ALLRED ORDERS STATE POLICE INTO DALLAS

By United Press
AUSTIN, August 19.—Gov. Allred today ordered 25 public safety commission police to Dallas to stop beatings, tarring or interference with public meetings. Allred issued the instructions to Capt. Homer Garrison, assistant director of the department. The force will be stationed at the Centennial grounds. Allred said it was apparent that disturbances still threatened in Dallas. He cited a threatening communication to the wife of a millinery worker union organizer. "If 25 men are not sufficient to insure the right of peaceful assembly and free speech and to prevent soggings, tarring and other intimidations, more men will be sent," said Allred. Under cover men have been in Dallas investigating the tarring and feathering of Herbert Harris, socialist organizer. The governor on Monday offered $500 reward for information leading to conviction of Harris' assailants.

DALLAS, August 19.—City officials today greeted with varied emotions Gov. Allred's announcement he would send state police to prevent violence during current labor troubles. Mayor George Sprague, apparently resentful, said, "Dallas police are perfectly capable of handling the situation. I see no reason for sending state police."

Defendant Freed In Habeas Action

A habeas corpus hearing Thursday in 88th district court resulted in his discharge from county jail for Bill Danes of Cisco. The defendant testified he was arrested for no known reason Sunday in Cisco and had been held by Sheriff Loss Woods under a capias pro finem issued out of the Justice of Peace No. 6 Court at Cisco. Cisco officers had been in Eastland Thursday morning but were not present at the hearing. The defendant had alleged he was denied the right of trial and had been refused right to make and Milton Lawrence brought the habeas corpus action. The sheriff department's knowledge of the case was confined to the issuance of the capias pro finem which resulted in Danes' confinement at the county jail.

'Sucker' Advertising Ban Is Started By Trade Commission

By C. L. SULZBERGER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—You can't learn to croon in ten days, live forever, or "pack a 16-inch arm in your sleeve." The benevolent Federal Trade Commission says so. The commission has been quietly moving in to combat improper advertising and the various forms of shell games built on P. T. Barnum's assumption that "There's a sucker born every minute." These are some of the results: The commission has obtained an agreement from a Florida dentist to cease representing that artificial teeth purchased from him by mail order are better than any others or are the only means to obtain "your own individuality."

It received a promise from a Philadelphia firm to stop advertising its muscle builder as "the greatest exerciser made; the choice of champions and the emblem of power; it quickly stimulates muscular growth... by its use one can pack a 16-inch arm in his sleeve and duplicate the chain-breaking or iron-bending feats of Brittrab, Marx, Sandow, Moerki, Travis or Nordquist."

And it got assurances from a Los Angeles concern that it would no longer represent that its founder "was taught by masters of the Far East in Tibet and is today an authoritative interpreter of the ancient wisdom" offering "a secret method of the actual technique of rejuvenation because old age is only a chemical change which is the student is able to instruct its students to overcome."

The commission is charged with guarding honesty—in its strictest sense—in all business practices. Under its regulatory powers it is thus able to crack down on what it considers false or misleading advertising. Officials of the body recalled today that among the innumerable acts taken by it during the present year, to enforce "honest representations" were to prevent: A New York author from selling a book designated "The Grape Cure" and describing it as "a competent treatment or an effective remedy for cancer, diabetes, paralysis, pneumonia, heart trouble and other ailments."

A Worcester, Mass., oil company from guaranteeing that its fuel powers Gar Wood's and Sir Malcolm Campbell's engines and runs the Graf Zeppelin. A Los Angeles syndicate from assuring people that its "press card" is an "open sesame" for gaining admission to places otherwise closed to the public.

And finally, much to the distress of hopeful alcoholics, the commission clamped down on two concerners who tried to convince the reading public they could, for a small price, buy products which "would overcome the effects of drinking alcoholic beverages."

Bumming Across Nation Is Not What It Once Was

By RICHARD M. MOREHEAD
United Press Staff Correspondent
FORT WORTH, Texas.—Take it from John M. Kennedy of San Francisco, "bumming" across the nation isn't what it used to be. Kennedy, reporter for the San Francisco News, left last June 1 on a hobo investigation tour that has taken him to New York and almost home. Sometime next month, fate and the railroad crews being kind, Kennedy will be back in his home office to report his experiences. "I get one meal a day, if I'm lucky—sometimes only a sandwich," said Kennedy. "I've traveled so fast that I hardly had time to work, and people don't want to give money or food anymore. They all say, 'why don't you get on relief?'"

Kennedy has made many interesting observations while going hungry, being jailed three times for vagrancy, and taking one pair of husky railroad police. He started out with $2.51 which he promptly spent and has since carried less than a dollar at a time, if any money at all. "Hoboes, the type who don't mind working for a meal, are having a pretty good time. Jobs aren't hard to find. Most hoboes are finding plenty of 'two-bit' jobs and are becoming self supporting, saving their money to buy food."

"Men who get free rides on the railroads usually are between 25 and 35 years old. In 1933 anybody could get a ride on a freight but the railroads are strict now. The young boys are sticking to hitchhiking which some states are prohibiting. I waited for 52 hours to catch a ride in one Indiana town and finally was picked up by a farmer on a hay wagon."

Figures compiled by railroad and highway experts show about 2,770,000 full time transients are on the move across America now. In 1933, the transients population was estimated at 1,250,000. Kennedy has traveled in 40 states on this trip, and covered more than 8,000 miles. His most pleasant experiences were in Iowa, where a train crew pointed out the next freight for Chicago; and in Harrisburg, Pa., where a police sergeant ordered food for the reporter in his cell and collected the money to send him to New York, without knowing he was not a genuine tramp.

Southern Ranchers Fatten Their Own Cattle for Market

WHARTON, Texas.—South Texas cattle raisers have turned their attention to the problem of fattening their livestock locally. J. W. Sartwell of Houston, livestock expert, added impetus to the movement by declaring at a ranchmen's meeting that they have the opportunity to make the section the greatest cattle raising section in the nation. "As soon as the southwestern rancher realizes that he does not have to send his cattle north for fattening and feeds his stock locally-raised forage, he will start earning large profits," Sartwell said.

Arthur Deffebach had several profile sketches of the Boyd Hill on the Ranger-Breckenridge Highway illustrating the poor visibility of this hill and how two cars, approaching from opposite directions, have only a short distance to come to a stop. Deffebach advised the cars traveling at various speeds and with average braking conditions, the speed of both cars at the moment of impact. Lonnie Herring led a discussion on how to correct a hazard existing in the Office Yard. Paul Coffin, Assistant General Superintendent, was a visitor at the meeting.

CHINESE TAKE UP OFFENSIVE AT SHANGHAI

By United Press
SHANGHAI, Friday.—Chinese regained the offensive in one sector of the bitterly contested Northern Shanghai front early today. After they had been driven back by an intensive Japanese aerial and naval bombardment, they reorganized their lines and drove forward. Elsewhere Japanese forces drove along a 20-mile front and Vice Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa announced that he expected this devastated city to be free of major danger within 48 hours. Foreign commanders and diplomats met earlier in the night and reportedly discussed a drastic program in event of reckless attacks by both sides near the Anglo-American area of the International Settlement. With the Chinese assault repulsed on most sides, the war again spread to Nanking, China's national capital. The Japanese asserted they were winning, not only on all sectors of the Shanghai front, but also in the north. United Press correspondents in the north, however, reported the Chinese lines were holding fast. The Dollar Liner President Hoover radioed Thursday night that he expected to reach Shanghai Friday with additional U. S. Marines from the Philippines 'to reinforce more than 1,000 Marines on duty there. As soon as the Marines are unloaded several hundred American refugees will sail for Manila.

'Plowing One Under' to Check Population

For a dime or a quarter, any fortune teller will look into the future and unravel any question about life or death, time or tide, or whether you'll ever meet the attractive person you sat at the next table in the restaurant.

But if you're wise, you'll classify the results more as amusement than anything else. Legitimate science and the products of long research by learned men provide much more reliable methods of predicting where the human race will be and how it will be living one or 1000 years from now.

Because most people have made this distinction and have come to rely on the judgment of our intellectual leaders, it is unfortunate to see any of them go on record with such a grim philosophy as that expressed at the International Congress of Population in Paris.

In one of the reports before the Congress, Dr. Frank W. Notestein of Princeton University declared that a war in China might be that nation's salvation from ruin by overpopulation.

If China's population is not stopped by war and other violence, it probably will double within 65 years, Dr. Notestein believes.

At the same Congress, Prof. Pascal Whelpton of Miami University indicated agreement of American authorities that the United States will reach its population peak in the next generation, after which there will be a decrease.

Between the statements of these men, there seems to arise a conflict. The United States, without appreciable benefit of famine, pestilence and war, is riding high, without a population problem in sight. Yet for China, war is regarded as the only salvation—unless the population is checked first by some other scourge.

This solution is an application of the theory of Thomas Malthus, an English economist, long dead, who saw world population running wild unless certain natural or man-made checks restrained it. War and pestilence are among the checks visualized by this theory.

Long taught in economics and sociology classes, the Malthusian theory is still believed by many. But, like many another economic doctrine disproved by events of the last few years, it may be definitely on the skids.

If Americans could believe in such a theory, China's present trouble with Japan would be welcomed here as a great event in the march toward a better world and we could feel happy every time a report came through telling how many more hundreds had been slain.

This is the kind of fortune telling that leaves a bad taste.

After six hours' debate, the Senate passed a bill limiting freight trains to 70 cars. Senators who wanted 80 cars probably were sidetracked with them.

HOME SWEET HOME

Strong Teams To Meet Tonight In Eastland Tourney

Two outstanding games in the A. S. A. A. men's tournament at Eastland are promised for tonight at Eastland when the Marathon Oil company meets Hanlon Gasoline of Breckenridge, and Elks of Ranger play Alexander-Hill of Breckenridge.

Lone Star of Ranger outclassed the Cisco Gas company team on Wednesday night to win, 9 to 4. Cisco's inability to get started was reflected in that only two hits were collected while the opposition got 8.

Whitfield for Ranger hit a homer in the first inning with three on base, and four scored. Yonkers, next up, got a double, and Russell singled, scoring Yonkers.

Modern Dry Cleaners defeated Coleman 5 to 4. The game would have been more even if Angel of the Modern hadn't walked five men in the first inning. Coleman got four scores in that period.

Umpires were C. J. Owen, Garrison, Farrack and Wright.

Moving a Bridge Is Nothing Compared to Moving a Tunnel

AUSTIN, Texas—Texas highway engineers thought they had established an unbeatable record when they constructed a bridge in Texas then swung it over the Louisiana-Texas boundary.

Now they have learned that Mexico highway engineers have planned a more novel undertaking. They will build a road and then make it a tunnel.

The unique construction is planned on the Mexico City-Mazatlan highway. Danger of landslides has resulted in the plan to build the road with a protecting top, then force a landslide over it.
