Planes Cannot Destroy Great Cities Overnight

One thing the fighting in Spain ought to accomplish is to deflate the blown-up claims of those people who have been assuring us that airplanes will destroy whole cities overnight in the next war.

No reader of the popular magazines or the daily newspapers can have missed those claims.

At their most modest, they tell how one fleet of bombers could reduce Paris, London, Berlin, or New York to a wasteland in one visit. In their more robust form they go on to describe the gas bombs such planes could drop; they picture a citywide blanket of poison gas seeping up through houses and office buildings until the entire population has been killed.

Always it is "one fleet of bombers." Details are supplied with convincing fervor. A good bombing plane can carry at least a ton of explosives; a ton of the best explosives has such-and-such a destructive power. Multiply this power by 40, or 50, or whatever number of planes you arbitrarily assign to your imaginary bombing fleet, and you have the city destroyed in one visit.

But somehow it doesn't seem to be working out that way in the laboratory at Madrid.

Those bombings have been destructive, cruel, and desolating enough to have been planned by the apocalyptic rider on the pale horse, heaven knows. They have caused enough pain, unvarnished human misery to make the angels weep.

But they haven't destroyed Madrid in one raid, or in two dozen raids; they haven't come recognizably close to doing half of the things which the outspoken proponents of aerial warfare have said bombings from the air would surely do.

The Spanish rebels do not, of course, command air fleets so large and so modern as the great military powers command. But the number of their planes is far from contemptible. The machines are up-to-date and are flown by skilled pilots; the bombs they carry are as modern and as destructive as any in existence.

Added to that is the notorious fact that, during the first of the bombings, the Madrid defenses against air attacks were almost non-existent. It was several days before the government could put any defending planes at all into the air; to this day the anti-aircraft batteries are manned by untrained militiamen.

The airmen, in other words, practically had carte blanche to go ahead and prove that the air arm is as potent as they have been saying it is.

And Madrid is not destroyed yet. It has suffered fearfully, but it is still standing. A fortnight of raids has been unable to do what "one fleet of bombers" was supposed to be capable of doing.

Surgeons were permitted by the child's mother to operate on a baby who couldn't cry. Probably despite the father's pleadings.

LEGAL RECORDS WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—To Communist Russia, where the proletariat is all go, lawyer-lobbyist for Latin America's tightest dictatorship and his wife, one of the wealthiest women in the world. In Ambassador Joseph E. Davies the Russians will see an American boy who worked his way through college, entered politics, earned a couple of million dollars as a corporation lawyer, and crowned success by marrying the beautiful heiress to the Post $200,000,000 fortune, Mrs. Marjorie Post Close Hutton.

Liberals and Soviet sympathizers in Washington are pained. But Joe Davies has great charm and ability and may become as popular with Stalin as he is with countless big shots in America. For he is versatile and adaptable. Personal friend of Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson, and proclaiming strong belief in liberal democracy, he nevertheless fitted nicely—and made a $450,000 fee—as trusted counsel for President Trujillo of the Dominican Republic, whose political enemies disappear rapidly and permanently and who rules his land with iron hand.

After serving as chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, then as vice chairman, Wilson asked him to run against Senator Irvine Lenroot, opponent of Wilson's war policies. Davies barely lost.

Armed with a strong yen for money and correct instincts as to how to go after it, Davies set up in Washington as a corporation and international lawyer. Other years describe him, variously as "smart," "shrewd," "smooth" or "slick."

But as a lobbyist he has, in several ways above the rest, a big law, and has a big law following each time he has worked in and against every Democratic campaign since 1912, and gave a rough $15,000 to the latest. He is a keen-eyed, dapper, tanned man, 60.

The Davies clients are said to include American Telephone and Telegraph Company is one, Nat Dairy Products Corp, which he helped organize. Sometimes called the "milk" is another. The Trujillo involved rearrangement of the foreign debt and certain State department persuasion.

Other clients: Mexico, Holland, Greece, the late S. C. Couzens in the Ford Motor suit, Senator Jim Davies and Moose Lottery indictment Huey Long in the Anas suit.

Adapt at getting people to and smoothing out differences, Davies may get places with debts and trade negotiators. An intercollegiate boxing champion and halfback, as well Phi Beta Kappa, he's of the cunning, warm-hearted "type."

Davies always lived elegantly and entertained lavishly, but made money faster than he spent it. Society recalling the wedding in Hutton's 70-room triplex apartment in New York, the cost to dye the 5000 chrysum's pink, and the pink-wedding cake five feet high, three feet high, predict "years" will be gayer and brighter years." ALBANY, N. Y. — Governor James V. Alfred of Texas has been invited by Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York to have the State of Texas participate in the New York World's Fair of 1939. Formal invitations of a similar nature have gone forward to the governor's of 46 other states.

In his letter of invitation, Governor Lehman points out that New York State has already done and intends to do in taking full share in the exposition that is already in process of construction on the Flushing Meadow site in the Borough of Queens and which is to represent an estimated total investment of $125,000,000.

The New York legislature, he notes, during 1936 passed an act creating the New York World's Fair Commission of 18 members and providing funds in aid of this body's investigations looking to the preparation of plans for a state building and exhibit and for active participation in the Fair. The commission has held several sessions and is now considering concrete proposals.

The State of New York has also appropriated, to date, $2,130,000 for commencement of construction of boulevards, service roads, bridges, a boat basin in Flushing Bay, and certain other basic improvements the state will make at the exposition site or its approaches.

A St. Bernard dog was found in the driver's seat of a Detroit automobile. He probably will not be booked, since no cask of brandy was found on him.

Correction on High School Honor Roll Pupil
 High school honor roll pupils as listed in Sunday's paper under the supervision of Margaret Smith, editor of high school and Junior College news, makes the correction of Cecelia McDowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McDowell, who should have been listed on the sophomores highest honors; together with Roselle Nicholson.

The error was made in placing her name among those receiving high honors. Other names to be added to the honor roll are J. D. Litton, and Iona Prock.

Miss Smith, is glad to make the above correction on Cecelia McDowell. This statement is written with the approval of the editor, Miss Smith.

Education Chief Tuberculosis Foe

AUSTIN, Texas.—Tuberculosis continues to be one of the major causes of death in Texas. Public health authorities agree that the death rate will not diminish satisfactorily until the average person appreciates that tuberculosis is preventable, that it is not inherited directly, that it is acquired by direct transmission of the tuberculosis germ from the sick to the healthy; and above all, that he must be concerned immediately if any symptom appears.

"In combating tuberculosis," said Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, "education of the public is of prime importance—education as to the treacherous character of the disease and its methods of transmission, how to prevent the disease and how to treat it when contracted, to the end both that recovery may be as rapid as possible and that spread of the disease to other members of the family and to neighbors may be avoided."

"Children pick up tuberculosis as readily as they do measles or scarlet fever or any other contagious disease, but tuberculosis differs from some in not showing up as quickly as other germ diseases. As a rule, the characteristic symptoms of other diseases develop in a few days after a person has been exposed, while it takes a much longer time for the symptoms of tuberculosis to be recognized."

"The periodic health examination by a competent physician plays an important role in the fight to stamp out tuberculosis. These checkups should include examination of high school and col-

Band Thanks All For Helping With Band Carnival

The Christmas Carnival which was sponsored by the Ranger High School Band on Saturday, December 5, 1936, was a huge success.

The Ranger High School band wishes to thank the following and all others for helping with the carnival: the band mothers for fixing candy and refreshments; Chief G. A. Murphy for helping with the parade and auctioning off a cake; the Police Department for helping in the parade; Dorothy Henry, Margaret Watt, and Cecelia McDowell for their tap numbers; Mrs. Vera Watt, Mrs. Weldon Webb, and Mrs. H. D. Smith for accompanying the singers and dancers; Mr. Cox for his fortune-telling show; Bill McDonald for the lights; the Prompt Printery for hand bills; The Ranger Times for advertising and news stories in their paper; Mrs. Healer and the members of the High School Pep Squad; Bill Summers and his assistants for keeping the building in order; A. J. Ratliff for having used in one of the side shows; Miss Connelly for "making up" the cast in the minstrel; the four High School classes with their candidates for Queen, Maurice Fae Turner, Doris May, Reba Moore, and Louise Vaughn; and J. E. Meroney for his archery booth.

The band wishes to thank all who attended the carnival and hopes that they had a good time. The R. H. S. Band by: J. N. Crawford, Director, S. Preslar, Asst. Director, A. L. Shelton, Asst. Director, The R. H. S. Band Club by: Lewis Hughes, President, C. E. May Jr., Sec.-Treas.

Former WTC of C President to Make New Mexico Talks

STAMFORD, Texas.—Ray Nichols, West Texas newspaperman and former President of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is making three speaking dates for that organization in New Mexico this week.

On Tuesday night he will be principal speaker at the annual meeting of Roswell Chamber of Commerce and on Wednesday will speak at a joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club of Carlsbad. The same evening he will deliver an address at the annual gathering of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce.

The engagements have been arranged through the West Texas Chamber of Commerce by R. L. Malone, West Texas Chamber of Commerce Director at Roswell, J. B. Morris, Director at Carlsbad and Albert T. Woods, Director at Artesia in cooperation with the Secretaries of the Chambers of Commerce of the towns.

Nichols' trip will include a visit to Carlsbad Caverns in company with the New Mexico Directors and others.

Constant Nursing Saves Hummingbird

LONDON, Ont.—Working in relays, Mrs. E. E. O'Conner and her four daughters have kept an injured hummingbird alive for six weeks with the aid of an eyedropper.

One of the girls found the bird on the sidewalk, unable to move because of a broken back. The whole family took turns in feeding it milk, honey, tomato juice and the blood squeezed from meat, and now it can flutter weakly about the house.

lege students by the tuberculin test and X-ray and prompt examination of all persons who have symptoms of tuberculosis.

"Removal of the contact case, protection of the infant and the young, and prompt professional advice when symptoms suggestive of tuberculosis arise, will do much to reduce the tuberculosis death rate. These measures, however, are largely outside the provinces of health officials, and the problem is quite definitely a personal one."

Group Asks Judge How to Go About Circumventing Law

HOUSTON—District Judge Lanston G. King was not at all flattered when a delegation of 22 druggists and cafe and beer parlour operators asked his advice on steps they should take to remove a ban on marble machines here.

"You will have to get yourselves an attorney and consult with him about what action you should take," the judge told the delegation mildly.

Judge King recently instructed the Harris county grand jury to keep the ban on marble tables as well as other types of gambling declared illegal by the state court of criminal appeals.

One of the men in the delegation asked him if he thought a call on the grand jury would have any results. The judge said he did not believe it would.

"Of course, you can operate any legal kind of machine," he said, "but in my opinion, a n'y officer who advises you on this matter should be impeached."

The group closed the interview at once.

JUNIOR COLLEGE NEWS

Fresh
 The freshman class met Monday and discussed the possibility for a social. The discussion went 'round'n-round and finally a party came out. This to be on the night of December 18th. The following committees were appointed: Entertainment, Orvil Harrel, Gracie Jones and Tommy Smith; refreshment, J. W. Brown, Maurice Croom and Barcus Coason.

There will be another meeting Wednesday after chapel.

Masquers.
 The Masquers met with Mrs. Hunter, Monday and discussed a Christmas party. The party will be at Mrs. Hunter's home the night of December 16th. Catherine Galloway, Stephen Preslar, and Margaret Smith were placed on the entertainment committee.

Laid Off From Work BY CONSTIPATION

"For four years I suffered from constipation. I had gotten so weak I had to lay off from work. My doctor told me to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Since then, my grocery list has never been complete without it."—Mr. A. W. Murphy, 1019 16th St., Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

This delicious cereal will give you the same, sure relief. Laboratory tests prove it's safe. Within the body, its "bulk" absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the intestines. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B which tones the intestines, and iron for the blood.

Doctors Are Buyers Of Christmas Seals

AUSTIN.—In the first mail following the distribution of the Christmas Seals released at Thanksgiving, more than $100 of the day's returns to state headquarters of the Texas Tuberculosis Association came from doctors, according to Miss Pansy Nichols, Executive Secretary of the Association.

"Doctors know first-hand," Miss Nichols said, "of the tragedy caused by tuberculosis. Few people realize how much doctors give, without thought of monetary remuneration, in the way of professional service to the tuberculous poor. For this reason we are doubly grateful for their generous contributions to the Christmas Seal sale which finances the campaign for the prevention of tuberculosis."

Proceeds from this year's seal sale, Miss Nichols said, will be used by the state and local tuberculosis association in a concerted effort to reach more people between the ages of 15 and 45 with those methods of diagnosis, prevention and cure which have reduced the death rate from tuberculosis more than two-thirds in the past 30 years. She pointed out that in spite of this reduction in the general death rate tuberculosis is still the highest cause of death among people in this age group.
