ACP Helps In Conservation

Conservation work costs money. That's why we have an ACP, Jim Elder, Chairman, agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Castro County Committee, said today. He pointed out that being convinced about the benefits of conservation is not enough, and expressed the belief that some farmers still may not understand that they can obtain program help in getting the needed conservation job done on their farms.

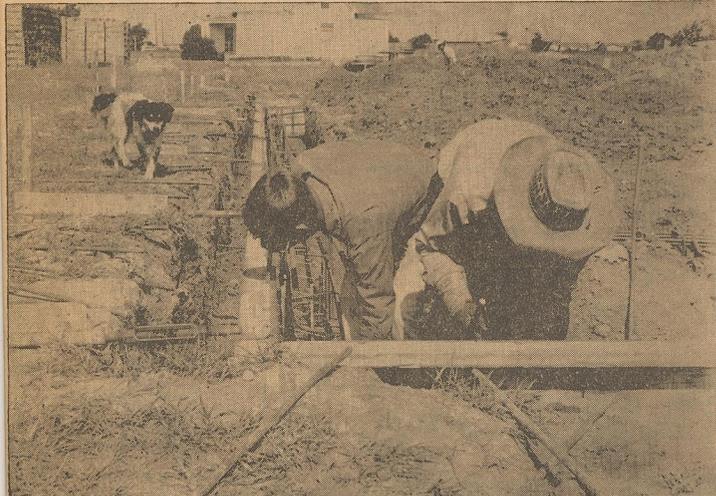

"Just drive around the country," the Chairman declared, "and you can easily spot the farms where conservation farming being practiced. In most cases, you would also find that the Agricultural Conservation Program is cooperating with the farmer in carrying out the conservation practice on the land."

For farmers who may not fully understand just how ACP works, Mr. Elder explained that the program's purpose is to encourage the establishment of soil, water, woodland, and wildlife conservation practices needed in the public interest. The program, therefore, has an incentive type of approach to the problem—"shares the cost" of sound conservation measures which the farmer would not carry out without such assistance. Funds for this purpose are authorized by Congress in recognition of the fact that the Nation's natural resources are vital not only to the farmers and ranchers who operate the land but also to the health and well-being of each citizen, both now and in the future.

ACP practices to promote conservation measures are selected to meet local as well as national conditions. Each county has a list of the practices, specifications, and cost-share rates approved for local farmers participating in the program.

In brief, the farmer obtains ACP cooperation by filing a request with the ASC County Committee for ACP cost-sharing before carrying out the practice. He receives a definite notice from the committee of the extent to which his request has been approved After complete

June Designated As Dairy Month

June is a time of recognition by the nation of the dairy industry's vital contributions to the health and wealth of America. The month-long observance, now in its 27th year, continues to pick up promotional steam, says A. M. Richard M. Riley, a well-known Travis county dairy man, is serving as Dairy Month chairman in Texas, according to Meekma. Riley is a past president of the ADA of Texas and currently a member of the Association's Board of Directors. He is also president of the Mid-Texas Milk Producers Association; president of the Travis County Dairy Herd Improvement Association and a member of the Travis County Dairy Program Building Committee.

Meekma and Riley point out that dairies throughout Texas and the nation are holding "open-house" during June and that many special events ranging from milk drinking contests to county-wide dairy farm tours will help acquaint the public with the dairy industry and make dairymen better known to the public they serve.

Food editors, nutritionists and others concerned with the American diet are emphasizing milk as

Commissioner of Health

Several thousands of Texans are proof that stroke victims need not lead lives of permanent invalidism. Even after suffering severe "cerebral vascular accidents," they have been totally or partially rehabilitated and have returned to their jobs or other worthwhile vocations.

There was a time—not long ago in terms of years—when they would have lain helpless and dependent until death released them from their torment.

The key to this dramatic advance is in starting rehabilitation early, as soon as the patient is able to communicate, and methodically continuing a prescribed series of exercises. The exercises are usually directed by a physio-therapist who works under the supervision of the patient's physician.

Today, more and more progressive hospitals, nursing and convalescent homes no longer consider themselves custodians of stroke victims, institutions of education, and training for the patient and his family. As soon as the immediate task of saving the patient's life has been accomplished, the rehabilitation process begins.

First the patient is helped to overcome his anxiety about his condition. Often this can be done by using as examples other patients who have made recoveries or noticeable progress.

The patient is then motivated to lead as close to a normal life as possible. His accomplishments are noted and complimented. A system of communications is arranged for the patient whose speech is impaired or who cannot speak at all.

A series of simple exercises consisting of massage, movement of the limbs, hands, feet and head are begun under the direction of the attending physician.

As soon as the patient is able to move his limbs, the exercises are increased. He is encouraged to do the exercises without assistance, and to add other as is prescribed by his doctor.

He is encouraged to assist in feeding and bathing himself—first with assistance and then on his own. Finally, he is encouraged to sit, stand, and eventually to walk. He is taught to open doors and dial phones. The patient is now on his way toward rehabilitation.

Past practices have been to give this sort of patient care in hospital, and many patients are still hospitalized. But the trend is shifting toward home care, since the plan of rehabilitation can be carried out just as beneficially—perhaps more so—amidst familiar surroundings.

But whether at home or hospitalized, most patients will recover

SNO MAN

82.2% NITROGEN

SIDE-DRESS

WITH THE FULL MIGHT OF NITROGEN

It's now or never for this year's cotton and grain crops. The nitrogen needed for an abundant, high quality harvest should be applied before the 12th week of growth or before the plant begins to boot or bloom. Anhydrous ammonia supplies this nitrogen in the largest quantity by volume and in the most usable form. We recommend and sell Shamrock Nitromite because we know it to be a fine brand of anhydrous ammonia, 82.2% nitrogen.

ACP Helps

tion of the practice, the farmer certifies this by filing the necessary report form with the county office. His cost-sharing assistance, in the form of either ash or a purchase order for a conservation service or material, usually covers about half the cost of the approved practice.

Under the cash plan, the farmer pays the total cost of establishing the approved practice, and he is later reimbursed for the Government's share of the cost. Under the purchase order plan, the Government's cost-share is advanced to the vendor who supplies the farmer (1) a conservation material—such as seed, trees, fertilizer, lime, or tile; or (2) a service—such as earth moving, tree planting, or tile laying. The vendor who furnishes the material or service bills the Government and receives payment for the Government's share of the cost. The farmer pays the vendor the difference between the amount the Government pays and the total cost of the material or service used.

ACP also helps pay for technical service where required to determine need and practicability or to plan and lay out the practice. This is accomplished through special arrangements with the Soil Conservation Service, the State Forester and others.

ACP Promotes Watershed Conservation

Farmer interest in watershed conservation is increasing steadily, according to reports of accomplishment under the 1962 Agricultural Conservation Program, Charley E. Hill, Secretary, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, said today.

ACP conservation measures were applied last year on more than 113,000 farms within authorized and organized watersheds throughout the Nation. The total farmer and rancher investment in these soil, water, woodland, and wildlife practices in such watershed conservation during 1962 amounted to about $40 million, half of which was covered by ACP cost-shares.

In 467 small watersheds authorized under Public Law 566, which have been approved for the installation of major works of improvement such as dams and re-land-treatment protective measures were carried out on more than 34,500 farms—representing ACP cost-sharing of $6.3 million. Other reported small watersheds, primarily those receiving planning services under Public Law 566, included about 30,000 more farms which received ACP cost-sharing of almost $6 million. Authorized flood prevention watersheds accounted for most of the remainder.

With the public's increasing awareness of the importance of watershed protection has come a recognition that proper land treatment on individual farms and ranches is the key to the success of any watershed program, Secretary Hill declared.

Structures to store water or prevent flooding are only partly effective unless basic conservation practices are applied to the farm and ranch lands above them. And every farmer who manages his land wisely through the application of needed conservation measures is contributing toward watershed conservation work. The ACP stimulates and makes possible greater amounts of planned conservation work.

While farmers reap the immediate benefit from improved land management, the Secretary explained, a watershed protection program really benefits everyone in the community and Nation. Direct results of upstream watershed protection are reduced siltation of lakes, streams, and reservoirs; better and cleaner water; and fewer damaging floods. But indirect results in-

USDA Reviews '64 Wheat Crop

The wheat program for 1964 under provisions of existing law are reviewed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in response to questions that have arisen since the referendum of May 21.

Price support will be available to producers who plant within the acreage allotments which have been established for the 1964 wheat crop. Allotments were announced in April. The national average support price will be 50 percent of parity. (The present parity price is $2.51 per bushel.) There will be no marketing quota penalties for planting in excess of acreage allotments. However, the statute provides that producers who overplant their allotments will receive "history" credit only in the amount of their allotments.

Farmers who have Conservation Reserve contracts agreed to plant within their farm acreage allotment and this means that the 1964 Conservation Reserve payment for the farm is dependent on compliance with the wheat acreage allotment.

Wheat that was grown in excess of marketing quotas in the past will be subject to the original penalty provisions until July 1, 1964. After that date, stored excess wheat may be released without penalty. The amount of such wheat in storage on farms and in warehouses is estimated at 45 million bushels. This could be increased from the 1963 crop, which is subject to marketing quotas, and excess wheat from this crop may be stored by the producer to avoid payment of the penalty. On the other hand, underplanting or underproduction of 1963-crop wheat could result in the early release of excess wheat that had been stored from previous crops to avoid payment of penalty.

Other items of interest to growers in administration of the 1964 program include such equally important benefits as the economic stability and prosperity of both farm and urban industry, which are necessary for basic rural areas development.

Some ACP practices which help protect watersheds, for which farmers may obtain cost-sharing assistance, include grass cover, terracing, soil waterways, farm ponds, and contouring.

Conservation work stimulated by other ASCS program—for example, the conversion of feed grain and wheat land to conserving uses—also benefits watershed conservation programs.

"Looking Through The Knot Hole"

With Myrtle

Hello friends, I am just home from a visit to hot big "D", glad to be home in cool little "D"—the big city is very nice to visit, the little city is nice to live in.

I have been looking at some of the new model stoves made by Tappan. What a far-way stoves have come; since I started cooking on the oil range. The new stoves have new dimensions in functional beauty. They come in several colors to blend in with your decorating scheme.

The Fabulous 400 Range has everything—the high oven-called the heart saver; it has the wide visualite window that lets you see the cooking process; the hide-a-way top that slides in and slides out; this stove has the easy control panel; even an automatic oven control for roasts; no more worries about late dinners. Just think how nice it would be to have the banquet size oven, when the big family comes in. These stoves come in several styles and sizes; you can have the built-in-ovens in 6 colors, wouldn't the yellow be nice? I like the copper tones especially nice with the darker wood paneling. John Nichols is giving a good trade in on your old stove. You will have to go to the Willson Nichols Store and see and check the prices on these many different stoves. The set in tops and built-in ovens or the regular stoves.

Now while you are planning your kitchen!! look at the Tappan dishwasher. There are three great built in series. They have the push button control, no dials to set, king size capacity, pre-rinse and double wash, and triple rinse.

The Imperial is the finest, but there is the custom, a real buy for the economy minded and who isn't???

You might just prefer the portable. This has the cutting board top. These fine dishwashers come in colors to blend in with the stoves and cabinets.

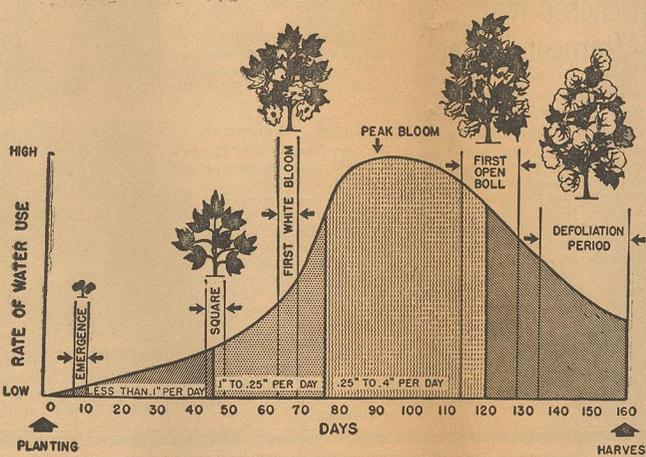

The classic look in the Tappan dishwasher has the push button, dual-cycle operation also has the lifetime enamel inside and out. The gentleman of the house would really enjoy doing the supper dishes, with one of these do it yourself dishwashers.

Go down to the store and see these Tappan stoves and Tappan dishwashers, and the Tappan Disposal. I almost forgot to tell you about the Tappan Disposal. The Model TA24 is a continuous feed type with positive sink seal, four cutting actions, has a one-third horse power motor—wouldn't it be nice to have this machine take care of the scraps for you?

So long for now—

RATE OF WATER USE IN RELATION TO PLANT DEVELOPMENT

Water Needs For Cotton Explained

by Charles Hottel

Rate of water used by the cotton plant will vary throughout the growing season. Adequate moisture is required to germinate the seed. From the time the seed sprouts, and for the first few weeks of emergence, the rate of water used by the plant is low. The loss of soil moisture by evaporation during this period may exceed the amount of water transpired by the plant.

The first fruiting forms appear about 4 weeks after emergence. In an additional 3 to 3½ weeks, these forms will produce bolls. During this period, the rate of water use increases steadily, but probably will not exceed .1 inch per day. As the first bolls appear, there is a sharp increase in the rate of soil moisture use. The cotton plant reaches its peak water use rate during the early period. The rate of water used by the plant during this critical period of development may range from .25 to .4 inches of water per day depending on weather conditions. The rate begins to decline when most of the bolls are fully developed. This decrease continues until plant growth has ceased.

The cotton plant obtains water contact with available soil moisture. For normal plant growth and development, most of the plant roots must be in contact with a readily available supply of soil moisture at times. Movement of soil moisture after the free water has drained away is slow. Because of this slow rate of movement, plant roots must grow to the moist soil. Plant roots will not grow into a dry soil.

After the cotton seed germinates the root system develops rapidly. The first to form is the tap root, with a few lateral branches. The early root system penetrates only a small percentage of soil and if the soil moisture is depleted from around the limited root system, plant growth is retarded. As the plant grows, the lateral roots spread out through a large part of the soil. When mature, the roots normally will be fairly well distributed through the soil. In deep soils, cotton roots may penetrate 5 to 6 feet.

Protect Shotgun Barrel

Goose hunters shooting from pits on sand bars, or dirt pits in fields, constantly must check shotgun barrels for sand or dirt.

Avoid this nuisance by covering muzzle with a single sheet of toilet tissue, held in place by a rubber band behind the sight.

Hunting Without Dogs

It is possible to cover a field effectively without dogs when quail hunting.

Tie one end of a nylon clothesline to your waist, the other end with line stretched between you, waist high. Birds hiding in between you will flush as the line passes over them.

Teach Dogs to Hunt By Nose

A young dog often refuses to use his nose when in training.

Take such a pup out at night and carry along a pocketful of his favorite tid-bits. Let him sniff a piece of it, then throw the piece away from you.

In the dark he can't see where you tossed the tid-bit and will be compelled to use his nose to find it.

WEEKEND IN DALLAS

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gamblin and son visited in Dallas and also the Six Flags last weekend.

wheat program without marketing quotas include:

—ASC county committees will hear all appeals of 1964 farm wheat acreage allotments. Farmers have 15 days from the date of the county committee's decision to appeal to the ASC State Committee if they do not agree with the county committee decision.

—Hearings on appeals of farm yields normal will not be scheduled because the yield figures will not be applicable for 1964. Where producers wish to furnish proven yield data, such data will be filled in the county office with other records of that farm.

Senator YARBOROUGH'S REPORT

(The Newsletter this week is a transcription of a radio interview by Senator Yarborough, Texas with Senator Frank Church Idaho.) SENATOR YARBOROUGH: This week I have as my special guest the senior senator from the state of Idaho, Senator Frank Church. I know that many of you in Texas heard him on radio and saw him on television as he made that great speech at the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles in 1960. He made the keynote speech.

Senator Church introduced a bill just this week to cut some of the excess fat out of foreign aid. I am happy to co-sponsor it with him. Senator Church, the people of Texas know you, I know they will be happy to know of this measure. Would you explain to them what your bill does?

SENATOR YARBOROUGH: Senator, first of all let me say how much I appreciate your co-sponsorship. The amendment would strike from the foreign aid bill our further gifts to rich countries. It's hard to believe Ralph but you and I know many rich countries that once received foreign aid, at a time when it was needed, still get it.

In 1962, for example, we were still giving direct subsidy to such affluent countries as the United Kingdom, France, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands, Norway, Italy and Japan. I am simply trying to get some of these rich countries stricken from the list of recipients of our foreign aid. They don't belong on the list any longer, and we ought to be saving this money. We have other uses to put it to.

SENATOR YARBOROUGH: Frank are economies of the Common Market countries in Europe and the economy of Japan growing, growing as fast as ours in the United States?

SENATOR CHURCH: Actually, Ralph, it's growing faster and has been for some years. In Japan we have the fastest growing economy in the world today. I was in Japan just this last fall, and it was booming as never before. The same thing is true in Western Europe, any of these countries have achieved a level of prosperity that exceeds anything that they have ever known before, and they are fully capable of maintaining their own armed forces without further American subsidy. And yet, last year we gave to these countries some $400 million worth of military assistance.

SENATOR YARBOROUGH: Frank, are the European countries in West Europe and in the Common market spending as high a percentage of their income for their own military defense as we are for the military defense of Western Europe?

SENATOR CHURCH: Well, Ralph, the answer is no. You see, the high level of prosperity and their ability to pay their own way—they are actually devoting about half as much of their budget to national defense in terms of their own gross national product as we are devoting in terms of our wealth. They are making about half the effort we are, and we are still giving them subsidy.

SENATOR YARBOROUGH: Well, I agree with you that it is remarkable that we are giving aid to these rich countries in Western Europe and to Japan, all of which are booming and have the highest level of prosperity ever known and we are bearing the tax burden. Your bill would cut that off from the rich nations but would still allow help for the poor and the nations with people in a state of starvation.

SENATOR CHURCH: Right, the undeveloped nations of the world, that is the object of the foreign aid program. It is not to subsidize the rich, and the administrators of the program have shown an inability to turn off any of these

Tips For Outdoorsmen

New Use For Baby Oil

Shotgun shells sometimes stick in the gun barrel or magazine at the most inopportune time. You can prevent this, and also add more water proofing to your shells, if you put a thin coat of baby oil on each shell before leaving home.

DUCK BLIND CAMOUFLAGE

Pale faces turned toward the sky frighten incoming ducks like a blast of shotgun fire.

But if each hunter will slip over his head a wide-meshed bag, such as the ones in which potatoes or onions are packed, face glare will be avoided.

EGG SUCKING CURE

To cure your hound or bird dog of egg sucking, coat eggs with a solution of flour paste and red pepper. Leave eggs in nest for dog to find.

He'll steer clear of eggs after that.

Sighting-In Your Rifle

A good bench rest is almost a must for sighting in rifles for pre-season hunting. But benches seldom are available except at commercial ranges.

Fix your own rifle rest for use anywhere by using an ordinary folding ironing board.

The board is easily adjusted to the most convenient shooting height.

Got A Tip?

This feature is written for you who hunt and fish, who boat and swim and ski, who like to camp out, picnic, skindive or enjoy one phase or another of the great outdoors in Texas.

Handy In Hot Weather

A big problem most dove hunters face during the early hot part of the season is how to carry shells and dead birds without wearing a heavy hunting coat.

You can solve this problem by wearing a carpenter's apron instead of the bulky coat.

Distress Signal

A simple distress signal that can be used by the lost-in-the-woods person—or lost anywhere outdoors for that matter—is the toy balloon.

Keep several brilliant colored ones in your knapsack or boat or tackle box, along with a roll of heavy nylon line and some strong string. A balloon attracts attention and helps point out the spot. In case it breaks away—attach a note telling of your approximate whereabouts and outlining your predicament, needs, etc., if possible.

Cotton Thirstiest While Fruiting

Cotton's need for moisture is during greatest the square, bloom, and young boll states, says Wayne Keese Extension agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The rate of water use by cotton plants varies through the growing season and intelligent irrigation is based on the periods of greatest need, says the engineer. The plants use very little water for the first beginning with the appearance of the first square the rate of water use increases steadily. When the first blooms appear, the water requirement again increases rapidly and the maximum rate of water use occurs at the peak bloom stage which is usually three to and one-half months after planting, says Keese.

Shedding of fruit by cotton has been found to be associated with low soil moisture during the early bloom and fruiting stage and therefore an adequate supply is needed for high yields, Keese explains. Excessively high moisture levels also should be avoided especially after the first bolls appear. This moisture can cause late vegetative growth which probably will not increase lint yields and can be undesirable if machine picking is planned.

Keese warns not to wait until all the available moisture has been used before irrigating the crop. Normally, irrigation should be started when 50 to 60 per cent of the available moisture in the root zone is depleted. He recommends regular examinations of the soil in the root zone to determine the amount of soil moisture remaining. A soil auger or a sharpshooter can be used to obtain the soil sample and the rooting depth of the crop can also be checked as the season progresses.

Don't overlook the importance of soil fertility in successful cotton irrigation as optimum yields are produced when soil fertility and soil moisture are balanced, says Keese. See your local county agricultural agent for more information on cotton irrigation and while there get a copy of b-896, "Texas Guide for Growing Irrigated Cotton."

Special Week Announced By Marshal Jones

This is the time of the year when burglars and prowlers have easy "pickin'" said W. W. Jones, today. Most citizens will soon be going off on week-ends or vacations and virtually abandoning their homes to burglars.

June 30 through July 6 has been declared by the City police of Dimmitt as Burglary Prevention Week, a period during which Chief W. W. Jones hopes to make all homeowners more aware of the precautions they may take to frustrate the attempts of would-be burglars this summer.

The unconcerned and careless attitude of many was largely responsible for the burglaries committed in our city last year. Although most people didn't intentionally invite intruders to ransack their home, they might just as well have hung up a sign saying, "no one's home, burglars welcome!"

A stroll around your neighborhood any day will tell you at a glance who's away; their porches will be cluttered with circulars; an accumulation of milk bottles on the stoop; an unkempt lawn; and empty garage with the door open; or a bulging mailbox. Tip-offs that'll broadcast "no one's home" to anyone canvassing the neighborhood. In the evening, most empty hom-

Taylor Arrested For Panhandling

Odin A. Taylor was arrested by City Marshal Jones Wednesday, June 12, for panhandling.

Taylor was bumming nickles and dimes off people with the sad story about his wife being sick in Plainview and not having enough money to reach her said officer Jones.

He made the mistake of asking the chief of police and city judge for money according to Jones. They shook him down and found $12.

He was put in city jail and fined $20 for panhandling.

Rickman Picked Up For Offences

City policeman Fred Moulton arrested Charles F. Rickman this week who was charged with operating a motor vehicle without drivers license, leaving scene of accident, and running off without paying for gas.

Dimmitt '66' Inc. called Jones when Rickman drove off without paying for gasoline purchased. Marshal Jones called for help to catch the man.

Policeman Moulton and Sheriff Cartwright joined in the search and arrested Rickman in the flats, east of town. Moulton brought him to city jail.

Before his arrest, Rickman was stopped at red light on corner of Bedford and Broadway. Mrs. Bryce Dowell pulled up behind him to stop for the light. Rickman put his car into reverse instead of the proper low and backed into Mrs. Dowell's car. About $30 damages were recorded.

Police officers found Rickman and his car in a ditch east of town. According to Marshal Jones, Rickman has been in the pen for seven years on a charge of burglary.

He was charged $75 in city court and transferred to county jail with a charge of DWI.

es can be spotted too; just look for the dark houses. It's a known fact, light is one of the best deterrents to crime, yet most homeowners go out for an evening and leave their homes completely dark. Or, they'll go off for a weekend or vacation and leave the same light burning day and night. No light at all, or the same light burning continuously is good giveaway "no one is home."

A simple, but effective means of having light in your home every evening, is by connecting an automatic timing device to one or two lamps. Such a timer will turn a lamp "on" early in the evening, then turn it "off" several hours later. With lights turning on and off during the evening hours it'll give the appearance someone is home and may avert a possible burglary attempt!

W. W. Jones went on to say, homes and apartments account for more than four of every ten burglaries. By observing a few simple precautionary steps, you can reduce the possibility of a burglar selecting your dwelling as his target next time you're away:

1. Connect a lamp to an automatic timer to turn lights in the home on and off each evening.
2. Close and lock all doors, including porch, basement and garage. Use pin-tumbler cylinder locks on outside entrances and safety latches on the windows.
3. Be sure all screens are fastened from the inside.
4. Never leave valuables lying around; keep them in a safety deposit box.

And if you're leaving for a week-end or longer, W. W. Jones also suggests:

5. Notify your police department when you'll be leaving and how long you expect to be away.
6. Cancel all deliveries, such as the milk, laundry, cleaning, etc. Also, be sure to discontinue the newspaper or arrange to have it sent to your vacation address.
7. Have a neighbor, or your post-office hold all mail until you return.
8. Arrange with a friend to mow the lawn and sweep your sidewalk once a week. Also ask him if he'll pick up any circulars or handbills that may be left on your porch.
9. Leave your shades and blinds as you normally do; closed blinds as you normally do; closed blinds keep the sun out, but also make an effective screen for the burglar.
10. Never advertise your departure with an item in the local paper. Give the story about your vacation to the newspapers after you've returned.

There is no such thing as a "burglar proof" home, said W. W. Jones. But, he went on to say, there are steps that everyone can take to keep the burglar's activity to a minimum. By following the suggestions listed above, you'll be helping to protect your home whenever you're away.

Naman Speaks To Haskell Farmers

Jay Naman, Texas Farmers Union state president, told members and guests of the Haskell County Farmers Union at a meeting in Haskell last night (Wednesday, June 19) that:

County Farmers Union at a meeting in Haskell last night (Wednesday, June 19) that:

"All of the farm income gains and reduced costs to government accomplished during 1961 and 1962 could be lost if the Congress accepts the proposals of state and national Farm Bureau leadership to repeal the feed grain program recently passed. The effort to do this is cleverly hidden in the small print of other legislation, which Farm Bureau is supporting as a substitute for the certificate wheat plan defeated in referendum.

"Besides seriously crippling chances for desperately needed cotton legislation by contributing to the defeat of the wheat program, the Texas Farm Bureau joins its national leadership in opposing all proposed cotton legislation except that part of one bill that reduces price supports and increases acreage. It turns its back on the Cooley Bill presently being backed by all segments of the cotton industry, and which is considered the legislation upon which there is sufficient grower and processor agreement that it might pass the Congress.

"Farmers Union has testified in behalf of both the Cooley Bill in the House of Representatives and the Talmadge Bill in the Senate. These bills will remove the inequity in price that has prevented domestic mills from competing effectively with foreign cotton, allowing more cotton to be consumed domestically. This will in turn enable us to maintain the present acreage, and keep the price supports at current levels. The Farm Bureau proposals will reduce grower income, move cotton from the traditional growing areas, and eventually result in a reduction of acres in these areas.

"Embracing again the discredited programs of the Benson Administration, Farm Bureau is seeking lower prices in the form of a sliding scale, along with the soil bank scourge that previously ravaged small towns and rural communities. So as to protect its friends in the grain storage business, Farm Bureau sees to it in its proposals that all grain will be carefully insulated in storage facilities and kept there at the taxpayers' expense and the storage man's profit.

Sterile Flies Now Are Fed

A new wrinkle has been added in the battle to eradicate screwworms from the Southwest. Sterile flies reared and sexually sterilized in a plant near Mission are now fed prior to being released from airplanes over large portions of the five-state eradication area.

Entomologists have found that feeding gives the flies a better chance for survival after being released and results in larger numbers of vigorous flies available for the program.

A small paper cup containing a cotton ball and corn syrup is placed inside each carton at the same time the box is filled with sterilized pupae. After the flies have emerged, they can feed until they are released.

Experts list these advantages to fly-feeding:

- (1) More flies are alive at release time, since cartons can be held an extra day giving pupae more time to emerge.
- (2) Flies live longer after release and are better able to find shelter and food in nature.
- (3) Fewer flies are lost during periods when unfavorable weather does not permit serial release and flies may have to be held for several days.
- (4) Also during cold weather, it is possible to hold the flies until they are ready to mate, while otherwise many probably would not survive that long in nature.

Eradication officials are so pleased with the results of fly-feeding tests they are exploring means to completely mechanize the operation. They feel the initial expense could be paid off within a few months through savings in man-hours and reduced loss of sterile flies.

Mr. Devaney owes the membership of the Texas farm Bureau the duty to explain his shocking position on farm programs. I believe that this position is completely foreign to the thinking of the rank and file membership of his organization. I wonder if Mr. Devaney has made clear to his members what he is proposing as a substitute for the certificate plan for what defeated in the referendum?

"I feel sure that our friends in the news media will cooperate in providing facilities for Statewide coverage of these debates, and I only hope that my past disappointing experience in getting farm bureau to meet me in a public forum will not be the case at this critical time."

Deadline Draws Near For "Mike" Test Applications

Last call for applications for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's new micronaire cotton reading service was founded today by W. K. Palmer, officer-in-charge of the July 1 is the deadline for filing applications.

Farmers who want this "Mike" testing service, should be sure their ginners have filed an application for it, says Mr. Palmer.

FORD GALAXIE 500/XL SPORTS HARDTOP

IF YOU KNEW WHAT THIS "CAR KILLER" KNOWS...YOU'D BE DRIVING A SOLID, SILENT SUPER TORQUE FORD

This steel-edged pothole is probably the world's toughest test of a car's suspension. We drive into this car killer at 30 mph, locking our brakes as we go so the wheels can't roll through the hole as they normally would. The car slams against the far edge of the hole with such impact that it literally bounds out.

If you added up the cumulative effect of all the jars and jolts your car's suspension system experiences in years of normal driving, it wouldn't match the impact of one trip through the hole. Yet—a Ford must run this test three times to prove its strength.

How can a Ford take it? Because Ford's front suspension has extra beef in spindles, springs, suspension arms—in fact, it's about 20 pounds heavier than the front suspension of our principal competitor's car.

We don't expect you to abuse your car the way we do our test cars. But, however you drive, you'll welcome the extra strength of a total performance Ford. Ford strength is tested in a thousand ways in Ford's laboratories and proving grounds—and in open competition in the world's toughest rallies and stock car events.

Look at Ford's astounding record in open competition this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside, and Atlanta 500's, the World 600 at Charlotte, N.C., and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance—the best combination of strength, balance, precision control and road-doling suspension—could roll up so many wins.

Before you buy any new car, test-drive the solid, silent Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery: if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance...total performance.

DISREGARDING DISREGARDS

Governor Connally says the Senate-House appropriations conference committee, which came up with the state budget bill that he had protested so vigorously, never bothered to look at his budget recommendation.

Connally claims this was one reason higher education was "short changed" in the appropriations bill.

In a recent meeting of the Legislative Budget Board Lt. Gov. Preston Smith said the same sort of situation, were in legislators disregard governor's recommendation, could apply to the Governor's Committee to Study Education Beyond the Highschool. (No legislators serve on the 25-member committee.

So the Legislative Budget Board, made up of State Senators and Representatives, set up its own college study committee, and ordered its staff to study problems of financing the state's 20 colleges.

Sen. Galloway Calhoun of Tyler, who asked for the board study, said he was afraid the state might run private colleges out of business by creating more tax-supported colleges. He also said that students should bear "a more reasonable portion of the cost" of their college education.

INDUSTRIAL PICTURE LOOKS GOOD

Texas fell from the second place to fourth among the Top Ten States in Industrial Development last month.

But B. R. Shelton, assistant director of the Texas Industrial Commission said the report does not show a clear picture.

Actually, says Shelton, industry is developing in Texas at a more rapid pace than it did in 1962. At that time the state finished third among the 50 states contending for new industries.

In the month preceding the report 24 new plants were opened in 15 cities. These included small towns like Georgetown, Refugio, Littlefield and Lewisville, as well as metropolitan cities.

DEATH KNELL FOR BRACERO PROGRAM—Congress killed the Bracero program and set a burial date of December 31, when it refused to extend the agreement to import Mexican farm laborers for two more years.

It may help agriculture workers in other states, but Henry LeBlanc, Director of the Texas Employment Commission's farm labor division, says it won't help Texas' farm workers.

It might even hurt local workers, LeBlanc allowed, "because the Bracero program has kept the pay rate up."

Absence of the Bracero competition, LeBlanc explained, could result in lower wages for this state's workers.

It is rumored that Colorado lawmakers plan to introduce a bill to extend the Bracero program there for one year. Purpose is to allow more time for readjustment of the farm labor system.

The Wright Slant On Washington

By JIM WRIGHT

THE STRENGTH of a society," wrote Ruskin, "may be measured by the amount of persuasion that can be used, as opposed to the amount of force that is necessary."

The President, deeply disturbed over the turn of events in Birmingham and Jackson, is launching a massive effort to employ the persuasive powers of his office and thus avoid the use of force in the troubled turmoil over civil rights demonstration and the brooding threat of violence which lies just beneath the surface.

In a succession of meetings, he has appealed directly to business, religious and municipal leaders and officials to substitute voluntary actions of good will and thus keep the initiative from passing to hot-heads on both sides who would sacrifice the tranquility and unity of the nation upon the altar of their own passions and prejudices. Any President, when sworn to uphold and preserve the nation's laws, faces a dreadful and even agonizing choice when confronted with a situation of this type. No President has ever really wanted to use force to compel compliance with the law; yet about half our Presidents have had to do so.

GEORGE Washington on two occasions had to use Federal troops to put down organized civil disobedience. He dispatched 15,000 armed troops into Pennsylvania to stifle the "Whisky Rebellion" when spirit-makers revolted against paying a Federal tax. Again, he sent Federal forces into Massachusetts where a rag-tag "army" of 2,000 farmers and war veterans were trying to close the courts until relief measures could be voted for Revolutionary War veterans.

Andrew Jackson in 1832 put 35,000 troops on the alert when South Carolina proclaimed a doctrine of "nullification" attempting to set aside Federal law. In 1875, President Grant sent forces into Louisiana where democrats had unlawfully seized power in the State Legislature, physically deposing a Republican Speaker of the House.

Hayes sent Federal troops against railroad strikers in five States, and Grover Cleveland followed this example in 1894 during the infamous Pullman strike in Chicago. Wilson did the same when a steel strike in Gary, Indiana, erupted in violence.

MOST of us remember the cry that went up across the land when Herbert Hoover called out the army to burn shacks and tents and disperse with tear-gas, bayonets and nightsticks the desperate and hungry World War II "bonus march" veterans who had encamped along Anacostia Flats South of the Capitol in Washington. The troops were commanded by a General named Douglas MacArthur and a Major named Dwight D. Eisenhower.

These are bitter pages from our history. None of us recalls any of them with any pride. When law and order break down, democracy suffers and its enemies are comforted. In a nation which guarantees every citizen the rights of due process, there is no excuse for violence. Those who perpetrate it misunderstand the nature of freedom which also implies a willing acceptance of the law even when we don't like it, and a desire to protect the rights of others, even when we disagree with them.

THE Russians have succeeded in sending a space probe to the moon, but they have not been able to build tractors their farmers can depend on. While they have assembled a 100-megaton bomb, they haven't manufactured reliable dental drills to fix people's teeth.

They have put two manned space ships into almost identical orbits with breathtaking precision, but some of their everyday machine tools are less accurate than those built 30 years ago. Joseph W. Gwern senior research specialist for the library of Congress concludes in a recently completed study that the generally poor quality of consumer goods in the Soviet Union results from the Kremlin's policy of devoting the country's best brains and materials to weapons and space projects while largely ignoring commonplace items that would make life easier and better for the Russian people.

Damaging Fires Extinguished By Volunteer Firemen

Two fires Thursday kept Dimmitt firemen busy. Firemen were alerted Thursday morning at 10:45 of a fire two miles west of Dimmitt on the Iris Touchstone farm.

Slight damage to a boxcar was reported. It was used for storage purposes. A farm hand said he was burning weeds near the box car and it caught on fire.

About 3 p.m. Thursday, fireman were called four and half miles west of Dimmitt to Clarence Bearden's place farmed by Bill Kitchens. A butane tank had exploded sending flames high as telephones poles according to reports.

A farm hand was filling a flame cultivator with butane when the explosion occurred. It was caused by pilots on flame cultivator.

Mr. Kitchens drove the tractor and flame cultivator away from the flaming tank to avoid severe damage. Approximate damage was $350.

Expansion is inevitable when you have a program folks want. Flame Cultivation Research has been placed on a year round basis in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Oh, Yes! businessmen in the valley have raised the funds. Area covered: Corpus Christi south. Sites at Russelltown and Sterdiger farm north of Donna. Field days 2 to 5 p.m. June 13th Sterdiger farm north of Donna, June 11 at Russelltown.

COTTON AND GRAIN SORGHUM TESTS:

Jack Parks was in the Valley from October until April, this season now back at Halfway. Don Staggs moved to Harlingen for year round field research in Cotton and Grain Sorghum; vegetable research is in winter season.

GROW A CROP WITH 3% LESS WATER:

Dr. Gohlke's research on holding soil temperature higher and using hormones to develop a higher quality of cotton with use of much less water attracting lots of nation wide interest. Won't it be great if these experiments prove successful!!

NEW SPRINKLER SYSTEM:

We are to receive new irrigation sprinkler equipment this year, Grady Goodpasture the donor. Thanks. We believe it will pay off in water saving on tight soils—Do you? Lets find out!

BENCH LEVELLING VALUABLE:

Yes, its true! James Valliant says in three years of research, benches produce an average of $22.69 an acre more income than on sloping land with Grain Sorghum, and $21.50 more on cotton. It took 50 per cent more water on slope, an awful lot of good fertile soil is lost by irrigating down hill. After 6 years, benches have all been reworked, drainage on research farm improved. Thanks to Plains Machinery, Lubbock and Amarillo for loan of maintainer for over a month.

PROMOTIONS:

We have had a lot of promotions: Don Staggs from Field Assistant to Laboratory Assistant in Flame Cultivation now stationed at Harlingen, Tex.; Charles Roson, Field Assistant to Laboratory Assistant Farm, working with Dr. Gohlke in new Killgore Laboratory Billy Gene Warren, Assistant Farm Foreman now also Laboratory Assistant working with Delbert Langford on fertilizer research Dale Reeves who joined our staff March 1st, was promoted from the farm crew to Field Assistant in Flame Cultivation at the Foundation.

SOYBEAN FARM TESTS:

Eight new varieties developed by the Foundation are to be tested and compared with the Lee and Hill, making ten altogether. Tests will be near Farnsworth, Dalhart, Hereford and Dimmitt, between Tula and Kress, and East of Muleshoe. Two test locations pending at Ralls and Littlefield. Barry Love and Paul Belcher working with farmers who have joined in conducting the tests.

The annual field meeting of the Texas Great Plains Conservation Program Committee will be held in the Pecos area on June 26 and 27. A business meeting will be held on Wednesday afternoon followed by a tour of the Texas Experiment Station near Pecos. Then on Thursday farms and ranches under CPCP contract will be visited.

Load up, Chevy II Novas 400 6-Passenger Station Wagon

Chevy II Wagons— The heart of a suitcase. The rustle of a road map. There's something about one of these spruce, surprisingly spacious wagons that can turn even the routine preparations into a happy part of your trip.

Take that old bugaboo of packing, for instance. No bother. With the kind of room you get in that easy-loading cargo compartment, you can just about toss things in any old highway and come out with space to spare. The load won't dampen the spirits of the spunky 6-cylinder engine either. It just hums along passing up gas pumps (there's also a choice of an even thrifter 4 in most models) like it didn't have a care in the world. Fact is, it has far fewer cares than most engines—being built with the special knack Chevrolet engineers have for dependability and ease of maintenance.

Like a car with ginger—without a lot of needless gingerbread? Your dealer's got a full line of Chevy II's to pick from. Why not drop down and check now while the trading and the traveling are especially good?

Jaycee Newsletter

Last Thursday the Jaycees were very fortunate to have Lewis Hendrick from Boy's Ranch present a program to the organization. Part of the Program was the showing of the film 'A Shirttail To Hang To'. Following the film, the guest speaker discussed the operation of the Ranch and some of the problems encountered. This program was very well received by the club since one of their main projects each year is the collection and delivery of Grain sorghum to Boy's Ranch. The local Jaycees have collected and delivered over 300,000 pounds of Grain in the last two years. Credit for this goes to the farmers, merchants and citizens of Dimmitt and surrounding areas of Castro County who gave so wholeheartedly. It is planned to continue this program again this year.

Plans are now underway to set up and operate a 'Labor Day Rest Stop' for passing Motorists on Labor Day of this year. Purpose of the Rest Stop is to have available Coffee and Cold Drinks for Passing Motorists. By having this available, it will encourage people to stop, rest a few minutes, get a cup of coffee, and then be ready for more of the perilous driving that faces the American Holiday Motorist. This will also help advertise our town and give people a chance to ask questions about 'The Grain Sorghum Capitol of the Nation' rather than have them 'just passing through'. John Stokes will be in charge of the project and has already begun to lay plans for these rest stops.

Approximately 10 local Jaycees plan to attend the Summer Area I Meeting in Pampa on July 13 and 14. During this meeting, workshops will be held to assist local chapters in the operation of their organizations both internally and in Community Service Projects. The Pampa Jaycees are hosting this event and over 300 Jaycees are expected to attend from over the Panhandle of Texas.

The city Golf Tournament is drawing nearer. We encourage all golfers, good and not so good to enter. You will be entered in a flight with competition that is just your caliber.

Jaycee President
