TVA COMPLETES MUSLICE SHOALS OPENS SEPT. 10

BY THOMAS A. DOZIER
United Press Staff Correspondent
MUSLICE SHOALS, Ala. — A spark of electric energy, released at the push of a button by President Roosevelt in Washington, will formally open Joe Wheeler Dam on Sept. 10—the second structure to be completed by the Tennessee Valley Authority in its program on the Tennessee river.

Elaborate dedication ceremonies will mark the formal opening of the new $37,000,000 dam.

Speaker of the House William B. Bankhead of Alabama will deliver the principal address. Arthur E. Morgan, TVA chairman, will read a message from President Roosevelt, and scores of national and local dignitaries will be present.

Descendant Present
Present at the ceremonies will be Miss Annie Early Wheeler and Col. Joseph Wheeler, children of the general honored by the new structure.

Wheeler Dam—the second project in the TVA's three-way program of flood control, navigation and power development on the Tennessee river—is located 15½ miles upstream from Wilson Dam.

It is 6,500 feet long, and includes a navigation lock and power plant. Two generating units, each developing 45,000 horsepower have been installed in the power plant.

With a 20-foot wide roadway across its surface, the dam is 72 feet high and impounds a lake which at normal levels will cover 64,000 acres.

The structure will extend the navigable territory of the Tennessee river 74 miles upstream to Gunterville, Ala.

General Wheeler, whose name the huge project memorializes, was born at Augusta, Ga., Sept. 10, 1836. Entering the United States Cavalry from West Point in 1859, he resigned at the outbreak of the war between the states to become an officer in the Confederate Army.

Rebel Leader
In 1863, he was made a major general, and through the bloody and desperate campaigns of Chickamauga, Atlanta and Chattanooga, he commanded the Confederate cavalry in the west.

Wheeler's cavalry became the terror of enemy forces, and when Sherman made his march to the sea, he was harassed continually by Wheeler's group.

At the outbreak of the Spanish American War in 1898, Wheeler was commissioned by President McKinley as major general of the U. S. Volunteers. He was commissioned a brigadier general in the regular army in 1900. He died in 1906.

Guests invited to the dedication ceremonies include: Gov. Bibb Graves of Alabama; the state's congressional delegation, including members of both houses; officers of the state senate and house of representatives, high TVA officials and mayors of more than a score of Alabama cities.

U. S. WILL NOT GUARD PEOPLE IN WAR ZONE

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Administration officials said today the United States could not guarantee protection to its shipping or to its nationals or their property abroad unless the army and navy were augmented to the point where they would consume half or more of the government's revenues.

The United States cannot guarantee such protection unless the American people are willing to fight a major, the officials said.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 9.—Shrapnel shells endangered the United States consulate and the American Navy patrol ship Isabel today as fighting between Japanese and Chinese armies approached the peak of fury.

One shell burst 10 yards away from the entrance to the American Consulate General and left four shattered bodies of Chinese in the streets.

The Isabel, steaming up the river, was brought, under heavy fire, into the Whangpo.

Its army all but immobilized by a Chinese defense, Japan announced a merciless bombing campaign. Area after area of Shanghai and the country around it was bombed by squadrons of warplanes.

ALLRED READY FOR BATTLE ON TAXATION

By United Press
AUSTIN, Sept. 9.—Gov. James V. Allred rolled up his sleeves today for a $15,000,000 tax battle at the special session of the legislature, which he will convene on Sept. 27.

Pipelines and utilities were named by the governor as specific targets for additional taxation.

"We are going to see if they are bigger than the state," Allred said emphatically.

Full tax recommendations will go to the legislators when they convene, he announced.

Corn Crop Estimate Awaited As a Cue To Special Session

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Administration leaders today awaited apprehensively the 1937 crop production forecast as a clue in determining whether the farm situation has become so crucial as to require a special session of congress.

The department of agriculture will make the corn estimate tomorrow, following up its forecast yesterday of an all-time high per acre cotton yield of 228.5 pounds and the fifth largest total production, 16,098,000 bales.

The representative also expressed gratification on the passage of the farm tenancy bill, "even if it was on a small scale." He said the program to enable tenants to secure and own homes would be administered by the secretary of agriculture. A total of $85,000,000 was provided for three years. Ten million will be used the first year, 25 million the second and 56 million the third year.

The program provides for establishments of county boards throughout the nation to carry out the program. He stated he hoped arrangements to secure practical men cognizant of farm tenancy problems would be secured to pass upon applications in each county.

Fastest Air Racer and Trophies

Speed and plenty of it won these three trophies for Rudy A. Kling, Lemont, Ill., flyer, at the National Air Meet at 222 miles per hour his specially designed racer around the pylon at left. He increased to win the Louis W. Greve race and the Thompson 200-mile race at 256.910 mile per hour to feet of the race. The event and the center trophy in the larger most points scored in Henderson trophy at right was awarded to him.

NO EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS UNLESS WAR GETS MORE ACUTE

No special fall session of congress is likely unless war in Eastland and the district of Columbia is the situation in the far east of the country and the district of Columbia.

"That feeling," added Congressman Garrett, "is the belief of the leaders in Congress and older members."

Congressman Garrett, the first time since his election to the capitol after election day, described his work as "both extremely and extremely fascinating."

"I enjoyed it immensely," he received very cordial, for he was appreciative, not only of Texas delegations but other delegations.

Differences as evidenced at the recent session were held by Garrett as not that would seriously impede progress of the party and legislative program.

As to the wage-hour bill of the administration favors still, the legislator declared that his belief the regular session of January will pass such a bill.

"I was sorely disappointed when Congress did not the last session," he said, "I am glad that both houses will pass the farm legislation."

"I went on record as opposing amendment of the session until general farm legislation was passed."

The representative also expressed gratification on the passage of the farm tenancy bill, "even if it was on a small scale." He said the program to enable tenants to secure and own homes would be administered by the secretary of agriculture.

A total of $85,000,000 was provided for three years. Ten million will be used the first year, 25 million the second and 56 million the third year.

The program provides for establishments of county boards throughout the nation to carry out the program. He stated he hoped arrangements to secure practical men cognizant of farm tenancy problems would be secured to pass upon applications in each county.

"I was in favor of the appropriation being $50,000,000 for the first year. Under the amount set up for the first year, however, it will be impossible to assist more than one or two tenants in each county to purchase a farm."

Memphis Finds Out Yankees Prefer Its Negroes For Cooks

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Negro cooks from Memphis who can cook Southern style fried chicken, pancakes and hot biscuits are finding ready employment in the North. The Memphis Employment center reported to City Commissioner Ralph Picard that out-of-town servants and that more than 1,250 had obtained other jobs since January.

Many of the cooks were trained at the WPA "cooking school." A call recently came for a southern cook from the baked-bean section of New England. It asked for a Negro mammy who didn't "shy away from blackberry pie and frying-sized chickens."

The order was filled, and within a few weeks the same person wrote back for another cook, saying that a neighbor's offer of higher wages had lured away the first one.

C. L. GARRETT WIRE BRINGS ABOUT MEET

State Administrator Wants To Tell of Program Difficulty.

Sponsors of Works Progress Administration projects in the 17th Congressional District Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock in Eastland will discuss the increasing difficulty of participation in the program at a meeting with officials in an effort for relaxation of unrest. The courthouse will be the meeting scene.

State WPA Administrator H. P. Drought, advised by Congressman Clyde L. Garrett of Eastland of the increasing difficulty of the sponsors in his county and district, to cooperate in the program and increasing unemployment as a result, arranged for the meeting in a telephone conversation Thursday morning after receiving the wire from the congressman.

He stated he would send Major Karl Wallace of Fort Worth, director of WPA district 7, and Alton Bell of Crowell, his personal representative, to attend the meeting.

"I want them to come and get a first hand picture of the situation," Drought told Congressman Garrett in the conversation.

Congressman Garrett urged all sponsors of WPA projects in his district—composed of 12 counties—and adjoining counties, to attend and submit data to the officials under the situation.

Garrett expressed appreciation for the interest and prompt action of Drought upon his suggestion of the meeting. Sponsors of WPA projects are mainly members of school boards, county commissioners and city commissioners.

The telegram from Garrett to Drought which prompted the calling of the meeting read as follows:

"Upon arriving in district I find situation confronting WPA sponsors due to recent financial armoring. The added financial requirements made on sponsors render it absolutely impossible for them to participate in program. In event local agencies cannot continue to participate in this work the situation among unemployed will fast become more and more deplorable. Due to severe drought in much of the district makes it impossible for but very few unemployed to find farm labor. No other means of relief for these people other than WPA work program. In Eastland county alone six hundred twenty-two men employed. Only two of these jobs working approximately one hundred ninety-eight men will carry over for more than thirty days. Over four hundred twenty-four will complete projects now on and will be laid off within ten to twenty days. And additional two hundred fifty men awaiting assignment and additional one hundred men who have recently been laid off for lack of projects. Impossible for sponsors to submit new projects on account new truck ruling cutting the amount set up for other than labor practically one half and requiring additional engineering and technical data on all new as well as projects already submitted and approved this greatly increasing contributions to be made by sponsors. I firmly believe that these rules and regulations should be so changed as to make it possible for the local agencies to continue to provide projects for employment of these people as they so much desire to do. In view of these facts I most earnestly and respectfully urge that you do everything possible to the end that this condition may be immediately remedied."

Pension Rolls to Stay Over 100,000

By United Press
AUSTIN, Sept. 9.—Claude T. Coe, chairman of the state board of control, today estimated that old age pension rolls in Texas would never drop below 100,000. He thought the number would remain between that and 120,000.

The estimate compares with 80,000 named as a minimum when the legislature heightened requirements in the old age assistance act.

MELITA HOWARD—Kay's roommate and co-adventurer.
PRISCILLA DUNN—The third adventurer.
FOREST BROTHERS and GRANT HARPER—young scientists whose expedition turned out to be a rare experience.
 Yesterday, Grant Buds Kay and Priscilla returned to Kay and Melita when the two are captured by the motor and taken into a subterranean hideout.

CHAPTER XIII
 The "Mistral's" speedy power tender eased along the shoreline. There were no green and red lights forward, no white light at the stern. Only the creamy wake and the sound of the motor indicated its presence in the darkness.

Tom Forrest, at the wheel with Priscilla beside him, had cut down the motor, wanting to keep their search as quiet as possible. Although it would be desirable for Grant Harper and Kay to know of the nearness of the speedboat, there was every chance that the unknown island resident was with them.

Mac, seated tense in the after cockpit with Melita, could stand it no longer. "This isn't getting us anywhere," he told his brother. "There's not a sign of life on shore. I move we use a light and the whistle, and try to let Kay and Grant know where we are."

Tom was silent a moment. "It's hard to tell which is the best plan," he said. "Priscilla, hand me that flashlight from the side pocket." He took it from her trembling hands. It was in a foot-long slender case, with a huge lens and powerful bulb. The button clicked under his thumb and a shaft of light shot clear to shore, bringing into their vision the trees and sand—but no sign of humanity.

"Turn off the engine," Mac suggested. "And give the whistle a try."

Tom obeyed. But there was only the echo and re-echo of the whistle to reward them. Doggedly, Tom drove the speedboat farther along and repeated the process. Occasionally he bathed the shoreline with the flashlight's gleam.

They had almost circled the island without success when Melita cut a cut: "See there!" She pointed toward the wood. "There's a light!"

Tom stopped for quiet while Melita, without in the gently flowing boat. Unmistakably, Texas Coca Cola jockeying ashore, vs. Jim Kubie with a flashlight.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox

The safest way to prevent overweight is to cultivate sufficient will power to avoid eating too much. The best exercise for reducing is the turning of the head from left to right signifying "no thank you" when you are offered a second helping of fattening food. And be very careful of fantastic reducing diets. They are often dangerous, usually interfere with the normal functioning of the body, and almost always make you thin so that you can quickly get fat again.

These are a few of the sound ideas expressed by Morris Fishbein, M. D., in "Your Diet and Your Health." Dr. Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, is a valiant crusader against whatever seems to him "bunk in medicine and diet."

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Honeyball melon, breadcrumb griddle cakes, milk, maple syrup, bacon, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Creamed salmon with green peppers, toasted rolls, cabbage and apple salad, walnut cake, tea, milk.
DINNER: Stuffed radishes, seafood souffle, anchovy sauce, parsley potatoes, green peas, tomato and watercress salad, lemon sherbet, sweet wafers, coffee, milk.

Breakfast
 Two small oranges or 1 large orange, sliced, 1 egg, 1 slice toast, 1 cup coffee, 1 glass skim milk, 1 cup tea.

A Typical, Safe Diet
 A few quotations from his carefully written guide are pertinent: "The earliest reduction diets failed to take into account the vitamins and mineral salts. They involved only a count of calories. Most popular reducing diets, like the Hollywood 18-day diet, the milk diet, and similar performance offers from 500 to 800 calories a day instead of the 1100 or 1200, which may, in most instances, be the absolute minimum compatible with health."

Supper
 Three heaping tablespoons cottage cheese, 3 heaping tablespoons cauliflower, 1 baked tomato, 1-3 head lettuce with lemon juice or vinegar, 6 heaping tablespoons red raspberries, 1 glass skim milk, 1 cup clear tea.

Would you like to lose from two to two and a half pounds a week and yet not lose your health and disposition at the same time? Dr. Fishbein has a solution for your problem. "Here is a menu developed by a medical authority," he says. "It contains just over 1000 calories and if you eat just these things and no others and carry on your normal work, you will lose from two to two and a half pounds per week. If you do extra work or take more exercise, you will lose more," he adds.

Q. What country was the leading producer of sulphur before the Texas-Louisiana sulphur deposits were discovered?

A. Forty years ago, Italy was the chief producer of sulphur, but now more than 75 per cent comes from the Texas Gulf Coast section. This is due largely to the practically unlimited supply and to the new methods of sulphur mining, in which sulphur is dissolved in liquid form to the surface through other pipes. Texas sulphur, thus produced, is 99 per cent pure.

Drive a Car? Maybe You Can Fly, Too

If you can drive a car, you ought to feel right at home in the pilot's seat of this new airplane, tested at Buffalo, N. Y., and acclaimed as a marvel of safety after it survived a landing mishap. Joseph Gwinn Jr., is inventor of the stubby little craft. The controls are seen below—the wheel governs ascent and descent as well as turns. The foot pedal at right is the accelerator pedal.

Q. What was the 1936 petroleum asphalt production in Texas?

A. The U. S. Bureau of Mines places it at 39,994 tons, or 8.5 per cent of the output of the United States. Texas also produces natural asphalt in appreciable quantity.

Q. What is the size of Loughron Cavern State Park and how much of the cavern has been developed?

A. The state park surrounding the cavern contains 2,032 acres. About 8 miles of the cavern has been developed, largely by CCC labor, and reports are that explorations are as yet in the beginning stage, the park and cavern giving promise of becoming one of the most popular resorts of the country.

line of cloths tells people much about you. We discovered this morning Metal Key in hat colors, means all Stetsons are to be finished in shades blending in with metal Cooper, Steele, seemingly would look well with any type of suit. But on second thought, when you buy your Stetson are you familiar with the process of making? First the body is formed from the fur, cut, blown and made clear of any dirt; the skins are shrunk and shaped emphasizing the amount to be reserved for the crown, high, medium or low. The body is pulled down and when completed bits of dust powder resembling metal called shellac is responsible for the finishing touches. These skins are found in Asia, Russia and many other foreign countries. Fifteen million skins are prepared each year totaling 50,000 days. There are such skins as Saxony hare, Coney skin and various others.

The interesting display at Joseph's would behoove all of us to take time out and view the material authentically arranged according to factory production. There no doubt are some who have paid a visit to the Stetson factories in Philadelphia. This fall when you buy your Stetson, even though it seems a bit higher than you perhaps had anticipated paying the general makeup work is worth every penny.

Felt Hat Day to Be Observed Here On Friday, Sept. 10

Friday, Sept. 10, has been proclaimed as "Felt Hat Day" in Ranger, the day on which everyone is expected to discard his old straw hat or put it away until another straw hat season rolls around.

There has been some discussion in the past few days as to when straw hats go out of style, and the discussions have led to the establishment of the date as official date on which straws would be taboo.

Straw hat days and felt hat days are observed throughout the nation, with Sept. 10 generally recognized as the time when felts should be worn.

So, if you are still wearing that old straw hat tomorrow you will be decidedly out of style. And you might even have it torn up.

Fats and Leans to Play Annual Game At Field Tonight

The annual softball game between the fats and leans will be played tonight at the municipal softball field, with Fire Chief G. A. Murphy as manager of the fats and R. H. Snyder as manager of the leans.

Murphy stated today that regulations concerning eligibility of players had been agreed upon, weight being the chief factor in determining who can and who cannot participate.

"We are to have scales at the park," Murphy stated today, "and will weigh all who play, either on the starting lineup or who go in to the game later. Unless they are weighed they cannot play."

It was stated that the regulation weights for the leans would be 140 pounds or under, while the fats, in order to qualify, would have to weigh 170 or over.

Murphy has announced his roster of fats as follows:

A TRIBUTE

The small dog owned and loved by D. N. Nantz of 701 Pershing street, Ranger, was poisoned by unknown parties and lies on the hill where he was taken after death. The dog, named "Little Bunk," was a favorite with the neighbors, news boys and followed his master many places on errands.

Such is the inscription that might be placed upon the mound that covers his ashes: "Peace; loved by all; harmed no one."—Contributed.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, aching, painful backaches people think of as of strain are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking poisons out of the blood. When they get tired and stop working, poisons build up in the blood. These poisons may start nagging, sore throat, rheumatic pains, headache, loss of appetite, getting up nights, swelling, etc. and, finally, kidney trouble. Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are a sure cure for this trouble. They give happy relief and will help the kidneys to do their job. Get Doan's Pills.
