

Shooting Code of G-Men Calls For Quick Fire At the Stomach o Shatter Aim of Gunmen Foe

BY ALLEN DIBBLE
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 WASHINGTON—I was in the custody of G-men for more than two hours in a thrilling experience that lasted from the time a special agent sent more than 25 shots spattering from his "tommy" gun with deadly aim until they rolled my tense fingers across a pad to record my prints.

Interesting Tryouts For Screen Roles To Be at Arcadia

Would you like a chance at becoming a movie star?
If you would, take advantage of the chance given to you by the Ranger Times.

Some Ranger person is definitely going to get a real screen test by a crack Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer test crew working officially for and in behalf of the MGM studio.

Have you ever thought secretly that, given the proper chance, you could make good in motion pictures?

Well, here's the opportunity of your lifetime. For the Times is giving you a chance to demonstrate your ability and personality before the same cameras and microphones that have recorded the pictures of Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer, Clark Gable, Greta Garbo, Myrna Loy and all the other great stars of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is turning Texas into its own private hunting ground in an intensive search for new talent and is offering, through the Times, to consider anyone between the ages of sixteen and twenty-eight within the circulation area of the Times.
Naturally, screen tests cannot be made of all who apply. Only those showing the most marked possibilities can be tested. Accordingly, some process of elimination must be employed and so the Arcadia Theatre and the Times in cooperation with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will conduct local auditions for the purpose of selecting one person to be given screen tests. All that is necessary to do is to clip the coupon printed in the Times, paste it to the back of a photograph of yourself and send to the MGM Search for Talent Editor and mail under first class postage no later than Tuesday.

Auditions, which will take place at the Arcadia on Wednesday and Thursday at 9 p. m. are open to all between the ages of sixteen and twenty-eight excepting employees of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, the Times and Arcadia or to anyone who has been registered with the Central Casting Agency or has had screen credit in any nationally distributed motion picture.

So, there really isn't much to do to qualify for this golden opportunity for a screen test and a chance at being one of four Texans to be sent to the MGM studio in Culver City.

There will be seventy five tests made in all and from among the seventy five tested four will be selected by the MGM test director, C. Edward Carrier, for studio tests. These four will have all expenses paid to and from the studio and while there. Expenses will also be paid for the one selected in Ranger to Fort Worth for the screen test.

All seventy five tests made in the four key cities, Dallas, Houston, Ft. Worth and San Antonio will be sent to the MGM studio for examination by studio executives and talent scouts, so there are chances that more than four persons will be selected for the additional studio tests.

The screen test which some Ranger person will receive will be complete in every respect. Each one tested will be made up, voice tested, photographed and directed by experts. The test crew is composed of C. Edward Carrier, MGM test director; made up by Bernard McDonnell, studio makeup artist photographed by chief cameraman Charles N. David and his assistant, Philip Greco, and voice tested by sound technician Steven Jones.

Local auditions will be judged by a representative of the Times, Arcadia and a special representative of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Model Shows Fish Of Long, Long Ago

BUFFALO, N. Y.—After nine years of labor, Everett R. Burmeister has completed a wax model of a fish of the Devonian period—Order Artiodira, Genus Cocosteus, a creature which he says swam over Buffalo 250,000, 000 years ago.

Burmeister, an assistant anthropologist for the Buffalo Society of Natural Sciences, obtained the basis for his wax model in a fossil he discovered while gazing from a bridge into Silver creek.

After scores of conferences and much letter-writing to various authorities on pre-historic fish, he had the specimen identified. The fossil was a rare one because only the armor plates of the fish were calciferous and would fossilize, the rest of the body decomposing after death.

Chief scientific value of his discovery is said to lie in the fact that it records another stage in the transition of animals from the cartilaginous to the calciferous spinal column stage.

"It shows when animals began to have stiff backbones," Burmeister said.

Klan Case Discloses Lax Political Morals

Perhaps the most discouraging thing about the case of Justice Hugo Black and the Ku Klux Klan is its revelation of the defective standard of public morality current among politicians.

A senator of considerable service and distinction, Mr. Black is nominated to the Supreme Court and duly confirmed. Then comes the charge that he was, and still is, a qualified member of the Klan.

They joined the Klan, many of these men, not because they believed in it or felt that its policies and ideals were sound, but simply because it looked like the politic thing to do; and they assume that Mr. Black joined it, if he did join it, for the same reason.

That is to say that according to the prevailing code in politics, a candidate for office may join any group under the sun and subscribe to the most fantastic of creeds without actually committing himself to anything, if he has reason to believe that a fairly substantial block of his constituents are interested.

It is precisely this widespread acceptance of a lax, easy-going way of dealing with things which ought to be matters of definite conviction that is so discouraging.

Now the Klan, in the days when it had its health, advocated a most rigid and uncompromising set of principles. No man could be neutral about it. You either believed in the things the Klan advocated or you actively disbelieved in them.

All of which makes some of these politicians' remarks about the Black case almost incredible. Why, they say if Black joined the Klan, he did it just because everybody was doing it; he didn't believe in the Klan's program—in fact, he was a good friend to the Catholics and Jews in his state.

Which is where they are wrong. It did mean something. It meant that in the world of politics we have developed a moral code which would shame a Botany Bay exile; that the men who make a profession of seeking and holding public office have built up an atmosphere in which the very nature of truth and simple decency get lost to view.

That such an atmosphere exists is even more disheartening than the prospect that we may get a Supreme Court justice who holds a passport in the Invisible Empire.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
ELLA PIERCE—heroine.
HARRY HUTCHINS—her roommate.
FRANK DOLOAN—her neighbor.
SERGEANT DOLAN—her neighbor.
AMY KERR—her neighbor.

Yesterday Mrs. Wheeler, the landlady, showed her the papers in the trunk which she had hidden in the trunk.

CHAPTER XV
ENTRARY to Cilly's expectations, the funeral services for Mr. Kerr were well attended.

had asked that they be held in the smallest parlor, and now the room was almost crowded.

Harry Hutchins was there, of course, and Harvey Ames. With Ames was his partner, Mr. Keefe, and four others whom he recognized as employees in the office.

Obviously they held Amy in high regard, despite their association with her. Immediately following the service, Cilly noticed that the steps of the funeral home were lined with photographers.

For the first time she realized that the newspapers were playing the case. The murder of a young girl was always of public interest.

Thus the reporters had secured very valuable information, either from the police, there was a list of little to tell of Amy, and there were no photographs.

Tomorrow's papers would probably strike a new theme. "Is the order Among These Who Kill Amy Kerr?" they might inquire, with innumerable questions.

There would be these faces of the small group leaving the funeral parlors, with appropriate remarks to indicate Miss Ella Pierce, who shared the apartment with the victim.

Harvey Ames, employer of Harry Kerr, Mr. Harry Hutchins, but no Harry had lingered. Harry preferred his photographs taken at the smarter places, and with the notables, Miss Maria Harmon in particular.

was not much more than an hour later when Cilly returned to the cemetery. As she turned into the entrance of the Bayview, she heard, through the open window, the ringing of her own telephone. She hastened her steps. It was Sergeant Dolan.

"Say, Miss Pierce," he said abruptly, "I'd like you to come down to headquarters as soon as you can. Something I'd like to talk to you about."

"I'll leave immediately," Cilly assured him. She hung up, a little fearful.

She went into the bedroom to freshen her make-up. She combed her hair and set her tiny little black hat at a more rakish angle. It strengthened her self-assurance.

Half an hour later, she sat opposite Sergeant Dolan in a small private office down at police headquarters.

"Any news of your boy friend?" Dolan asked her, almost before she was seated.

He flung the question at her abruptly, startling her for the moment. Her self-assurance weakened perceptibly. "No, of course not," she said, "not since—"

She stopped, realizing that she was about to say: "Not since his postcard yesterday." It was just one such little slip that Dolan hoped for.

"Not since when," he asked, instantly alert.

"Not since Sunday, of course. But I did discover something very important."

"Let's hear about it."

BRIEFLY, but in detail, Cilly told him how she came to find the Bluefields newspapers in the incinerator; she showed him the sections she had reclaimed. She told him of her visit that morning to Mr. Johnson, and of his peculiar literary tastes.

"Another thing," she said, "Detective Martin apparently forgot to consider Mr. Johnson yesterday when he was collecting alibis for all the tenants. He might very well have been up there on the roof—he goes up every night to lock the door—and he was the only one who came out of the front door after Amy was killed."

"Did you see him come down the stairs?"

"No, I didn't. I assumed that he came up from his rooms in the basement. I was looking at Amy—not at the front door. I only know that he was the only one who came out of the house before the police arrived."

Sergeant Dolan shrugged his wide shoulders.

"It doesn't look to me," he said slowly, "as if you have much of a case on Johnson. After all, if a man chooses to read up on insanity in his spare time, that doesn't make him a murderer. It doesn't even make him insane. Anyway, from your own story of the newspapers, you're ready to believe that someone upstairs is implicated."

"Yes, I do," Cilly admitted. "Don't you think whoever threw away the papers knows a great deal about Amy's death?"

"Well, I'll admit it would seem so. Bluefields, Utah, is a small place. I'm willing to check more thoroughly on the tenants."

"It's not too late?"

"What do you mean?"

"You told me yesterday, Sergeant, that we were all to stand in readiness for a summons to police headquarters. Was that order for me alone, or was it given to every tenant?"

"Martin gave every tenant the same instructions."

"Nevertheless, Mrs. Wheeler in 4-3 left hurriedly this afternoon with two large suitcases. I don't think she'll be back for a while."

Dolan picked up a phone from the desk. To someone at the other end he ordered: "Have Martin check up on a Mrs. Wheeler in Apartment 4-B at the Bayview. See if there's any indication that she skipped."

Replacing the phone, he turned to Cilly: "There's something peculiar in that," he said. "I particularly gave orders that no tenant was to leave the vicinity without special permission."

Well, we'll see about Mrs. Wheeler. Now what else did you have to tell me, Miss Pierce?"

"Nothing else, sergeant," Cilly said calmly. "But I do believe those three incidents have a tremendous bearing on the case."

"Perhaps you're right." He sat still for a moment, strumming on the table with the tips of his fingers. His eyes were calculating as they stared uncompromisingly at Cilly. Under his steady gaze, she became restless. It was with tremendous control that she restrained her composure.

"Nevertheless," said Sergeant Dolan finally, "let's get back to this friend of yours—Kerrigan. How much haven't you told me about him, Miss Pierce?"

Cilly straightened. "I've told you all there is to tell," she said with dignity. "Mr. Kerrigan and I are very good friends. I am sure you will find his character and his habits entirely above reproach. You're wasting valuable time trying to cast suspicion on him."

"Did Mr. Kerrigan ever tell you," Sergeant Dolan asked, with maddening deliberation, "that out in Bluefields, Utah, his father is serving 10 years in prison for theft?"

Francisco de la Mata applied to the cabildo (town council) of San Francisco (afterward San Antonio) for official recognition of private efforts to teach the children, this being done to check parents who unduly interfered with his educational methods and discipline. This request was granted by the cabildo and the action was ratified by the governor. Don Francisco agreed to teach until 1795—six years.

THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Harry Hopkins, Chief of WPA, author of "Spending to Save" is Number One Man among the president's advisers today—the only real "general adviser" in the sense that Moley and Tugwell were.

The "Brain Trust" today is a loosely-knit group of New Deal officials and economists who have come to a more or less solid front of agreement on a general theory of economic and social reform, business stability and concentrated authority under the federal government, allegedly for the general welfare.

ROOSEVELT and all the real New Dealers, one is frequently told by insiders, are behind the general policy often referred to, for brevity, as "the purchasing power theory."

Interested in various or all of these things, the President's closest advisers seem well entrenched here. Hopkins, his favorite, commands as much Capitol Hill respect as any New Dealer. Hopkins is a good politician, too. Eccles has kept his head down, but his real job is to direct the general lines of New Deal economy without treading on the toes of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

He sees business cycles as fluctuations of optimism and pessimism, with government the only potential balance wheel.

THEY say that a really great man is one who, at the top of the ladder through his own hard work and the boost of his friends, reaches down and gives other scalars a helping hand.

Such a man is Wallace Wade, whose record as a producer of outstanding football teams, first at Alabama and now at Duke, puts him at the peak of his profession.

Wade is a typical southern gentleman—a true son of the south with an ancestral background that starts with William Wallace and Robert Bruce, those great figures in Scotland's history.

Wade's life, love, and all is football. He believes that it is a man-building program, which properly conducted can be of incalculable worth to a player in future life.

Wade is a good-looking man. His facial features are well formed, and when he smiles sun wrinkles around his eyes are noticeable. His face is bronze from frequent exposure to the southern sun, and one of his favorite expressions is "I'd give the freckles of my neck to win this one."

DIXIE'S foremost gridiron guide speaks softly and with a Tennessee drawl, yet his voice sounds as if amplified on the football practice field. It is one of those carrying voices.

Wade does not permit practice to become boring. Every 15 minutes the student manager blows a whistle and something else is started. No time is lost.

WHAT'S an extra egg or two for Sunday's cake? And what would Sunday be without lots of extra fancy frosting on the cake? So roll up your sleeves and start in getting ready for big eating on Sunday afternoon.

Ambrosia Layer Cake
(3 eggs)
Two and one-half cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons combination baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoons grated lemon rind, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 2-3 cup butter or other shortening, 1-2 cups sugar, 3 eggs, unbeaten, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 5 tablespoons orange juice, 2 tablespoons water.

Sift flour, once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Add lemon and orange rinds to butter, and cream thoroughly; add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each. Add flour, alternately with combined fruit juice and water, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 20 minutes, or until done. Spread Orange Cocoanut Filling between layers and Seven Minute Frosting on top and sides of cake. Arrange sections of 1 orange, free from membrane, on top of cake, and sprinkle 1-2 can moist, sweetened coconut over top while frosting is soft.

Orange Cocoanut Filling
One cup sugar, 3 tablespoons cake flour, dash of salt, 1-2 cup orange juice, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 4 tablespoons water, 1 egg or 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten,

2 teaspoons butter, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1-2 can moist sweetened cocoanut, chopped.
Combine sugar, flour, and salt in top of double boiler; add fruit juice, water, and egg, mixing thoroughly. Place over boiling water and cook 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from boiling water; add butter, orange rind, and cocoanut. Cool. Makes enough filling to spread between two 9-inch layers. Cocoanut may be omitted if a plain orange filling is desired.

Seven Minute Frosting
Two egg whites, unbeaten, 1-1/2 cups sugar, 3 tablespoons water, 1-2 teaspoons light corn syrup, 1 teaspoon vanilla.
Combine egg whites, sugar, water and corn syrup in top of double boiler; beating constantly with rotary beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapid boiling water, beat constantly with rotary egg beater, and cool 7 minutes, or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from boiling water; add vanilla and beat until thick enough to spread. Makes enough frosting to cover tops and sides of two 9-inch layers.

LET'S KNOW TEXAS - TEXAS

This column answers will be given to questions on Texas history and other points pertaining to the State and its people. Address inquiries to Will H. Hayes, 2119 Salado Street, Austin, Texas.

How did the Hasainid early manifest their cooperation with their white friends? When the Frenchman, De was shipwrecked on Galveston Bay in 1690 and held captive by cannibal Indians, the Hasainid rescued him and took to the French fort at Natchez and delivered him to his white friends.

What was the last place in the Nauvoo, Ill., Mormon settlers who came to Texas in 1837?

What early efforts were made to establish schools in San Antonio?

Records show that as early as 1666 Cristobal de los Santos was teaching there and that some 20 years later Don Ignacio de los Angeles (probably the son of the famous Don Juan de los Angeles) became sacristan and established a parish school. Doubtless these were largely for religious instruction and hard to come by now as classified as "parochial."

What early efforts were made for compulsory school attendance?

About 1802 Gov. Juan Bautista Alvarado issued a decree by which he required parents to send their children to school. The schools were maintained by the state and the law imposed heavy penalties for failure to do so. This decree was differently observed.

Who was first to seek official public recognition of school in Texas?

On May 1, 1789, Don Jose

Ranger Man Enters Fort Sam Houston Hospital:
 Mrs. Bob Hansford, received word Thursday afternoon from Brownwood that her husband had entered the Fort Sam Houston hospital for treatment of a back injury sustained several days ago.

Attend Style Show at Blackstone:
 Mrs. W. R. Gordon and sister, Miss Winnifred Dunkle, are home after a visit to Fort Worth where they attended the autumn style show sponsored by a knitting company. All the latest patterns fashioned into lovely knitted garments were modeled during the show held at the Blackstone hotel. Mrs. Gordon, is one of Ranger's most recent knitting instructors and has a host of suggestions for those interested in knitting.

End Two Weeks Vacation:
 Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hughes, are home from a two weeks vacation which was pleasantly spent at Denison, Galveston, Houston and Dallas.

Left Today:
 Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Latham, of the Gulf camp left this morning on a two weeks vacation trip. En route to Brownfield where they visit Mr. Latham's brother and family a brief stay was made at Roscoe for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Crossley and daughter, Marion formerly of Ranger. From Brownfield they will visit in cities in the Panhandle before going to Bowie and Dallas.

In Ranger for Visit With Former Employees:
 E. V. Pollard, of Montgomery, Ala., is in Ranger for a visit with friends including the store personnel at Hassen's who he was associated with for a number of years. Mr. Pollard is remembered as advertising manager and specialized in window trimming.

Transfer Takes Assistant Ward Manager to Corpus Christi:
 A. B. Carter, who for the past two years has served as assistant manager of Montgomery Ward's, has received a transfer, which takes him and his family to Corpus Christi where he will become a member of the company personnel.

Musicians Offer Beautiful Musicals:
 The auditorium of the First Baptist church formed a pretty picture decorated in a profusion of garden flowers for the outstanding occasion of the musicale program given Thursday evening by Ellan Jane Lindsay, vocalist and Patti Hightower, pianist.

The musicians widely known in Texas and favorites among prominent musicians were brought to Ranger as guest artists of the Lions, Rotarians, New Era, Junior New Era, Columbia study, Ranger Music study and 1920 club, whose president, Mrs. J. W. Ducker, offered the gracious introduction and a past president, Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, together with other members of the hostess clubs greeted guests.

The program was beautifully rendered and completely appreciated by every person making up the audience.

With Joseph:
 Jack Davenport, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Davenport, Spring Road, is a new employee of the Joseph Dry Goods and Furniture company.

Gay Assortment of Patterns for that Dress:
 There is to be had the gayest or even the more somber tones for that dress you have been thinking of patterning into a fall garment. The piece goods department at Hassen's has arranged in attractive display and most any combination you wish can be found. When carefully and becomingly made you are assured of something individual, that all important desire in every woman's make-up. Colors are gayest this season with just gobs of novel trimming.

Just One More Day:
 Just one more day and your last chance to take advantage of the All America planned sale at Montgomery Ward's where there are so many inviting bargains it would be hard to list even half of them. For men there are shirts, vat dyed pants, socks, and Melton jackets; for the ladies, famous Amorosa slips in heavy satin that fit perfectly. Ringless chiffon hoses, tubfast dresses, shoes and general accessories. A complete department for the children with all necessary cloths for school. Every item offered in this sale was chosen by popular vote.

Rare Fruit Wonder Displayed in Ranger:
 The J. A. Boler's who are in Ranger after a visit to the Texas valley, brought back with them some unusual wonders in fruits grown at the P. A. Gilliam orchard at Phaz, Texas. A limb of pink maraschino grapefruit with fourteen growing on one limb the most that has ever been known to be produced on one branch. Also displayed is the pupaya which resembles a huge organe bell

Central Baptists Will Observe a Cradle Roll Day

Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock hour Central Baptist Sunday school will present all babies of the Cradle Roll in a beautiful pageant. Every Baby of the Cradle Roll will be presented, those too small to walk will ride in decorated buggies and bassinets.

The graduating class, which will be composed of babies who will be 4 years old before the first of April of next year, will wear caps and gowns and after receiving diplomas will be presented to the Beginners Department.

At the close of the pageant all teachers and officers of the Sunday school will be installed by the Pastor and Superintendent. Every office of the Sunday school has been filled and Mr. Les Taylor, superintendent of the school is anticipating one of the best years in the history of Central Baptist Sunday school. A good number of new pupils were added to the Sunday school during the month of Sept.

Scot Children Play With Big Banknotes

By United Press
 GLASGOW.—Bank notes worth hundreds of pounds were thrown about the streets in Glasgow by children.

The children found the notes in a box in the back yard of a house that had been condemned. Unaware of their value, they tossed the notes into the air and had great fun.

Older children saw the notes and realized their value. Then a procession to the local police station began. In twos and threes, the children brought notes to the value of about $1,750.

Then two problems confronted the police. Who was the rightful owner and, more pressing still, who were the rightful finders, the children who played with the notes or the older children who returned them?

The box is believed to have belonged to a tenant who left the condemned premises.

GOOSE STRANGELY DROWNED

LINDSAY, Cal.—A full grown goose was drowned here—in three inches of water. The fowl toppled head first into a pail when it perched on the side for a drink. Unable to extricate itself, it drowned.

pepper. Lemons weighing two pounds are among fruits grown in the Gilliam grove.

There are one hundred bee hives and varieties of honey including the delicious orange blossom, honey a brand favored. A banana tree with blossoms and green bananas was a curious sight to see. In the yard at the Gilliam home where the Boler's visited an enormous rose bush standing several feet high was aglow with many hundreds of roses in full bloom. Many have viewed this display since the Boler's return.
