ALLRED WILL DELAY START OF CAMPAIGN

AUSTIN, June 15.—Gov. James V. Allred announced today that he has decided to defer his campaign for re-election until after the national Democratic convention. He will postpone his opening talk at Waxahachie until the night of June 30. His closing speech will be at Wichita Falls the night before election day. His schedule had not been completed. The governor now plans to leave Austin Saturday morning for Philadelphia, where he is to present Vice President Garner's name before the convention for re-nomination.

Many Attend the Church of Christ Revival Services

Both morning and evening services were well attended on the first day of the revival being conducted by Evangelist Cled E. Wallace of Austin. In the morning service Mr. Wallace used as a subject: "Christianity as Defined by Its Author," basing his lesson on the teaching of Jesus as found in the sermon on the Mount. Jesus, stated the evangelist, corrected many false and incorrect views held and taught by the people of his day relative to the fulfillment of the commands of Jehovah, and taught in its completeness the ethics of the Christian life. The subject for the evening lesson, "The Divine Origin of Christianity" was delivered to a splendid audience. Mr. Wallace offered a complete refutation to the theories of the gain-sayers and skeptics as to the reliability and divinity of Christianity. That Christianity was not the product of man was adduced by evidence of Jesus, rulers, soldiers, and people of His time, forming historical evidence incontrovertible, and proving by God's word that Christ was its author. The subject for Monday evening: "The Great Salvation Offered Through Christ." Services each morning, 10 a. m., each evening, 8:15. Congregational singing. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Error Is Made In Reporting Speech At Garrett Rally

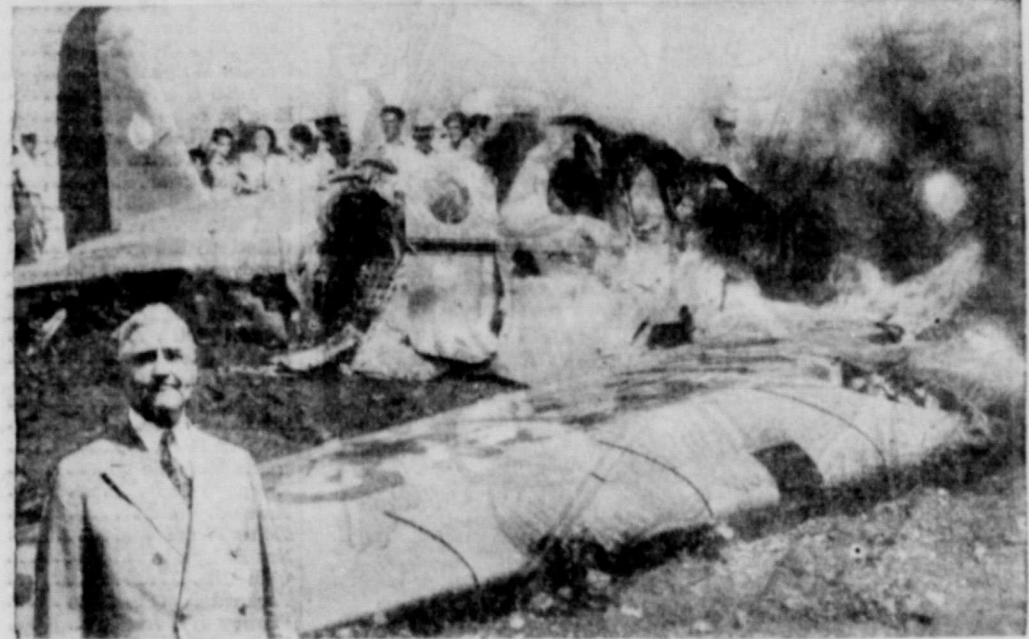

L. R. Pearson, who made a speech at the Garrett rally at Stephenville Friday night, stated today that an error had been made in reporting part of his talk. Pearson stated in his talk at Stephenville that Thomas L. Blanton, representative from the 17th congressional district, had favored economy and collection of war debts, instead of cancellation of war debts as reported.

NO FISCHER TALK

An announcement from Tyler stated Monday that F. W. Fischer, Tyler candidate for governor, has changed a West Texas itinerary and will not speak at Eastland on June 20, as he planned recently.

SCENE OF PLANE CRASH

This is all that was left of a huge plane which caught fire Friday afternoon when it was 7500 feet above the earth carrying, besides a pilot and a co-pilot, Jesse Jones, Houston capitalist and head of RFC (inset), and Ex-Governor of Texas W. P. Hobby and Mrs. Hobby, and B. J. Toomey of Washington, Jones' secretary. The pilots, Ed Hefley of Shreveport and Eugene Schacher, Houston, brought the flaming craft to earth near Ferris, Texas, soon after it took off from Dallas, Texas, Schacher, co-pilot, died Saturday afternoon of his burns. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Hobby, and Toomey escaped with cuts and bruises. Hefley is seriously burned. The picture of Jones was made Friday morning as he came to Dallas with President Roosevelt and his party for the Texas Centennial celebration.

CONFEREES TO DECIDE UPON TAX MEASURE

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Conferees on the new tax bill failed to break their deadlock today but reported hope certain concessions could be made to permit passage of the measure by Saturday. There was no indication that an agreement could be reached, however, and it was believed an appeal to President Roosevelt for aid might be necessary if the question is to be settled to permit adjustment in time for the Democratic national convention. The chief hope for congress appeared to lie in the fact that the house conferees, while continuing to demand a graduated rate on retained corporate earnings, probably will not insist on the original scale running to 42 1/2 per cent. The senate bill would abandon the house graduated scale and instead raise present corporate taxes by 3 per cent and add a 7 per cent flat super-tax on undivided earnings.

Willows Opened at An Earlier Hour Than First Planned

Announcement was made this morning by members of the Willows Park association, operators of the Willows swimming pool, that the pool would be opened at 4 o'clock this afternoon instead of 8 o'clock tonight, as previously announced. The earlier opening date was decided upon when it was found that the pool could be filled and ready for operation earlier than anticipated. At the same time it was announced that the pool would be closed tonight between 7:30 and 9 o'clock because of the Elks Flag Day exercises, to be conducted at the Municipal Field.

Singers Name Site And Elect Officials

Haskell was chosen Saturday as the next meeting place of the T. P. Singing Convention at the annual gathering Saturday in Breckenridge. C. B. Ribble of Cadizo was advanced from the vice presidency. Roy Tuzgale of Albany was named vice president and Miss Ols Westbrock of Sweetwater as secretary.

Trial of Farmer In Mass Slaying Ordered Continued

ATHENS, June 15.—Trial of George Patton, farmer charged with slaying four members of the J. W. McGehee family, was continued until the September term of court today by Judge John Rawlins of Dallas. The motion for continuance was based on the absence of Mrs. Patton, 16-year-old wife of the accused man. The motion was accompanied by a doctor's statement Mrs. Patton soon would become a mother and could not appear in court. State attorneys did not object to the postponement.

China Demands United Resistance Against Japanese

CANTON, China, June 15.—Defying Japanese warnings against further hostile demonstrations, General Chen Chi Tang, dictator of the Canton government, renewed his demands for a united resistance to Japanese aggression today. With his followers inflamed with demands for war with Japan and with Japanese marines patrolling the southern coast, port of Amoy under the guns of five Japanese warships in the harbor, Gen. Chen pushed preparations to fight. He disregarded a formal warning by the Japanese consul general in Canton that the anti-Japanese demonstrations may terminate friendly relations between Tokio and Canton.

Adolph Spreckels Slightly Improved

SEATTLE, June 15.—Hospital attendants today reported the condition of Adolph Spreckels, Eugene, Ore., sportsman, injured yesterday when his racing outboard motorboat went out of control and crashed into a crowd, slightly improved today. Fifteen spectators were injured. Spreckels was thrown from the boat when it struck the shore and an arm impaled on the spike of a telephone pole. He hung there until spectators rescued him. Spreckels is the grandson of John D. Spreckels, the late sugar king.

Second Air Crash - Hero May Not Live

DALLAS, June 15.—Edwin Hefley, 27, of Houston, one of two pilots credited with saving the lives of four passengers when their plane caught fire near Dallas Friday, was given only a fighting chance to survive today.

JONAH DIDN'T STAY IN WHALE EXPERT SAYS

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The story of Jonah's three-day stay inside a whale arose from mistaken translation centuries ago, according to data submitted today by George Lamsa. An expert in the Aramaic language of the time of Biblical history, he argued the original text simply meant to indicate Jonah was puzzled for three days, or as American slang would phrase it, "he was in a hole" for that time. Jonah was to tell the king that Ninevah was to fall and his great empire crumble. This was not an easy task for a peasant like Jonah to do and the historian simply said he spent "three days in the whale" or as we would put it today, "three days thinking over the matter," the historian said.

C. of C. Meeting To Be On Tuesday

Hal Hunter, president of the Chamber of Commerce, has announced that the regular meeting of the board of directors of the organization, scheduled for tonight, had been postponed until Tuesday night at 7:30. The postponement was announced because of the Elks Flag Day ceremonies, which are to be conducted at the Municipal Softball field tonight at 8 o'clock. All directors have been urged to be present on Tuesday evening, as important business in connection with the Fourth of July celebration in Ranger and other business matters are to be brought up.

Roosevelt Is Back At the White House

WASHINGTON, June 15.—President Roosevelt returned to Washington at 12:30 p. m. today from his Southwestern speaking trip. James Farley and Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., met Mr. Roosevelt at the Union Station. Mr. Roosevelt went to the White House prepared for a busy week with congress driving toward adjournment by Saturday if possible.

Seven Negroes Die When Trucks Crash

TIMPSON, Tex., June 15.—Seven young negroes were dead today, and 15 others seriously injured following a collision between two trucks three miles west of here Sunday night. The negroes were returning from a baseball game played at Logansport, La., when the truck in which they were riding side-swiped another truck.

BONUS BONDS DELIVERED TO MILLIONS TODAY

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The nation's 3,518,000 World War veterans collected $2,500,000,000 from Uncle Sam today as a bonus over regular army pay for the months and years they spent in training camps, dugouts and trenches. Special delivery postmen began distribution on the biggest American payroll of all time in villages and cities across the country at exactly midnight. Long before dawn they had handed checks and bonds worth millions to veterans in big homes, little homes and shelters of the homeless.

After dawn the golden flood poured into hospitals and out along country roads as well as in cities. Registered packages contained bonds for $1 for every day served in this country and $1.25 for every day overseas, except for the first 60 days, for which no payments is made. The average veteran received about $550. Individual payments ranged as low as a few dollars and as high as $1,500, depending on length of service and whether the veteran had borrowed on his certificate. A large portion of the bonus outlay was expected to find its way into trade channels. Treasury, post office, veterans' administration officials have urged veterans to hold their bonds as there are back debts to be paid, automobiles to be bought, homes to be built and children to be educated.

Rev. Eskridge to Accept Sentence Is General Belief

HOUSTON, June 15.—District court attaches said today Rev. C. Edgar Eskridge of Orange, convicted and given a five-year prison sentence for murder, probably would not appeal the decision. J. J. Collins, chief defense counsel, has not announced any plans for an appeal, but E. Tom Branch, Houston, a member of the defense, said he regarded the verdict as a victory for the preacher.

Garrett, Blanton To Expound Views At Cisco July 4

Two candidates for the seventeenth congressional district post—County Judge Clyde L. Garrett of Eastland and Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene—have accepted invitations to speak at Lake Cisco July 4, according to an announcement made here Monday.

Tropical Storm Passes Over Florida

MIAMI, Fla., June 15.—A tropical storm which flooded lower Florida west coast cities whirled over Miami today without damage and passed out to sea. Velocity was 38 miles an hour, the weather bureau reported. Rain fell that accompanied the storm when it struck the west coast, did not accompany the storm as it slipped over Miami out into the Atlantic.

Fear Is Expressed For Mrs. Dionne

CALENDAR, Ont., June 15.—Fear was expressed today that a childbirth expected this week or next might prove fatal to Mrs. Elgire Dionne, mother of the Dionne quintuplets. M. LeGros, father of Mrs. Dionne, who revealed to the United Press that the child, or perhaps children is expected "this month" revealed he and the quintuplets' father had discussed the danger of the young mother and both were worried.

Noose to Claim Its First Kidnaper

First kidnaper sentenced to die under the Lindbergh law, Arthur Gooch peered between bars of his tiny cell in death row of McAlester (Okla.) state prison, awaiting the march to the gallows June 19. Gooch was convicted of abducting a policeman from Texas to Oklahoma, interstate kidnaping now being punishable by death. At the right, with a new coil of rope, is Rich Owens, veteran Oklahoma executioner. He has electrocuted more than 50 men at $100 a "job." The U. S. pays only $25 for a hanging, so federal officers made up the difference in pay, rather than spring the trap themselves.

Eastland Pitches No-Hit and Run Game When Ranger Beaten 5 to 0

Frank Crowell turned in a no-hit game Saturday night at Ranger, where he blanked the fast Ranger team, Eastland winning 5 to 0. Crowell started off badly when Pace, the first man up drew a walk, but after that he had the Ranger hitters eating out of his hand. Three errors put three more runners on the base during the game but not a Ranger runner got past second base. Crowell was aided in this no-hit performance by some splendid backing by the Eastland fielders. In the sixth, Alexander, first up, hit a grounder past the pitcher and Ray Morris, coming in fast, fielded the ball just in front of second and by a quick throw managed to nip the runners at first. Robinson, next up, hit one to deep short which Ray momentarily juggled and the runner barely beat the throw to first. This was the nearest Ranger came to getting a hit. Roy Taylor roamed a wide right field and made two brilliant catches to help Crowell keep the records clean.

Delegations Will Attend Flag Day Service in Ranger

Large delegations from Eastland, Cisco, Breckenridge and Fort Worth will attend the Flag Day service to be held at the Ranger Municipal Field tonight at 8 o'clock. It has been announced, and a large attendance is expected. All arrangements have been completed for the services, with a loud-speaker installed and ample parking space reserved for all. This will be an impressive service as well as an educational one and anyone not acquainted with the history of the flags of the nation and the flags of Texas should not miss the service. Able speakers will give a descriptive history of each flag since the year 1497 when John Cabot first planted the flag of King Henry VII on American soil and the flags which have flown over Texas from the days of Spanish rule. This service is open to the public and will be free. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Bank Houses Are Selling Rapidly; Only a Few Left

H. C. Wilkinson was in the Times office Saturday, one week after advertising 15 houses for sale for the bank. Today he is advertising seven, houses, all that are left of the 15. Wilkinson stated that he has certainly been busy all week, that he was very much surprised at the interest being shown by Ranger citizens desiring to own homes. He said that eight people had put up cash deposits for the eight homes in the past seven days. His biggest surprise came when a citizen of Eastland read the bank's advertisement in the Times and came over to see if the bargains really existed as advertised and purchased one of these houses as an investment, stating that if he never moved here to make it his home it certainly was a real good buy and a sound investment. Wilkinson said others expressed themselves as anxious to buy, as they figured this would be the last and largest number of houses offered in Ranger, owing to the fact that nearly all the companies have been offering their houses at bargains and had sold out. They had looked at company houses for sale in the past and that these houses were being offered at the same bargains and there would be little expense to moving as all are ideally located, near churches, schools and the business district. Wilkinson also stated that interest was so keen in the remainder of the houses that he had more prospects than houses to sell to people who wished to make Ranger their home. Several who have purchased homes are planning on various kinds of improvements.

We May Be Misjudged By Our 'Legends'

Imagine a serious scientist of the year 2136 grubbing around in the dusty archives of some museum trying to find out what American life was like in the year 1936.

He stumbles by ill chance, on a collection of popular detective novels and wild western stories, lugs them off to his library, studies them in all seriousness, and then emerges to announce:

That Americans of 1936 were forever holding house parties, yatching trips, or other get-together at which someone was always getting murdered. That the murderer person was invariably someone who had it coming to him, so that everybody present was a logical suspect.

That everyone west of Chicago wore a 10-gallon hat, carried a six-shooter, and rode a horse—which last he addressed constantly as "Pard," or "Old Pal." That half the population worked on cattle ranches while the other half lived by stealing these cattle, and that on Saturday night the good and bad alike repaired to a Wild West dance hall for an evening of poker and gunplay.

Now a scientist who would deduce all these things about regular, every-day American life in this era, simply because he found such things described in our detective stories and Wild West yarns, would be set down as a complete dunderhead.

And yet, says a distinguished anthropologist—Dr. Ruth Benedict of Columbia University—our own scientists who study the folklore of vanished races, to draw conclusions about the everyday habits of those races, make an exactly similar error.

For the myths and legends of primitive peoples, says Dr. Benedict, were simply those peoples' detective stories and cowboy thrillers. They were tall tales, designed to appeal to the imagination.

They never pretended to reflect life as it was actually lived; they were the "pulp fiction" of the day, and the scientist who takes them too seriously is apt to deceive himself prodigiously.

All this, somehow, is a highly entertaining and revealing sidelight on history. We tend to read the record of the past with the book too close to our eyes.

We forget that the old-timers were very much like ourselves, after all; that the ancient bard who chanted a long epic about the thunder god, the sun maiden, and the spirit of the cornstalks was merely the S. S. Van Dine or the B. M. Bower of his day.

That bit of knowledge is worth getting. Human history is a most absorbingly interesting subject; and it becomes more interesting when we get our perspective adjusted as Dr. Benedict adjusts it.

And it is wholesome, too, for us to reflect that our own proud generation, with its ambitious plans, and its lofty dreams, might some day be judged by what its writers of melodrama produced to amuse it!

Musician Who Can't Write Music 'Writes' A Popular Tune

DALLAS.—"The Wranglers," song composed by a Dallas man who can't read or write a note of music, will be played Saturday by an 80-piece band at the opening of the Texas Centennial Exposition.

Ten years ago P. L. Evans began playing the piano by ear. Five years afterwards, he picked up the notes of an original melody—but was unable to write it down.

Musicians heard the tune, and asked Evans to play the song while writers put the notes down. The record, and an arrangement was made for it to be played by the Centennial band at the exposition opening.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GAIL EVERETT, ambitious to become a designer, comes to New York and—due to a stroke of luck—meets MADAME LIZETTE, proprietor of an exclusive shop. Madame proves temperamental and difficult to work for.

DEBBIE HARGREAVES, young artist, is interested in Gail. She also frequently sees DICK SEARLES, whose sister, ROSEMARY, was her roommate at school.

Meanwhile, in Arizona, Gail's uncle, MARK CHAPMAN, returns home after years of wandering, and finds his old home in the hands of the Traverses Mining Co. Mark suspects the deal crooked and gets in touch with GLEN HARDING, New York lawyer, regarding title to land.

Derek asks Gail to marry him and she agrees. Later a misunderstanding comes between them and LUCILLE TRAVERS, who visits Derek for herself, tells him that Gail is to marry Dick Harding.

Glen Harding comes to see Gail and tells her about the Traverses company's plot to buy her land, really worth a fortune. Gail's pleasure in learning that she is Dick's is dimmed by the fact that no word has come from Derek.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIII

MARK CHAPMAN glanced around the ranch house. "Well," he said, "this doesn't look bad, but I guess we'd better get some women to come in and clean things up a little before our company arrives."

"I say it's just fine," Jed Hosner stopped to light his pipe.

"There's the postman end, by gosh, he's putting something in his box. See what it is!" exclaimed Mark.

"Just the paper, I guess," Jed said, tossing the newspaper on the table. "It doesn't get any bigger, notice."

"I reckon it's big enough to hold all the news that comes down this alley," Mark tore off the wrapper. "By gosh," he exclaimed as he looked at the headlines, "here's enough news to keep everyone talking for a spell. The Traverses company has gone smash! Quickly Mark read the story of the spectacular finish of the mining company. "Seems they took orders on the strength of ore they knew was in the Rancho Angelo and when they couldn't deliver, some rumor started in New York, guess Cal Travers is a down-and-outer again. Every office is closed up—my, but that will mean a lot of fellows will lose their jobs."

LUCILLE TRAVERS shook the angry tears from her eyes as she stamped about the luxurious living room of her home. "Don't speak to me!" she cried.

"But, Lucille!" Mrs. Travers abbed at her tired face, devoid for the moment of any rouge or powder and revealing all the devastating lines of age. "No one is treating such a thing could happen. Please don't talk so crossly to me. I can't stand it."

"I'll talk to you any way I like—and, more than that, I'll kill myself before I'll go out to Arizona with you and Cal. He'll never, never make a comeback. Never now! It's too late."

"But we can't leave you here alone, unless—you're going to marry that artist fellow, is that it, Lucille? Of course that makes a difference. Still, if you love him like I loved your Pa—"

"Oh, forget it! Much you know about love." Lucille laughed bitterly. "You don't need to worry about me. I'll have Trotter pack my things. Cal's creditors needn't think they can take them! And she flounced away to her own rooms."

Mrs. Travers patted her eyes, though no tears came from them now. After all they'd done for Lucille, how could she talk to her own mother like that?

"Mrs. Travers sighed. What if Cal hadn't treated her just the way he should during these years he'd been so rich? He needed her now, and she was ready to go with him, to help him get a start again."

"YOU mean," Natalie exclaimed, "that I'm invited to go with you to 'Heart's Delight' for the week-end?"

Gail nodded. "Yes, I came to meet you so you'd be sure to come straight home. Rosemary is calling for us tomorrow about 10 o'clock."

"And we'll drive out with her in her Rolls-Royce!" Natalie's voice quivered with excitement.

"Yes. She thought it would be nicer than going out by train."

"Nice! Oh, Gail, this is overwhelming. I can hardly realize that I'm stepping into society!"

"But the Searles are very plain people, Natalie. I hope you won't be disappointed. Don't think you're going to eat off gold plates or have peacocks' tongues for dinner! You'll like Mr. and Mrs. Searles, though, for they're so genuine."

"But I can't understand why they should be asking me to spend the week-end with them!"

"I guess you made a good impression on Rosemary," teased Gail. "And they appreciate the fact that you've been so sweet to me. Let's hurry now, for I've got to fix my bathing suit belt. I broke the buckle, but I found quite a good-looking one that I can use."

"I'm so thrilled! Sweltering in the office, I almost hated the thought of tomorrow and sitting around in my room, but now—if I weren't walking down the avenue I'd dance a jig!"

"She's just striking 10 when the Searles' limousine drew to the curb before the clubhouse next morning and Rosemary entered the building. "Tell Miss Everett I'm coming right up to see her," she told the clerk.

AS she stepped out of the elevator, Natalie was just entering Gail's room. "Oh, how do you do," she called to Rosemary. "It's wonderful of you to ask me to come with Gail. We're all ready."

"I'm awfully glad you could come. Oh, is this your room, Gail?" exclaimed Rosemary as they entered. "What a cute little place and what a gorgeous view you get!"

"It's not bad," answered Gail, "but one of these days I think I'll get an apartment."

"Now that you've fallen heir to that property in the west you'll be able to have anything you want, won't you? Are you going to keep on working?"

"She's left Madame's," said Natalie. Then, as the girls went downstairs, Gail told of her sudden dismissal.

"Well, I'm glad you're away from that creature," Rosemary said vigorously. "I wonder that anyone would stay and work for her!"

Gail thought of Toinette and Selma and the others and realized that the very necessity of having to earn a living compelled them to stand on their own feet. With their week-end cases safely stowed away and the chauffeur at the wheel, the three girls sat in the back seat of the car, chatting gaily.

"Of course you've heard the news about the Traverses collapse," said Rosemary.

"Yes, I guess they've lost practically everything, though someone said Mr. Travers was going west again and that he's made it up with his wife," answered Natalie.

"Will Lucille go with them, too?" asked Gail, her thoughts at once on Derek. Would this make a difference to him? Would his gallant heart come to Lucille's rescue?

"I don't know," answered Natalie, "but I suppose she'll go. What else could she do?"

"It's too bad she didn't marry that count she was dragging about, for her father would probably have settled a fortune on her," remarked Rosemary.

"Perhaps she'll take up designing seriously now," suggested Gail. "And step into your shoes at Madame's!" asked Natalie.

"But, girls, maybe Madame Lizette's shop is gone, too. She was backed by Mrs. Travers, you know."

Timber Growth Exceeds the Drain

WASHINGTON, D. C. — That the United States is cutting off its forests many times faster than they are being replaced has long been the impression of the average American citizen. With this idea in mind many people have purposely aimed to specify materials other than wood in an effort to display their "American spirit" in conserving our forests. This erroneous public attitude, according to P. A. Hayward, chief of the Forest Products division, of the Department of Commerce, has done more damage than good since it had aided in weakening the consumption of products produced by what was once America's greatest industry. As a result thousands of former workers are looking for employment.

Even by making the most extreme assumptions Mr. Hayward states that any shortage of timber for lumber and allied products could be only at some far distant time. What is more likely is that there will always be sufficient forest in the United States to meet all reasonable needs and that the immediate and pressing problem, according to Hayward, is that of expansion of markets for forest products, as without adequate markets our forests resources would be largely an economic waste. Moreover, timber as a national resource is an exception, since it is reproducible. Timber should therefore be considered as a crop, and unless it can be utilized the crop ceases to be an important asset.

In making the foregoing comments, Mr. Hayward referred to a recent report of the Industries Studies section of NRA which was prepared by experienced experts in the field of forest products economics.

YOUNTSVILLE, Cal. — The state has installed six new incubators to supply the sportsman's demand for game birds. They turn out pheasants and partridges as fast as mother birds can lay eggs. The present output is 600 a day.

Bonus Scenes That Make Vets Register Satisfaction

In every Federal Reserve District, scenes like this were being enacted as preparation for payment of the World War veterans' bonus was being made. Close to $2,000,000,000 of bonds and checks were being registered for delivery beginning June 15. Every envelope in those long piles in front of the registry clerks at New York (top) contains bonds to settle some veterans' bonus claim. And the boxes at the big pile below are containers in which $150,000,000 of bonus bonds were shipped to New York from Washington, symbols of the flood of cash soon to be released.

Tailor Made Golf Clubs Bring Profit

AMARILLO — Walter Sikes, professional at the River Drive Golf Course, is making a bid for new industry—making "tailor-made" golf clubs, built for the individual golfer.

The clubs will be ordered from the Professional Golf Club company of Chattanooga, Tenn. The exact specifications which appear to Sikes to be needed by the golfer will be followed to a letter by the manufacturers.

When the clubs are delivered in Amarillo, Sikes will trim them to the length required by the man or woman who orders them.

Thus it is possible to straighten out the ever present problem of a golfer being unable to get the clubs which he needs.

Equipment is already on hand for the finishing process at the River Drive Course.

Grapevine Springs Will Be State Park

DALLAS—County Commissioner Tom W. Field has announced that work on converting historic Grapevine Springs into a state park will begin July 1 and he completed three months later.

Donors of land for the 14-acre park already have given deeds. Within the boundaries of the tract is the site where Gen. Sam Houston signed a treaty with the Cherokee Indians Sept. 28, 1848. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thweatt gave 11.5 acres and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Miller 2.5 acres.

Pat M. Neff, Waco, chairman of the state parks board, has given assurance that the state will accept the park and maintain it after Dallas county has finished its beautification and improved a road to the entrance.

Comings and Goings

Otis Brady, accompanied by his brother-in-law, J. D. McClister, is expected home tonight after a delightful two weeks visit in Kansas City, where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mills. While in Kansas City the Texas visitors were guests at various entertainments complimented by other enlisted men of Battery C, 129th Field Artillery, all World War veterans. Mr. Brady is showing great improvement from his illness and the trip has been a most unusual one.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Osmus and little son, who have been visiting in East Texas cities, stopped in Ranger for a short visit over the week-end, before journeying to their home at Odessa. Mr. Osmus formerly worked with the local Montgomery Ward store and received a transfer to Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Romine are again home, 304 Elm street, following a visit with relatives at Caney, Kan. En route home they visited in Burk Burnett with Mrs. Romine's sister. Mr. Romine is associated with the Sinclair Prairie Pipe Line Company.

Mrs. M. L. Wilkes is home after a week's visit to Crawford, where she attended the revival meeting held by Rev. Johnny Lovell. She was accompanied by Mrs. Hamilton, who visited here here some two weeks ago.

Following a 10-day visit to interesting cities and resorts on the West Coast, with headquarters chiefly in Los Angeles, Mrs. J. T. Killingsworth and son, Floyd, are home, having returned late Saturday evening.

Mary Hagman, dancing instructor of Weatherford, accompanied by Arlene Newell and Estelle Holloway, also of Weatherford, were visitors for a short time this morning in Ranger, guests of Mrs. J. S. McDowell and daughter, Cecelia, student of Ruth Hagman. The group were en route to Hollywood, Calif., where they will study this summer at Sanchon-Marco Dance Studio.

Mrs. Morris Leveille will be at home to members of St. Rita's Altar Society on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The study will be of interest and members are invited to be present.

Mrs. J. A. Shackelford and son, James, leave Ranger today after a number of years here, for their new home, Fort Worth. Their attractive home on West Main street will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Crawford and son, Nicol. Mrs. Shackelford and son, James, have a host of friends here, who deeply regret losing them from our midst, but wish them the best of luck and happiness in their new residence.

C. K. Pirtle left yesterday for Temple, where he will be connected with Montgomery Ward & Co., as assistant manager. He was accompanied by his brother, Ray Pirtle, and Lawrence Hollowell, who returned to Ranger last evening.

E. B. Elliott has returned to his home at Bartlesville, Okla., after a pleasant visit in the home of his daughter, Mrs. P. M. Kuykendall, and family. Mr. Elliott attended the graduation exercises of his granddaughter, Miss Alla Rae Kuykendall, who received her B. A. degree from the University of Texas last week. The Kuykendalls, accompanied by Mr. Elliott, went from Austin after the exercises to San Antonio and back to Dallas for a visit to the Centennial, thence to Fort Worth for a trip to the Frontier Centennial. Miss Kuykendall, after a strenuous year at the University of Texas, is taking her vacation leisurely, and has not definitely announced her vacation plans, but it is quite probable she will make an interesting trip to New York before the summer has passed.

FOR RENT—D. Joseph home; 7 rooms, modern; apply Joseph Dry Goods Co., or room 229, Joseph Apartments, phone 315 or 521.

Mrs. Charles Morgan is convalescing at the home of her mother, Mrs. V. Wright, after an operation undergone at a local hospital. She will remain here until she is able to be taken to her home in Graham.

S. B. Baker, patient at the West Texas Clinic and Hospital, is resting comfortably today following an operation of several days ago. His general condition is not quite as satisfactory as physicians would like it to be, and among children at his bedside is Allen Baker, who returned to his duties at San Angelo over the week-end past, but returned late Saturday, to remain here until favorable improvement is shown. ## "Mister, we've moved mountains"

"We've moved mountains in our time —me an' this old truck of mine," grins Jerry Baker. "Mister, when you got some haulin', just 'phone for us!"

Telephone calls mean jobs to Jerry: cracker boxes and crates and grand pianos to be picked up in one place and set down in another. Naturally he wants those calls to be fast and clear—without mistakes that might cost him money. And, at the same time, he wants his telephone bill to be reasonable.

Manufacturing telephone calls which measure up to Jerry's expectations is the big job of the men and women who work for this company.

It isn't an easy job. There are thousands of problems to be solved in the day-to-day workings of a great telephone system. It has been a fortunate thing for Jerry that behind the people who handle his calls stands the entire specialized organization of the Bell System: the services of American Telephone & Telegraph Company's great central staff—the researches and inventions of Bell Laboratories—the savings which come from the buying and manufacturing organization of Western Electric.

Jerry Baker, "moving mountains" with his truck and his telephone, may seldom give a thought to the things they do for him . . .

Yet with every call that comes to him he benefits from the work they have done. Not only have they helped make his calls faster, clearer and better; but in the face of the growing complexity of the telephone system, they have helped this company hold the cost down to a price he is willing and able to pay.

If you visit the Texas Centennial, Dallas, June 15th, 1936, you are invited to see the Telephone Exhibit.
