DALLAS ALL READY FOR CENTENNIAL

DALLAS, June 5.—Dallas and all Texas awaited with eager anticipation today the word from Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper that will open the portals, tomorrow, on the $25,000,000 Texas Centennial Exposition. Gov. James Allred will turn the jeweled key opening the central gates. Secretary Roper, personal representative of President Roosevelt, at noon will give the word to snap the last barrier, a ribbon. Roper's statement will be relayed around the world by telegraph and about two and a half minutes later the ribbon will be cut automatically. Dallas put on her final holiday dress today. Flags and bunting decorated the streets. Even lamp posts bore the insignia "1836-1936" in recognition of the 100th anniversary of Texas independence. Downtown sections already saw near-record crowds and officials were unable to estimate what the first day attendance would be. Two million advance tickets were sold early this week.

Brothers Accused as Night Riders

With a supercilious stare, Ray Ernst, left, faced arraignment in Jackson, Mich., with his two brothers, Clarence, center, and Glen, right, both wearing worried looks, in the probe of alleged Black Legion outrages. They were held under $10,000 bond, accused in the flogging of Harley Smith, WPA worker at Norwalk, Mich. Ray also was placed under $1,500 bond on a concealed weapon charge. He was stung as a Jackson prison guard after it was alleged that he was a "brigadier general" in the black-robed terror cult.

LONG DISTANCE HORSE RACE IS DRAWING FIRE

AUSTIN, June 5.—Threats to halt the 184-mile endurance horse race from Lampasas to Dallas, finishing at the Centennial Exposition, were made here today. On the ground that it is cruelty to animals, highway officials appealed to Governor Allred and the attorney general to see if motor police could not be stationed along the route and halt the riders. Under terms of the contest the same rider, on the same horse, must finish the race run along state highways. John Wood, member of the state highway commission, first telephoned and then visited the governor's office in an attempt to stop the race. "It should not be permitted, first because it is not right to race horses that distance in this kind of weather, and second because turning loose horses racing on the highway is a danger to regular vehicle traffic. If the governor will give authority for the motor patrol to enforce the order, we will issue the order against the race," Woods said.

Ranger Is Winner In Low-Ball Match With Eastland Trio

H. H. Vaughn and Houston Cole of Ranger and H. G. Agnew of Ballinger, representing Ranger, defeated Sam Conner, J. T. Hammett and Bob Sikes of Eastland in a low-ball match at Philpeco Thursday afternoon by a score of 3-1. The sextette did not keep track of individual scores for the 18 holes, so the round was not played as a qualifying round for the annual Philpeco invitation tournament.

WITNESS SAYS PASTOR'S KIN WERE INSANE

Aged Man Tells of Cousin and Great Uncle Being Mentally Unsound.

HOUSTON, June 5.—Attorneys for Rev. Edgar Eskridge, charged with murdering Police Chief Ed O'Reilly at Orange in May, 1935, began laying ground for an insanity defense in district court here today. A witness testified that two relatives of the accused preacher died in an insane asylum. L. A. Butler, 74, of Smith county, who said he had known Eskridge and his family for many years, testified the insane relatives were the preacher's second cousins. Eskridge, who once threatened to "break a chair over the head" of anybody accusing him of insanity, calmly listened to Butler's testimony. A great uncle of the defendant, Wesley Kay, also was insane, the aged witness continued. This man's daughter, Annie Kay, he said, also was believed mentally unbalanced. Butler described the actions of A. W. Kay, third cousin of Eskridge: "Once he ran into a negro with his car and crippled the negro and killed a mule. He said he honked for the negro to get out of the road and he didn't, so he ran over him," the witness said. District Judge Langston King ordered the jury to withdraw while attorneys debated if it would be necessary for defense witnesses to describe specific acts of these relatives.

Former Rangerite, And Reporter Is a Visitor In Ranger

Edward Anderson, one-time reporter on the Ranger Times, and the "Hungry Men," was a visitor in Ranger Friday morning, topping at the Chamber of Commerce office. Anderson has written another novel, "There Are Thieves Like Me," which he said would be published this fall.

PARIS STRIKES CONTINUE TO SPREAD OUT

PARIS, France, June 5.—Premier Leon Blum, fighting an epidemic of strikes and the emergency of extremists of right and left wing factions into open activity, promised today he would keep parliament in session until measures for a 40-hour working week, paid vacations and collective labor contracts, were enacted. Blum made his promise in a radio speech just after he took formal office as head of the country's first Socialist government. News that 254 new strikes were declared in the last 24 hours greeted him as he appeared to the country for unity. Ready for any development, Blum called his cabinet into session and made sure police and storm guards were ready if needed against the striking men who brought him and his left wing government into being. Even as Blum talked Paris department store workers went on strike, locking doors and pushing customers out.

Wood Alcohol Is Cause of Deaths

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., June 5. A drinking bout in which the participants drank wood alcohol, claimed six men today. All died within 12 hours. An investigation exposed poisonous wood alcohol in their systems after death had been attributed to other causes. Officers said the men gathered in an old Jamestown building to do some drinking. The party apparently extended to the next morning, police said, judging from the score of bottles bearing wood alcohol and bay rum labels they found.

Sinclair Warehouse At Ranger Entered And Oil Is Stolen

Harold Wright, Ranger Sinclair agent, has reported to police that thieves broke into his wholesale warehouse in Ranger and that 19 cases of motor oil was stolen. Nine other cases were thrown out the back door and left, but were not hauled off by the thieves. It was thought that they might have been frightened away before they could load the other nine cases, or that they did not have room for them on the first load and were afraid to return for them.

New Home Loans Show an Increase

During April, new home loans by Federal Savings and Loan associations, amounting to $16,521,242, exceeded the total for any month since federally supervised thrift and home-financing institutions were authorized by Congress in 1933, according to a monthly statement of activities of 958 reporting associations. This total represents an increase of 18.9 per cent over March lending by those institutions. An encouraging feature of the report is the large and growing proportion of total loans for new construction and reconduiting of homes, which was 36.5 per cent, as contrasted with advances for the refinancing of maturing mortgages which accounted for 32.4 per cent of the total. In April a year ago, 55 per cent of all loans by Federal associations were for refinancing. The remainder of the April loans were distributed as follows: 22.8 per cent for the purchase of existing homes, and 8.3 per cent for other purposes. During April, an increase of $3,322,116 was reported in share investment by the public in these institutions, which are privately owned, mutual associations operating under Federal charter. In addition to the 958 associations throughout the country covered by the report, there are 125 other Federal associations, either newly organized or converted from state charter within the past few months, from which comparative reports are not yet available.

COURT RULES PWA POWER GRANTS LEGAL

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The district supreme court ruled today that new deal allotments to finance municipal power projects under the work relief program are constitutional. The one-judge decision was made personally by Chief Justice Alfred Wheat. It came after a month-long trial of four utility companies attacking the re-employment activities as outside the law. The decision was an out-and-out defeat for power interests seeking to stop PWA Administrator Harold Ickes from using federal funds to finance publicly-owned electricity plants, transmission systems with loans and grants. Utility attorneys said the utility companies would appeal the decision to the district court of appeals. From that tribunal regardless of its ruling, the case will go to the United States Supreme court next fall for final settlement on constitutionality of the $200,000,000 program.

Elks are Winners In Fast Game On Airport Diamond

The Elks club defeated the High school in one of the most closely contested games in the current soft ball season, when they won Thursday afternoon by a score of 6 to 5 Thursday afternoon at the Airport diamond. This afternoon Killingsworth Cox will play Texaco in the last of the games scheduled for afternoon play, as the lighted field is to be ready for use the first of next week. A game between the Ranger and Eastland All-Stars, and a girls game has been scheduled for Monday night, after which scheduled games will be played on the new field, with a new scheduled being worked up. High school got off to a one-run lead in the first inning and, after being overtaken by the Elks, forged ahead again in the sixth, only to allow two runs in the seventh to lose the game. Eight errors by High School, while the Elks were playing almost flawless ball, played a big part in the Elks victory. The box score: High School— AB. R. H. E. Landon's Shock Troops Arrive For Convention

CLEVELAND, O., June 5.—Kansas shock troops of Gov. Alf Landon, Republican candidate, met today, unanimously elected a slate of brigade commanders and chorale leaders, and predicted the governor would be named next week at the first convention. The first caucus of Kansas delegates to the convention, lasted less than an hour and touched only casually on problems of the 1936 campaign. Delegates arrived wearing gaudy "Landon" buttons and eager to begin shopping their campaign song "O Suzannah."

French Plants Vie Making Small Planes

PARIS.—French airplane builders are vying with each other in bringing out smaller and better "flying insects." First there was the "Flying Flea," which is about the size of a two-seater gondola on a merry-go-round and whose gasoline consumption can be calculated in pints. Then there was the Grasshopper, built by Henry Potez to specifications little bigger than those for a small boy's rubber-band airplane competition. Now appears the Mosquito, new Farman claimant to first honors in the tiny airplane class, which has undergone highly successful tests. Its price is $1,200. It is run by a 30-horsepower engine.

Northern China Troops Mobilized

CANTON, China, June 5.—Mobilization of troops in Kwangtung and Kwangsi provinces, to resist Japanese incursion in North China, was ordered today by the Cantonese (South China) government. The troops were under orders to march northward. The Cantonese war lords declared war, but no official declaration of war was made. The move of the Cantonese military and political leaders, was believed by observers as intended to force the hand of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, northern war lord, and compel him to resist the Japanese, which would result in his inevitable defeat and overthrow.

and picnic structures have been constructed along the shore during the winter months by WPA labor. The parking grounds have been enlarged and cleared of underbrush, paved roads built throughout the park, and a water supply system has been installed. Numerous improvements will make it easier for spectators to witness the races and water events from more comfortable surroundings.

The races this year are attracting greater attention from speed boat racers throughout the Southwest, and it is expected that the largest field to enter a summer boat race meet this year in Texas will be on hand Sunday afternoon, June 21, for the National Outboard Association race program. These events start promptly at 2 p. m. Sunday, with five races of two heats each. More than $700 in cash prizes will be awarded to the winners. Forty entries already have been assured.

Saturday afternoon local boat races will be held and a number of novelty races, designed to interest and thrill the spectator, have been arranged. Aquaplane riding and other water sports also have been scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

Regatta officials are expecting record breaking crowds at Lake Brownwood for the two-day Regatta, which offers unique entertainment for residents of arid West Texas. Lake Brownwood, a 7800 acre body of water, is one of the largest inland lakes in the state, and racing officials state its protected waters offer an ideal course for speed boat races. More than 10,000 people attended the 1935 races last summer, and preparations are being made to entertain larger crowds this year.

FINDS ALL-BRAN BETTER THAN PILLS, SALTS, AND OILS

This Natural Food Relieved His Constipation*

We quote from his letter: "... So decided to make a fair trial (of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN) with the result that I felt much improved. I have quit all laxatives since 1929.

"For 34 years, I had to take pills, salts, oils, teas, or other fluids, which did more harm than good. ALL-BRAN now is our breakfast cereal for the whole family."

Meals low in "bulk" often lead to constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides generous "bulk" in effective form.

Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. How much better to use this natural food in place of patent medicines.

Use as a cereal with milk or cream, or in cooking. ALL-BRAN is much more effective than part-bran products. It is sold by all grocers.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" meals.

Romans Never Put Up A 'Quoddy Project'

Whenever an ardent patriot wants to pay his America the supreme compliment, he looks about at its great construction work and announces that Americans are the greatest builders since the ancient Romans.

It is a pretty thought, and such things as Boulder Dam and the Panama Canal justify it. But it has remained for the present administration to go the Romans one better by sinking a pile of money in a building project for which the country has no earthy use.

Quoddy, orphan child of Uncle Sam, is as charming a village as you would care to find. Its houses represent a million dollars in cash and a vast amount of loving care, the evidences of which are to be found in maple love seats, colonial candlesticks, grandfather's clocks, and other samples of the interior decorator's art.

It was built to house workers in the great tidal power project. This project has lately been counted out by Congress.
The workers presently will scatter to the four winds, the tides will rise and fall unvexed by machinery, and the beautiful village will remain as a lasting memorial to an age that could build to perfection, but to no good purpose.

Consider, for just a moment, the topsy-turviness of the civilization that built Quoddy.

Every city in America has its desolate, disease-breeding, crime-incubating slums. They lie across the land like ugly, filthy sores, costing us stupendous sums in illness, in bad citizenship, in general human misery.

In three or four spots the government has moved, timidly, to rebuild—under a set-up which makes it certain that the former slum dwellers cannot afford to move into them—we houses being erected to replace those being destroyed.

Up at Quoddy, where there never was and never will be a housing shortage, we show the sort of dwellings we can put up when we set our minds to the job; dwellings that are pleasant, airy, substantial, home-like, inviting, fit for a race of free men and women. But—and this is the point—having built them, we have no use for them.

The Romans, those other great builders, were a superstitious and unenlightened people in many respects. But when they set out to do a job of building, they at least figured out what they really needed—and then built it where they could use it.

ELEPHANTS have a heart beat rate less than half that of elephant's heart beats faster when he is lying down than when he is

The Negro in Texas Folklore
The negro is generally alike,

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—Conflicting and fragmentary reports of developments in the labor field have tended to blur the important fact that John L. Lewis and his Committee for Industrial Organization are marching rapidly along in their campaign for mass organization of workers into industrial unions.

Another C. I. O. drive will be made to organize automobile workers. This probably will proceed faster than the steel drive when it gets started, which means that the first big test of a new industrial union's strength is likely to come in the Michigan area.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DALE EVERETT, winner of a contest design offered a large silk manufacturing company, comes to New York to work. She is hired—due to stroke of luck—by MADAME LIZETTE, proprietor of an exclusive shop. Madame proves temperamental and difficult to work with.

ERIK BARRAGEVEN, young man interested in Gail, and her friendly advice. Freely Gail sees ERIC STABLEN, sister. ROSEMARY, was roommate at school.

ANNVILLE, in Arizona. MARIE of the Texas Mining Co. goes to find his old home in the desert. He suspects the deed is crooked, does not know the whereabouts of sister, Gail, rightful owner of the property.

IN HALL, Madame Lizette's is representing the Texas Mining Co. She spends the week-end at the home. Dick asks her to go with him and she refuses. The days pass Gail finds her. He asks her to go to reception at the home of the Mrs. Morton.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

more than the proverbial heart of gold. You don't know how sweet you look tonight! Did you have a nice week-end?"

"Yes," Gail answered impulsively. "The Searies' are old dears."

"How's the work been going?"

"Oh, I've had a wonderful time. If it isn't too terribly wicked to say it, I hope it goes on this way for months." Smiling gaily, Gail told Derek all that had been happening at Madame Lizette's.

The taxi stopped in front of one of Park avenue's most imposing apartment houses.

Gail's first impression when she entered the apartment was that she was stepping into a garden. Wherever she looked there were huge vases and baskets of flowers.

Entering a large room where indirect lighting was unmarred by any visible fixtures, they found Mrs. Morton. "Oh," she exclaimed as they approached, "I'm so glad you've come! Yes, Derek, this is the girl I want to know." Fixing Gail with her sharp, dark eyes, she went on: "I don't suppose you went to the Ferrara Gallery?"

"No," Gail replied, while Derek, hastening to present her, declared, "I'm to blame for that, Mrs. Morton. We'd planned to go one night last week—for Miss Everett is busy all day—but I had to run out of town. There's still time, though. The exhibition's to be held over another week, so we'll take it in."

"All right, young man, and now, Miss Everett, what are you doing?"

"Designing clothes at Madame Lizette's."

"Madame Lizette! An insufferable creature, even if everyone does rave about her style!" Mrs. Morton had not forgotten the day she had stopped at Madame Lizette's to buy a new evening wrap. She had been wearing an old tweed suit and after one look at the rather dowdy costume, Madame Lizette had shown her to the door.

"I suppose it's not very nice of me to talk like that about your employer," Mrs. Morton said, smiling rather sardonically, "but I have my reasons. Come, tell me all about yourself."

should drive with her to her son's country place up on the Hudson the following week. With another kindly word to Gail she turned away to meet the guests who were now rapidly filling the rooms.

"You've made a hit with her," Derek told Gail.

Gail smiled as they passed from one group to another. Would she ever remember who was who among all the people to whom Derek was introducing her?

"Oh, excuse me a minute. I forgot to ask Raf Gregory, the art critic, why he gave old Hazlitt such a knock. He ought to know better."

"All right, Derek." Seating herself on a wide window bench which was banked with flowers, Gail added, "I'll wait here."

CHAPTER XV

"You thought I'd forgotten you?" Derek said, handing into the waiting cab.

"Well, that would be easy, wouldn't it?" she countered lightly.

"Think not!" Blue eyes held while he caught her hand in his.

He flashed him a swift glance. "I really meant it! 'Maybe I owe you a little bit too,' she said. 'Didn't you promise to take the little country girl around town?'"

"And so I will. Tonight I'm going to introduce you to Mrs. Morton and a lot of worthwhile people."

"If this is an invitation at Derek's it's no place for me! I'm not a piker!"

"Of course not, Honey. I've a million invitations for you."

"I drew out a folded sheet and said, 'I didn't send you a formal invitation because I had to ask you to come to me before this. Then it occurred to me that there might be a good deal to meet at the party, and it would be a pity not to miss them when you're out to do more portraits. I thought you bring that girl who with you at Ivan's the other night. I'd like to know her. Her she needn't be afraid of me, Derek, what can she think of you, dearest? She'll love you! Yes—even though she rather hard-boiled she has"

QUICKLY she won Gail's confidence. Then she turned to Derek. "What I wanted to see you about particularly before the crowd comes is a portrait of my son's small daughter. I'd like you to paint a portrait of the child, but she's quick as lightning and it will be a hard commission."

Mrs. Morton finished her talk having arranged that Derek

"Just like Derek. He had a long, hard row to hoe, though meeting him now you'd never know it. But success is not going to turn his head. I don't want creatures like that Travers girl to do it, either. Better have your engagement announced immediately."

"But we're not engaged!" Gail's cheeks grew rosy.

"You will be," said the homely old woman, patting the girl's shoulder as she moved forward to meet a belated guest.

Again Gail's eyes turned to Derek. He was coming across the room, bringing Lucille with him.

"Hello, Gail. I thought you'd like to know that Derek's going to paint my portrait. I want him to come to our place now and select the frock I'm to wear, but he says he has to take you home."

Gail started to say, "All right!" when she remembered the warning gleam in Mrs. Morton's dark eyes. Why should she let Lucille take Derek away? "He's quite right," Gail said. "We have a date for tonight. He can select your frock some other day."

Lucille shot her a glance of hate. "I'm dated up all next week, and he wants to start at once. Perhaps I won't have the portrait, after all."

"YUMMY! THAT WAS A SWELL BREAKFAST!"

"NOW, MY FRIEND, WHAT ARE YOUR PLANS FOR TODAY?"

"WELL, KING, I GUESS OOOLAH! I WILL BE GETTIN' ON OUR WAY—WE GOTTA GET BACK HOME TO MOO!"

"OH, NO—I CAN'T HAVE THAT! I WOULDN'T THINK OF LETTIN' YOU GO—"

"NO, INDEED! YOU MUSTN'T EVEN THINK OF IT! YOU POSITIVELY CAN'T GO!"

"WHO SAYS WE CAN'T GO!?"

ates who may be interested in the formation of an Eastland county project group at A. & M. college at College Station next semester.

Under the project plan, 10 or more boys from one county rent a house, hire a housekeeper and prorate expenses.

Agent Cook stated the plan usually saves students half the average expenses and they make higher grades.

Superintendents at Eastland, Rising Star and Gorman had complied with Cook's request.

A message from a last year's bride

Texas Electric Service Company
City
Gentlemen:

Attached is a copy of the advertisement you published last year, suggesting Electrical Gifts for the June Bride.

I am one of last year's brides who profited from this hint, and after a year of housekeeping I'd like to repeat your suggestion for the benefit of this year's June brides. Our electrical appliances, given us by thoughtful friends and relatives, have made my housework easier and our home more comfortable.

And what amazes me is how little it costs to use electric appliances every day of the year. I'll agree with you when you say, "Electricity is Your Biggest Bargain."

Sincerely,
A June Bride of 1935

P. S. We observe our first anniversary next week and I hope our friends remember that Electrical Gifts always are appreciated.

AND AGAIN WE SAY...

Electrical Gifts Are Practical

If you are wondering what to give for a wedding present or anniversary gift, visit our store or your electrical dealer and you will have no trouble in picking out something practical and useful for years to come. Convenient monthly terms can be arranged on all purchases.

Mission Garage to Be Local Agency For Buick Cars

Announcement was made today by W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager of the Buick Motor company, of the appointment of the Mission Garage as Buick dealer in Ranger, N. T. (Nick) Gallagher, manager of the Mission Garage, has been in business in Ranger 15 years, 14 of which have been in his present location. The Mission Garage will handle the complete line of Buick cars consisting of the Buick Series 40 Special, the Series 60 Century, the Series 80 Roadmaster and the Series 90 Limited. A total of 16 models are listed ranging in price from $765 to $1945 at the factory.

All are powered by valve-in-head, straight eight engines of Buick design, the type of engine the Buick Motor company has used and developed exclusively throughout its manufacturing history.

These valve-in-head, straight eights, according to Buick engineers, are more efficient and economical than engines of other design and because of their cool running characteristics and other features of design, are more rugged, dependable and long-lived.

Sealed chassis, that keeps out dirt, water and other foreign matter from all moving parts, the famous torque tube drive, knee action front wheels, hydraulic brakes and streamlined bodies by Fisher with solid steel "Turret Tops" and no-draft ventilation, are among the standard features of the 1936 Buick models.

Complete sales and service facilities will be maintained by the new Ranger dealer which will serve a large potential market for new Buicks in this territory as well as the needs of many owners who now drive this make of car.

What about honoring the laws, now that we have a Mother Day and Poppy Day.
