SIX KILLED BY VIOLENCE IN FOUR TOWNS

BAYTOWN, July 22.—Inquest witnesses said today persistent blowing of an automobile horn by Albert Stout, 17, caused J. J. Tyree, 63-year-old refinery watchman to become enraged, kill the youth and then take his own life.

Officials investigating found that Williams leaped from the roof garden kitchen and landed on the top of the ground floor kitchen, the roof of which extends backwards from the building.

Claims Fortune From Macaroni

HAMPTON, N. B.—Three brothers escaped from the county jail here after sawing through the cell roof to the tune of songs and harmonica music. The men took turns singing and playing the mouth organ to drown out the noise while they burrowed through the thick ceiling.

MUSICAL BROTHERS ESCAPE

MISSING GIRLS

At the ARCADIA Call at Times Office

Employees of the kitchen, said Cook J. L. Riggan, "thought something blew up in the basement" when the body landed. Edward Morris, engineer, colored, investigating the sound with others finally went to the roof for inspection of equipment there after a basement examination and saw the body five stories down.

Of such intensity was the sound resulting from the leap to death was that persons a half a block away believed it thunder or a shot. Manager Thomas of the adjoining Western Union office was one of those who thought the sound that of thunder. T. R. Seelye, ice cream manufacturer, was one who heard the noise at a barber shop half a block away.

Since his absence from the hotel Williams had lived at the Truly rooming house on North Lamar street. B. T. Gilmore, manager of the rooming house, stated he last saw Williams early Wednesday night. Williams had not left his bed when he left the house at 8 a. m. Thursday, said Gilmore.

Gilmore stated the roomer had told him recently that "I've gone about as far as I can."

Officials removing the clothes of Williams discovered a sack of tobacco and a pocket knife. It was from letters in his room at the Truly place officials learned that the place of the roomer's sister. A janitor's office gave the impression Williams had evidently planned to leave Eastland. Included in the suitcase was his shaving equipment, clean shirts and other items. Three magazines were partly open on the trunk in the bedroom which was his residence.

Williams came to Eastland to the hotel job about a year ago. It was stated his former address was Odessa, where he had been unemployed.

The Ancient, Undeclared Art of Log-Rolling

Up in Escanaba, Mich., they are going to have a championship contest that is a championship contest this summer. They are going to settle the birling championship of the world.

If you don't know what birling is, that only proves that you never lived in a land of tall timber. For birling is the sport of the lumberjacks, those descendants of legendary Paul Bunyan, who sometimes seem to be just about the toughest, brawniest and most rip-roaring of all the two fisted types America has produced.

To birl, you need a pool of water, a log, and a pair of steel-spiked boots—two pairs, to be accurate—one for each contestant. Donning the boots, you stand on one end of the log, and your opponent stands on the other. One or the other of you starts to twirl the log, and his opponent keeps pace with him. Faster and faster it goes, spun by the heavy spiked boots, reversing its spin now and then as one contestant takes it away from the other; until at last either you or your opponent is unable to keep footing any longer and tumbles into the water.

The thing is interesting to watch for two reasons; first, because a good lumberjack can do miraculous things in the way of keeping his balance on a spinning log, and second, because it is always fun to see a fully clothed man fall into the water. But beyond that, birling is a game that grew out of one of the most dangerous jobs mortal man ever tackled.

In all the great lumbering regions—in Maine, in Michigan, in Washington or wherever—getting the trees felled and reduced to logs was only half of the job. They had to go to the sawmill after that, and the usual way was to roll them into a river—thousands upon thousands of them—and let them float downstream.

Thus the great log drives came into being. For mile upon mile, a swift river would be carpeted with logs, so thick that a man could walk from bank to bank dry-shod. Now and then some obstruction would cause these logs to pile up. A fearful jam of suspended logs would result, with great timbers piled 10 or 15 feet high, with the terrific force of the current pressing them together.

It was then up to the lumberjacks to skip out under the face of this menacing jam, find the key log, and jerk it loose. Then, with a roar like the collapse of a 10-story building, the jam would loosen itself and go thundering downstream. If the lumberjacks were skilled and lucky, they would skip over the swaying carpet and get out of danger; if luck or skill failed, they would be overwhelmed, and when the logs got through with them there was never anything left for the undertaker.

That, in brief, is birling's ancestry. So you can see that a birling championship is something worth having, and worth looking at. If you happen to be in the vicinity of Escanaba on Aug. 13—and you could do worse, for it is fine vacation territory—you'll find this event something to see.

Bowl Haircuts Are Tip to Barbers of Wearers' Towns

DALLAS, Texas—When a barber sees a chap whose hair is cut in the old fashioned "bowl method" he can be pretty sure he came from Oklahoma or West Texas, J. R. Damron, secretary of Dallas Master Barbers' Association, said at the State Barber's Association convention here.

instance, the barber trade has created the term "Oklahoma haircut" to describe the old fashioned bowl type. In Texas, there is a pronounced difference in haircut styles, with the western part of the state leaning more to the bowl type, Damron said. Haircut styles are determined by the barbers of the community and eventually mark a certain section by those particular hair cut styles.

ing with other fashions and does much in determining styles of haircuts, Damron said. "The present and most accepted style is for dropping the hairline lower on the neck with the temples full rather than peeled."

March of Pension Army Is Planned For 1938 by Hobo

PHILADELPHIA—Sergt. John (Box Car) Alfieri, who once jumped on the running board of President Roosevelt's automobile and yelled "We want a bonus" (and got it) is waiting a chance to try the same thing for a $60 a month pension for ex-service men.

Alfieri led the first bonus army from Philadelphia to Washington in 1931. He started with 300 enthusiastic veterans and reached the capital with 26 road-weary marchers.

Since then Alfieri has traveled over the country on "open air Pullmans" where he meets other road-riding hobo ex-service men and lines them up in his campaign for $60 a month pension.

His slogan, adopted from the World War Liberty Loan drive, is "Give till it hurts" and he directs it at the nation's legislators.

He thinks another march on Washington would get the pension.

"If we can get 100,000 vets to Washington next year," Sergeant Alfieri said, "there won't be no trouble. Congress sees the 100,000 guys and comes out and says, 'Gentlemen, how much do you want?'"

Alfieri said the pension would cost the government "only $2,000,000,000 a year," but that he does not expect to get it from the present Congress.

"But the next one," he said, "ought to come through. I'll be down there when it opens Jan. 4."

Alfieri leaped on the running board of the President's automobile Jan. 5, 1935. Secret Service men were prepared to deal with him until he jumped back to the street after shouting his plea.

Alfieri observed June 15, the day veterans received their World War bonuses, as a day for solemn "let us forget" services.

"It's the first anniversary," he said, "of the day most of us vets got and spent our bonus cash. Ninety days later I was broke, like all the rest of the boys."

Cherry Tree Changed Course of Broadway

NEW YORK.—If it hadn't been for a certain cherry tree, Broadway would have been one twist straighter.

On the site now occupied by Grace church, in the downtown sector, once stood a sturdy cherry tree, beneath which Hendrick Brevort, the tavernkeeper, was accustomed to sit on warm summer evenings with his friends and his pipe.

Mapmakers decided to Broadway across the roots of the tree. Herr Brevort took up the matter with the officials, swearing that he never expected the street to reach that far uptown. Broadway was detoured to spare the tree.

Garden Party Names
Bride-Elect Honoree
The lovely garden carpeted with its cloak of grass, and attractively surrounded with blooming flowers hid welcome to guests who gathered at the home of Mrs. B. C. Carwile, Pershing street, Wednesday evening for a miscellaneous shower tendered bride-elect Miss Ruby Tolle, and given by her hostess, Mrs. C. H. Suits, daughter of the house hostess Mrs. Carwile. To enhance the beauty of the garden huge beach umbrellas in gay colors cast their rays from lighted bulbs arranged to form a circle in the tops.

Chairs in the more somber tones of wicker were comfortably grouped about the spacious garden.

After games a colorfully garbed Gypsy made her appearance and chose the honoree from the circle, leading her to a table, and unfolded a bright and happy future. A complete change in her life was near and the change would take her to her new home some three hundred miles west. At the end of the fortune the gypsy was revealed to be none other than Mrs. Fred Driehof. The name in the palm read proved to be Mr. Ray Trammell, formerly of Ranger and now of Midland, who will return to Ranger during the month of August immediately after which he and Miss Tolle are to be married.

Suddenly a fire siren was heard and a car came in to the driveway. Mr. Rupert Murphy announced he had been told one of the guests present at the party might be interested in the contents saved from a house which had burned, since it had been rumored she was contemplating matrimony. When Mr. Murphy, assisted by Mrs. Suits unloaded the "savings," an array of beautifully wrapped gifts were revealed. A well selected assortment of both useful and pretty gifts expressed congratulations from some thirty friends who were served a delicious course of ice cream and cookies. A toast to the bride was given by Mrs. L. E. White.

Among guests from out-of-town were Mrs. Charles Suits, of Kansas, who is visiting her son, C. H. Suits and wife; Miss Freddie Tolle and mother of Breckenridge, the sister and mother of the bride-elect.

Program of Entertainment Discussed for Lodge Convention
A group of members making up the personnel of Ranger Rebekah Lodge No. 244, opened a brief business session at the L. O. O. F. hall Wednesday night and discussed plans for the Rebekah association convention which is to convene in Ranger Monday, Aug. 9.

Mrs. Mary Eley served as Noble Grand in the absence of Mrs. Ruby Greer, who is in California. Among personal reports made at the close of the session included the present condition of Mrs. A. D. Harris sister, who is a patient in a Mineral Wells hospital. With ten members present the penny-prize was won by Mrs. A. H. Blackwell.

Open House Attended By Eighty Guests
The Royal Neighbors of Camp No. 9069 observed their regular weekly session with open house on Wednesday evening. The program was presided over by the Oracle, Laura Todd.

The Juvenile quilt was given away and the lucky person named as winner was Mrs. A. D. Harrison of Eastland.

Interesting talks were highpoints presenting outstanding officers, Mrs. Martha White, deputy of Breckenridge, and district deputy of Ranger, Mrs. Carrie E. Henry. Mrs. Lee Galley was introduced and gave a clever reading. A flag drill demonstration was offered by Bobby Ann Buchanan and Jane Copeland.

Refreshments from a prettily appointed table were served to eighty guests.

Just a Bit Personal

Dave Cooper, manager of J. C. Penney store, is spending today at Abilene attending a district meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Sloan returned home this week from visits to West Texas. While in Odessa they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Swift, and at Monahans a visit was paid Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Crow. While in Midland a group of former Rangerites were visited.

Miss Mary Jane Todd, daughter of W. R. Todd, returned home the first of the week after a three weeks visit in California. Cities of interest visited were San Francisco, Los Angeles, Hollywood, Long Beach and Azusa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Outlaw and family of Phoenix, Ariz., are here for a visit with Mrs. Outlaw's mother, Mrs. J. S. Milstead.

J. S. McDowell was a business visitor in Fort Worth Wednesday.

Mrs. Ruby Greer, who is at the bedside of her sister, whose home is in Los Angeles, Calif., reports to friends here her condition is considered very serious. The report was also made to co-members of the Ranger Rebekah Lodge which met in weekly session at the L. O. O. F. hall Wednesday night.

Rupert Murphy continues a visit with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. George Murphy, Elm street. He is associated with a tobacco company at Dallas.

Mrs. A. G. Jury, who made Ranger her home when Mr. Jury was manager of the Gholson Hotel, is here for a visit with friends which includes a visit with Mrs. John M. Gholson. The Jurys are now at home in Corpus Christi.

Mrs. A. C. Harper and daughter of Dallas are spending the week in Ranger joining Mr. Harper, associate of the Lone Star Gas company who is transacting business with the local company.

J. R. Jarvis of Dallas is in town this week, listed as a business visitor.

F. C. Simms, local representative with Swift & Company is vacationing in Missouri where he will remain two weeks. During his absence he is relieved by J. R. Smith, also with the company out of Fort Worth.

Among visitors in Ranger is Miss Jeanne Leland who last Sunday arrived from Moline, Kansas, for a visit with her brother.

Morris Pitches No Hit, No Run Game; Caddo Beats TP

Pitching behind almost perfect support, Juanita Morris, star pitcher of the Rangerettes, pitched a no hit, no run game, shutting out the Strawn girls 16 to 0, Wednesday night at the Municipal Softball Park.

Only two Strawn batters reached first base, these on overthrows to first base and they were stranded there. Miss Morris struck out 12 batters. The Rangerettes, found their batting eyes and connected with 15 hits. Home runs were made by Wallace, Morris and Gideon. One error by M. Gray and one by Stevens, constituted the Rangerettes miscues and all other hit balls were well taken care of.

Fox of the Rangerettes led the procession with 3 hits, Wallace had 2, one being a home run, Morris had 2, one a home run and Gideon 2 with a home run.

The Rangerettes stepped back into form after 2 defeats at the hands of the Eastland Fire Girls. Friday night a crack girls' team from Wichita Falls will play in Ranger against the Rangerettes. This promises to be a thriller, for the Rangerettes are keyed up to win, and by playing the brand of ball they are capable of they can win.

The Wichita Falls girls' team carries 15 players and a manager. This includes a comedy first baseman, who entertains the spectators during the dull moments of the game. This feature alone is said to be well worth seeing.

Wichita Falls, is the hot bed of girl softball in Texas. Teams from there have been state champions for a long time, and any girls team from Wichita Falls is capable of playing first class baseball and always draws good crowds.

This game Friday night will be a real treat for Ranger Softball fans. The management has to guarantee full expenses to secure this engagement and feels sure all attending will be given a real ball game.

The Rangerette-Wichita Falls

Charles Leland, supervisor of the July sale and contest now in session at Joseph's, Miss Leland is fastly gaining a pleasing impression of Texas, especially for its cool evening breezes which varies from some parts of Kansas. Her visit will extend several days yet and while in town she is a guest at the Paramount Hotel.

game will be the first game of the evening, so make your plans to come early and be there at the start.

Rangerettes battery for this game will be Morris, pitcher and Fox, catcher.

In the second game of the evening Caddo defeated Teepee 15 to 14 in a slugging contest that went eight innings.

RUTE, Mont.—A group of children here were playing a new punchboard game called "Truth" when one of them punched out the instructions "Call the Fire Department." He did, and the youngster's parents had to apologize to the department for the weird effects produced by "Truth."

REPORTER WARNS GIRLS IN DRAMATICALLY TOLD STORY

It is not at all unusual for a newspaper to start a crusade against vice or, in this modern day, racketeers, and their vicious business. But, it is unusual for a lone reporter to start active crusades against vice.

However, Martin Mooney, a lone hand at crusading, started one of the most dramatic, the most explosive, the most violent crusades ever to be instigated through the press. Mooney, put in the almsy jail by an inmate wife, met plenty of gangland overlords in the jug. Mooney, who is a likeable chap, soon gained the confidences of his new pals. Then, a series of articles in the New when he got out of jail, he started York American that almost blew the lid off the city. His accusations were terrific! His information was startling! And, in less times than it takes to tell, the bodies of law and order were on his neck, insisting that he reveal the true names of his informants. Mooney refused. He was brought before the Grand Jury and remained adamant.

Back to jail went Mooney, this time for contempt of court. Now, Mooney, who still has not talked for the Grand Jury, is spilling the works for the movies. His latest red-hot expose is on the woman racket, and the picture is called "Missing Girls." This Chesterfield melodrama will be the attraction at the Arcadia Theatre for two days. Taken from the original story by Mooney, the screenplay is also the work of the crusading reporter and a Hollywood scenarist, John W. Kraft. The picture was directed by Phil Rosen and produced by George R. Hatcher. It stellar cast includes Roger Pryor, Muriel Evans, Sidney Blackmer, Noel Madison, Ann Doran, George Cooper, Dewey Robinson, Wallis Clark, Matty Fain, Vera Lewis, Warner Richmond, Oscar Apfel, Lew Kelly and Lloyd Ingraham.

The charitable person will hope that the ritzy neighbor who went to England for the summer has better than the usual luck in finding it.

Hot Weather is Here— Beware of Biliousness!

Have you ever noticed that in very hot weather your organs of digestion and elimination seem to become torpid or lazy? Your food sour, forms gas, causes belching, heartburn, and a feeling of restlessness and irritability. Perhaps you may have sick headache, nausea and dizziness or blind spells on suddenly rising. Your tongue may be coated, your complexion bilious and your bowel actions sluggish or insufficient.
