Value of Observing War's Anniversaries

Two anniversaries in which the world should have been vastly interested passed by on the same day recently with little more than the cursory blessing of a "way back when" newspaper story.

One marked the 23d year since June 28, 1914, when Archduke Franz Ferdinand's assassination at Scrajevo struck the spark that ignited the World War. The other, was the 18th birthday of the Treaty of Versailles, which officially designated the end of that great war.

No enthusiastic celebrations, no wild fluttering of standards, or hoarsely cheering crowds marked these anniversaries as milestones which the world wished to perpetuate. But, aside from the mystic oddity that they both came on the same day of the same month, they remain significant in the practical study of the cause and effect

Consider how the circumstances of the Serajevo murder and the subsequent reprisals parallel events in Europe today. In 1914, Austria felt that it had to avenge the archduke's death, so it waged war on Serbia, a tiny neighbor. Today, a German warship is bombed in Spanish waters, and Hitler soothes national "honor" by shelling Spain's helpless Almeria.

In 1914, the disturbance was localized until Austria's appeals brought two mighty sets of nations automatically to grips in a senseless death struggle. Today, similar alignments are being called on to support dictatorial adventures, as in China, Ethiopia and Spain, and the exact date of the next vast upheaval seems to depend only upon how far national "honor" can be stretched before it

The peculiar relation between the archduke's assassination and the Treaty of Versailles is that the treaty, however idealistically conceived, actually perpetuated the

It created a group of winners and a group of losers. And then it sought to keep them on that basis-permanently, if possible. Germany, which lost the war, and Italy, which felt that it was cheated of its share of the war spoils, illustrate how the sullen dissatisfaction of being a loser has swung the tide again toward conflict.

So, in fact, properly there should not be any ebullient clamor over the ghost of Serajevo or the wizened form of the Treaty of Versailles. Both are monuments to the fallacy that might is right, and their value will lie alone in their example of what nations ought not do do.

No petty points of moralizing are involved. These are realistic warnings. And they are just as much for America as for Europe, because the pendulum is swinging back heavily toward a gigantic conflict of arms.

It may not be long before one set of "allies" or the other again trumpets the trans-Atlantic call for help-"in the name of humanity." And when that time comes, the United States should be listening wisely, but not too well.

PITTSBURGH.—Boxing's newest star is Billy Conn of Pittsburgh, home of steel, glass, and great middleweights.

Conn, whe won't be 20 until October, skyrocketed into the championship picture by taking a divided 12-round decision from Teddy Yarosz at Forbes Field the other night.

Yarosz was a 2-to-1 favorite and it was nothing more than a neighborhood quarrel unheralded outside of Pittsburgh, but the ow grossed $24,000.

It was the young, tall, and handsome Conn's 34th consecutive ctory and his third over a former 160-pound champion. He is undefeated as a middleweight. They climb as rapidly as they fall in the beak-busting business.

Two years ago, Conn had a hole in his pants patched. Today he is fashion plate with a dozen suits of clothes and rides in his third

Conn had his trousers repaired to run down to Fairmont, W. Va., and make his first fight as a lightweight for which he collected $3. He never appeared as an amateur, which accounts for his losing five of his first 12 starts.

Conn banked $6500 for shading Yarosz in a rousing performance, and is just starting. It was the first time that he traveled 12 rounds and he's gone 10 on no more than a half dozen occasions, PLANS now are under way to match Conn with Freddie Apostoli, the San Francisco bell hop, next month, and a second edition with Yarosz would be attractive.

with Yarosz would be attractive.

Conn's managers, the Jabbering Johnnies—Ray and McGarvey—realize that they would be rushing their charge in sending him against a hitter of Freddie Steele's potentialities, so there will be no talk of a championship effort on the boy's part until next summer, Conn somewhat resembles Gene Tunney, even to the pompadour hair cut, at the same stage of the Manly Marine's career, but distinctly is a club fighter.

BILLY makes agony fighters look good. Before bowing to Conn, Vince Dundee appeared in Pittsburgh four times, and the place had to be furnigated after each excursion, but the Italian's exhibition with the newest middleweight luminary was highly satisfactory.

Babe Risko isn't exactly a smaller edition of Jack Dempsey in ction, but Conn and the erstwhile saslor had 'em standing on the Conn started to scale the heights last Dec. 10, when he repelled Fritzie Zivic. Then came Risko, Dundee, and Oscar Rankin. Conn, who is ef English and Irish extraction, is a fair hitter, takes a punch well, boxes good enough, and knows his way about. He is going to get bigger and should get better.

Rehind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent

The right wing, on the other hand, and especially the southern group which supplies the official leadership of Congress, is rather pleased. Placating this group, of course, was exactly what the President had in mind. Hysteria over the C. I. O. and its contemplated invasion of the south has caused more administration trouble in Congress than any other factor.

F. D. R's left wing pals explain apologetically to labor leader friends that the President was forced to hit at the C. I. O. as well as the Girdlers and Graces, and that the dynamiting at Johnstown, Pa., on the same day influenced his statement. But this right wing supporters wish he 'had gone about 10 times as far in bawling out John Lewis.

The statement was the first crumb conservatives have had from the White House for a long time, and Roosevelt must still be classed as distinctly "pro-labor."

Wetch the official sto agree to something.

Miss Jay, personal secretary to Miss Perkins, told him her boss was at a social workers' conference in Maine.

Soon afterward a friend, who knew of his quest, telephoned Lewis that Miss Perkins had been in her office all morning—and she had.

THE setback Lewis has received in "little steel" will do C. I. O. some harm and perhaps an equal amount of good. Hindsight indicates the strike was pulled "too soon."

But Lewis has made great strides. He claims 3,000,000 C. I. O. members. He has 260 contracts with steel and related industries which cover some 350,000 members, all of them believed to be paying dues.

C. I. O. morale may be hit in the steel industry, but perhaps not elsewhere. The greatest good ROOSEVELT and Lewis had no direct contact during the strike. The two men don't care for each other personally, although they will use each other for their respective ends for a strike before entering any long term contract with the union. The U. A. W. claims 350,000 members, however, and it is not anticipated here that the C. I. O. will lose much if any of the ground it long time to come.
