JUST STORM SUBSIDES OVER STATE TODAY

By United Press
Stinging winds, which afflicted portions of four states with the worst dust storm of the year, subsided today, but the air still was laden with particles of silt. Weather observers said the dust drifted through parts of Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma and Texas, skies were to clear later in the day, providing winds continue to subside.

The fringe of the storm touched Denver on the Northwest and San Antonio on the Southeast. Farmers did not surrender without a fight. Their faces covered with cotton masks, many went into the fields and listed the soil.

In many towns the storms reduced visibility to from 50 feet to half a mile. Riding ahead of a northwest wind, the dust rolled into Amarillo and restricted visibility to less than 300 feet.

Dallas received a fine sprinkling of dust. Heavy dust was reported at Houston, which originated south of Waco.

Unionists' Caravans Blocked, Line in New Motor Strike

"On to Anderson!" became the battle cry of militant Michigan supporters of the United Automobile Workers' cause after they read of the riot in which 10 persons were injured when union and non-union workers clashed at Anderson, Ind. But they never reached Anderson. The cavalcade of 50 cars was stopped at the Madison County line (as pictured at the top) by National Guards and Indiana police. Their rifles conspicuously in evidence, National Guardsmen backed up the police, who questioned occupants of incoming cars (see lower photo). The unionists were turned back.

Anderson, 34, youngest state department head, tendered his resignation to Governor Allred on Feb. 12. He will become an attorney for the W. T. Waggoner estate of Fort Worth, with offices in Vernon.

Both Anderson and Carpenter had been key men in the Allred administration. Anderson was an assistant to Allred at Attorney General. He later became a law instructor at the University of Texas and was recalled to become tax commissioner.

Carpenter was a room-mate of Allred at Wichita Falls when Allred was a young attorney there. He was first appointed state auditor and then was "drafted" to direct old age assistance.

His administration has received legislative commendation. Though protest was raised by his advice to a House committee that old age pensioners should be deprived of their right to vote.

Federal Tax Bill Of Motorists Is Greatly Increased

WASHINGTON.—Motorist taxpayers dug deeper into their collective pockets in 1936 as special federal taxes imposed upon automotive products rose 14.2 per cent. The total federal automotive tax bill for 1936 was $338,100,126.56, an all-time high since the inception of these special taxes.

The 1936 total was greater by $42,913,146.30 than the 1935 total of $296,086,980.26, according to Bureau of Internal Revenue reports received by the American Petroleum Industries Committee.

Chief factor in both the size of the tax bill and the large increase over the previous year was the duplicating federal gasoline tax. This levy, imposed at the rate of 1 cent per gallon, in 1936 cost motorists a total of $186,321,448.52. This amounted to 55 per cent of the total federal automotive tax bill.

Compared with 1935, federal gasoline taxes last year increased $14,057,967.65, accounting for approximately one-third of the total increase in federal motor taxes. Gasoline taxes last year enriched the federal treasury by better than $5,000,000 more than in 1935, when the gasoline tax rate stood at 1 1/2 cents for half the year.

PENSION BILL IS SENT BACK TO COMMITTEE

By United Press
AUSTIN, Feb. 16.—The Texas House of Representatives today sent back to committee the old age assistance bill carrying natural resource levies to raise an estimated $15,000,000 annually.

The order to re-refer the bill, carried instructions to mark out revenue-raising features.

At once several members of the state affairs committee, three of whom wrote the bill, declared the instructions were not binding on the committee.

"The lobbyists are stronger than the people," Rep. Jap Lucas of Athens cried as efforts to defeat the recommitment failed.

Rep. Eugene Worley of Shamrock, urging the bill go back for public hearing on its tax features, told the House, "those who foot the bill deserve to be heard. Frankly, carbon black and gas have been life-savers to the farmers of my district."

To get money for liberalized pensions, the bill would raise carbon black taxes from 1-12 to one cent a pound, sulphur tax from 1.05 to $2 a ton and put a four-cents-a-barrel tax on crude oil and a one-cent-per-thousand-foot tax on natural gas.

U. S. Proves Security, Liberty Are Compatible

It isn't always easy to recognize a historic process when you are in the middle of it. For that reason we have been slow to see the tremendous importance of our current struggle to regain prosperity, and iron out the bumps in our economic life.

President Roosevelt touched on this point in his message to Congress.

The economic breakdown, he remarked, had led many Americans to doubt "the successful adaptation of our historic traditions to the complex modern world."

"Ours was the task," he added, "to prove that democracy could be made to function in the world of today as effectively as in the simpler world of 100 years ago. Ours was the task to do more than to argue a theory."

Any American can have his own opinion, of course, as to whether the administration has performed that task well or poorly. The point to remember is that all our troubles of the last six or seven years simply add to a great, crucial test of democracy and freedom.

In some countries overseas, where democracy was of recent and uncertain growth, that test came out disastrously. Beset by troubles they could not solve, the people turned entirely away from democracy, decided that freedom was a poor thing if starvation went with it, and called on the dictators to take things in charge.

The dictators were no more able to get at the roots of these troubles than were the liberal governments they destroyed. They didn't try to. They merely put their heads down and tried to butt their way through; and, in doing so, they turned the clock back some centuries.

For in this era of dictatorships there has been a return to an outworn idea of human society—the idea that the common man exists for the state, rather than that the state exists for the common man.

Under this idea the state is not required to remove troubles from the common man's path; the common man is required to accept those troubles—to take it and like it, as they say—for the sake of the state.

It was up to the United States to prove that sort of thing was unnecessary and a mistake. There was just one way the United States could do it: by proving in actual experience that a democracy could solve these problems without becoming something other than a democracy.

To date that job has been pretty well done. This may have been due to the wisdom of the government, or it may have been due to natural forces operating independently of the government.

For the moment it makes little difference. The point is that democracy has been justified. The world has been shown that it is not necessary to sacrifice liberty for security.

Museum Shows Surrealist Art

PHILADELPHIA—An exhibition of Surrealism—the latest thing in art—has been attracting considerable attention at the Philadelphia Museum of Art.

About 500 works of art, painted from the imagination of 150 Surrealists, arrived here recently from the Modern Museum of Art in New York City to be placed on exhibit at Philadelphia's art center.

This type art is a newcomer to circles where artists and critics gather to discuss art. The average citizen is hard put to find a definition for it.

According to Fiske Kimball, director of the museum, Surrealism is supposed to represent a sort of "Alice in Wonderland" in art. Another artist said that it is simply a dream of the artist put on canvas and might be considered in the same light as the "stream of Consciousness" writing.

Surrealism had its start early this century in Paris. A number of young painters and etchers decided that everything had been done in classic art and youth needed a new field. The result was that two-headed people, multi-legged cows on trapezes, and trains going forward in reverse, appeared on canvas.

Decorators and commercial artists were quick to sense that here was something new and useful. Merchandise displays and decorations soon began to feature Surrealism.

Plowhorse Plays Role of Cupid to A Young Couple

JENA, La.—Selum, outwardly just an ordinary farm horse, recently was Cupid in disguise.

Selum was bought with money furnished by the Resettlement Administration and became the property of the Paul J. Green family.

The many-linked chain of events that transformed Selum from a work-horse into the little-fellow-with-the-arrows began with the RA's discovery of the Green family. Searching for worthy families to rehabilitate, RA field men found in the hills of LaSalle parish Paul Green and his wife hitched to a plow, with Ruth Green, their comely 17-year-old daughter, holding the plow handles and making slow but sure progress in breaking ground.

RA promptly loaned Green enough money to ease his way through the 1936 crop year. Sixty-five dollars went to purchase Selum, who immediately brought luck to the Green family fortunes. With a fair crop made and most of his debts cleared, Paul Green could be observed smiling again.

RA officials sensed that the thrift and perseverance of the little back woods family was a good advertisement of their work. They photographed the group, Selum included, and circulated the pictures throughout the nation.

In Jacksonville, Ill., Russell Lowell Androm, 21, farm youth, was one of many who viewed the pictures. A letter to Ruth followed. An answer sped back through the mails and a correspondence courtship ensued. Later a proposal was mailed and an answer, "Yes," was posted on return mail.

In company with his brother, Leslie Androm, Russell arrived in Jena on January 22, met his sweetheart and was married the next day.

"When talking pictures arrived, my stage experience on Broadway gave me my chance on the screen. Taking care of my throat became serious business with me, so I changed to Luckies—a light smoke. Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON — It develops that this nation, which constitutionally has only 96 senators, recently had 97 and that, while all other states had their customary two senators apiece, Minnesota was having three.

The three were Henrik Shipstead, Guy V. Howard—the obscure Republican who served a two-month term in November and December because no other Minnesotan thought to run for the brief vacancy—and Elmer Benson, whose term as senator technically expired when he was elected governor on Nov. 3, but who kept right on fulfilling the duties of that office until Senator Lundeen took it over on Jan. 4.

The terrible truth emerges in a resolution by Senator Lew Schwelmbach of Washington which proposes to pay salaries of Benson and his staff for that period.

It appears that while Senator Howard and his family were drawing all the pay and doing none of the work, Senator Benson and his staff were doing vice versa.

Both had offices with their name plates on the door. Entitled to bestow four secretarial jobs for 60 days, Howard kept them carefully in the family and drew Treasury checks totaling $3686.86.

Benson asked Schwelmbach to introduce the compensation bill, but it's doubtful whether the Senate will recognize Benson's last 60 days of service. You probably would have a hard time figuring just how valuable to the nation Benson and his staff really were in 4,500 two months.

CONGRESSMAN JAMES BUCHANAN of Texas, who remained in the House so long that he became chairman of the powerful Appropriations Committee, is sometimes considered a prosaic old gentleman who thinks only in long, dull columns of figures and dollar marks.

But "Buck" got to talking about the flood the other day, assuring his colleagues that he "did not have sense enough to make a good farmer, but did have sense enough to make a good congressman."

Once he had hold of 3500 acres of Brazos river bottom land and put everything he had into it until he had 2500 acres of "land well watered, well equipped with houses, well stabled, and well stocked." Then came the floods and after a while "all the houses had gone down the river, as well as the mules I had and my hogs and cattle and crops, with my tenants left starving on the bank."

"I got myself a plank and I got some charcoal," he related. "I nailed that plank at the high water mark, and here is what I wrote on that plank. It expressed the way I felt then and the way I feel now:

"Farewell to the Brazos bottom, I bid you a long adieu; I may migrate to hell some day But I will never return to you."

And after this outburst of pious Buchanan added: "From that day to this I have been the relentless enemy of flood water anywhere and everywhere, and if I can contribute by my voice or by my vote or by my work to the prevention of floods throughout this Union, I shall make that contribution more cheerfully than I ever made any contribution in my life."

All of which speaks well for chances of big fat flood relief control appropriations.

The flood has added to the rolls, but there have not as been applications from husbands of the ten best-dressed women.

Electric Refrigerator Dealers Plan Display at Cooking School

Electrical refrigerator dealers, at a luncheon at the Paramount hotel today, decided upon plans for displaying their merchandise at the Happy Kitchen Chautauqua to be held at the Recreation building beginning March 23.

Much interest in the school was shown, and all dealers in town agreed to cooperate in helping to make this the best electrical refrigerator display ever seen here.

A program committee, composed of H. C. Clark, F. P. Brasher, and A. N. Larson was appointed to furnish entertainment for the ladies during the four days of the cooking school. It was suggested that a night meeting be held prior to the opening of the school in order that plans might be more thoroughly worked out.

J. E. Lewis of Eastland, who was present at the meeting, was called upon for a short talk. He stated that he was delighted to see the refrigerator dealers working in harmony for the good of all and commended them upon their spirit of fair play and cooperation. He stated that Ranger merchants had always been noted for their cooperation in putting any movement over in a big way.

A. J. Ratliff, who was also a guest at the luncheon, stated that he intended to serve biscuits at one of the sessions.

The General Electric refrigerator was chosen by lot as the box to be used upon the stage by Miss Jessie Hogue during the four days of the cooking school.

It was decided that the school would open promptly at 2 o'clock, with the lecture and lesson ending at 1:30, after which a 30-minute social period would precede the special features of the day.

Those present at the meeting were J. E. Lewis, H. C. Clark, A. N. Larson, T. B. Johnson, J. F. Killingsworth, L. E. White, D. Joseph, A. J. Ratliff, Joe Dennis, J. S. Reynolds, Lee Dockery, F. P. Brasher and F. D. Hicks.

Ranger 4-H Club Boys Have Fine Demonstrations

The Ranger 4-H club boys have some fine demonstrations planned for the year of 1937.

H. O. Woods, Jr., has a Hereford calf which will weigh about 380 pounds. He is one of the new members and he has a nice demonstration for the year. He has a nice pen built for his calf and he said he was going to do his best to win some prizes for the year.

S. S. Faircloth also has a Hereford calf, and it weighs about 550 pounds. Faircloth and Woods have been talking about each other's calves and they certainly are proud of their demonstrations. The boys are feeding shorts, bran and hay to their calves.

Edward Giesdon has a registered cow which he bought last summer with nine other boys from the county. Edward's cow gives about 1-2 gallons of milk, not counting what the calf gets.

Jo Dan Meroney also has a registered calf which he bought from Mr. Montgomery. Jo Dan won a prize at the county fair last fall and he is feeding the calf very heavy now so he may win another prize this spring at the "Spring Dairy Show."

The following boys have demonstrations but have not yet reported about them: Richard Cox, Harden Hadin, Edward Eastland, Jack Watson, Bill Hood, Lee Greer, Ross Hodges and Howard Hinman.

Marlin Sneed has constructed a hotbed for his demonstration to plant tomatoes and pepper. There will be plants to sell to anyone who wants them at any time after the tomatoes are ready to sell. He said he was going to plant Break-a-Day and June Pink tomatoes. They are the best plants that a person can get around this part of the country. Marlin does not know what kind of pepper seed he will plant yet, but he will be putting them into the ground in a few days.

Mr. Ringold, the club sponsor, is proud of the way the boys are progressing since he came into the club. Mr. Ringold says that the Ranger club will be the best in the county this year.

The Ranger boys are doing better because they have a good early start, which will help them a lot.

All 4-H club members that wish to go to the Fat Stock Show on March 15, should report to the next meeting at the Chamber of Commerce on Friday, February 19. Every member is urged to be present, as Mr. Barnhart has a special talk that he would like to give at that time.

Cycling Safety Is Worrying State

By United Press
ALBANY, N. Y. — The New York legislature is concerned over the safety of bicyclists. If a pending bill is adopted, enthusiasts will have other things to worry about than merely pedaling.

Under a bill recommended by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, and sponsored by Motor Vehicle Commissioner Charles A. Harnett, bicycles are defined as vehicles "consisting of an arrangement or combination of two wheels, one following the other, supported by a frame, propelled by muscular power."

To avoid hazards of night driving, a series of safety devices are demanded, including:

- 1—Suitable and adequate head lamp.
- 2—Front and rear reflectors.
- 3—Suitable horn, bell or other device to produce a sound sufficiently loud to serve as a danger warning.

The bill would amend the vehicle and traffic law by inserting provisions applying specifically to bicycles. Already existing regulations governing bicycle riding are considered "stiff." They include:

- 1—No riding on sidewalks, except by children under 10.
- 2—No "passengers" permitted on handlebars.
- 3—That at least one hand must be kept on the handlebars.

Meantime the state traffic commission is considering the development of a busy traffic route in the state as a "model highway" to be provided with uniform lights, signs and markings.

"By concentration of efforts on one highway," said the commission, "we will develop the theory of standardization in actual practice, and the 'model highway' will be the pattern for other roads."

The commission was created by the legislature to study safety regulations and devices to reduce highway fatalities.

Talco Oil Field Attracts Many In Year of Operation

By W. H. GRAYSON
United Press Correspondent.
TALCO, Texas—One year ago a crew of "wildcat" drillers worked feverishly in an effort to complete an oil well in a field half a mile southeast of the village of Talco, 18 miles northwest of Mount Pleasant in Titus county.

The oil test was 60 miles from the nearest oil production, between the Sulphur river and White Oak creek, in rank "wildcat" territory which had been the scene of many unsuccessful oil tests since 1914.

The plug was drilled on the history-making Housh and Thompson Inc. Peveto No. 1 C. M. Carr and heads of oil were made. Narrowly escaping being a "wild well," drillers mudded the well back as the oil came out of the hole, to prevent the well from becoming ignited as fire was still under the biters beside the derrick.

Nearly one mile deep, oil came from the Paluxy horizon, of the upper Trinity sands, from a total depth of 4,212 feet. Drillers, under the direction of veteran Mike Langley, had proved that an oil pool lay beneath the quiet, placid farming and dairying countryside. Another "strike" had been made where others had failed!

Other tests in the Talco sector had been made in 1916, '21, '22 and during recent years, but drillers went about to the Woodbine formation and when production failed to come from this horizon, the tests were abandoned, usually at a death of 2,900 to 3,100 feet.

A chilling, blue February north-south sweep across the barren, open spaces of Titus county as the well came in as a producer, to definitely prove the Titus, Hopkins, Morris and Franklin county sectors as being in the Mexia-Powell, or Balcones fault line.

C. M. "Dad" Joiner, who discovered the East Texas oil field, the greatest productive area in the world, had claimed before the No. 1 Carr test was drilled that the "mother pool" of the East Texas field lay to the north of Gregg county. The Housh and Thompson Inc., Peveto No. 1 C. M. Carr discovery well strengthened his contention. Again the veteran Joiner had been right, and his holdings, estimated at 40,000 acres in southern Titus, Morris, Franklin and Hopkins counties, were immensely valuable.

Talco, at the time of the oil "strike" one year ago, was a village of some 215 persons, a bank, a general merchandise store, an undertaking establishment, a drug store and several small restaurants. Now slightly more than 215 deep oil wells have been brought in as commercial producers in the immediate Talco field, or more than 3,500 persons live in the Talco area today, the city's limits have been extended to cover twice its former boundaries, and the business section of Talco extends almost two miles out of the city proper on Highway 49.

More than 53 oil companies, supply houses, pipeline companies and other firms whose business relates to the oil industry are now numbered among Talco's industrial achievements. A $200,000 water and sewage project is now under way, due for completion within the next 40 days, a new modern brick hotel is under construction, and many new houses are being built every week in the area. Bank deposits have increased 400 per cent during the last year and loans have decreased. The postoffice reports an increase of more than 500 per cent in volume over the same period last year.

The Humble Oil company, Magnolia Petroleum Company, the Lucey-Byrd-Frost interests of Dallas, and G. & M. W. Oil Company now control the largest holdings in the field.

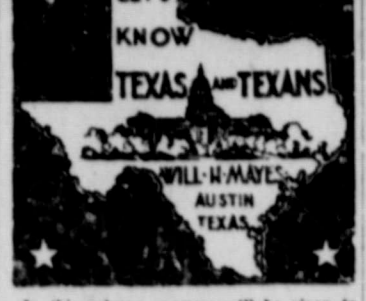

A new refinery was completed Feb. 1 by Constantin and Company, located in East Talco and costing $150,000. The Constantin firm will refine Talco crude. Initial production is limited to 3,000 barrels of oil a day, although the plant is capable of handling 5,000 barrels of crude. Officials plan to manufacture commercial asphalt as soon as equipment is installed, and a new modern cracker unit and 10-tank car loading rack for this refinery will mean that this week Talco gasoline and oil will reach Texas, interstate and coastal markets because of the fine facilities of this refinery.

Within the next year, with a $6,000,000 drilling program in prospect, Talco business men believe Talco should take its place among the state's smaller industrial and oil centers.

LET'S KNOW TEXAS AND TEXANS

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. What were the conditions in Texas under Spanish occupancy when Moses Austin made his colonization proposal?
A. They had changed but little except for the worse, since Spain made its claims to the country some 300 years before. There were only two small settlements of Spaniards—at San Antonio and La Bahia—the missions were in a state of ruin, hostile Indians preyed upon the few inhabitants, Spain was affording no protection and offering no hope that conditions would improve. The slight efforts Spain had made at colonization had failed most miserably.

Q. Why did Spain fail to realize anything from its possession of Texas?
A. The Spaniards were militant soldiers who sought gain from conquest rather than from development. They were gold-seekers and cared little for a country that required labor to make it habitable.

Q. How does the $15,000 a year salary, reported to be paid Coach Bible on a 10-year contract with the University of Texas compare with other salaries of University and State officials?
A. The salary of the president of the University is $8,000 a year; teachers' salaries range from $1,400 for instructors to $5,000 for highest paid professors; salary now paid Governor of Texas is $12,000 a year; Attorney General, $10,000, these being the highest paid state officials.

Q. How many Texans were enlisted in the Confederate Army?
A. The estimates are from 50,000 to 65,000, the first figures probably being nearest correct. The merging of battalions and regiments, the confusion of records, and the fact that about three-fourths of them were scattered over the Trans-Mississippi Department in Louisiana, Arkansas and the frontier, while the

Increase In Summer School Fund Sought

AUSTIN—Summer school appropriations carrying a general 10 per cent increase has been urged by Rep. A. P. Cagle, Waco, whose bill calls for a total of $334,405.

The individual school appropriation, however, is in most instances below the request of the institution. Sixteen universities and colleges supported by state funds requested a total appropriation of approximately $380,000.

The appropriations are for financing summer sessions this year. "In the case of a few schools I have recommended a sum greater than that asked for by the school itself. I feel these schools are growing rapidly, will have their best summer sessions this year, and need more money than they sought," Cagle explained. Educators have predicted record high attendance this summer.

Cagle has apportioned $59,066 to the University of Texas, whose summer session draws 5,500 students. Last year the school received approximately $49,000. It had asked for $82,650 to finance its 1937 summer session. The bill sets fees at the usual 10 per six-week term.

Collector Has a Rare Watch Once Owned by George III

By United Press
MINNEAPOLIS—A watch, by which King George III once "felt, heard and saw" the time, is one of a collection of valuable timepieces owned by Oscar T. Lang, of Minneapolis.

The watch, made in 1770 and bearing the royal coat-of-arms and the inscription of its manufacturer, "George Lindsey, Servant to ye Prince of Wales," has a pulse piece so that the time may be counted out, and a bell contrivance that rings out the time when pressed.

Lang started his watch collection 15 years ago with four watches from an European exhibition, once shown in Minneapolis.

The oldest watch in his collection is a German piece of cutgut movement, made about 1575. The bronze lid is pierced to show the position of the hour hand without opening the lid. Knobs protrude at each hour, to feel the time at night.

One watch, made in Switzerland in 1810, has the name of the dial painter, Julien Girard painted on the bottom portion of the numeral "4," a line, only one-eighth of an inch long.

On an old French watch in Lang's collection, is the inscription, "Fouber 395 Eger de S. A. R. Mme la Duchesse de Berry," presumably the famous Madame du Berry.

Another Question About CARDUI

MOTHERS RECOMMEND IT
"Why do so many MOTHERS recommend Cardui to their daughters?"
Isn't it but natural that any good mother should tell her daughters about Cardui if the mother herself felt that she had been benefited by this medicine?
It is impressive that so many women report having taken Cardui on the advice of their mothers.
Cardui has been found to benefit women when weakened by malnutrition (poor nourishment); and it helps to relieve much discomfort at monthly periods.
Thousands of women testify Cardui helped them. Of course, if it does not help you, consult a physician.

Service Station At Pine and Rusk Being Remodeled

Edwin George, Jr., local agent for Gulf Refining Company, has purchased the buildings on the corner of Rusk and Pine streets, formerly known as the Westgate and Barnes property, and is having it remodeled into a modern service station.

The corner of the building is being torn out and remodeled to be used as a Gulf service station, while the Chambers Tire company, which formerly occupied the building, will be moved to the rear on Pine street. Storage entrances will be on Rusk street.

George, in talking of the improvements he is making, stated that he had needed a downtown outlet for Gulf products and had purchased the buildings in order to make them over into a modern station.

Washing and greasing racks will be installed inside the building.

When completed the work will remove one of the downtown eyesores, as the property has been in a rundown condition for a number of years.

George stated that the rear portion of the building on Rusk street was not to be changed at this time, but that it would probably be worked over later.

First Baptist church Y. W. A. and Central Baptist church Y. W. A. were: Misses Gene Peters, Christine Gilder, Svill Lee Davis, Inaska Conklin, Inez Baker, Nellie Hansen, Wilma Bankston, Melba Morgan, Jewel Boler, Effie Mae Gordon, Doris Williams.

A CONFESSION AND AN APPEAL!

During the seven years I have been with the opera houses Ranger I have played all the bad films and a few of the good ones. I know I done a lot of folks wrong when I played "OUTWARD BOUND," "A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM," to say nothing of "CONGRESS DANCES." I have tried honestly and conscientiously to live these pictures down and have in my humble way tried to get it up with all the "victims." I fully realize I read the advance notices of the "so called" big films and really get hopped up over them... this is, of course, before I have seen them. But today I am holding over a bunch of Ranger people and we all admit it already showed to a bunch of Ranger people and we all admit it. The reason we are holding this picture over and showing it again today. It is the first film to show three days in Ranger in a couple of years, and if it wasn't the real "McCoy" it wouldn't get the extra day, because every film company in Dallas is on my neck now for dates on their new releases and playing time with a theatre is always on a guaranteed basis. Honest, customers, I am holding this film over on a guaranteed basis. If you are not completely satisfied we will refund your money without question. If you don't get out in paying quantities tonight you are going to miss the best comedy ever made and I'm going to be much happier than the (flour) relief sufferers on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. Incidentally, the picture I am so proud of is "AFTER THE THIN MAN" and star William Powell and Myrna Loy, and the features today start at 2:30, 4:46, 7:02 and 9:30. We really would like to see the other four thousand natives of Ranger tonight that haven't seen the picture thus far.
