How One Book Helped Bring on World War

A great many different kinds of men help to shape history—inventors, soldiers, statesmen, economists, and industrialists. But strangest and most far-reaching of all is the contribution occasionally made by the man who writes a book.

The publishing house of Little, Brown & Co., in Boston, celebrating its centennial this year, and in its records there is the story of how one man—whom most Americans, by this time, have completely forgotten—helped to bring on the World War.

This man was Rear-Admiral Alfred Thayer Mahan, of the U. S. Navy. He died in 1914 just as the war was getting under way; but it was back in 1890, when he was a captain, that he brought out a book called "The Influence of Sea Power on History."

Now here was a book to which the ordinary reading public paid little attention. It was not a "popular" work; if the average reader passed it up in favor of the latest novel, he could hardly be blamed. But it had a tremendous influence.

Captain Mahan's thesis was that sea power was the all-important factor in a nation's rise to greatness. Control of the sea won wars, he asserted, even when the army got the credit. Napoleon's grand army, he remarked, never even saw the British fleet—but in the end it was the British fleet, and not the armies of the coalition, that caused Napoleon's downfall.

That influence of this book was world wide. It was quickly translated into German, French, Russian, Spanish, Italian, and Japanese. In England, it was hailed as the Bible of imperialism. The German kaiser ordered every officer in his navy to read it; the Japanese mikado did the same. All across the globe this book persuaded soldiers and statesmen that they could buy national security only at the price of big navies.

So the great, world-wide naval race that led up to 1914 was begun. There were other factors involved, of course; but it is hardly going too far to say that it was Mahan who touched it off. He provided the rationalization of this impulse toward bigger naval armaments; he it was who persuaded the nations of the earth that they needed more battleships.

In 1889 the United States had no battleships. In 1898 it had four afloat and eight more under construction. England's naval budget had gone up from $65,000,000 a year to $160,000,000. Germany's had doubled. And the great powers as a group—England, America, Russia, Germany, Austria, France, Italy, and Japan—which had spent a total of $190,000,000 on their navies in 1889, were spending $835,000,000 by 1913.

To say that Mahan caused the World War would be absurd. To say that he started the naval race which helped cause the war is no more than the truth.

So much can be accomplished by a genius who sits down to write a book!

The Terre Haute, Ind., policemen demoted to "main-tain harmony in the department" probably sang off key in the station quartet.

The unmarried English woman who left $75,000 to the Canadian Mounties probably admired them for their ability to get their man.

DESDEMONA

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Welder and son, John, who moved to Mississippi about a year ago, after having lived here a long time, stopped for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Maltby one day last week on their way to California. Their many friends were delighted to see them again.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Powers and son, Jack, and their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Browning of Alameda, drove to DeLeon Sunday and spent the day with Mrs. Jim Duncan and family. Mrs. Duncan is a sister of Mrs. Powers.

Following the plans for all Southern Methodist Churches, the Desdemona church had a pie supper at the old Masonic Hall, Friday night as the closing feature of the first stretch of the Bishops' Crusade, a movement to extend over a period of two years. One of the main objects of the Crusade is to raise enough money to wipe out the indebtedness of the Board of Missions incurred during the years of the depression, when it was a question of calling the missionaries home or the mission board assuming a large debt. Up to ten days ago over one hun-red thousand dollars had been raised by only seventeen thousand of that amount had been raised west of the Mississippi River. The donations at the pie supper Friday night amounted to nearly $10,000. Mrs. Dink Fulcher of Stephenville visited Mrs. S. T. Stover and family Sunday afternoon. The two friends had grown up together but had not seen each other in twenty years, so it was a great pleasure for them to be together. Mrs. Fulcher was accompanied by her married daughter from Dallas. Mr. and Mrs. Preston Sparks accompanied by Jack Powers, Earl Parks and Jim Hal Parks, drove to Gorman Wednesday night. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis and their daughter, Mrs. Aaron Henslee, who is visiting them, drove to Brownwood Thursday and stayed until Friday night, while Mr. Davis was being treated at the hospital there. Then on Sunday they went to Cisco, where Mr. Da-

Bedford, Miss Valla Whitworth, and little Charles Bragg, who was presented with his certificate of life membership.

Mrs. A. C. Moore and Mrs. J. H. Rushing, Sr., were among the large number of Desdemona people who went to Gorman Tuesday night of last week to hear the Desdemona glee club sing several numbers.

Mrs. Nettie Loring of Stephenville visited her sister, Mrs. T. L. Acrea and family the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Stark and baby, Jane Anne, came home Sunday after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stark, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Everett, at Olden, since Friday.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Wright of DeLeon were here Tuesday night on professional business and also visiting with old friends and neighbors.

Rev. and Mrs. H. N. Balderree, accompanied by Mrs. S. T. Stover, drove to Ranger on business Wednesday.

Mrs. C. A. Skipping and baby, Curtis, accompanied by Mrs. Ma-born Wilcoxson, drove to Ranger on business Wednesday.

The Desdemona Glee club and the leader, Jack Enoch, went to Gorman on Tuesday night of last week and gave a program. The glee club won first place in the county contest and then went to Denton and won third place in the state contest. Mr. Enoch has a splendid reputation as an instructor and leader of choral clubs, and Desdemona has been quite fortunate in having him as one of the high school faculty this year.

Saturday night at the high school in the home economics rooms, a banquet was given honoring the pupils of the 7th grade who will graduate from the grammar school in a few weeks. The banquet was planned and arrangements for it were made by Principal Preston Sparks, who was assisted by the other teachers of the grammar school, and also by Mmes. Wiley Powers, Roy Ashburn, A. C. Moore and Ed Hanson. The banquet motif was the circus and it proved attractive and amusing. There were thirty-five present beside the teachers and the four mothers who assisted in serving.

Mrs. Cliff McCoy and little son, Dale, of McCamey, have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hanson, the past week. Mrs. McCoy has been suffering from sinus trouble and has been going to Gorman for treatment.

Mrs. Olive Ayres had improved enough to be able to be brought

AFRAID to Love

By MARION WHITE

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JOAN BARRETT, heroine, secretary to John Hendry.
JOHN HENDRY, missing investment head.
BOB ANDREWS, Hendry's junior partner and Joan's fiance.
SYBIL HENDRY, heroine's sister, Joan's rival in love.
PHILIP HENDRY, Sybil's brother.
DOROTHY STARKE, Joan's girlhood friend.
CHARLES VORTON, California mining promoter.

Yesterday Joan attends Sybil's tea and is horror-stricken to meet the same Dorothy Starke whom she had last seen in Seattle seven years ago.

CHAPTER IX

BACK once more in the lonely confines of her room at the hotel, Joan faced the end of her dreams. Hopeless and defeated, she sat on the narrow bed, and looked out across the dreary rooftops.

In her ears, Sybil's voice, honeyed and soothing, still rang, and Joan could sense the studied sympathy it would hold as she repeated the story to Bob. But Sybil's eyes would remain cold through the telling of it, and in her heart there would be no compassion for the girl who loved him.

Joan did not blame Sybil. Long ago she had ceased to blame people for drawing away from her; it was not their fault that they could not understand. Neither did she feel any anger toward Dorothy Starke. Dorothy's only sin had been her genuine pleasure in seeing an old friend. She could not have known what misery her presence brought to light.

If, as she had noticed Joan's confusion, the thought did occur to her, she had responded splendidly. It was Dorothy who covered up the matter of the broken cocktail glass, insisting that she herself had knocked it from Joan's hand. It was Dorothy, too, who had kept the conversation gay and meaningless, until the time Joan found courage to tear herself away.

SYBIL had been delighted to learn that Dorothy had known Joan in the past. There was no end to the questions she asked. They had lived in Seattle? Strange, we thought Joan came from Chicago. . . . In school together? Eastman High School? How very, very interesting. . . . To think you had to find each other right here in New York, after so many years. . . . how many years?

She recalled Sybil's clever maneuver to detain Dorothy after the others had left. Dorothy had followed Joan upstairs, suggesting that they walk to the station together. But downstairs, Sybil sought out Dorothy's cousin. "Won't you and Dorothy wait just a moment, Barbara?" she heard her suggest. "I have a little gift I want you to enjoy in Florida. . . . Just a minute after the others leave?"

Joan could picture her, inquiring into details, drawing Dorothy out delicately, guessing, confirming. . . . By this time, she knew everything—the whole horrible story.

"My reprieve is up," Joan thought. "I've had two years. . . . two perfect years."

She got up, walked to the window and pulled down the shade. Perhaps it was better, getting it all over quickly like this. At least she was spared the suspense of wondering, and eventually, the agony of a last parting with Bob. It was easier now, while he was far away.

She would write him a note and explain. . . . No, she could not do that. She could never explain in a way that he would understand. . . . Let him hear the story from Sybil. He would, anyway. She would merely say goodbye. Bob would love her, despite whatever the world said. She knew that. She knew that, as she knew the sun would rise again on the morrow. He would stand by her side against the world. But deep within his own heart, the words would ring: "Her father killed a man. It's in her blood; he would watch them too, with suspicion and fear, wondering if the curse had been handed down to them."

No, she could not ask Bob to live through that shadow. . . . SHE took her bags from the closet, and slowly began emptying bureau drawers. She did not have much to pack. Her mother and she had never acquired the habit of accumulating things.

Where should she go this time? Boston? Somehow she felt afraid of Boston. Its people were interested in families and backgrounds; they would ask questions, too. Philadelphia? Philadelphia was the city of Friends. Surely there would be a place for her among them. . . .

With a sudden shrillness, the telephone on her wall rang, and its echo jangled through the room, filling her mind with new dread. She stood still in the center of the room, her arms filled with clothes she had just taken from the closet. Who would it be? Who could it be, but Sybil? And now she did not want to talk to her. She did not want to explain, to plead with her for understanding. She could not feel safe with her secret locked in Sybil's breast. For Sybil could not remain true to a trust; her eyes were too cold, too uncompromising. She might promise, she might pledge, but she would keep the secret only as long as it suited her to do so.

Joan tried to shut her ears to the phone's insistent ringing. She would not answer it.

It was not Sybil Hendry, however. For Sybil, at that moment, was pacing up and down her own room and silver boudoir, waiting impatiently for the call she had put through to Philip in Chicago.

TWENTY minutes later, her brother's voice came to her across the miles.

"Hello, Philip. Any news in Chicago?"

"Not a thing." His tone was discouraging. "This is a wild goose chase, Syb. The girl worked with Ward & Cleaver, oil report. I checked on that. Got good reports on her, too. She lived at a girls' club—the old matron even remembered her there. But beyond that, I'm stuck."

Sybil's thoughts raced beyond Chicago.

"Philip," she said excitedly, "I found out something today. Forget Chicago. Go out to Seattle, will you? She lived in Seattle—and went to Eastman High School there, seven years ago."

"Wait a minute! I'll write that down. Eastman High School, you say?"

"Yes. That gives you something more definite to work on, doesn't it?"

"I hope it will. At any rate you're getting closer to facts."

"Philip, have you enough money?"

"Enough to get me to Seattle. I'll wire you from there."

"Please do, Philip. I'll be anxious. Bob's out of town, and I'd like to get something definite before he returns."

"O.K. How's the old man?"

"Just fine. I've told him about your splendid new position—selling bonds. He's beaming over it. I know you can talk him up to a new roadster when you get back."

Philip chuckled. "Good work, Syb. I'll write him a note from here promoting myself. What sort of bonds am I selling?"

"Oh, I don't know. Ask Bill Vorton's. . . ."

Dionne Quins Thrive on Oatmeal

No money or effort has been spared in providing the five "Dionnelets" with the best, and only the best, of everything. And, of course, one of the most important considerations from the day of their birth has been food.

Oatmeal has been the Quins' cereal, because oatmeal with milk contains an abundance of body-building minerals, muscle-building protein, energy-making carbohydrates, and Vitamin B for keeping fit.

Food editors and medical authorities have proved that Vitamin B is essential for healthy childhood. It is Nature's best safeguard against those dangerous enemies of childhood—nervousness, constipation, and poor appetite due to lack of that vitamin in the diet. So the Quins are every day growing healthier and stronger, eating Quaker Oats.

OATMEAL GRIDDLE CAKES ARE A FAMILY-FAVORITE

King Alfred and his hot cakes take a back seat whenever the clever cook of today serves Oatmeal Griddle Cakes "hot off the iron." These oatmeal cakes have a mellow tenderness and delicacy all their own, and invariably the plates come back with shouts for more.

You'll need the following ingredients:

1 1-2 cups left-over cooked Quaker or Mother's Oats, 3 tps. baking powder, 1 tsp. salt, 1 egg, 2 tbsps. melted fat, 1 1-4 cups milk, 2 tbsps. sugar, 1 1-2 cups Quaker or Mother's flour.

Mash cereal until free from lumps. Add well beaten egg and the milk. Sift the dry ingredients together and add to the liquid. When well blended stir in the melted fat. Cook on a hot griddle

Mummies Are Found Near Alaskan Coast

By United Press
 WASHINGTON.—America's own mummies to compete with those famous pharaohs of Egypt the Smithsonian institution's annual report revealed.

Dr. Alex Hrdlicka, world famous anthropologist, brought from the ancient graves of the Aleutian Islands, off the coast Alaska, a large collection strange mummies, as well as stone and ivory cultural objects.

The mummies are now being studied and findings will be leased later.

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayer, Austin, Texas.

Q. What organization initiated the movement for the Confederate Home at Austin?
 A. The John R. Hood Camp of Confederate Veterans, at Austin, was chartered Nov. 28, 1884, mainly to provide a home for disabled Confederate soldiers, with the following incorporators: W. M. Hunter, Joe H. Stewart, R. L. Walker, James M. Goggin, D. N. Robinson, Charles H. Powell, Fred Carleton, J. R. Holland, and J. H. Ingram. The trustees named in the charter were Fred Carleton, A. M. Jackson, B. Melaskey, T. F. Pinckney, W. M. Brown, Richard Coke, Joe H. Stewart, J. D. Sayers, Lindsay Walker, Charles H. Powell, James M. Goggin and Val C. Giles.

Q. Where was the first convention of delegates representing all Texas held and when?
 A. At San Felipe in October, 1832 on a call made by the alcaldes of the municipality of Austin, issued Aug. 22, 1832, for the people of each town, precinct and civil district in Texas to elect five delegates to meet at San Felipe. This convention created a central and subcommittees, and the central committee was authorized to call a convention of delegates from all Texas at any time and place it might deem proper. The next convention met at San Felipe, April 1, 1833.

Q. What, briefly, was the empresario system?
 A. The empresario or contractor, applied for and was granted permission to settle a stated number of colonists upon specified public lands for stipulated considerations and within a fixed time, for which the contractor was to be granted a name acreage when 100 families had been located, but in no case was he to be allowed a premium in lands for settling more than 800 families. A small payment on easy terms was required from each settler to cover locating expenses. It was under this system that most colonists from the United States were brought to Texas.

Songs Texans Sing

Know the songs that Texans sing—songs of the Texas ranches, the Texas trails, the Texas firebrands, the state song, the University song, the song "Will You Come to the Bower?" that inspired the lyrics of Sam Jackson, negro spirituals.

The TEXAS SONG BOOK contains 32 pages of specially selected songs for Texas people, Texas homes, Texas schools, all chosen by a committee of Texas musicians as popular songs of the state that all should know. Mailed postpaid for only 25 cents.

WHY MAKE MATTERS WORSE

If You Do Not Believe in the Sale of Malt Beverages as Now Dispensed LEGALLY in Eastland County?

DO YOU THINK THAT IT WOULD BETTER MATTERS BY PROHIBITING SALE OF SAME, AS NOW DISPENSED BY TAXPAYING LEGALLY OPERATED PLACES OF BUSINESS WHO PAY STATE, FEDERAL, COUNTY & CITY TAXES AMOUNTING TO SEVERAL THOUSAND DOLLARS ANNUALLY, AND EMPLOY HUNDREDS OF WELL PAID EMPLOYEES, AND RENT HUNDREDS OF BUSINESS BUILDINGS AT PRICES ABOVE THE AVERAGE FOR LIKE BUILDINGS.

DO YOU THINK IT WILL BETTER THE PEOPLE OF EASTLAND COUNTY TO STOP ALL THIS SOURCE OF REVENUE AND GIVE SAME TO OUR BORDER COUNTIES OF CALLAHAN, PALO PINTO, SHACKELFORD AND STEPHENS?

Please bear in mind that if prohibited in this county we will lose all this revenue, all this rent, all this pay roll and GAIN WHAT? This is what will happen: The citizens of this county will consume no less malt beverage than they are now consuming, because, with our modern highways and means of transportation this county will be amply supplied by Consumers going eight or ten miles northeast or west where he or she may purchase same and bring to his or her home for his or her use LEGALLY or by BOOT-

LEGGERS, peddling same the entire length and breadth of this county ILLEGALLY, without paying one cent revenue or taxes to help pay the expense of county or city government, and this county and the cities will be out thousands of dollars trying to prevent the BOOTLEGGERS from operating. But it has been the history of dry counties where surrounded by wet counties, that, it was found impossible to prohibit sale, and, consumption was increased and taxes increased. IN FACT,

Matters Were Made Worse

It Has Been the HISTORY of GOVERNMENT and RELIGION SINCE TIME IMMEMORIAL that YOU CANNOT REFORM MAN by PROHIBITIVE LAWS More especially is this true in America today. The American people are liberty loving decendants of peoples who were groaning under oppressive prohibitive laws in the OLD WORLD—they faced the dangers of the unknown and came to America where they could worship GOD according to the dictates of their own conscience and establish a government where men were free—free from the hand of the oppressor and prohibitive laws—saying you can't do this and you can't do that—where men were taught to be good because it pays, to be good—and not because they were prohibited to be bad, or suffer the consequences.

Trying to Make Men Good by Fear Is Futile---Futile Indeed In America

“The Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave”

And we would not wish it otherwise, would you? So let's vote to keep men free as his Creator intended. Are we not taught by THEOLOGIANs, THAT MAN IS A FREE MORAL AGENT?

Home-Brew developed during prohibition, and is still extensively made in dry territories. This is not beer. Usually it is unpalatable, unwholesome and more intoxicating than any brewer would allow his beer to become.

Legal beer is the bootleggers worst enemy. You can regulate liquor but you can't legislate morals into people.

The best of beer is never more than 4% of alcohol by weight just what naturally ferments out of the grain.

When you attempt to restrain people beyond a certain point you will have violations and disrespect for law.

State revenue from the sale of beer in Texas alone, in 1935, amounted to $1,710,565.08. Counties and cities collected over $500,000 additional in license fees.

We have had beer for 6000 years and have never yet passed a law that changed human nature in the least, and never will.

The beer tax goes to the schools and to the old age pension fund. A vote to legalize beer is a vote for: Temperance, Employment, Business and Safety. Taxpayers, think seriously before deciding this question, for we sincerely believe that if you prohibit sale of malt beverages in this county the results would be—Eastland County would lose thousands of dollars in rents, thousands in payrolls, thousands in Revenue, and GAIN WHAT?

INCREASE IN YOUR TAXES, INCREASE IN LAW VIOLATIONS, MORE BOOTLEGGERS, LARGER RELIEF ROLLS AND LESS POPULATION!!!

Mr. and Mrs. Voter these are serious questions, so, be sure to vote and

TRADERS GROCERY WILL CELEBRATE REMODELING OF STORE ON SATURDAY

Traders Grocery and Market, one of the most progressive and important groceries of Ranger, will celebrate, Saturday, its formal re-opening after remodeling has been completed.
The store has been repainted throughout, with the meat counter being moved back to give more room to the display of groceries, and a partition has been removed to enlarge the store space. By the new arrangement much of the stock that formerly was kept in the storeroom can now be attractively displayed in the store.
New shelving has been added, giving more room for display purposes, also, and a new vegetable counter is to be installed as soon as it is received. It was hoped that it could be installed before the opening Saturday.
A new bread counter has been added, just to the rear of the checking department, which is well toward the front of the building.
The entire arrangement is designed to give more room for customers as well as to make all the merchandise more readily found.
Several representatives of nationally known manufacturers will be on hand all day Saturday to assist the regular employees and extras that will be employed for the day. These include representatives of Gold Metal Flour, Brown's Crackers and Cookies, Crystal White and Pete Brothers soaps, Swift & Company, which will have a big display of Par-dog

ADMIRATION - TRIPLE-SEALED IN "CELLOPHANE"

IT'S THE Cellophane THAT MAKES The Difference

She had been avoiding coffee put up in paper bags. But a friend was so enthusiastic about Admiration—"In the 'CELLOPHANE' bags, you know"—that she tried it.

She found it just as fresh and good as the coffee in glass jars and vacuum-packed cans . . . AND about 4c per pound less in price! Admiration's triple-sealed bags—inner wax lining, tough bond wrapper and moisture-proof outer jacket of Cellophane—plus fast truck delivery from roasting plant to your grocer, make Admiration in bags the ideal way to buy coffee. The thrifty housewife who demands full value for her money will appreciate the savings afforded by buying Admiration packed this way.

Admiration Coffee in bags comes in two grinds—Dripkut and Steel Cut—just as it does in vacuum-packed jars and slip-covered tin cans.

Pitching Duel Seen In Softball Game Here Thursday

BY CLOIS PHILLIPS
Another pitching duel matured last night at the Municipal Softball Field when the Lone Star men shut out the Montgomery ten, 4-0, behind the 2-hit pitching of Wayne Peterson.

Walter Cox, classy Montgomery Ward hurler, showed world's of stuff also, limiting the Starmen to 6 safe blows, striking out four, one of which was Evis Landers, clean-up clutter for the Lone Star. Cox whiffed Landers twice as well as Howell Foy, another Star slugger, once.

Peterson retired eight Ward batters via the strike-out route, second baseman Simpson being the only M. W. batter to nick him for a safe blow. Oscar (Charley Gehringer) Simpson banged out a clean single to start the contest but was forced out at second base. His second safety in the 4th frame proved to be futile also as Jimmy Phillips, scrappy M. W. backstop, popped out to retire the side with Simpson stranded on the "hot corner."

Collum fanned and Hicks was called out after Simpson was forced in the first frame. In the Lone Star half of the inning only five men faced Cox. Peterson stunned the next four Star batters to get 'em. Roy Russell hit safely in the fourth but failed to score.

The Ward men failed to solve Peterson's delivery again in their half of the 5th, going out in order. But in the Star half of the stanza, Smoot, burly maskman, belted a triple to right, Carter barely missing the catch. Peterson flew to Gray in shortfield, Smoot holding third. Smoot then scored as Charley Pace reached first on ters, Katherine and Marilyn, left this afternoon for Fort Worth, where they will be joined by another daughter, Miss Mavis Murray, student at the Hockaday school at Dallas, who this evening is among guests attending the Sophomore English class dinner party being staged at T. C. U. Mavis will return to Ranger with her mother for a week-end visit at home, Strawn road.

Mrs. Blanche Murray and daughter,

He's a Human Being

Being ugly was a blessing in disguise for Norman Grunsky, who, by popular vote was named the ugliest man on the North Texas State Teachers College campus. He was rewarded with an all expense date with the College's favorite co-ed.

Earnest's error. That was the first tally of the game. Lingle, whose double sunk Caddo the night before, 6-5, fled to Gray as Collum chucked out Yonkers at first.

In the M. W. half of the sixth frame Carter fanned, Davenport lined to face, and Simpson grounded to Landers. Landers then fanned, swinging for the second time, but Foy lashed a double to center, the third hit off Pitcher Cox. Alexander warped a two-bagger, counting Foy. Alexander marked when Earnest threw wide to the plate. Catcher Phillips threw Russell out at second, trying to steal. Simpson then went far back of the first base foul line to pull down Peterson's fly. Charley Whitefield, who batted for Turner, scored the play before.

Collum and Hicks struck out in a vain attempt to start a rally. Backstop Phillips popped to Foy at third, ending the melee.

The Caddo team had complete charge of the Junior College game in the opener. Cowart and Grounds, Caddo hurlers, whiffing 15 Rogers. College receiver being the only batter to hit Cowart on Grounds, nicking each for one safe blow, counting the only run. Rogers' blows were the only hits allowed by the Caddo chunkers.

The Caddomen rapped Stevens, R. J. C. moundmen for 13 safeties, Rogers, Caddo first baseman, getting three.

Griffin, Linzenitch, and Estes called the contests.

Surplus Cotton In U. S. Is Lowered Since Last Year

AUSTIN, Texas—Total supplies of cotton in the United States April 1 were only 8,009,000 bales as compared with 8,758,000 bales last year, and 10,072,000 bales two years ago, according to Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. The decrease of supplies of cotton in the United States and of American cotton in European ports and afloat to Europe during the past twelve months, April 1, 1936 to April 1, 1937, was 799,000 bales.

"Calculated changes in the index price of cotton based on these changes in supply indicate an advance in the index price from last year," Dr. Cox said. "When changes in the index number are taken into consideration, the calculated price of middling 7-8-inch spot cotton in New Orleans is about 13.94 cents. The same price calculated on the basis of average percentage changes is 14.07 cents."

Spinnings ratio margins widened during March to 182 compared with 179 in February and 168 in March last year, Dr. Cox added.

The pence margin in Manchester averaged 6.45d during March, the highest on record compared with 5.65d during February and 4.26d for March, 1936. "These margins indicate an exceptional demand for cotton in England," he said. "It is probable that a considerable part of this is due to preparation for war orders and may not be typical of the world situation."

THE FOLLOWING FIGURES REPRESENT THE AMOUNTS PAID TO THE CITIES, COUNTY AND STATE FOR BEER LICENSES IN EASTLAND COUNTY AND DO NOT INCLUDE THE HUGE AMOUNTS PAID INTO THE PENSION AND SCHOOL FUNDS FROM STAMP TAXES PAID UPON BEER.

CITY OF EASTLAND $1,031.04	CITY OF RANGER $747.00	CITY OF CISCO $3,975.00	COUNTY AND STATE $10,550.13

A BIG PORTION OF THIS TAX MONEY GOES INTO THE OLD AGE ASSISTANCE FUND OF TEXAS!!!

DO NOT TAKE YOUR NEIGHBOR'S JOB
AWAY FROM HIM
BY VOTING HIM
OUT OF BUSINESS!

RECEIVING A SMALL PENSION ---- TRYING TO GET HELP!

Two hundred seventy-eight of our elderly citizens in Eastland county have been refused OLD AGE ASSISTANCE. The reason given—THERE IS NO MONEY WITH WHICH TO PAY. Eastland county alone has paid into the state treasury for OLD AGE ASSISTANCE the sum of over $10,000.

Where is this money to come from if beer and light wines are voted out of Eastland County?
Answer—It will mean that more of the aged will be taken off the pension list and that a large number who are now receiving help, their assistance will be reduced.

Lets help keep the Old Age Assistance coming to all of the old people.

VOTE TO LEGALIZE LIGHT WINES AND BEER

THIS ELECTION IS HONEST TAX-PAYING BUSINESS AGAINST THE BOOTLEGGERS
AND THE DIVE!

There are a hundred good reasons why the good people of Eastland county should vote to legalize Beer and Light Wines in the election to be held Saturday, May 1, 1937. They should vote to leave the county in the present form.

It would take too much space to enumerate all the reasons—but here are a few—plenty to cause the average voter to stop and think before he votes in the coming election.

First—Those of us who remember the ridiculous situation a dry county is placed when all neighboring counties are wet. Our people go to these places and get what they want to drink. They spend their money with business enterprizes that operate where drinks are being sold.

Second—Highway 89 will soon be completed—Ranger, Eastland and Cisco business houses will suffer if the county goes dry. Why? Oil men and tourist that come out of Fort Worth and Dallas, are planning on going through to the West Texas oil fields . . . they will want to stop and drink a glass of beer . . . may stay all night at the hotel . . . will eat a meal or two . . . buy cigars . . . cigarettes and other things . . . spend some money for gasoline, etc. . . will they come through Eastland county. Should it's citizens vote dry most of them will travel by Mineral Wells and Breckenridge.

Third—Are we going to invite bootleggers to move into some alley or out of the way place to sell their wares instead of selling beer openly and paying a legitimate license.

Fourth—Out of every dollar that goes for the license of beer and light wines 75c goes for the old age assistance and another 25c goes for educating the children. If beer is voted out how are we going to get this money for our aged citizens and what are we going to do in regard to helping finance the schools. Here is the answer. The legislature will add another tax of some sort to the already tax heavy public in order to get the money the beer and light wines have been bringing into these funds.

Fifth—In Ranger the beer and light wine tax has brought into the general fund of $747.00. In Cisco $3,975.00. In Eastland $1,031.04, and in the county and state $10,550.13.

Total this all up and see where this money will come from should the county go dry? Think this over. The money that has been coming into Eastland county will go to our neighboring counties and part of it will be used to give the needy employment, to repair roads and other worth while things while we in Eastland County will take just that much from the needy in our own county. Think that over.

Sixth—There are business investments in the county that operate trucks. Their drivers spend their money, support their families, pay house rent, and patronize all business interests. Who will take their place should we vote to make the county dry.

Think these things over. Why force our people to vote for something that will not be . . . something that only lends to make citizens disregard and disrespect the law . . . go away from home and in alleys and bootlegging joints, where there is no police protection and were bootleggers thrive without paying one cent to help support the government. Vote to legalize light wine and beer . . . Do not vote to turn the county over to bootleggers.

VOTE TO LEGALIZE LIGHT WINE S AND BEER - - - -

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
NEA Service Staff Writer

It's an odd world. Uncle Sam prepares a booklet in which he tells American housewives how to make chop suey. Chop suey is a fixation with most men—sort of a secret sorrow. That's why the Department of Agriculture rose to the defense of American womanhood. We're a gallant race.

Port Chop Suey
(8 servings)

Two cups shredded cooked lean pork, 2 cups shredded onion, 2 cups shredded celery, 2 cups meat broth, 2 cups sliced raw Jerusalem artichokes or radishes, 1 green pepper, shredded, 4 tablespoons soy sauce (you can buy this at almost any good grocery), 2 tablespoons fat, 1 tablespoon cold water, 1 teaspoon cornstarch, salt if needed.

Use heavy iron frying pan. Heat half the fat. Add shredded pork and onion. Remove. Place other half of fat in pan and turn in pepper and onion and cook 3 minutes. Add celery, pork, broth. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Mix cornstarch and water until smooth, then stir into mixture and cook another few minutes. Add artichokes or radishes. Add soy sauce. Season with salt if needed, though that is not very Chinese. Soy sauce should be the only seasoning. Serve with a great mound of dry flaky rice. Never, by any means, serve wet, mushy rice. That would start a long war.

From Helen Alexander's little book—she's a magnificent American cook born in the Hawaiian Islands—comes this version of chop suey.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Dry cereal with strawberries, brown sugar, cream, nut bread, bacon, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Grilled tomatoes on toast, chopped greens salad, French bread, winesap apples, cheese, tea, milk.

DINNER: Chicken soup with thin noodles, pork and beef chop suey, Chinese rice, sour cabbage, preserved ginger, soy sauce, fresh pineapple sherbet, clear tea, rice cakes.

Pork and Beef Chop Suey
(10 servings)

One-half pound pork, sliced fine, 1-2 pound round steak, sliced fine, large onion, sliced fine, 1 clove garlic, chopped, 4 celery stalks, sliced fine, 6 dried mushrooms, sliced fine, 1-2 can bamboo shoots, sliced fine, 1-2 pound bean sprouts, 3 tablespoons soy sauce, 2 tablespoons olive oil.

The unusual Chinese ingredients used in this recipe can be purchased in packages at almost any specialty grocery.

Soak dried mushrooms in warm water 1-2 hour. Remove stems and slice fine. Fry pork, beef, onions and garlic in olive oil until brown. Add celery, bamboo shoots, mushrooms. Simmer 10 minutes. Add soy sauce and bean sprouts. Simmer another 10 minutes. Serve with a great bowl of rice cooked in the Chinese manner—meaning dry and flaky.

If you like chop suey, there are three things to learn. First, the use of a large sharp knife for water slicing, second, how to select only perfect vegetables, and third, to stay away from China. They never heard of chop suey.

Oil Men of Wichita Falls Fear Oil Taxes May Mean Premature Closing Down And Abandonment of Many Oil Wells

WICHITA FALLS, Texas.—Business men of the North Texas area are becoming apprehensive over their future outlook because high taxes on oil are already causing the premature abandonment of producing wells and threaten to cause retrenchment of new development, according to E. M. Crump, prominent merchant and president of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce.

"The well-being of the oil industry regulates the pulse of general business all through the North Texas area," said Mr. Crump. "and business men in every line have learned through past experience that when the oil industry is seriously affected their own business are influenced to a like degree."

Mr. Crump cited facts obtained from The Texas Railroad Commission which showed that oil operators in the Wichita Falls area plugged and abandoned 885 stripper wells last year, against 845 new producing wells completed, a net loss to the district of 40 producing wells. "These wells were plugged because high taxes along with the rising labor and equipment costs left no other alternative. Oil operators in this district are already paying 10 to 12 cents a barrel in taxes, which causes many wells to show a loss. High operating costs including taxes in the stripper fields of this section force operators to use the utmost economy in order to avoid losses.

If the Texas legislature increases the gross production tax on oil the added burden will hasten the abandonment of many additional wells in this area, and this will have a serious effect upon all lines of business in our section.

He said there are 15,682 producing wells in the North Texas area having an average daily production of only 3.88 barrels per well. He cited the fact that only 55 of these wells are flowing oil, while 15,627 wells are operated by pumping methods. "The oil industry has been outstanding among all industries in its practical relationship with those employed by it," he said. "Many families in this area, and whole communities, depend upon the oil industry for their livelihood. If oil taxes are further increased and cause premature abandonment of many wells in this district, the people, the communities and our business interests will suffer."

"The interests of general business not only in North Texas but in every section of our State will be adversely affected by any further increase in oil taxes. I feel that the State is pursuing an unwise taxing policy if it imposes any greater tax burden upon this industry. I don't think Texas can afford to discourage the continued development of its principal industry by forcing it to carry a constantly heavier tax burden. I think every business man in the State should voice his strenuous objection to such a procedure which, in the final analysis, will not only affect the oil industry but will have its repercussions upon all business interests in the State."

There has been dissatisfaction over the high prices for seats at the coronation. It would be interesting if this leads to a stand-up strike.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The administration's increasing concern over high prices and excessive profits must be giving a good deal of quiet satisfaction to Prof. Oliver Mitchell Wentworth Sprague.

Sprague was the Harvard teacher who quit a job as adviser to the Bank of England and became financial and economic adviser in the Treasury Department very early in the New Deal.

Roosevelt then became charmed by the recovery theories of Professor Warren James H. Rand and the monetary inflationists. By the end of 1933 Sprague had quit with a roar of protest. Ray Moley, Hugh Johnson and other New Dealers of that day scoffed at him.

The fruition of Sprague's prophecies of doom has been somewhat delayed. The breakdown of government credit and unrestrained inflation which he feared have not arrived. But Roosevelt, who was so strongly bent on raising prices three years ago, is now worried by fear that high prices may bring another crash.

He now has come to believe in maximum production at low prices. And it is interesting to recall some of the things which Sprague, who once taught economics to Roosevelt at Harvard, was saying and writing in December, 1933.

"FALLACIOUS," insisted Sprague, was the view of "young liberals" in Washington, who believed recovery could come through quasi-monopolies and increasing prices. This view might cause the country to crash on the rocks of shrunken markets due to higher prices. Sprague favored low prices to stimulate markets, production and employment, urging business men to adopt this policy even though it meant sacrifices and temporary lack of profits.

Business, said Sprague, should make a relative reduction in prices of those goods and services for which larger potential demand can be anticipated if relative prices are reduced.

And, in view of Roosevelt's promise to cut down government expenditures flowing into durable goods as a means of discouraging price inflation, it seems interesting to remember that Sprague said:

"If the primary direction of labor and capital is to be found in the production of durable goods, such as housing, then a government policy of public works that increases the cost of that sort of goods works against recovery. Recovery should be based on low production and transportation costs."

"The fundamental question that presents itself in examining trade recovery policies, whether they be those of business men or the government," Sprague wrote, "is this: Do they tend to open up and increase demand for those products for which we may reasonably presume, a large potential demand exists that can be made actual by relatively lower prices—lower production and transportation costs?"

"As a matter of fact, Dorothy McGuffin is a school kid not over 14 years old, whose mother was at her side and whose brother directed the show. . . Galvestonians are incensed by the Jacksonville paper's comments, which are calculated to make the affair appear as a shocking orgy."

"This party was as high class and respectable as could be; the lawmakers and state officials brought their wives, and no one criticized Alford for attending or for dancing with the child—least of all Galvestonians."

Reports from the communities in which the paper has appeared reveal an indignation on the part of the citizens against the parties responsible. The Paris News re-political dirt that would make the Democratic donkey feel like a jackass if he had any part in it."

Of more significance to the truth or falsity of the charges made in the political sheet was the story by Ed Kilman, political writer for the Houston Post, who took offense at the misinterpretation placed upon his story of a legislative banquet attended by Governor Alford.

Kilman's story of April 16 in the Houston Post read in part as follows:

"Pensions and Politics," the anti-Alford newspaper, published at Jacksonville and soon broadcast in Austin, places an unwarranted interpretation upon this column's story of the party given the legislature by the 'Beach Combers' Democratic Club of Galveston on the Austin Hotel roof January 28.

"The political sheet seized and elaborated upon my mention of a floor show of Galveston gals 'wearing smiles and little else,' and upon the statement that Governor Alford 'led off the dancing with Miss Dorothy McGuffin, star of the floor show—after she had dressed, of course'—as though this were a most awful saturnalia of sin."

"As a matter of fact, Dorothy McGuffin is a school kid not over 14 years old, whose mother was at her side and whose brother directed the show. . . Galvestonians are incensed by the Jacksonville paper's comments, which are calculated to make the affair appear as a shocking orgy."

Rural Hospital Is Planned at Cleburne

By United Press

CLEBURNE.—A $5,000 fund is being raised here to help finance a hospital for rural residents, believed to be the first project of its kind.

The $5,000 subscribed locally will be used to provide X-ray equipment and elevator for a 50-bed hospital operated under the auspices of Baylor hospital at Dallas. Johnson county officials have estimated that at least $100,000 now spent outside the county for hospitalization will be kept at home.

Rural residents may pay 50 cents per month for each member of the family and secure and necessary treatment for $1 a day.

Papers Denounce Propaganda Sheet Distributed in State

AUSTIN.—Newspaper editors indignantly denounced the "Anti-Alford" propaganda sheet this week as crews of urchin newsboys from Jacksonville hawked the paper as "extras" to unsuspecting buyers in various towns.

The paper, filled with wild political charges against Governor Alford, drew the fire of responsible newspapers as a "serious muckracking and misleading political organ." Sweetwater arrested one crew of imported paper salesmen and charged them with violation of the city's peddler law.

The Rusk Daily Cherokeean, in the home county of W. W. Glass, publisher of "Pensions and Politics," said: "To the people of Palestine and the other parts of the state, we apologize for the home county boy. Glass made the Senate race based on such yellow-sheet political propaganda last year without success."

The editorial in the Palestine Herald to which the Cherokeean referred said: "A crowd of boys came to Palestine yesterday selling so-called 'extras' that were political sheets demanding the impeachment of Governor Alford. The boys went whooping up and down the streets, yelling about their papers, and the people who bought them were given a taste of

A STATEMENT FROM YOUR NEIGHBOR THE SERVICE STATION OPERATOR

We are the service station operators in Eastland County, principally located on the Bankhead Highway of Highway No. 1. We are trying to make an honest living for ourselves and our families. We are having a hard time making the "grade." We need all the business we can get. Many of our number have already taken the "count," as evidenced by the closed service stations along the highway. We are working on a small margin of profit, and we need every customer we can get.

The beer election next Saturday is of vital importance to us. We are not in the beer business, but we know the wants of the traveling public. A large portion of the tourist traffic and the traffic to West Texas now travels the north loop of the Bankhead Highway thru Breckenridge and Albany. It is very necessary to divert our part of this traffic over the south loop. Highway 89 will soon be paved. This will shorten the distance from Fort Worth to West Texas by about 15 miles. This will entitle the south loop to its share of the West Texas traffic. However, tourists and in fact the greater portion of the traveling public, demand a glass of beer after traveling a long distance on a hot day. This, we believe, is their right, if they so desire. If Eastland County votes "dry" next Saturday, we will drive a great portion of the tourist traffic back to the North loop of the Bankhead Highway. The tourist and in fact the general traveling public will continue to go by Mineral Wells, Breckenridge and Albany if we spread the Sahara Desert along the South loop. A tourist dollar is a new dollar—ONCE LOST IS FOREVER GONE. The tourist will also patronize our cafes, hotels, drug stores and other places of business.

We, therefore, appeal to the voters of Eastland County not to make it harder on us. Do not take away even a part of the little business we now have. Give us a chance to win back the traffic to the South loop of State Highway No. 1. Vote for beer.
