RANGER POST OFFICE IS ROBBED WHEN VAULT IS BLOWN OPEN BY THIEVES

Burglars blew the door off the vault in the Ranger Post Office early Wednesday morning and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash. An immediate check failed to reveal the exact amount of money obtained in the robbery, though it was believed that some cash was missing from one of the lock drawers in the vault.

Entrance to the post office was made by scaling the partition inside the vault, as dusty footprints were found on the ledge of the parcel post window where the men climbed over. The partition is metal to a height of about seven feet and has a nickel grill which reaches nearly to the ceiling.

The door of the vault was blown off, as was evidenced by the small pieces of metal and dust blown onto the parcel post window desk.

After obtaining entrance to the vault the burglars used a pinch-bar to pry open lock drawers where change and stamps were kept. A small safe inside the vault was apparently unopened, which led to the belief that the burglars might have been frightened away by the police prowl car.

Two of the lock drawers were left on the floor of the vault, as was a large crowbar, the pinch bar used in opening the drawers and a steel pin, similar to ones used in coupling freight cars.

Officers from Cisco, Eastland and Ranger were busy engaged Wednesday morning after the robbery was discovered, in photographing and "lifting" fingerprints off the door of the safe in an effort to determine the identity of the culprits.

A .45 calibre pistol, which is kept in the post office, was reported missing, and police believe that it might have been used in the robbery, shortly after the post office robbery, in holding up the Al Tune Filling Station in Ranger.

Postal authorities in Fort Worth were notified shortly after six o'clock of the robbery and it was said postal inspectors would be sent to Ranger to investigate.

It was believed that only a small amount of money was lost in the robbery, as most of the postoffice receipts were not kept in the part of the vault entered by the burglars.

HOUSE VOTES TO OVERRIDE ALLRED VETO

AUSTIN, May 5.—The house of representatives voted today to override the governor's veto of the motor truck bill. Vote was 110 to 29.

The senate is expected to act on the veto this afternoon.
It was the first of the governor's eight vetoes the house failed to sustain.

The original vote in the house to pass the bill authorizing private carrier truck permits by which merchants and manufacturers could deliver goods outside municipal limits without being subject to common and contract carrier regulations, was 126 ayes and one no.

The senate passed the measure 23 to five.

The senate meanwhile advanced two proposed constitutional amendments toward submission of popular vote.

One yet to be passed by the house, authorized direct appeal to the state supreme court on the validity of state statutes and orders of state agencies. The other amended in the form it passed the house, authorized aid to needy blind persons over 21 and to dependent children.

37 BULLDOGS TO PLAY EXES FRIDAY, MAY 7

Coaches Wright and Jennings of the Ranger Bulldogs announced today that a spring training football game between the 1937 Bulldogs and a team of ex-Bulldogs would be played at the municipal softball field at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. An admission charge of 15 cents for adults and 10 cents for children will be made.

The 1937 team, as it will appear on the field Friday afternoon, will not be as light as the 1936 edition, the line averaging 173 pounds and the backfield weighing 144 pounds on the average, with the average for the entire team being 162 pounds. These weights are not exactly accurate, but are estimates made Wednesday by the coaches.

The starting lineup for the 1937
Bulldogs will be as follows:
LT—Houston, 180.
LB—Hinnman, 178.

RG—Smoot, 155.
RT—Hargrave, 180.
RE—Brawner, 175.

Jacoby, Spiess, Smoot, Rawls, Agnew, Ray Lee Adkins, Ainsworth, Dudley, Barker, Mitchell, Raleh, Stevens and W. Cox, with others likely to see service.

The game has been scheduled primarily as a test for the 1937 Bulldogs to see how they can perform their assignments under fire, and should give a fair indication of what the team may develop into during the coming football season.

One or two of the regulars on the team are not to play in the spring training game, but will be back in the lineup next fall.

Wendel Tells of His "Confession" In Lindbergh Case

NEWARK, N. J., May 5.—Paul Wendel, Trenton attorney, testified today at the kidnap conspiracy trial of Ellis Parker that he was told a confession was necessary in the Lindbergh baby case to further the political career of Gov. Harold Hoffman.

Wendel's confession, allegedly forced from him by torture, was the basis of which Hoffman granted a three-day reprieve to Bruno Hauptmann, convicted mur-derer of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr.

The statement was made to him, Wendel said, by Parker, a detective and a life long friend of the governor.

Motions Denied In Denhardt Trial

NEWCASTLE, Ky., May 5.—
Attorneys for Brig. Gen. Henry Denhardt today filed a motion to dismiss the jury, which has been considering murder charges against him for more than 12 hours.

Defense counsel also filed a motion to exclude from consideration of the jury evidence which tended to show Denhardt had fired a revolver on the night Mrs. Verma Taylor, his fiancée, was killed. Both motions were overruled.

Man Who Attempted To Save a Couple Dies of His Wounds

FORT WORTH, May 5.—Jack Griffith, 40, shot last Wednesday in an attempt to rescue a man and a woman from a bandit, died in a hospital here today.

The shooting was credited to Lester Brockelhurst, young ex-convict, wanted for a series of robberies and for questioning about two murders in Illinois.

Dallas police chased the car in which Griffith's slayer escaped and found in it a pistol and personal effects of the convict.

The slayer twice escaped Dallas police after wrecking automobiles, and is still at large.

4-H Group Given Planting Advice

"Tomato plants should be watered the night before transplanting them to garden," said Miss Cornelia Faye Stewart, assistant home demonstration agent at a meeting of the 4-H girls which was held at the Flatwood school house May 4.

By thoroughly watering the plants the dirt will soften and cling to the small roots and give the plants a better chance to live.

The secretary reported $3.50 had been turned in to the treasure. The girls decided to give a sock supper May 14. We hbgkjji

Alligator Is Shot At San Antonio Near Big Swimming Pool

SAN ANTONIO, May 5.—Police shot a six-foot alligator in the San Antonio river 100 yards below the swimming pool in Brackenridge park, today.

The alligator, which park zoo officials said did not come from the Brackenridge alligator farm, had terrorized swimmers at the pool for more than a week. The nearest river that alligators are known to inhabit is the Nueces river, approximately 70 miles from

PAIR ROB GAS STATION AND MAKE ESCAPE

Two unmasked bandits held up the Al Tune filling station in Ranger early Wednesday morning, escaping in a speeding car amid a hail of gunfire directed at them by Ray Glascock, night operator of the station. It was said today that about $17 or $18 had been taken in the robbery.

Glascock was seated at the desk in the station shortly before four o'clock Wednesday morning when two men entered the station on foot. Glascock thought that they wanted to buy bar candy and paid little attention to them until one pointed a gun at him and ordered him to open the cash register.

Glascock refused, and one of the men opened the register and scooped up all the money inside.
As the two left the station Glascock opened the desk drawer, where a gun was kept, but one of the men stuck his gun through the door and commanded him to turn around and sit still.

While one started a car, which had been parked about 50 feet away from the station, the other covered Glascock. When he ran to the car the station attendant secured the pistol in the desk drawer and ran outside. Before he could remove the safety from the weapon and start firing the car was underway, speeding down the highway toward Eastland.

Police reported today that excellent fingerprints had been secured from the filling station, which were to be checked.

MINOR RIOTS BREAK OUT IN MOVIE STRIKE

HOLLYWOOD, May 5.—A series of minor disturbances occurred today when picketing was resumed at 10 studios by striking members of the Federation of Motion Picture Crafts, who have solicited the support of the CIO.

At the MGM studio two laborers, James F. Low, 22, and Robert Miller, 22, were arrested on charges of disturbing the peace.
Culver City officers said the men became angry at the jeers of the picketers and started challenging them to fight.

Charles Lessing, strike leader, said the offer of the CIO to send steel, automobile and rubber workers into the picket lines around the studios had been accepted.

The FMPC is linked with the American Federation of Labor.

Masses Won't Support High-brow Grand Opera

The Metropolitan Opera Company of New York has just finished a spring tour into the provinces, and from all accounts it did very well by itself indeed.

Boston turned out en masse, to prove that the fabled culture of the Back Bay has not yet been dimmed. Cleveland sent upward of 60,000 people through the gate in one week. Rochester took on a one-night stand and gave opera a sell-out. And the Met is back home now, having done its best to spread capital-A Art across a delightfully low-brow land.

The only point still at issue is the question how long it will take the cities which have just had their flint at grand opera to get back to normal.

For when all the fine talk about great music, culture, high art, and all the rest has been said, the sad fact remains that grand opera is ideally designed to give its best American patron a terrible beating.

Consider what the Americano is up against when he decides to take in a bit of opera.

First of all, he is under a strong moral compulsion to dress up to the hilt. He is subtly made to feel that if he does not appear in full evening regalia he is a moral leper and a lost soul; and while the American is a noble and a sturdy creature, there is something about a clawhammer coat and a boiled shirt that puts the iron deep into his soul.

So, all dressed up and muttering in his beard about it, he sallies forth. He pays eight or ten dollars, hard cash, for two tickets, and finds himself seated in row Q, up in the balcony, a good brassie shot from the stage. Disposing himself as comfortably as he can, he meekly awaits developments.

And what happens? There unrolls before him something which is neither pure drama nor pure music but an amalgam of both—something which absolutely nothing in his education or his background enables him to appreciate.

The proceedings are veiled in a foreign tongue, so that never at any moment does he have more than the foggiest notion of what is going on. He gets moments of noble music, to be sure; but he also gets many, many moments of acute and miserable boredom.

He emerges, at last, conscious of having done a hard job well. Next day he looks at his newspaper to find out what the score was. There he encounters a column and a half about the "brilliance" of the social spectacle, together with all the intimate details about the costumes and coiffures of all the town's wealthiest women.

Add this all together, and Mr. Average American is not apt to feel that he is missing much by living without grand opera. And if he consoles himself by sneaking off to the neighborhood movie to see Jean Harlow, who can blame him?

Grand opera will never take root in this country until it alights from its high horse. If it can lay aside its ermine wrap, its white tie, its high-society "brilliance," and talk American, it may reach the stage of self-support. Until it does, the masses will continue to pass it up.

TROUBLE WITH ANOTHER 'THREE-HORSE' TEAM

Population Growth Buttresses Texas' Bid for Industry

DALLAS.—Population trends—the heralds of expanded markets, sales and profits—are hastening Texas' selection as manufacturing and distribution point for major industries, a survey of the All-South Development Council, released today, points out.

Overcoming the stumbling block which in past years has prevented greater industrialization of the Lone Star State, the 100 per cent growth of Texas population since 1900, plus its proximity to the only other two regions which showed larger gains, namely the Pacific Coast and the Rocky Mountain states, is buttressing the campaign now under way, the council states, to bring this state new industries with their benefits of increased employment and larger payrolls.

Although the Pacific region showed the record gain of 262 per cent since the turn of the century, followed by the Mountain states' growth of 124 per cent, the selection of Texas as the distribution point is forecast, due to the additional factor of growing Latin-American trade, the council feels. Evidence of the upturn in Texas development as a consumer goods-producing state is contained in the announcement that in Dallas alone a total of $1,000,000 worth of industrial building for this type of manufacturing is scheduled to begin within the next 60 days. "We are getting more live, businesslike inquiries from nationally known firms than at any time in 20 years," said Clyde Wallis, industrial manager of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, who is quoted in the report.

Sport Glances . . . . .By Gray

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, (SEA Service)

NEW YORK.—The heavyweight champion ordinarily sets the tone of the sock market, but the best busting business appears to be doing quite all right without the assistance of James J. Braddock. Perhaps the trade grew tired of waiting for Braddock's in title defense. Right now it appears as though Joe Louis will get first crack at the Irishman at Comiskey Park, Chicago, June 22. Garden's legal battery has not ceased firing, however, so Schmeling and New York cannot yet be counted out.

Meanwhile the cauliflower customers have turned to other attractions on all fronts. The Freddie-Steele and Apstoll—boomed the middleweight grade in New York, where Mike Jacobs gave Broadway cont. one major performance in leasing the Hippodrome. Outlying clubs, particularly the Coliseum in the Bronx and Broadway Arena in Brooklyn, have set attendance marks.

JACK KEARNS' faith in boxing was rewarded with a $23,000 for a Maxie Rosenbloom-Roscoe Toles engagement in Detroit where $500 was considered a fair intake only a short time back. Spots that have been practically dead as fistie centers for years are commencing to perk up, and the principal reason is that a fine new prospect has sprung up in various sections of the country in Buffalo, where gates dropped to $300, a pair of middleweights are going over in great style. They are Jimmy Clark, who to the Olympic Games, and Ralph DeJohn, who is out of Syracuse. A Billy Conn-Teddy Yaros outdoor bout in Pittsburgh this summer will spell $40,000. Conn is a middleweight who no doubt heard from. He grossed $7000 with Babe Risko and $10 with Fritzie Zivic. John Henry Lewis and Al Gainer, a pair Negro clouters, did $34,000 in an above-the-weight affair at Field last summer.

THINGS have not yet started to really boom in Chicago, but loop is getting steamed up about Milt Aaron, a welter, and Nedlo, lightweight and a C. Y. O. graduate. Milwaukee, which has been dormant for a long spell so far boxing is concerned, now has a lightweight named Larry Greb. Kansas City is doing business again, thanks to a young lightweight, Joey Garrison. A bantam named Ingraham is helping a lot in Washington. Henry Jeffra, tall bantam, has assisted in Baltimore. Cleveland has recruited a new promoter. Seattle again is importing the better middleweights for Freddie Steele.

Young Bob Nestell climbed out of the dust to stop Lee Ramon, Los Angeles in one of his characteristic tenth-round knockouts also was in Los Angeles that Alberto Lovell, a scar-faced Aztec, definitely established himself as a heavyweight threat, dealing Andre Lenglet a savage beating. Fight managers rapidly are getting out of hock, and, as Prof. McCarney remarks, it's about time.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
SEA SERVICE WRITER

EVERY bride may deceive her husband with Pastika Z Kurat and make him like it. Pastika Z Kurat is nothing more outlandish than chicken pie as they make it in Bohemian homes. Elisabeth Rethberg, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, vouches for the authenticity of this recipe from her native land, which borders on Bohemia (now called Czechoslovakia).

"Bohemian Sunday dinners are something big to look forward to, I assure you. Wholesome food for large families—and always a chicken pie and fruit tarts," she says.

Bohemian Chicken Pie (6 to 8 servings)

Five pound fowl, 1 onion, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 cups boiling water, 1-2 pound ham, 8 potatoes, salt, pepper, paprika, parsley, pie crust.

Clean chicken, remove large bones. Mince onion, fry in butter. Add cut-up chicken and brown a little, then add water and ham cut up fine. Cover pot and simmer until chicken is tender. In meantime, peel and quarter potatoes and cook in salted water 15 minutes. Next line pie dish with pastry, then place in it a layer of potatoes, then of chicken and ham. Sprinkle with parsley and dot with butter and cover with pastry top. Flute the edges and brush with beaten egg white and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until crust is baked.

Serve this special gravy with it. Melt 1 tablespoon butter in frying pan, stir in 2 tablespoons flour, then add 1 cup stock in which chicken and ham were cooked and 1 cup milk. Season, add 1 tablespoon minced parsley and add 1 beaten egg yolk. Stir constantly while simmering and serve very hot.

Boiled beef is not a very elegant dish, but Mme. Rethberg says it can be if served with Omacka Koprova. For years known as a homebody when she isn't gracing the operatic stage, Elisabeth Rethberg's word on matters culinary is as true as her pitch.

Dill Sauce (Omacka Koprova)

Melt a small piece of butter, add a little flour and brown. Do not make paste too thick. Add soup stock and stir well until mixture is smooth. Add a few drops of vinegar and cook three minutes. Just before serving, add 2 or 3 tablespoons sour cream and some very finely chopped dill. Serve over broiled fish or boiled beef and tip your hat to the next Czechoslovakian you meet on his way home to dinner.

C. D. Webb, Greyhound bus driver on the run between Fort Worth and Big Spring, has been awarded $50.00 in cash and a platinum pin in recognition of his outstanding safety record, according to an announcement by P. W. Tibbetts, president of Southwestern Greyhound Lines. Webb has completed six years of continuous driving without an accident. The enviable safety record of Webb, and other Greyhound drivers, have helped Greyhound to win the National Safety Council's Annual Award for each of the six years it has been awarded.

Rise In Oil Price May Do Away With Increased Taxes

BY GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN.—A rise in the posted prices of crude oil is expected early in May. If it materializes promptly it will be a "way out" for legislators who are trying to find an answer to the state tax problem.

The state oil tax is levied in such a way that the state revenue goes up whenever oil prices advance above $1 a barrel. The tax is pegged so the tax cannot go below the dollar rate, by a switch from a percentage of value to a flat levy of 2 1/2 cents a barrel when oil sells for less than $1 a barrel.

A sharp rise in oil prices would bring a corresponding increase in state revenue from oil production. Oil, gas and sulphur seem to be selected pretty definitely as the sources for whatever additional taxes are found to be necessary. Gypsum is mentioned frequently on the Senate floor but that is principally for the purpose of nagging Sen. Ben O'Neal who is in the embarrassing position of supporting Governor James V. Allred's natural resource levies and having large gypsum interests in his senatorial district.

Latest summary of appropriation bills indicates an increase of $8,000,000 in the state's two-year running expense. The increased taxes put on oil, gas and sulphur at the last special session of the legislature will make their tax payment for 1937 $4,000,000 more than in 1936, according to estimates of John T. Smith of the Texas Tax Journal. An increased price for oil would be another argument against additional taxes. The indication of a balanced budget, without tax increase, does not provide either for reduction of the state deficit nor for enlarged participation in the national social security program. Governor Allred asserted this week that his tax statement had been distorted in debate. He issued a reminder that he had said new taxes would not be needed for ordinary purposes but had called for new taxes to reduce the deficit and carry on all phases of social security.

Elevator Operator Rides Same Lift for Total of 22 Years

By United Press
AMARILLO, Texas.—I. J. Tolleson became elevator operator in the Federal building here 22 years ago. On the side of the car he scratched the words "Commenced, May 6, 1915."

Today he is still running the car up and down, six days a week, from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.
Tolleson, born in Alabama, came to Amarillo in 1906 with a wife and five youngsters. For a while he was in the hardware business. He built the first brick building in Amarillo. It was called the Tolleson building.
"I've carried many strange people during these 22 years. I have watched the breaking of hearts after some judge has passed a sentence, but I'll say after all these years there is some good in every human being," he mused.

He was still chuckling to himself this morning as he came in through Joan's office. "So you're running off on Saturday," he said, for the 20th time. "Think you can get all that work cleared up first? I doubt it. Not with your mind in the clouds the way it is. . . . Heaven help you, young lady, if you get my investments all muddled. I'll take it out of your husband's pocket, so help me, I will."

He laughed, continuing on into his own office. At the door he hesitated, and called back: "I'm expecting a Mr. Norton—Charley Norton—from Sacramento. Show him right in, will you?"

Remembering what Bob had said, Joan pondered over Mr. Norton. A close friend of Mr. Norton's, yet this matter of the Bella Terra mine might be a little shady. Since Bob's return, he had said little about it, and she had not asked, probably because they were so completely involved with their own personal plans.

Norton arrived shortly after 10 o'clock. As he entered her office, she looked up in sudden surprise. She caught her breath sharply, remembering an old woman's words: "A tall, dark man. And Death."

Charles Norton was unquestionably the tallest, darkest man she had ever seen. He must have stood every bit of six feet four—a powerfully built giant of a man. He had a heavy mass of black hair, and his eyes were dark and piercing. As he looked at you, they seemed to burn deep into your mind, as if they could read one's most secret thoughts.

Joan ushered him into Mr. Hendry's office and the two men greeted each other heartily. She shut the door and returned to her desk. For a moment she stood there, thinking, against her will: "A tall, dark man. And Death."

She forced herself, presently, to get to work. She was being ridiculous. Utterly ridiculous. It was the man himself, she decided, whose personality haunted her.

AN hour or so later, Mr. Hendry's buzzer over her desk sounded. She picked up her note-book and went into his office.

Norton got up gracefully and offered her his chair. "We'd like to draw up an agreement," Mr. Hendry stated, "a sort of tentative option on the Bella Terra mine. Oh, this is Mr. Norton, Miss Barrett. . . . There's a chair for you, Charley. Bring it over."

To Joan, he remarked, jovially, "You wouldn't think, would you, that Charley Norton and I predicted together 40 years ago? No,

CHAPTER XIII
 AN came into the office Monday morning with a song in his heart. She was glad to see him in his accustomed place, to notice the work that was high on one corner of it, wasn't dreaming, then. Every-thing as she had left it the afternoon before.

Monday morning Bob drove up into the hills from the town, received its name, there he pointed out the plot round which he wanted to buy their future home. Half an hour was high on a hillside, looking the town, with a view of the entire countryside for miles. They could see Manhattan, its gleaming towers out-look, its sharp against the sky. A thousand pine trees and their home-spot, and today drops of moisture sparkled on branches.

For it all, a quiet peace pre-ferred, and the hilltop became a veritable fairyland of magic. "Oh, darling?" Bob whis-pered eagerly.

Joan smiled gaily, these years, waiting for you. "I've been saving for it."

He went back to the real office and bought it imme-ately, and Bob's face took on a that couldn't be erased—not when a traffic officer, an hour gave him a ticket for pass-ing red lights.

For dinner, they drove over to Mr. Hendry and tell him. "You bought the hilltop?"

Joan chuckled. "Crazy fool! Taking away the best I ever had, in the bar-ber. Well, I suppose I'll have the best of it. . . . get to that hatched-faced Miss. Bless my soul, the way young folks rush into things days!"

He was pleased, neverthe-

 NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — New federal laws within the year, despite reassurances from the White House and Capital Hill, still look like a 50-50 bet.

The President of the United States has a delightful talent for divergency in his remarks as to the budget and the federal finances from time to time. His best friends have to agree with his worst enemies on that fact, although they point out that the picture, of course, also changes.

"I am convinced," Mr. Roosevelt has now said, "that the success of our whole program and the permanent security of our people demand that we adjust all expenditures within the limits of my budget estimates."

On the other hand, there are these points:

1. There is no assurance whatever that Congress can keep within the budget figures. It will be an unusual Congress if it is.

2. Roosevelt has asked for $1,500,000,000 for 1937-38 work relief and experts agree that he will feel compelled to ask for more later to get through the fiscal year, unless the federal relief policy is to be radically changed.

3. The administration is now more deeply concerned with the need for balancing the budget than ever before. There is reason to believe it will prefer to tax rather than borrow further beyond present anticipations.

4. Conservative Democrats favor keeping the WPA appropriation down to a billion dollars instead of a billion and a half. Roosevelt has insisted he will not compromise on that point. The indication is left that the conservatives, who prefer to cut relief expenses rather than other costs, will be stubborn about holding down these other costs and try to place the blame on the President and his insistence on maintaining the WPA policy.

5. Nearly all Roosevelt's closest advisers, except Secretary Morgenthau and the Treasury group, are convinced that the wisest policy is to raise income taxes. They will continue to insist to the President that the only way to keep the economic system in balance is to siphon off a larger share of big profits and big incomes in order to pour them back into the bottom economic levels. This may be the most important factor of all.

6. The First Circuit Court's decision holding the federal old-age benefits payroll tax illegal already has begun to stir up those who believe a federal old-age benefit system should be financed from the proceeds of income taxes. If the Supreme Court should now uphold the lower court's adverse decision, the demand for the latter method of financing might well become overwhelmingly strong, resulting in legislation requiring hundreds of millions of dollars in new revenue at once.

IF Roosevelt comes back next February to ask Congress for more relief money, he will only be repeating his own history. Some of the $1,500,000,000 asked for next fiscal year probably will have to be applied to WPA for the tail end of the current fiscal year. The U. S. Conference of Mayors a year ago estimated 1936-37 WPA costs at $2,340,000,000. Actually the costs are running somewhere over $2,300,000,000. This year it has been said a continuation of federal policy would require $2,200,000,000 for 1937-38.

Q. When, where and by whom was the "Dolores" colony located and what became of it?
 A. On Los Moras Creek, 12 miles above its junction with the Rio Grande, some 25 or 30 miles from the present town of Eagle Pass. Dr. J. C. Beale, an Englishman, headed the party of 59, who reached there Mar. 16, 1834. Because of crop failures the colony was gradually abandoned, and the remaining eleven men, two women and three children started for the coast to return to England. On Apr. 2, 1836, they were attacked by Indians, the men and an infant child were killed, and the others taken into captivity.

Q. Who was Juan Cortina and how was he regarded by Texans?
 A. He was a Mexican general in command at Matamoros, of which town he was also mayor, and from 1859 to 1875 Texans thought him responsible for the many murders and thefts of cattle both in Texas and Mexico. His men grew bolder in marauding expeditions between the Nueces and Rio Grande until, in the 1870's they were shipping many shiploads of stolen Texas

Q. What led immediately to the strife that resulted in the expulsion of the Cherokees from Texas?
 A. The Texas Senate, in December, 1836, repudiated the treaty made by its commissioners on the ground that they had exceeded their authority and in 1838 Texas began locating grants in the Cherokee country in disregard of the rights of the Indians, who resorted to raids to punish these overt acts.

Desert Widening In South Africa

CAPE TOWN. — A wilderness in the making in South Africa, where already 92,000 acres of valuable land have been swallowed up by drift sand and the dunes are spreading year by year.

That is disclosed in a report by D. F. Keet, director of forestry in the South African government. Keet says that more than $3,250,000 would be needed to reclaim the land now under drift sands.

The southwestern portion of Cape province is the worst affected. In the Broodsdorp district more than 30,000 acres have been swallowed up and it is feared that it will lose 300 rich acres yearly.

"The condition of the Broodsdorp coast is desperate," Keet declared, "and unless reclamation is taken in hand much of it will be turned into a wilderness."

A grim picture of conditions on the southwestern African coast, is given by the director.

"Here exists a belt of drift sand of enormous extent," he reported. "Between Botaboy and the Kuisie river, opposite Walvis bay, sand dunes have been driven inland for 80 to 85 miles and are piled up to 700 feet high. The area of this belt of sand is estimated at 800 miles. In its lower reaches the Kuisie river has been deflected from its course by the steadily advancing sand mass.

"The dunes present a sight of desolation that beggars description. They are barren and bere of vegetation. Aridity of climate alone, apart from the vastness of their extent, places reclamation of these dunes beyond human capacity. Nature herself will have to solve the problem."

Wanted: Name For Old Four-Toes Is Finally Trapped

Everybody knows that Wafford, the razorback hog from Van Buren, Arkansas, is the pet of Bob Burns, but few people know that Wafford's cousin is in Ranger and is making personal appearances all over town in connection with the showing of "Waikiki Wedding," which comes to the Arcadia Theatre Sunday and Monday. Wafford's cousin is spending the week with the employees of the Arcadia Theatre and is taking his meals with Fire Chief George Murphy and will positively appear with Bing Crosby, Martha Raye and Bob Burns during their appearance at the local playhouse Sunday and Monday. Wafford's cousin despite the fact he comes of an excellent family, is without a name and B. E. Garner, local theatre manager, is offering a couple of deuces good for a month to the person who submits a name that is accepted by the judges as the most appropriate for the young hog. "Willard Swaney, Joe Harness and F. D. Hicks will act as judges and award the passes to whoever submits the best name. The theatre management requests you leave your suggestion at the box office," Garner said today.

Lone Star Winner In Game Tuesday

BY CLOIS PHILLIPS
In a single game at the Ranger Municipal Softball Field last night, the Lone Star team soundly trounced the helpless Killingsworth-Cox aggregation, 8-5.

Bull Minter served 'em up for the Lone Star, allowing the K-C men but six safe blows, while his mates pounced on Cobb Smith for nine snafus and eight tallies. Charley Whitefield, the "band boy" playing second base for the Star men, hit lustily. He sloved Smith's delivery for a 3 clean blows for individual batting honors. In four times up Charley belted a triple, a double and single, flying out to deep center field in the last appearance at the plate. No other batter got credit for over one hit. Besides hitting safely three times Whitefield scored two of the Lone Star markers.

Manager Steuard's team was not intact, having two or three regular men out. Pitcher Minter walked four K. C. men while Smith issued three free tickets to first to the Lone Star. The Star men counted first in their first appearance in the first frame Whitefield scored on a K. C. error after he had tripped. Landers and Littlefield flew out. In the Killingsworth-Cox half of the inning Dublin and Reese walked. Harbin singled, filling the bases. Then Greer, K. C. shortstopper, slashed a one-baser to center, counting Dublin and Reese. The Lone Star counted five times in the second frame on hits by Russell, Faircloth and Minter, combined with walks by Alexander and Lingle. The Star boys were never to be headed after this. White scored the last K. C. run in the third after his single was followed by two Lone Star miscues. Whitefield crossed the plate for the remaining Lone Star marker in the third after his single was followed by two K. C. miscues. Foy and Landers both reached first safely but failed to score. Both teams fielded nicely the remainder of the contest, neither being able to score again. Griffin and Morgan umpired the melee.

The Tee Pee Coal & Oilers eked out the hustling Mustang team in a practice game, 9-8. The fray was close from the start, both clubs scoring a run each in the first two stanzas. The Elks journeyed to Caddo but didn't play because the lights went defective. No games will be played tonight, play being resumed Thursday evening.
