BRITISH ORDER OUTLAW 'SUB' SUNK AT ONCE

LONDON, Sept. 2. (SPL)—A British war fleet searched the Mediterranean tonight with barred guns and official freedom to sink an unidentified submarine that fired a torpedo at the destroyer Havock.

Quarters close to the admiralty indicated that the mysterious submarine would be sunk if possible. The government considered such a step "entirely justified" after the submarine's crew has been removed.

Britain was incensed by the attack off the Spanish coast, the latest of a series of raids on ships flying the British flag on the empire "life line." There was mounting pressure on the government to stiffen its resistance to "these promiscuous acts of barbarism."

Sight Ships in Search
At least eight swift destroyers were rushed into the search and each commander was told explicitly that he was free to use his own judgment.

All the destroyers were equipped with depth charges capable of sinking a submerged submarine and guns heavy enough to blast it off the surface.

An unknown number of other warships sped into the western Mediterranean near where the Havock was fired on between Alicante and Valencia on the east coast of Spain.

Others stood by for orders close to the search area and the whole Mediterranean fleet, available for instant duty, was conducting maneuvers off the Dalmatian and Italian coasts. A cruiser squadron was at anchor off Venice.

Book Freighter Bombed
At about the same time the book freighter Tsepou, about 20 miles north of Barcelona, the Tsepou, carrying a munitions cargo to the Spanish government, was beached escaping from the attack. Her helmsman was killed and another seaman wounded.

Among a large number of merchant vessels attacked on the open Mediterranean, there have been at least 25 ships of British registry or operated by British interests.

The attack on the Havock was the eighteenth on a foreign vessel since Aug. 1.

French quarters in London expressed hope that the attack on the Havock would incite Britain to action against sea raids in the Mediterranean. They said "exchanges with this in view are proceeding between London and Paris."

Brazos Dam Power Talked

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Senator Sheppard of Texas and representatives of the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District discussed with Power Commission engineers today disposal of the hydroelectric power to be generated at the projected "Pomum Kingdom" dam on the Brazos river in Texas.

Chairman Frank R. McNinch announced later the commission in a few days would send rate and power engineers to the Brazos district to inspect the project and get first-hand knowledge of conditions there.

Hole in One Made By Breck Golfer

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Sept. 2. (SPL)—Merle Brown, Breckenridge golfer, paid his respects to the local hole-in-one club yesterday by making his second one on the country club course.

He shot an ace on the No. 1, 175 yard hole, par three. It was the same hole he made one other some time ago to join the club, and the same which Winter Wood recently shot in one.

Brown was playing with W. S. Heard, Walker Castleman and Bill Allison who followed with 2, 3, 4, in the order named.

Postpone Fair at Crocker on Friday

Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstration agent, Thursday was advised the community fair scheduled for Friday at Crocker has been postponed because of peanut harvesting.

No new date has been set.

U. S. HEEDS JAP 'STAY OUT' ORDER

After Japanese warned foreign shipping to send forces to see that civilians stay out of fighting zones in China, American naval forces announced today that vessels under the U. S. flag entering Shanghai would be exported by warship.

All foreigners were warned to stay away from the border of the international settlement because Japan intends to silence the Chinese batteries.

Terrific fighting was going on north of Shanghai where the eloquent Chinese blocked the advance of the Japanese.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 2.—(Thursday)—Heavily reinforced Japanese early today blasted at Chinese concentrations to open the way for a concerted drive over the entire Shanghai front.

Hostilities in this sector, now nearing the end of the third week, seemed pointed toward an imminent climax.

Fires lighted the skies as Japanese warplanes dropped incendiary bombs in an effort to clear out Chinese from the Hongkew area, north of the International Settlement, while naval gunners shelled adjacent Chapel.

The new Japanese drive designed to clear Chinese forces out of the entire lower Yangtze River Valley followed a warning from the Japanese navy it was extending its operations to all China.

A spokesman said the navy intended to launch air attacks against all Chinese airdromes and bases of military operations.

Shipping Warned
The Japanese navy also warned all foreign shipping to steer clear of Japanese naval concentrations in the Whangpoo River and the Yangtze Estuary, the avenue of escape for evacuating refugees, and announced future developments may compel more stringent action in dealing with shipments of arms and munitions to China.

The Japanese navy also warned all foreign shipping to steer clear of Japanese naval concentrations in the Whangpoo River and the Yangtze Estuary, the avenue of escape for evacuating refugees, and announced future developments may compel more stringent action in dealing with shipments of arms and munitions to China.

LOCAL AREA DUE SEARCH FOR AIRMAN

GRAPELAND, Sept. 2.—Searching parties today pushed through the dense pine forest that holds the mystery of what happened to Cadet Guy Edgerton, missing Kelly Field student flier.

Major J. V. Hart, directing the plane search, said fliers would checkboard the area north from San Antonio to Ranger.

"Unless he lost his route and crashed into the Gulf of Mexico we'll find him," Major Hart declared.

Disposal of Power Talked by Officials

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 2.—Senator Morris Sheppard, John McCall of Dallas, attorney, and John A. Norris, general manager of the Brazos River conservation district, conferred Wednesday with Roger McWhorter, engineer of the federal power commission, regarding disposal of electric power from Pomum Kingdom dam.

The federal commission will act in an advisory capacity in establishing rates.

The discussion entered on estimates on cost and production and tentative plans to dispose of power. It was not proposed to build any distribution system but to sell the power at wholesale at the generating plants.

Chinese Typhoon Kills 100 People

HONGKONG, Sept. 2.—The worst typhoon in history struck today, killing more than 100, wrecking cities and causing heavy damage to ships in the harbor.

He took the action before taking a cruise down the Hudson river.

Chief Secretary To Garrett Back From Washington

J. W. Cockrill, chief secretary to Congressman Clyde L. Garrett, back from Washington, stated Thursday he will make Eastland his headquarters until the next session.

Congressman Garrett is busy with departmental work at Washington and has not decided upon the date for his return to his home at Eastland, Cockrill stated.

Indications of leaders point to the assembly of representatives and senators for a special session in November, the secretary stated.

Mrs. Cockrill is in Austin where a daughter, Mrs. Billy Hamrick, and her husband are attending the University of Texas. Mrs. Cockrill will return to Eastland in about 10 days.

The congressman's secretary described Washington life as arduous. Prices, he commented, are especially high. The capitol is one of the most expensive cities in the nation.

Sam Conner of Eastland, assistant secretary to Congressman Garrett, is still in Washington. Cockrill is staying at the Connelley hotel.

Chicago Theatres Barring Children As Virus Spreads

Sam Baugh Will Toss 'Em At Cotton Bowl

Football fans of West Texas are planning to move in thousands to Dallas on Labor Day to see Sammy Baugh, all American quarterback, in action against the Chicago Bears in the Pan American Exposition's Cotton Bowl.

"Slingshot Sammy" became a national sensation Wednesday night when he starred for the American all star team against the Green Bay Packers in Chicago.

He will be one of the featured players of Matty Bell and Dutch Meyers Southwestern All Star team here September sixth. Special trains will be run from West Texas points to Dallas for the occasion.

Sweetwater, Baugh's birthplace is the first West Texas town to arrange a special and others are following suit. There will be special week-end railroad rates to Dallas. There are plenty of excellent seats available at the Cotton Bowl which seats 46,000 people.

Spur Station Is Visited by Group

The Spur experiment station, under Superintendent R. E. Dickson, which was to be visited on Wednesday by the group of Eastland county farmers, has pioneered in soil and water conservation practices.

The practice of contour listing native pasture land, which is becoming popular in Eastland county, was originated by Dickson.

Pasture land contour listed in furrows 40 inches apart has made more than twice as much grazing as land not listed. The furrows grass over in a seasonable year.

A few Eastland county farmers and ranchers who are using this practice are Frank Harrell and George Fee of Cisco, Dr. W. S. Carter, Cecil Shults and Bruce Eberhart of Rising Star, Oscar Schaefer of Nimrod and Dr. M. L. Stubblefield of Gorman.

Improved Oats Are Allotted to County

Thirty bushels of improved Nortex oats have been allotted County Agent Cook for distribution in Eastland county by P. B. Dunkle, superintendent of the Denton experiment station.

It is intended that these seed be placed with farmers who are interested in keeping them pure and producing state certified seed.

Improved Nortex oats have out-yielded Nortex oats several bushels per acre at the Denton station, it was explained. Nortex oats, which were developed by the Denton station about ten years ago, have been the most popular variety in Texas.

Cleaner Cotton Raises Value

STONEVILLE, Miss.—More efficient ginning would increase greatly the annual cotton income by improving the quality of the lint, government officials at the U. S. laboratory here believe.

These experts feel they have gained proof from tests which indicate the value would be raised as much as $4.50 a bale, depending on the current prices.

"More use of gin saws and brushes in good condition and the use of lose seed roll ginning would have beneficial effects," it was explained.

The officials said cotton had been increased $1 a bale in their tests merely by cleaning the cotton which had been picked under trashy conditions.

Farmers Are Burned Fatally at Brenham

BRENHAM, Sept. 2.—Rudolph and Fritz Winkelman, farmers were burned today when fire destroyed the two-story home of their parents.

Rudolph, 40, was trapped in flames. Fritz, 25, fled from the burning building, but died in a hospital. Origin of the blaze was unknown.

Post office authorities announce today no mail will be delivered on Sept. 6 as it is a National holiday.

Forged a Check and Got a Job

There's a big reason for the grin, becomingly worn by Betty Jane Wasson, above, former University of Minnesota co-ed. Charged by Seattle, Wash., authorities with a $6-check forgery, Betty Jane had to get a job to forestall prosecution. Police broadcast an appeal in her behalf—several offers were received—and you see Betty Jane smiling her gratitude from behind the counter of a Seattle florist's shop.

PROTECTION OF SHIPPING BRITAIN AIM

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Three members of the cabinet decided today to send naval reinforcement to the Mediterranean sea to furnish protection to British shipping after another ship, the Woodruff was sunk by an unidentified submarine.

The ministers also decided to reinforce the destroyer strength in the western Mediterranean as a result of the sinking.

The Woodruff was struck by two torpedoes. The ship sank immediately, carrying with it the second engineer.

Valencia, Spain, reported nine other members of the crew were wounded. The crew was landed in lifeboats on the coast above Valencia.

It was announced that the British government has accepted a French government invitation to consider attacks on shipping in the Mediterranean. The meeting will be held at Geneva about Sept. 10.

It was pointed out the British acceptance indicates the country's willingness to complete the naval occupation of the Mediterranean and to end "piracy."

PARIS, Sept. 2.—It was reported from Algeria today that the British cruiser Galtea had been attacked by an unidentified submarine. No details were given.

No News From Police Dept. Says Chief

Jim Ingram, chief of police of Ranger, when asked for some news of interest for the public, squared himself and said: "Well, there is nothing of interest going on in the police department. We have just about cleared all stealing and robbery complaints and put most of the boys in jail that have been charged with minor offenses, so you can see when we catch all suspects and let the law take its course, the boys are a bit careful about taking too many chances."

Schmeling-Farr At Dallas Talked

DALLAS, Sept. 2.—Max Schmeling was offered $100,000 today to meet Tommy Farr here in the Cotton Bowl at the Pan American Exposition during October.

W. H. Johnson, Dallas business man who made the offer, said Schmeling would give a reply today.

NO SESSION MINUS WORK SAYS JIMMY

AUSTIN, Sept. 2.—Gov. Alred today announced he would not call a special tax session of the solons "if the legislators were not going to do anything."

Gov. Alred then revised his statement to implicate a possible delay. He said he could not believe the members will fail to realize the tax conditions.

"I do not want to call a special session unless the legislators are going to do something," said Alred.

He said the session might be delayed until Sept. 27.

His statement, he said, was caused by reading newspaper interviews and hearing radio talks against taxation.

"I will announce the date as soon as I can assemble the report," Alred said finally. "I want to see how the financial situation and lack of need for new taxes can be reconciled."

WORLD ODD; PAROLED LIFER WANTS BACK IN

McALESTER, Okla., Sept. 2. (SPL)—The high-walled state penitentiary may loom grim and forbidding for most malefactors, but to J. H. Deering, a "forgotten man" freed by parole last June, it's home.

"I just don't think I can make it outside," Deering told somewhat puzzled Warden Jess Dunn today. "I'd like to have my old job back at the tobacco factory."

Deering had spent 14 of his 65 years in prison when the State Pardon and Parole Board decided to examine the cases of the prison's battalion of "forgotten men"—convicts sent up for long terms, then forgotten by family and friends.

Dunn requested Deering be given a parole, and the lifer was freed.

When Deering appeared at the prison today he said he had found life strange after so long a time behind bars, and then he missed, too, his job in the factory, and his associates.

160 New Members Added to Churches

How About a Little Drive, Did You Say?

If you happen to be out driving during the Labor Day week-end and your drive takes you into the state of Pennsylvania; and if you have a radio turned on in your auto and tuned in at the right station, then you will learn via the air about the traffic situation.

You will be told that Highway 6 is overcrowded, as is Highway 422, and you will be advised to turn off at the junction of Highway 8 and proceed 17 miles westward where Highway 94 is much less congested, although not in as good repair.

Pennsylvania will employ six state-owned airplanes during the Labor Day week-end to help untangle its traffic situation. The planes will fly over the main highways and report back to broadcasting stations on the relative over-stuffed conditions of various roads.

All-white loudspeaker autos will tour the roadways to worry the poky drivers and hike them up to a 30-mile-an-hour speed, warning them at the same time not to go over 50.

If you don't happen to be in Pennsylvania, as is quite likely, then you will just have to ferret out the traffic jams and the crowded highways for yourself, which shouldn't be too difficult. It really doesn't make a great deal of difference. Neither traffic jams nor detours are conducive to the most enjoyable of holidays.

It all boils down to the simple sum that taking the family out for a drive over the Labor Day week-end is not only a hazardous enterprise, but an unenjoyable one.

Without counting the several hundreds persons who will be killed or maimed in auto accidents in the United States during those few days, the cost in strained nerves and tempers from accidents that almost happen will be terrific. Think of the thousands of wrong hand signals that will be given, of the guy who always insists on pulling out of line, of the screeching brakes, of the irascible traffic cops and of the roadside inn that has sold out of chicken dinners long before you get there.

Maybe the best idea is to have a picnic in the backyard with home-made ice cream and watermelon preserves. Or pray that it rains a gully-washer.

An unworked field for peace reformers is the barbed wire entanglement, which with the current vacation season, is taking a big toll in trowse rsats.

The recent medical congresses overlooked one big problem—suitable treatment for the person who has just dropped a plate of string beans in a cafeteria.

 "Let's get out," Priscilla said, moving back toward the door.
 And that seemed precisely the thing to do. Feeling that darkness was much safer at that moment, Kay switched off the flashlight. Huddled together they groped down the path toward the beach and the dinghy.
 "What'll we do?" Melita asked.
 "I—I don't know," Kay admitted. "Let's get back to the boat as fast as we can."
 NEVER had the deck of the little cruiser seemed so solid and so secure as when they returned to it after that awful night in the lonely cabin. All three sank exhausted in the after cockpit and stared toward shore where the pane of the cabin window still glowed from the fireplace's reflection.

Suddenly Kay got to her feet. "If that's an island, I'm going to circle it and see if there's another boat around here." Suiting the action to the word, she went forward, heaved up the anchor, and in a moment was at the pilot house controls. Slowly and cautiously the "Chinook" crept along, with every light dead. But they could dimly make out the shoreline—and certainly enough, the body of land was an island. And small. Within a short time the cabin again without having encountered another boat, or any sign of life along the shore.
 "Here's what we'll do," Kay said at last, switching off the ignition. "We'll stay right here until morning. Then we'll go ashore again and see what this is all about."
 "I move we consider it none of our business and keep moving," Priscilla suggested.

Melita took a middle ground. "We're safe out here, anyhow. Let's take Kay's suggestion—and see how we feel in the morning."
 "All right," said Kay. "We'll keep a lookout. You two go below and sleep. I'll watch for you for a little rest of my own."
 Following her suggestion, they did keep watches—but the fact was that none slept. The two in the berths below were every bit as wide-awake as the lookout above. At dawn nothing had happened to justify their nocturnal vigilance.
 "In the daylight," Priscilla pointed out, "that cabin looks as innocent and peaceful as can be."
 "There—there must be another woman around. The one who—who—" She broke off.
 "Or this cabin was hers..." Kay nodded toward the inert figure in the center of the room. It happened only a moment or

GREEN PEPPERS are thriving this year. The crops are far better than in many years and that means low prices for the family table. Combine them chopped with pineapple and cabbage and you have something good. Or this also makes fine salad combinations with shredded carrots and cabbage. Or serve them whole, raw and cold, stuffed with cream cheese and nuts, or cream cheese and minced onion and celery. Chill them for several hours when stuffed like this, then with a sharp knife, slice them and garnish a cold meat platter with these stuffed pepper rings.

Vitamins A and C are not always plentiful in American diets. Serve peppers frequently, for they are rich in both these important vitamins. How does this sound?

where peppers are available all winter.

Preserved Peppers Stuffed With Cabbage
 Twelve sweet green peppers, brine made of 1 cup salt to 1 gallon water, 2 quarts cabbage, 4 sweet peppers, preferably red, salt, 4 tablespoons white mustard seed, 2 tablespoons celery seed, 1 chopped hot pepper, 1-2 cup sugar, vinegar.
 Remove stems and seeds from 12 sweet green peppers. Soak over night in brine. Chop separately 2 quarts cabbage and sweet peppers. Add 1 tablespoon salt to each of the chopped vegetables and stand overnight. Drain. Mix with all the other ingredients—mustard seed, celery seed, chopped hot pepper, and sugar. Then drain the 12 whole peppers and stuff with this mixture. Pack in fruit jars, cover with hot vinegar and seal.

"Dream" Football Game Scheduled For Cotton Bowl

By United Press
 DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 2—Actual training for the second football dream game between the college all stars and the professional Chicago Bears in the cotton bowl here got underway Wednesday.

Last year graduates from several universities were to report to their coaches, Dutch Meyer and Matty Bell, at Southern Methodist university. Meyer, who will serve as head coach this year, and is very hopeful of another victory over the professionals, said he planned two workouts daily.

Two changes have been made in the squad. Bob Reynolds, 1935 All American tackle at Stanford university and hero of last year's exposition dream game, asked to be released from the all-star roster. He has signed with the Detroit lions who insist upon him reporting immediately. The collegians still have a full squad of five tackles, however, as Charles Hamrick of Ohio state university Sunday accepted an invitation to join them.

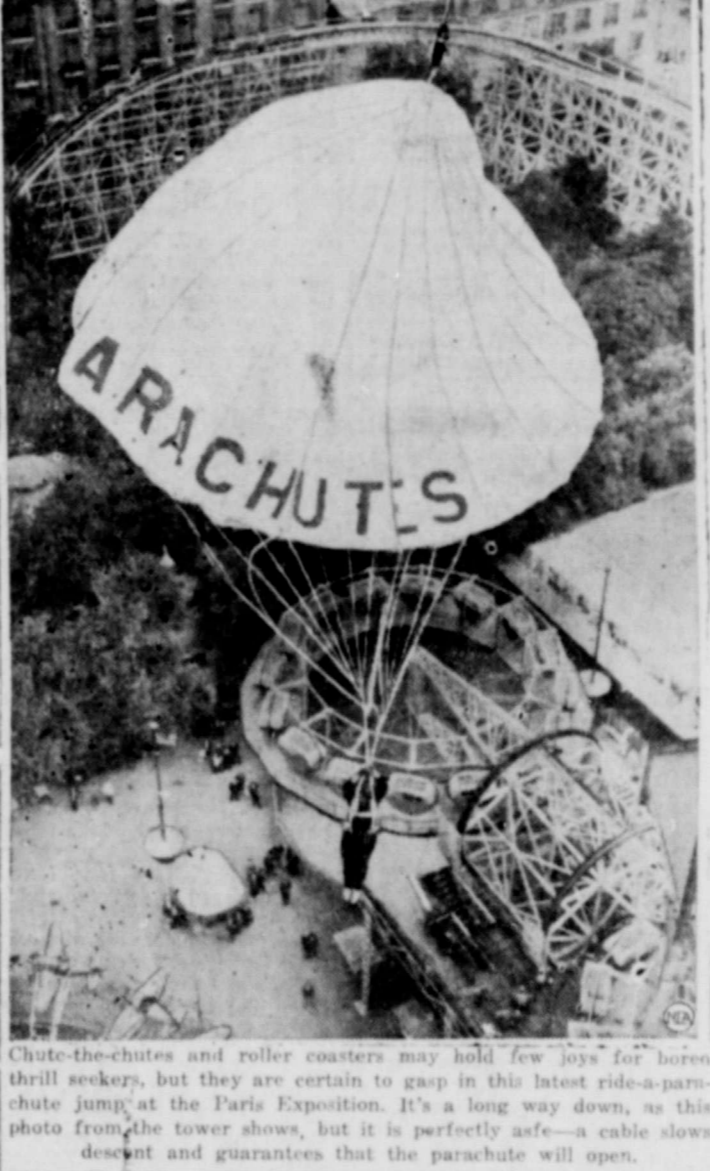

The complete roster now, to which there will not be made more than one or two additions, follows: Ends—Walter Roach and Charles Needham, T. C. U.; Bill Stages, Texas A. & M.; Buck McCarr, North Carolina; and Charles Galatka, Mississippi state.

Tackles—Bob McGee, Santa Clara; Draw Ellis, T. C. U.; John Whitfield, Texas A. & M.; Max Steinkemper, Notre Dame; and Charles Hamrick, Ohio State.

line and suffering for Texas independence. A number of schools are using it because of its clear, brief, instructive presentation of main facts in Texas history. You will find it interesting and helpful. Mailed postpaid for only 15 cents. Will H. Maves, 2618 Salado Street, Austin, Texas.

I enclose 15 cents in coin securely wrapped, for a copy of "Texas Empire Builders of '36" is a brief recital by Will H. Maves of the momentous days in Texas history from March 10 to April 21, 1836, told in a way to impress upon readers the main events of the struggle, sacrifice and suffering for Texas independence.

Newest Thrill for Park Fans

Chute-the-chutes and roller coasters may hold few joys for bored thrill seekers, but they are certain to gasp in this latest ride—a parachute jump at the Paris Exposition. It's a long way down, as this photo from the tower shows, but it is perfectly safe—a cable slows descent and guarantees that the parachute will open.

Guards—Dick Bassi and Lionel Rodgers Santa Clara; Pascal Scotino, S. M. U.; and Solon Holt, T. C. U.

Centers—John Winktrak, University of Washington; George Bell, Purdue; and Charles Dewar, Texas A. & M.

Backs—Sammy Baugh, T. C. U.; Ray Buivid Marguerite; Bob Findley, S. M. U.; Don Geyer, Northwestern; Fred Funk, U. C. L. A.; Ney Sheridan, University of Texas; Sam Ages, Vanderbilt, Al Louis University of Missouri, and Johnny Stovall, North Texas Teachers college.

WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Less than three years ago the administration fashioned a noose for its opponents and rebels. Now the same administration has found its own neck in that noose.

Away back in Republican days the air rang intermittently with Democratic howls in the House about the "gag rules," which were effectively administered by the triumvirate of Speaker Longworth, Majority Leader Tison and Rules Committee Chairman Snell.

The old Republican rules used to say that the House couldn't even instruct a committee to let loose of a bill except by a majority vote, and in practice this meant that the committee chairman usually could "pocket veto" legislation if he liked, and that practically no "unsatisfactory" measure ever got by Snell.

Then the Democrats, who had been screaming so loudly, found themselves with a majority in 1921 and promptly liberalized the discharge rule, requiring only 145 signatures to a petition to force a vote.

In the next Congress Democrats were completely in control and under the 145-name rule insurgents began to get petitions on "cash bonus" and other bills embarrassing to the administration. So what did the Democratic leadership do but jam through a new rule requiring a majority—218 signatures—to discharge a bill from committee and onto the floor!

This bird came home to roost just the other day when southern members of the Rules Committee joined with Republicans in refusing to bring to the House floor the wage-hour bill approved by the Labor Committee almost unanimously and urged by the administration. It would have been easy enough to get 145 signatures for a discharge petition, and probably, with enough time, to obtain 218.

But the House and its leaders were in the main yearning for adjournment and it would have taken at least a month to get the wage-hour bill to a vote, thanks to other provisions of the "gag rule."

ONE does not pretend to believe that the official House leadership was all hot and bothered about getting the wage-hour bill out of the Rules Committee or broke their necks in trying. Speaker Will Bankhead and Majority Leader Sam Rayburn are a couple of southern gentlemen and only a handful of members from south of the Mason-Dixon line favored the measure.

Bankhead was considered doubtfully hostile to the bill by most of those who talked with him and observed him. Rayburn was bitter at the unprecedented action of Democratic Rules Committee members joining with Republicans to block the bill.

But Rayburn also was deeply impressed by the barrage of argument against the bill from southern members who cornered him every time they caught him anywhere near a corner.

The four congressmen credited with blocking the measure after it had passed the Senate and been reported favorably by the House Labor Committee were Rules Committee Members Edward Cox of Georgia, Martin Dies of Texas, William Driver of Arkansas, and Howard Smith of Virginia. Miss Aurelia B. Hodge of Science Hill. The work of the school was suspended during the Civil War, after which it was poorly sustained for about four years, when it became part of Trinity University, then located at Tehuacana.

Q. What three schools were consolidated to form Trinity University?
 A. Trinity University was founded in 1869, taking over Ewing College, at La Grange; Larissa College near Jacksonville, and Chapel Hill College.

Q. Where and what is Bear Mountain?
 A. Bear Mountain is a hill of solid red granite two miles north of Fredericksburg, on what is known as the "Upper Crabapple Road."

Q. What prominent Texas county and county seat, settled largely by German colonists, were given French names?
 A. Fayette County and La Grange, the county being named in honor of La Fayette and the county seat for his estate in France, for which La Grange, Tenn., was also named. Fayetteville, in the same county was named for LaFayette.

Q. Does Texas have a "Charm School"?
 A. The name has been applied to courses given by the Texas State College of Mines and Metallurgy near El Paso. That school offers a non-credit course in charm and personal appearance, including such subjects as personal hygiene, health, diet, care of the skin and teeth, cosmetics, perfumes and color schemes. More than 200 women were enrolled in the course last year.

Buffet Luncheon Carries Pretty Floral Note The home of Mrs. Viola Brink, Walnut street, was especially attractive yesterday for a buffet luncheon served at one o'clock.

Bouquets of garden flowers were used throughout the rooms and mixed blossoms were fashioned to form a center for the large dining table, laid in madiera linen and appointed in crystal and silver.

The menu of fried chicken carried well-balanced courses including a salad and ice course. The afternoon hour was devoted chiefly to games, making a fitting climax for the pleasant occasion attended by Meses. IT MAY BE THAT WE ARE WRONG

This column contains timely items, suggested by the citizens of Ranger and are published at their request. They do not, necessarily, represent the opinions or editorial policies of the Times, but are written at the suggestion and request of its readers.

Ranger Times, Ranger, Texas. Gentlemen:

When I read your paper yesterday and saw how my letter to you had been censored I almost... but not quite... made up my mind not to ever furnish you with any more news... and then I got to thinking that the public would be the one who would suffer and not the Times, so I have decided to furnish you with the biggest news break in Ranger since we announced that Jesse Rogers would be on our stage in person tomorrow and it is that we have got the Joe Louis-Tommy Farr fight film booked next Monday and Tuesday, round by round, and blow by blow, with slow motion and everything.

Now, Whittie, this letter is not intended as advertising or publicity or anything like that as I am going to advertise the attraction in the regular way next Friday and again on Sunday and Monday, too, for that matter, but this is just a news item so that the people may know. Incidentally, there was a lot in the papers this morning about the fight and I believe your readers are really interested.

If I hear of any other items I'll send them down by special runner. GARNER, The Opera House Man.

The following interesting news item was turned into the Times by Mrs. Jim Wilson of Dadaville, Ala., sister of Mrs. R. H. Hansford, who is visiting in Ranger at this time. I have read your column and think it is okay and want to do my bit helping get the paper out while the editor is away on vacation.

Federated Clubs of Ranger Ready for New Term of Study:

Women's clubs of Ranger and particularly the Federated clubs are eager for the opportunity of entering into another intensive year of study, according to schedules announcing the opening of both the 1920 and New Era clubs the latter part of this month.

The programs and study has been outlined to embrace and present lessons demonstrating educational advantages and its structural characteristics.

A musical tea in the Colonial room, Gholson hotel opens the New Era club on the afternoon of Wednesday, Sept. 22. A book review will be offered by Mrs. O. B. Denny. The opening has been planned to be recognized as Guest Day.

The 1920 club follows closely with its opening marked for Sept. 30th, with further details to be given later.

Mrs. J. W. Ducker, is president of 1920 club while Mrs. W. M. Brown, will serve in the same office for the New Era club.

Rosters are made up of prominent members of Ranger.

Just a Bit Personal:

Mrs. Anna Belle Neil who has spent the summer vacationing here and there trekking to points of appealing interest chiefly centered about spots in New Mexico and returning to Oklahoma City for a visit at the home of her sister, is scheduled to arrive in Ranger over the week-end to assume duties Monday at the Ranger high school as instructor of English. She will be house guest of Judge and Mrs. L. H. Flewellen through Saturday and Sunday.

Lemuel S. Reim, dean of Ranger Junior college and one of the active members of the school's faculty is at his desk today and ready for another term of activities. Mr. Reim spent the month of August visiting places in Louisiana, namely Shreveport, where he formerly taught, hence to Arkansas to the Ozark mountains and on to Missouri where time was spent at Columbia University. General conditions in those States are exceptionally favorable and persons visited very optimistic which attributed largely to his pleasant sojourn.

Bascum Johnson, manager of the Gholson hotel was elected at the meeting of the Rotary club Wednesday as secretary and treasurer to succeed Morris Bendix who tendered his resignation since he is leaving soon to operate the newly opened store at Odessa.

Mrs. Tom Lauderdale is visiting in Sherman with her son, Tom Lauderdale. After her visit there she plans to go to Shawnee, Oklahoma, for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Scott Glen. This week found Dr. Lauderdale and daughter, Jeanne, visiting at Cushing, Oklahoma, where a family reunion was staged by Dr.'s family.

Rice Herring employe of the Gulf Pipeline company is ill at his home.

Jack Barker representative of Bemis Bag company of Houston, was a visitor in Ranger last night.

Judge and Mrs. L. H. Flewellen are home from a visit through Carlsbad Caverns. En route home they visited in the home of his brother at Big Spring. Accompanying the Flewellens home was the nephew of Judge Flewellen, Master Gene Flewellen of Big Spring who plans to return home Friday.

Sparkplug Of All-Stars

SAMUEL ADRIAN BAUGH

Better known as Slingin' Sam, almost unanimous all-America quarterback of 1936 while starring for the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs, this "wonder boy" from Sweetwater will be the sparkplug of the College All-Stars against the Pro Chicago Bears in the South's second football dream game Monday night in the Dallas Cotton Bowl at the Pan American Exposition. Not only do Coaches Dutch Meyer and Matty Bell rely heavily upon Baugh for his superb passing, but also for his uncanny field generalship and complete acquaintance with the open style attack they will employ in quest of their second victory over the mighty Bears.

18 YEARS TAKEN FROM FILES OF RANGER TIMES SEPT. 2, 1919

Main street between Rusk and Austin was barred to traffic Wednesday morning and teams put to work grading the street for paving.

According to present plans, six blocks of paving will be laid in the next forty days. Two blocks of Main street from Rusk to Marton are embraced in this plan, and from Pine to Walnut on both Walnut and Rusk.

LABOR DAY CROWDS CAN VIEW FIESTA'S THRILLING JAMBOREE

FORT WORTH.—The swarms of visitors during the Labor Day week-end holidays will find a bargain attraction awaiting them at the second performance nightly of Billy Rose's Casa Manana revue, at the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta. An "anything can happen" program, presenting stars of all the show on the grounds, is offered and attendance at the second performance has doubled since the new 30-minute feature has been added. The jamboree is changed weekly. There is no advance in price for the additional entertainment.

was not complete, the Negro obviously was able to distinguish objects and even faces for the first time in his life.

Rev. Brown, a well educated Negro graduate of the famed Tuskegee Institute, made plans for a monster prayer meeting to give thanks for the "power of God." He began negotiations to secure the High School Auditorium for the meeting in order to accommodate the crowds he anticipated.

DOUBLE BILL ON SOFTBALL CARD FRIDAY

A double header ball game will be played on the local field Friday night between the Killingsworth Cox team and the Santa Anna All-Stars.

These games will finish a five-game series between these two teams for the season. So far Santa Anna has taken two games and Killingsworth one. In order for Killingsworth to win the series they will have to win both games Friday night. This they feel they can do on the home field.

This schedule should furnish the fans ball playing that will be worth the money.

The Country Club benefit game that was to have been played last night was postponed again on account of the ground being too wet. This game will be played, so hold your tickets and watch the paper for the announcement.
