DESDEMONA

Ed T. Cox of Eastland was among the hundreds who came on Sunday to the homecoming celebration. In the afternoon he made an interesting address on pioneer days in Eastland county, and also gave some statistics as to crops in early days and at the present time, showing the effect of lack of soil conservation.

Mrs. I. N. Williams returned on Friday night from a month's visit with her parents at Palestine, Ill. A sister whose home is at Pine Bluff, Ark., made the trip with her. Their father, who had been seriously ill for a long time, was a little better when they left. Walker Henry, formerly of Desdemona, but now of Lawrenceville, Ind., came with Mrs. Williams and after leaving her sister at Pine Bluff they went to Little Rock to visit Mrs. J. H. Rushing, Sr., at the Research hospital, and found her improving but still very weak. Weidon Rushing, who had gone there with his mother, came home with Mrs. Williams and after visiting with friends and relatives Saturday he left that evening for his work at Lake Charles, La.

Rev. and Mrs. Z. M. Howell and daughter, Miss Lois Howell, of Gordon, were among the large number who came to the homecoming Saturday. Rev. Howell was pastor of the Methodist church here from November, 1932 until November, 1934, and he and his family will always be welcome visitors here.

Rev. and Mrs. Sherrod Stover and baby son, Billy, left early on Saturday for their home at Morris, Okla., after having visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Stover, several days.

Glenn Malthy, who has been employed at Freer the past few months, spent the week-end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Malthy. Carl Robert came with Glen and visited the Malthy family and other friends. Not only their schoolmates, but their friends among the older people also, were delighted to see the two boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Emde of London, Texas, were here for the homecoming and to visit his mother, Mrs. Mollie Emde.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stewart and baby daughter, left Sunday morning for their home at Penwell after having visited here two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maborn Wilcoxson, and with his parents, who live a few miles south of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stover of Conroe, Texas, left Sunday for their home after having visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Stover, two days.

Mrs. David Parks returned on Wednesday from Lamesa, where she had been with her father, Mr. Williams, who was taken there when he was able to leave the Midland hospital.

The Methodist Missionary society met Monday afternoon at the church and had the world outlook program, which was led by Miss Mollie O'Rear. Others who took part in the program were Mrs. W. H. Whitworth and Mrs. Preston Sparks. During a short business session it was voted to help buy an oil mop for the church and it was stated that a new supply of Betty Brites had been received and were ready for sale.

Mrs. M. R. Dunlap of Breckenridge was the guest of her mother, Mrs. S. E. Browning, and family, Saturday.

Luther McMillan of O'Donnell, Loren and Ellis McMillan, of Hernalche, Mrs. J. R. Duncan and son, Jimmy, and Cieta Fern Anderson of DeLeon, were guests of Wiley Powers and family Saturday. Other guests during the week were S. S. and O. C. Powers of Hobbs, N. M., Payton and Dan Powers of Lubbock, and M. H. Powers of Lamesa.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Bruce returned on Tuesday afternoon of last week from their vacation trip. During the two weeks they were gone they visited their daughter, Mrs. R. D. Hendrickson, and family, at Port Arthur, and their youngest daughter, Virginia Bruce who is staying at her sister's home while attending Port Arthur Business College. From there they went to Louisiana, where they visited at several places, the last one being Shreveport. While in Louisiana, Mr. Bruce visited his only brother and two aunts, whom he had not seen for 49 years, and he recognized both of them, but they did not recognize him, as he was a very small boy when they saw him the last time. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce also visited their oldest daughter, Mrs. Bill McKain, and family, at Gladewater.

O. B. Hughes and Walter Hughes of Dallas spent the week-end here with their sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Patterson.

Mrs. Joe Gibson is able to sit up part of each day after having been very ill last week. Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Key returned Friday from San Angelo, where they had visited Mrs. J. H. Key, the only living aunt of Mr. Key. He had not seen her for eight years. While there his aunt showed him a quilt she had pieced that had 6,313 blocks in it. That was her 17th quilt to piece in the last 10 years, making 106,321 blocks used in these quilts.

Mrs. Lark Bishop and daughter, Mrs. Williams, both from Morgan, and her son, Arnold, of Cleburne, visited quite a few old friends here Sunday. They had come for the homecoming but had been mistaken about the date.

Edward May and family of Amarillo visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. May, a few days last week, staying over for the homecoming, where they visited many old friends.

A. A. Brown and wife, of Munday, Texas, were guests of her

Big Apple Is a New Crazy Danceweeping Country

BY JOSEPH L. MYLER

Special Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — It started in S. C. A. few days later as reported in a college town, as it began to appear in cities up and down the coast.

It has become epidemic of the entire Eastern seaboard from Key West to Bangor, and there was every indication that it would sweep inland and keep going until it struck the opposite coast.

One felt any alarm at first of operators of dance halls and newly constructed buildings, they were afraid it would wreck

the places. Many put up signs which read:

"Please don't big apple here."

The Big Apple is a dance. It is a primitive dance, so unless you're ready to "go to town" try it. It calls for everything you've got in the way of muscular energy, spiritual abandonement and looseness of the joints.

The Big Apple was put together in Columbia in a Negro night club, which gave the dance its name. It combines the most violent and indecorous qualities of Charleston, the Black Bottom, skin, the Sui-Q, the Shaz, and overtones vaguely reminiscent of the Virginia Reel and the Blue Danes.

Some college boys went slum-ming to the dance. A prom was being held. They took notes.

It spread north and south of the coast and recently hit them where it became a No.

one dance.

With some of the more barbaric ones softened a bit, the big apple moved into metropolitan clubs, and managers of such spots as the Rainbow room of the Starlight roof even now

keep their fingers crossed it penetrate there.

Two persons in a pinch—on a small island, say—could "apple,"

the dance was intended, according to Helen Taylor of the Star Murray dancing school, to a group of at least eight or 10 persons.

Gypsy Rose Gets Another Name

en lead to "cutting around," and frequently end in mishaps.

I have seen a driver, rushed by an insistent horn behind him, pull out into heavy traffic without a proper wait, and damage his own car and another, while the horn-blower took advantage of the confusion and went his merry way.

And almost everybody has seen a driver, startled by a blast from the rear, swerve so suddenly as to endanger himself and others as well.

Proper use of the horn would probably be more general, if every driver would remember that others on the streets naturally judge him largely by the way he drives, and especially by his horn technique, since that comes forcibly to their attention, via the ear. The use of a warning signal when about to pass is legal and proper; but there is no reason why it should be an insistent, ear-splitting blast that says: "Out of my way! Here I come!" Neither is there justification for that other practice, prevalent in some sections, of leaning hard on the horn button when the light change from red to green, to hasten the starting of the cars up in front.

The horn is a useful accessory, and one that should be kept in order. Whether or not it makes its full contribution to the safety and pleasure of driving depends upon the restraint and judgment with which it is used.

Hollywood censors changed her name to Louise Hovick when Gypsy Rose Lee, former queen of New York's strip teases, moved to movieland, but Gypsy added another name by a dramatic ocean elopement with Robert Mitty, son of an eastern manufacturer. The couple, shown above, were informed that their madcap wedding did not comply with California marriage license laws and a second ceremony was necessary.

'The Little Woman' Handles Bankroll, Auto Salesmen Say

By United Press

LONGVIEW, Texas.—"The Little woman" has a half-Nelson on the nation's cash, according to a survey made of Longview auto-mobile business.

Salesmen here claim women dictate the terms under which 90 per cent of the money is spent for cars and their upkeep.

A veteran salesman said that whenever a man came to his lot to buy a car, his first question was "Are you married?"

It is seldom that women first appear on the scene when the family contemplates buying a new car. The husband goes first. Then "the little woman" is shown the car, and more times than not, she demands to see another car and usually buys one of her own choice.

The man seeks information concerning the mechanism, construction, number of main bearings, wheel base and approximate mileage on gasoline.

The woman asks two questions. How fast will it run? How much is it worth? Immediately upon approaching the car, the woman will

Sheriffs Opposed To the Fee System

By United Press

FORT WORTH, Texas.—Most Texas sheriffs are against the proposed return to a fee system, to be voted upon in a general election August 23, according to J. B. Arnold of Beeville, president of the Texas sheriffs' association.

Arnold toured the state sounding sentiment for and against the fee system of payment of their services.

"I find that a large majority of our sheriffs are against the fee amendment," said Arnold. "We hope that the time will come when every office holder will be placed on a salary. A man on a straight salary can make arrests as his conscience dictates, without facing criticism of fee grabbing."

The Texas legislature two years ago ordered the fee system abolished, except in counties of less than 20,000 population under the 1930 census.

What, no celebration for the mid-August official opening of hay fever season?

Wonder if that Los Angeles recruiting agent for the Peiping air force doesn't make the Japanese Red?

Relief Clients Got a Big Onion Supply

By United Press

COLLEGE STATION, Texas.—Families on relief rolls are seasoning their meals plentifully with onions these days, if they are following through on the purchases of the federal surplus commodities corporation division of the agricultural adjustment administration.

The corporation purchased 358 carloads or 9,129,000 pounds of Texas onions during the past growing season when it became evident the onion market would be burdened by current supplies in excess of normal consumption.

Record Is Spoiled For City Employee

By United Press

FORT WORTH, Texas.—N. M. Walker, city health department employe, had his perfect average spoiled recently when a dog bit him. Walker accompanied the dog-catcher on all calls to investigate the possibilities of rabies. In four years, he made 3,000 calls.

He visited a suburban neighborhood "to investigate a stray fox terrier" and came back to report that he was bitten on the leg. The injury was not serious.

Engineer Gives Views On the Use of Horns When Traffic Heavy

BY J. M. CRAWFORD

Chief Engineer

Only a few days ago, the newspapers carried a story about a man who has made a 17,000-mile motor trip without once blowing his horn. This driver emphasized the point that he handled his car in such a way as to obviate the need of warning signals at any time. And in spite of the fact that all cars have horns as standard equipment today, his example is one which the average motorist could profitably study and heed.

Driving, under the traffic conditions which prevail in most places today, is a job which requires the undivided attention of the man or woman at the wheel. The modern car is built to respond quickly to the various controls; but the controls themselves still have to be operated by human agency, and it is just as vital as it ever was that the driver concentrate on driving. He can do this best if he maintains a calm state of mind. And it is hard to remain calm and cool when horns are screeching on all sides.

There can be no denial that the over-use of horns runs counter to the interests of safety. For one thing, it is a far-from-soothing influence. It tends to confuse and hurry traffic. It reflects the impatience of the horn-tooter, and communicates that impatience to others. Startled by the sound of a horn at close quarters, a motorist will frequently pull over too suddenly, endangering his own car and others. Or if he reacts in the other of the two most common ways and gets angry, he will probably refuse to get over at all, and you have one of those private feuds which oft-

As Court Freed 'Duce's Friend'

Ordered to pay damages of four cents and a fine of $3.75, Mme. Madeleine Fontages, French actress, writer, and friend of Mussolini, is shown above as the court suspended a one-year prison sentence at the close of her trial for the shooting of Count Charles Pineton de Chambrun, former French ambassador to Rome. Her trial threatened to stir European diplomatic circles, for Mme. Fontages had told police she shot the ambassador because he shattered "unforgettable hours of love" with Il Duce.

Not Making Trouble Mertis Reward, Too

Wondering just how many persons in the vicinity of Detroit had, like himself, lived 70 years or more without being arrested, one John A. Williams, 76, decided that the best way to find out would be through a letter to the editor of a newspaper.

The letter was published and in due time Mr. Williams began to get answers. In fact, so many answers from people who could meet the stringent qualifications, that Mr. Williams was impelled to organize them into a club.

Now in these days almost any kind of an excuse will start someone organizing something which, nine times out of ten, is nothing more than a dues-collecting scheme. But a club of people who have never been arrested somehow is different. And its virtue is that it lays the foundation for a monument to one of the most deserving varieties of the "forgotten man."

Enormous portions of the nation's talents and resources are being devoted to cutting down the activities of the gangster, the murderer, the bandit and the parole-breaker. They are held constantly in ridicule before the public, as examples of lawlessness.

But comparatively little has been done to popularize the career of the law-abiding citizen or make him the model for positive education in the principles of progressive civilization.

It is when he is contrasted against his opposite that the man who has never been arrested assumes his real proportions. In general he is the man who does not kidnap children. He does not rob banks, run gambling houses, sell liquor to minors or break traffic laws. He does not run up the taxpayer's bill in lengthy trials or prison maintenance. He is the fellow who does not slug pedestrians along dark streets or shoot G-Men or write bad checks.

In summary, he is the fellow who has not caused every civilized nation most of its household grief and has not cost that nation appalling sums in money and misery.

Of course, there are many who have committed illegal acts and got off scot free. And there are others who have been haled before the judgment bench when they were perfectly innocent.

But when account is taken of all exceptions, there still remains a large section of the population whose clean record with the law attests its value as a bulwark to the national morals.

Other heroes have been eulogized and their status set up in the name of other noble causes. But the award of high distinction for the man who has just simply kept out of trouble all his life is strangely missing.

Beautiful but dumb thinks the Rural Electrification Administration was formed to help farmers shock their wheat.

20-Year-Old Pitcher Strikes Out 10 In Defeating Hanlon Eight to One

A 20-year-old pitcher, Johnson, spelled an eight to one defeat on Thursday night to the Hanlon Gasoline team of Breckenridge which played Marathon on Eliasville in the A. S. A. district tournament at Eastland.

Hanlon, which had been favored by many fans as the probable winner of the tournament, collected only three hits. Johnson's swift underhand ball netted him 10 strikeouts.

Puryear and Teague together got seven strikeouts for Hanlon.

Marathon had protested Goodwin and Hanlon protested the opposition pitcher. Hanlon's sole run was from an error of Eliasville's roving short. A wild pitch by the short when a man was on third was the error.

Elks club of Ranger won the other game of the evening from Alexander-Hill of Breckenridge, 9 to 4.

Umpires were Owen, Parrack, Garrison and Wright.

Negro Boy Steals In Prosecutor's Office

CLEBURNE, Texas—A negro boy, 12, who took $1 from the purse of Janie Odom here was no respecter of authority. Iowa Borrows An Expert Upon Bees Speech Instructor At Baylor Named AMES, Ia.—Agricultural experts who have been breeding bees for disease resistance at Iowa State College for the past two years have appointed an international authority on bee-keeping, Gaston Lamarre, Quebec, to assist them in their research studies.

Lamarre, extension apiarist of Quebec Provincial department of agriculture, has enrolled at Iowa State as graduate student.

In addition to the scientists at the college, the U. S. Bureau of Entomology and the experiment stations of Texas, Wyoming and Wisconsin are participating in the experiments.

Zoologists and plant pathologists are working to develop a strain of bees resistant to the American foul brood disease.

Hope for the ultimate success of the project lies in two facts already established by the Iowa State experiments. They are:

- 1. That some bees already possess disease resistance. 2. Such disease resistance can be inherited.

Mr. Weaver, whose main interests lie in dramatics and writing, received his bachelor's arts degree in 1929 at the College of Washington. He received his Ph. D. at the University of Washington in 1931. For years he has held a position with the Nebraska State Teachers College at Kearney, Nebraska.

Mr. Baker will return to Ames after a year of graduate work at Yale, President Neff said.

There is no known method combating the American foul brood disease, which experts are capable of destroying an average bee colony.

At the present time, Lamarre and Howard Shipton, Iowa bee inspector, are in eastern Iowa making a series of observations and inspections of bee colonies.

Oatmeal Chosen For Lively Dionne Quins

Every day the Dionne Quins show the world that they are rapidly developing distinct personalities and individual traits. Mischievous Emile, for example, is the won't-go-to-bed type. She has been known to crawl out of bed as often as seventy times in one night. Yvonne's theme song is "Old rocking chair's got me," for she loves to rock back and forth in her tiny chair. Shy Marie likes to show her strength by pulling the others around in a little wagon. Cecile is the music-lover, and Annette is little Miss Independent, who refuses to move an inch if she's not in the mood. The quins may resemble one another in appearance, but in action—never. Each is a big bundle of energy.

Careful supervision of food is one of the reasons why the quins have developed into five little live-wires. Ever since their birth they have had carefully selected food. Oatmeal, for example, has been selected as their cereal for breakfast. And oatmeal, as child experts know, is rich in Vitamin B, the vitamin which protects children against constipation, nervousness and poor appetite due to lack of that vitamin. Oatmeal with milk is recognized as a fine source of body-building minerals, muscle-building protein and energy-making carbohydrates. And so every day the quins have on their table big bowls full of Quaker Oats.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Water Bath Method of Canning.
The water bath method may be used in canning acid foods such as tomatoes, states Johnnie Nix, garden demonstrator of the Norton Valley Club. "The water bath method consists of boiling the filled cans or jars for a definite period of time in a water boiler. A wash boiler, tub, bucket or other large utensil with a well fitted lid and a wire rack in the bottom to permit the water to circulate under the jars may be used. The rack is needed for even processing and to prevent jars from breaking."

Containers.
"New lid for glass jars each year are desirable," states Rosa Mae Harbin, garden cooperator of the Flatwoods Girls' 4-H Club. "Rubber rings or composition tops should be new to get the best results. The rims should be free from nicks and chips. The tops should fit and the balls be tight."

Temperature.
"Over cooked tomatoes rise to the top of the jar," states Addie Spurlen, garden cooperator of the Olden club. "The pint and quart glass jars should be processed 40 minutes in boiling water and process No. 2 and 3 cans for 35 minutes. However, if the tomatoes are of excellent quality, free from cracks and bad places, which have ripened evenly on the vine, a better canned product is obtained if processed only 25 minutes."

CHAPTER VIII
QUICKLY completing the repair job, Pat put away his hammer and tacks and marched up to Bob's room. As the young man opened the door, the janitor put his stubby finger mysteriously to his lips and, coming in, closed the door carefully behind him.

"It's meself would like a little private conversation with ye, Mc-Tavish," he said.

Bob looked surprised. "What's up? The police on my trail or something?"

Pat grinned. "Not a-tall, a-tall, though before long maybe they will be comin' after some others 'round here."

"You heard about what happened then at the party?"

"Miss Kathy was tillin' me something about it," was the Irishman's guarded reply. "But gurls don't always git things straight now."

"I'll say they don't," Bob frowned darkly and walked over to his desk for a match. "That slippery guy sure seemed to pull the wool over her eyes. She probably didn't tell you how he got me in bad, did she?"

seen it before. Then he shook his head soberly. "It ain't that a-tall, Mc-Tavish. It's because she's hurt thinkin' ye passed her up for that fuzzy-headed Duchess. Ye didn't do much talkin' to her, now did ye?"

"No," Bob's tone showed his exasperation. "The Duchess cornered me as soon as I got there, and I couldn't break away without walking over her. You know how some women are."

"Begorrah I do, me boy," Pat assured him gravely. "But not Miss Kathy's kind now. She'd never run after no man."

"She doesn't have to. Bracey will jolly well see to that. He hardly let her out of his sight all afternoon."

"And ye think that pleased her now? It did not. She was likely hopin' ye'd be sparin' her some o' yer time. We got to be takin' steps to put that feller where he belongs—where he can't be forcin' himself on Miss Kathy, see."

"If it can be done," answered Bob slowly. "You know I believe I've seen him some place before. Thought so the first time I ever clapped eyes on him, but couldn't be sure. You know how you get that feeling about people sometimes. Even 'tho' dog don't care for him, he'd like nothing better than to take a slash at him. Growled first thing when he saw him again at the party."

Pat nodded. "And it's dogs know more than the folks around them. That feller is after something. Mark me word. And I'm thinkin' it's something the Duchess has. That's why he made a play for Miss Kathy to draw ye off, if the ither dame was givin' ye a lot o' blarney, see."

A GLEAM showed in Bob's eyes. "You think so, Pat? I wonder—"

She knows her way about and don't ye be forgettin' it. Ain't none o' them can outsmart her."

"She wears some pretty classy jewelry."

"And she'll wear bigger and better stones when she throws the fancy dress ball she's been plannin' for months. It's goin' to tear the place wide open, what with electricians, and decorators, and caterers, and sich. The Duchess spends money like water when she sets out to do anything."

"Well, that's okay by me," Bob shrugged. "After smakin' up her picture, she'll not be apt to invite me again. I certainly wouldn't go if she did. Once is plenty enough for me."

Pat leaned forward. "Not if ye thought ye'd be doin' Miss Kathy a favor now? I got a job helpin' the electrician so I can keep an eye on what's goin' on. And Bracey's bound to see Miss Kathy's invited. It's to be an artists' ball, which means all sorts of cut-ups. The Duchess is goin' to wear her emerald. They say it's big as a hen's egg and worth so much it'd give ye a pain in the head a thinkin' o' it."

"Let her wear it for all me," Bob replied. "I've got entirely too many things to do to take any more time out for her fool parties."

"Like iver ither honest man," Pat said. "But better remember all the men what come to this house may not be so honest, and we got to watch out fer Miss Kathy."

BOB did not answer, so Pat took his departure hoping fervently he had given Bob something to think about. If he could have seen the young man's worried frown after the door closed, he would have felt confident he had succeeded. The thought that Kathleen cared how he felt about the Duchess sent a warm glow over Bob. She must have said something to give the little old Irishman such a notion, though Bob suspected that Pat's commonplace exterior concealed a very sentimental heart. He had seen him privately bringing tid-bits for Schmatz, all the time assuming a studied indifference toward the dog, which only the terrier's eloquent tail disproved.

But this Bracey fellow, and that persistent feeling that he had seen him before—Bob stared out of the window thoughtfully.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY HARRY GRAYSON Sports Editor, NEA Service

NEW YORK—Mike Jacobs, the new Tex Rickard, has saved more Broadway productions than he could count, but rarely attends a theater for the purpose of seeing one.

He prefers a movie, where he can catch a nap and snore all over the place.

Jacobs made a fortune in ticket speculating because he always has been a good judge of what the public wants.

When Arnold Rothstein refused Ann Nichols a $20,000 advance without security for a half interest in "Abie's Irish Rose," Jacobs came to the rescue by buying up the choicest seats for nights to come, and the memorable play was on its way.

Jacobs came by his pre-eminent position in pugilism naturally. He was closely associated with Tex Rickard from the time of the Jess Willard-Frank Moran fight at the old Garden in 1916 until the master promoter's death.

Before guaranteeing Jack Dempsey $300,000 and Georges Carpentier $200,000, Rickard had Charles E. Cochran of London, William A. Brady, and John Ringling as partners.

They backed out.

It was then that Jacobs showed Rickard what to do with tickets. He purchased most of the better ones, and Old Tedge operated on the advance sale.

WHEN Jacobs openly entered the New York fistic promotional field with the Barney Ross-Billy Petrolle scrap in the winter of 1933-4, it was inevitable that he eventually would take over Madison Square Garden and its bowl in Queens.

The fellow has been outworking and outsmarting other people all his life.

Mike Jacobs sold newspapers and worked in the circulation department of a New York daily. He peddled excursion boat tickets along the waterfront, leased catering privileges aboard them, and then ran boats of his own.

His success in the ticket scalping racket was spurred by a favorable connection in the Metropolitan Opera House. He once sold two season tickets for $5000 to show a $4000 profit.

JACOBS is a bundle of nerves and occasional crabby spells are due to attacks of sinus. He goes far out of his way to apologize after snapping at someone.

Uncle Mike, as Joe Louis calls him, can't sit still at the most important conference. He'll ankle out, walk down the hall or around the block, but upon his return will pick up the conversation just as though he had been present all the while.

Jacobs ordinarily retires at 11 p. m., but even when he does the dawn patrol, he's up at 7, and at his desk by 9.

When he goes to lunch or dinner downtown, he takes everybody in sight with him, and goes top cabin.

Business is good when Mike Jacobs walks fast, and he hasn't been in second gear since he was a boy.

Radio Artists Home
For Visit:
Misses Marjorie Clark and Margaret Adkins, are home for a visit before returning to WFAA in early September where they are under contract for a three months program sponsored by the Texas quality networks. Since their stay in Fort Worth and Dallas they have been busily engaged in interesting radio work. The third member of the Swing trio is Tommye Thompson who remains in Dallas while Miss Clark hopes to make a rapid recovery from a throat ailment aggravated through a sinus infection which she has received treatment for while at Dallas.

There's little doubt as to their future success and results to be attained by those who have listened to their programs. The Ranger girls who are well known here admit they are happy to again be home for visits with their parents and friends who are intensely interested in their fall schedule of radio work.

Local Members Enjoy Rev. Tally's Sermon
At DeLeon Thursday Night
A group of some sixty members of the local First Baptist church motored to DeLeon Thursday night and heard a very fine sermon delivered by their pastor, the Rev. Charles Talley, Jr., who recently came to Ranger to serve as pastor of the local church.

This marks the second week of the revival at the Baptist church at DeLeon being conducted by the forceful speaker, Rev. Tally. In appreciation of the local members visit, Rev. and Mrs. Tally served delicious chilled watermelons at the close of the service.

Sunday night the pastor from DeLeon, Rev. Alexander, will have charge of the service at the First Baptist church here.
Among those attending the service in Ranger last Sunday were several visitors who declare the visiting pastor an outstanding and interesting speaker.

Fish Fry Compliment
From Rev. and Mrs. Stephens.
Every member of Central Baptist church as well as those of all Sunday school departments, have been extended invitations to be present at the Willows this evening for a fish fry, the compliment of Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Stephens, who returned home Wednesday from a ten-day visit to the Gulf coast, where the pastor caught and brought back three hundred pounds of fish.

HAM prices have leaped to the moon. But we can do something about it. Use a little less ham and a little more of cheaper foods together. The result—ham on the menu and still some money in the bank.

Ham and Corn Pudding
(4 to 6 servings)
Two cups creamy canned corn, 1-2 cup whole milk, 1-4 cup chopped green pepper, 1 cup chopped cooked ham, salt and pepper to taste, 2 eggs.
Mix corn, ham, peppers together. Beat eggs until light, add milk and beat again. Fold corn and ham mixture into egg mixture and combine thoroughly. Season. Grease casserole and turn in corn and ham mixture. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for about 25 minutes, until firm to touch.

Veal is cheap while ham is high. Combine the two and strike a happy medium.

Ham and Veal Pie
(4 to 6 servings)
One and one-half pounds veal (weighed without bone), 1-2 pound ham, 2 large onions, 1-2 clove garlic, 1 green pepper, 2 large raw potatoes, cubed, 1 large carrot, cubed, 1 cup stale bread crumbs, mustard, salt and pepper, 1-8 teaspoon ground cloves.
Place veal in saucepan, cover with water, add spices and simmer until tender. Fry ham, then using ham drippings, fry chopped pepper, and onion, garlic. Strain

The huge liner President Hoover, above, of the Dollar Line, was enroute from Manila to Shanghai under forced draft to aid in the removal of American nationals from the shell menaced city. A company of marines was aboard to augment the U. S. forces in Shanghai. Accommodations for more than 1000 refugees will be available aboard the ship.

Montana Cave Has 12 Levels

BUTTE, Mont.—Another huge chamber has been opened in Morrison cave by the national park service—the fourth since the government began development activities two years ago.

The cave, in southwestern Montana, is the third largest in size and beauty in the United States. If the discovery development of the chambers continues park officials said it is possible that the cave will become the largest and the most beautiful in the country.

The original cave, which was discovered by Lewis and Clark and later developed by Allan and Daniel Morrison, has 12 floors of varying sizes, each about 300 feet long and 30 feet wide. The first new chamber which was opened, named the Paradise room, measured 260 by 358 feet.

Named Hell's Half Acre
The second discovery, called Hell's Half Acre, was reported to be larger than the Paradise room. Then came Land's End and the Bacon rooms. Hell's Half Acre is 1,000 feet long and 30 feet wide.

The fourth chamber, which will possibly be called the Sacajawea room, has been only partly explored. Sufficient investigation has been done, however, to justify the belief that it is not only immense in size, but beautiful in its formations.

"We'll have to go some to beat the Carlsbad cave in New Mexico," a park service employee said.

Thrones in Many Colors
Beautiful formations of stalactites and stalagmites have already been found in the new rooms, besides arches, pillars, frescoes, thrones in a maze of colorful combinations and materials.

The cave is the property of the state. It was turned over to the state park board following passage by congress of a bill introduced by Sen. Burton K. Wheeler. The national park service, however, continues to supervise development and provide funds to carry on the work.
