment for use the rest of he year?

In the first place, Mother isn't just the gray-haired old lady of the Mother's Day pictures. She's a lot of people, some of them old and some of them young, some of them rich and some of them poor.

She's the girl at the spindle in the textile mill and the WINNER woman back of the department store counter, the diningroom waitress and the telephone girl, the farmer's wife OF MANY and the woman on relief.

Being all these people, and more besides, she has a BEAUTY few common wants that are in evidence every day in the year. She wants a decent measure of economic security PRIZES and a chance to look forward to old age without undue

She wants things for her children-a comfortable home, good schooling, a chance to grow through a happy AMARILLO childhood to useful manhood and womanhood. She wants a world that will stay put without dissolving, every so of- SPONSOR ten, into the chaos of war or economic breakdown.

Are we doing a tenth part of what we could do, day in and day out, to provide those things for her?

We ignore the old-age pension movement so scandal- IN MAY ously that it falls into the hands of brainless and irresponsible cranks and quacks. We put into one squadron of cruisers more money than we have spent on slub clearance since our nation was founded.

We find hundreds of millions for our army and cut down on the school and playground budget. We let children waste and die from diseases that our science could Miss Mary Utterback, who will reresent Amarillo, the host city, in the prevent, and we do next to nothing to abolish war from the world

And-if you don't mind hard-boiled language-every time we do these things, or consent to the doing of them through our laziness or stupidity, we kick Mother right

Mother's Day is a fine institution. We could approach it with a clearer conscience if we did just a little more for Mother on the other 364 days.

For those Veterans of Future Wars, hasn't the government something in the way of a premature baby bond?

Mussolini apparently is going to civilize those Ethiopians if it takes every bullet he's got.

THE lungfish is known today as a "living fossil," a creature that is a sort of hang-over from prehistoric ages. It has evolved in the direction of land animals, but never has become one. When a stream of water dries up, the lungfish curls up in the mud at the bottom, to wait for the water to return , , , being able to breathe means of its single lung.
