& M Specialist of Screwworm Control Methods

At a meeting at the courthouse, Monday, on Friday, May 8, R. R. A. and M. insect specialists gave the following procedure as the latest, most economical and most effective control of screw worms on livestock:

1. Primary screw worm maggot, which lives on livestock tissue, is the most destructive, and it is which produces this maggot, eggs only in blood.

2. Secondary screw worm maggot, which only in dead flesh and is as harmful as the primary maggot.

To treat a wound, first clean it out with clean cotton. Be sure not to bruise or cause more pain.

A small amount of benzol should then be applied with a squirt can to moisten the inside of the wound. This is a gas which kills all maggots.

If the wound has a small amount of pus, put a small wad of cotton saturated with benzol into the wound.

This should be forced in, as it will cause the maggots to come out, and it will cause complications. Don't rake the maggots out of the wound, as that causes the wound and causes the maggots to flow for maggots to breed.

After killing the worms with benzol, apply pine tar oil to the wound with a brush.

This can be applied to flesh wounds to prevent blowing.

Reppert stated that the benzol and pine tar oil should cost not more than $1 per gallon in gallon and urged livestock owners to their druggist or other merchant to order a sufficient supply of the material can be bought at reasonable price.

Former Eastland County Citizens More Numerous Than University Alumni, A West Texas Trip Convinces Eastlandite

Former citizens of Eastland county are more numerous than the alumni of the University of Texas, W. H. (Bill) McDonald of Eastland county, humorously comments in a letter just received here from El Paso where he has been campaigning on behalf of his candidacy for state land commissioner.

"Everywhere I go, it's 'Old Home Week,'" the letter said. "And the folks who used to live in Eastland county are voluntarily constituting themselves 'committees of one' in their towns to help me win this race.

"Up at Childress, the first city visited on this swing through West Texas, I came across many Lions whose names are familiar to your readers. For instance, at the convention last Monday were George Harrell, county clerk of Jones county, who used to be in the bank in Eastland, and County Judge Omar T. Burleson, also of Anson, who formerly practiced law in Gorman.

"Incidentally, assurance of support was given me in Childress by Charles H. Hurdleston, former state railroad commissioner, who was very optimistic about the race.

"At Paducah, I found Byron Schatz, formerly with the First National Bank of Cisco, now an automobile dealer; Bob Woods, formerly Gorman automobile dealer, now in the same business in Paducah; George Brock, who used to be in the confectionery business in Cisco, now a gasoline wholesaler agent, and Sherrod Williams, formerly in the men's furnishings business in Cisco, now a Paducah dry goods merchant.

"If you've lost track of some friend who has moved away, read on, maybe you'll get news of him.

"At Lubbock, greetings were extended by Dr. Clyde C. Craig, formerly of Ranger; County Attorney Jess Levens, who used to be in Eastland; Tom Shepherd, druggist, formerly at Cisco; and J. H. Wheeler, gin owner, who ran district clerk against Judge Elzo Been away back in 1914. Visitors seen at Lubbock were Albert Jones of Fort Worth—Joe's brother; Allen Dabney of Eastland and Victor Gilbert of Cisco.

"Stopping at Andrews for gasoline and to shake hands on the busy street of that little city, I was greeted by Mr. Thompson, who used to live in Gorman. At Monahans were M. E. Lawrence, former Eastland lawyer; Jap Taylor, drifter, who once lived in Eastland; Walter Harwell, merchant, from Ranger; and J. A. Dowdy, who came from Cisco, and, by the way, he was my first client when I began practicing law.

"As I walked into the hotel lobby at Pecos, Lloyd Winston, who travels all over that country, called out, 'Hello, Bill.' He was formerly a Cisco merchant. And in the Hilton hotel lobby out here in El Paso, there sat J. E. Hopper, who used to teach and coach at Eastland High school—he travels over Texas and New Mexico now, and at the manager's desk was Don Burger, who was all-state tackle on the Abilene High school Eagles and former manager of the Laguna in Cisco.

"Besides familiar faces, I'm meeting many new friends and am receiving great encouragement. Best wishes to the folks back in my home county."

SELASSIE TO SEEK AID OF THE LEAGUE

GENEVA, May 11.—Haile Selassie today telegraphed the League of Nations from his refuge in Jerusalem that he remained determined to "continue the fight against Italy."

The emperor injected himself into the Geneva situation just as league leaders, in secret conference, moved to postpone for a month, action on Italy's conquest of Ethiopia and Germany's denunciation of the Locarno Treaty.

Breaking the silence he has maintained officially for more than a week, Haile Selassie informed the league he left Ethiopia to save his people from extermination.

JERUSALEM, May 11.—Emperor Haile Selassie is suffering a nervous collapse, it was disclosed today, while he sought aid to prevent the absorption of his country into an Italian empire.

Nevertheless the emperor continued at work and yesterday telephoned his minister at Paris to attend the league council at Geneva and defend Ethiopia's interests.

Applications Can Still Be Made For Centennial Beauty Contest

Only a few entries have been received in the beauty contest to select a representative from Ranger to go to Fort Worth, with all expenses paid, to enter a contest there the latter part of May. In the contest at Fort Worth a number will be selected from 50 competing towns; to be given positions at the Frontier Follies at Fort Worth.

At a meeting of the committee this morning it was pointed out that the girls would take their own measurements on forms to be supplied by the chamber of commerce, and would turn them in to the judges on the night of the contest, or before. All entries must be turned in to the chamber of commerce not later than next Monday, May 18.

The girl who is selected from Ranger will be the guest of the Frontier Exposition at Fort Worth during the contest and will meet and be with 50 other girls from all over West Texas. Many of the towns have already staged contests and have selected winners to make the Fort Worth trip.

For the convenience of those who have contemplated entering the contest, a blank on which they can fill in their measurements is printed below. This can be filled out at home and can be mailed, or taken, to the chamber of commerce office before next Monday.

Entries are not limited to girls living in Ranger only, but will be accepted from among living anywhere near Ranger.

Mother's Day Is Observed by Large Crowd on Sunday

One of the largest crowds ever to assemble in Ranger for a Mother's Day program was present Sunday night at the Methodist church to hear Judge W. P. Leslie, chief justice of the civil court of appeals of Eastland, deliver a very interesting lecture on "Mother and the Home."

The speaker made it clear from the beginning that the old standards of morality, righteousness and common decency were called platitudes and other beautiful names and said that the people needed to go back to those things our mothers taught and preached in the days of old.

"It is no crime to tell a boy or girl, 'Be sure your sins will find you out.'" He said the school could help, the preachers could help, and the Sunday school could help, but the greatest bulwark in the civilized world against youth starting off on a road to crime and ruin is the old fashion home.

The program was the second of its kind to be held in Ranger and no doubt will continue to grow from year to year.

Dr. L. B. Gray was master of ceremonies and introduced Hal Hunter, who led the congregation in singing "America." Gaston Dixon sang "That's My Mammy," and it was said by many to be the most beautiful rendition of this popular melody ever heard in the city.

The Methodist choir sang, "That Mother of Mine," and Don Minniek gave a beautiful number on the corner. Miss Marguerite Adamson was accompanist at the piano.

Mrs. Andrews, 83-year-old mother, was escorted to the speaker's stand by D. L. Jameson, and presented with a beautiful potted plant as a gift from the Masonic lodge.

Dr. Gray delivered the eulogy of mother by Kipling and made a brief presentation.

Rev. H. B. Johnson gave the invocation and Rev. T. E. Bowman pronounced the benediction.

Split Teeth of Dog Puzzle to Professor

SANTA ANA, Calif.—Split teeth in both the upper and lower jaws of a mongrel dog have puzzled southern professors following discovery by Paul Christ, student at the Santa Ana Junior College.

While cleaning the body of the dog for an experiment in his college zoology course, Christ found the split teeth and reported the finding to J. Russell Bruff, college science head. Professors at the University of Southern California and the University of California were consulted but no explanation of the curious teeth formations could be given.

Hereditarily was cited as the cause by Bruff, although he admitted it was the first case of its kind to come to his attention.

The dog's skeleton has been mounted for exhibition in the college laboratories.

Boulder Current to Upset Timepieces

LOS ANGELES.—The city has ordered 200,000 sixty-cycle clocks to replace the present 50-cycle time keepers that will be outmoded as soon as the Boulder Dam electric system gets into operation.

Otherwise the old clocks with the new 60 cycle impulse would make the citizens speed up 20 per cent faster than previously.

Morton Valley, Yellow Mound To Vote For School Consolidation On May 26th

WTCC WRITES RESOLUTIONS FOR MEETING

By United Press

AMARILLO, May 11.—Resolutions favoring a selective sales tax, condemning the Bankhead cotton act as "discriminatory against West Texas," and condemning mortgage foreclosures on farms in drought areas of West Texas, were prepared today by the work committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention.

The sales tax resolution was sponsored by State Senator Clint Small of Amarillo.

Other resolutions asked that state school fund allotments be made on basis of attendance, rather than on a scholastic census, that the Big Bend park be made part of a Mexican-American international park, that West Texas be given a 300-000-bale rating increase under terms of the Bankhead act, and that Texas adopt dater and flood control legislation similar to that of New Mexico.

Rabies Control Rules Are Given

AUSTIN.—Rabies is increasing in prevalence in many parts of Texas, although it may be controlled and even could be exterminated by intelligent measures, according to records of the State Health Department. Unfortunately has been the practice to wait to apply control measures until the disease is widespread.

The dog is the chief source of rabies infection in man, but all warm blooded animals are susceptible. Contrary to a wide spread belief, rabies is not a warm weather disease. It occurs just as frequently in the cold months.

The most logical procedure in the control of rabies would be to vaccinate all dogs. Where this is impossible the stray dog should immediately be impounded, for the stray dog is chiefly responsible for the spread of rabies.

Public health authorities are handicapped in their fight against the spread of rabies because rabies in humans occurs only infrequently. However, it must be remembered that rabies is 100 per cent fatal once the disease has developed. Treatment is only preventive and must be taken in time.

Do not kill the dog that is behaving strangely or immediately after it has bitten some one. The animal should be captured and kept under observation for ten days to determine whether it has rabies or not. The confinement should be amply secure, for a dog in the frenzy of furious rabies requires a much stronger collar and chain or enclosure than a non-rabid dog.

When the rabies virus is put into the body by a biting dog the virus travels slowly from the wound along the nerves until it reaches the brain and spinal cord. Thus if the bite is on the face the face the virus does not have far to travel to reach the brain. Consequently bites on the face are the most dangerous and immunization must be started at once.

It is possible to control rabies, but, owing to the large territory included in Texas, it will take extra efforts on the part of public health workers and the cooperation of the people of each town and county to carry on an educational program for this control.

Allred said that all should now concentrate on making the opening of the Texas Centennial a success. ## FLOODS MENACE SOUTHERN SECTIONS OF STATE AFTER HEAVY DOWNPOURS FALL

Floodwaters on the Trinity and Neches rivers in East Texas and on the Nueces river in South Texas threatened lowland dwellers Monday as a result of heavy rainfall over the week-end.

Danger points were near Palestine on the Trinity, in eastern Anderson county on the Neches, and in the Robstown area on the Nueces.

State highway workers were dispatched Sunday night to repair sections of Highway 22, damaged by the rapid rise of the Trinity.

Residents along the Trinity south of Palestine were warned of the floods.

Advices from Robstown said water from a seven-inch cloud-burst washed out a short span of railroad tracks.

Almost four and a half inches of rain was recorded but little damage resulted.

None was reported drowned in the flood areas.

Danger Faces Landon As 'People's Choice'

The completely cockeyed methods of American politics were never better illustrated than by the current fact that Gov. Alfred M. Landon is beginning to show too much popular strength for his own good.

For example: after picking up delegates and pledges in a whole series of middlewestern states, the Kansas governor ran far ahead of the field in the Massachusetts Republican preference primary.

The delegates thus gathered, and the evidence of popular backing behind them, have made Governor Landon the target for the combined forces of all the other Republican candidates. And a sage political commentator in Washington summed up the matter as follows:

"Keen political observers who saw this situation defeat Gen. Leonard Wood in 1920, and many another favorite before that, long have seen this possibility as the major peril to the Landon campaign."

Digest that for a moment, and see if there isn't something extremely peculiar about any political system which works that way.

What it means is that a candidate for a presidential nomination gets along fine until the moment it begins to look as if he is the popular choice of the voters. When that moment arrives—when, in other words, the ordinary men and women of the country seem to have decided that he is the man they want—he immediately runs into danger.

As long as nobody in particular wants to see him in the White House, he has a first-rate chance of getting there. As soon as the voters themselves start to go for him, his chances dwindle.

In theory, the great party primaries are designed to let the people themselves nominate their standard bearers. If you didn't know American politics, you might innocently suppose that the man who seemed to be getting the support of the voters would be the man about whom the politicians would twine themselves lovingly. But Governor Landon is about to discover that it doesn't work that way.

Couple this fact with the related fact that presidential candidates are growing more and more reluctant to enter state primaries these days, thus paving the way for the uninstruced delegation and favorite son rackets, and you get a singularly unhealthy state of affairs.

And people wonder why only 50 per cent of the electorate bothers to go to the polls.

Build Massive Sets For Temple Film

Regulation specifications for lighthouse construction were followed strictly during the production of Shirley Temple's "Captain January," the Fox picture, which is now at the Arcadia Theatre. No guess work or improvisation would do, for the house was the most important setting for the song, dance and comedy action of this heart-tugging story.

As a result, V. L. McFadden, chief of the construction department of 20th Century-Fox studios, was called upon to provide a spiral stairway of reinforced steel construction to rise from the floor of the vast new Will Rogers stage to an octagonal observation tower in the rafters.

On 46 steel steps that rise to a height of 31 feet and weigh 6,000 pounds, little Shirley Temple performs one of her most difficult dances as she descends the spiral with Guy Kibbee, who plays the title role.

In order to shoot views of Shirley and Kibbee in the light tower, a huge crane was mounted on a track and from an elevation of 30 feet the cameramen work under direction of David Butler, who conceived the general design of the set.

As she makes her dancing descent on the spiral stairway, Shirley recites the multiplication tables in a chant to which she keeps time with her tapping toes on the steel steps. It was her own idea to call her new step the "Multiplication Dance."

With Guy Kibbee, playing the principal supporting role, are Slim Summerville, Buddy Eben and June Lang. Adapted from Laura E. Richards' famous story, the picture is the story of the adventure and comedy woven about the love of a little girl for a lighthouse captain.

Learn How to Save Time, Work and Money in Your Own Kitchen

No Charge—No Obligation

Here is an unusual opportunity for every woman in this community to avail herself of the latest, up-to-the-minute ideas on kitchen arrangement and kitchen management. The time and labor saving ideas you will gain will be entirely practical, so that you can apply them right in your own home. And there is no charge whatever and no obligation to buy anything.
