Citizens Are to Blame for Crooked Politics

The Kansas City vote fraud trials are bringing in a fairly respectable haul of fish. Seven people have already been convicted, and 75 more are yet to be tried. Before the thing ends we may know a little more about the mysterious science of civic government than we know now.

For these trials are highly educational-not so much for the actual evidence that is produced as for the reflections that they provoke.

That crooked election booth officials do all kinds of odd tricks to the ballots now and then is not new. Erasing marks, short-penciling ballots, throwing away votes that don't suit the boss, making up the "total" before the polls are even closed-these bits of trickery have a long lineage in America, and the end probably is not yet.

But we shall miss the point if we simply assume that the trials prove Kansas City to be a desperately boss-ridden city and let it go at that.

Kansas City does operate under a boss, of course. But what big city doesn't, to a greater or lesser degree? Where is the metropolis which has not within recent memory had frauds precisely like those of Kansas City? And which of us, as an individual, is alert enough and public-spirited enough in his own city to be entitled to point any scornful finger at Kansas City?

The thing to remember in any case of this kind is that we always get the kind of government we deserve.

A political boss does not go to the crossroads in the dead of night and recite a mysterious, mumbo-jumbo incantation that puts a spell on the good people of the town. There is no magic about it. He gets control because the people let him get control. He strikes a bargain with the electorat

He performs favors, for instance; little ones and big ones. If you "know somebody at city hall," you get a traffic ticket fixed. Or perhaps you get the tax assessment on your house adjusted, or enjoy a slight relaxation of a building code.

There are slums in your city, let us say. The people who live in them don't have a very good time in life, what with people. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, one thing and another; you, as a non-slum dwellers, some- Austin, Texas. how never insisted that there should be a sufficiency of parks and playgrounds, or backed a housing program, or sat down to meditate on the infinitely complex social and commissioners to the economic forces which produce and perpetuate the slums, You just ignore them.

Not so the boss. He extends a multitude of little favors but money lenders exacting as to to the slura people. As a result, the slum district gives the terms, and hesitant to make loan boss a thumping big vote in every election.

These are just a few angles of boss rule. They are list- to deal; defeats at the Alamo and ed here to indicate that politics doesn't operate in a vac- Goliad weakened confidence in the uum. The "21" Study club met at the club house on Tuesday of last week. During a business session it was voted that the club make a donation to the Glee club for their expenses to Denton. A new partment of club work was added, that of safety in the home, and Mrs. C. W. Maltby was elected chairman of the department and will give a few minutes of each program to that subject. The Bible day program was led by Mrs. Charles Lee. The story of Moses was the theme and the land of Egypt was studied.

Clarence Ragland was seriously ill, suffering from pneumonia, at his home a few miles west of town. A trained nurse is attending him, and friends are lending all possible help, Mrs, Ragland was just recovering from the "flu"

NOBODY ENJOYS TAKING MEDICINE!

Yet most people at some time suffer from common constipation. Why not correct this condition the natural way—by including a ready-to-eat cereal with your daily meals instead of taking weakening pills and drugs?

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN adds the "bulk" the average system needs. In the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, forming a soft, spongelike mass—which gently cleanses the intestines.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B to tone up the intestines and iron for the blood.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls a day, as a cereal with milk or cream, or cooked into appetizing muffins, breads, etc. Three times daily in severe cases.

All-Bran is sold at all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Heat butter in saucepan. Add onion and green pepper Cook until thoroughly heated but not browned then add tomato Combine this mixture with the cooked macaroni Arrange macaroni and sliced hard cooked eggs in buttered baking dish. Melt cheese in top of double boiler. When soft, add sherry and mix thoroughly. Pour this cheese mixture over the macaroni. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg F). Better make an extra amount of this cheese sauce and serve it in a separate dish for those who will be asking for more.

Mushroom Sauce for Spaghetti.

Heat butter in frying pan. Add mushrooms, onion and parsley and simmer 5 minutes. Then dust in flour, mix and slowly add the mushroom, stock. When smooth, slowly stir in white wine or white grape juice. Season, add I bay leaf, and simmer until sauce thickens to desired consistency. With a platter of spaghetti, a side dish of grated Italian cheese, and this sauce—life does have its better moments.
