LIBERALIZED VIEWS TANGLE WITH ECONOMY

AUSTIN, Oct. 7.—Those who would liberalize old age assistance tangled today in the Texas House of Representatives with the forces of an omnibus bill to increase taxes almost $10,000,000 a year.

The house failed 99 to 50 to suspend rules so a vote might be taken on recommitting the omnibus bill so pension liberalization must be included. A two-thirds majority was required. Pension liberalizers joined the foes of taxes on natural resources and other sources covered by the bill.

The state board of control previously had advised Rep. Harry Graves of Georgetown, chairman of the house appropriations committee, that unless $3,500,000 more were raised, pensions would be reduced.

Discontinuance of grants entirely from Nov. 1 until January or February of next year will be necessary unless $1,627,000 is raised to repay a Dallas bank.

Rep. G. C. Morris of Greenville who helped draft the omnibus bill said those who would liberalize the law are now the "greatest enemies of old age pensions in the state."

IMPROVEMENT OBSERVED IN PLAY OF MAVS WHO ENGAGE ABILENE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

In final practice Thursday before the Abilene game Friday afternoon at 2:45 on Welch field at Eastland, the Eastland Mavericks were believed by E. B. Grady, Jr., coach, as showing considerable improvement since the first game of the season with Brownwood.

The passing of the Eastland squad, presumably the Mavericks' first choice in the battle against the Eagles, was clicking in a manner that aroused the enthusiasm of fans, Coach Grady and Assistant Coach Miller.

San Angelo's team which buried the Mavericks in an avalanche of touchdowns last week, is acknowledged by many scouts as the classiest in the district. That belief is cheering to the Mavericks in that possibly the worst has passed.

The game against the Abilene team marks the fourth of the conference season for Eastland. Brownwood was winner of the first, Eastland winner over Big Spring in the second, and then

Standings of teams in the district:

TEAM	W	L	Pct.
Stephenville	2	0	1.000
Brownwood	2	0	1.000
Abilene	1	0	1.000
Sweetwater	1	0	1.000

FORT WORTH, Oct. 7.—What happens to a great oil boom town in the years that come after the big wells quit roaring? The story is told by Boyce House, well-known Texas newspaperman, in next week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post under the title, "It was fun while it lasted."

The article deals with Ranger and the other towns of Eastland county, scene of a mighty rush 20 years ago. Incidentally, Ranger will hold a celebration on Oct. 21, the anniversary.

This is House's second oil boom article in the Saturday Evening Post. The first, appearing several months ago, was the story of Mexia. He is also the author of the book, "Were You in Ranger?"

Commissioners' court, through County Engineer A. F. Taylor, is preparing to submit to the Works Progress Administration two projects which, if approved, will result in expenditure of $63,000 and employment of 140 men for ten months.

Both projects are for grading, drainage and graveling of county roads.

One is for improvement of 9.3 miles of road from Cheney past Grandview to the Gorman and Desdemona road intersection. Under plans of the engineer the project would total $40,000 and employ 140 men for six months.

A project for improvement of 8.2 miles of Hilburn road from Gray's gin to Pioneer has already been submitted but is being revised to meet new regulations of the W.P.A. The project would result in expenditure of $23,000 and employ 100 men for four months.

Submission of the projects to Area Engineer R. T. Dickinson is expected.

Liquor Sales By Drink Reported By Committee

AUSTIN, Oct. 7.—Sale of liquor by the drink took its place beside taxation in the Texas legislature again today with a recommendation of passage by committee.

The bill by Rep. Emmett Morse of Houston was approved 12 to 8 Wednesday by the house liquor traffic committee, after protests were heard by church and temperance groups. The bill provides for local option elections on sales of mixed drinks in cocktail bars. It estimated it would raise $2,500,000 a year from a 10 per cent tax on drinks and license charges.

Now Miss Kiesler is here in person (above as New York saw her) and many a censor in sight. "Ecstasy" also disrupted her marriage to Fritz Mandel, munitions maker.

Blanton Ceases His Testimony After Five Days on Stand

ABILENE, Oct. 7.—Possibility that testimony in the plea of privilege hearing in Thomas L. Blanton's libel suit against Congressman Clyde L. Garrett and J. W. Cockrell would be completed soon was evidenced as Blanton left the stand Wednesday.

The ex-congressman, appearing as his own counsel, had been testifying for five days when he descended from the stand and temporarily rested his case.

Attempts were made to read various quotations from the congressional record, to which Defense Counsel Carl Springer objected. After the court upheld objections of Springer half a dozen consecutive times, Blanton slammed a volume of the congressional record down and exclaimed: "Well, Judge, I'm through!"

Springer rose to ask if that meant dismissal, Blanton answered, "Dismissal of what? I mean I'm through testifying. No, I'm not. I have some more to say." He continued to testify for a few minutes.

Cross-questioning Blanton in regard to charges that communists had aided in electing Garrett, Springer asked, "Judge, what does a communist look like? You say you saw them in this district last summer?"

"Well, there's one in this courtroom that has been here all during the trial."

"I asked you what a communist looks like."

"Well, he's a heavy-set fellow, who if he had different ideas would be a pretty good fellow." Exhibits offered in the case were past the 200 mark yesterday—ninth day of the hearing which will decide whether the case is to be tried on its merits in Taylor or Eastland county. Testimony was resumed at 9 o'clock this morning.

Testimony Heard In Criminal Case

COOPERATION OF U. S. GIVEN LEAGUE TODAY

GENEVA, Oct. 7.—The United States again emphasized its cooperation with the League of Nations in the far eastern crisis today by forwarding to the secretary a copy of the state department of state's declaration expressing agreement with the league's condemnation of Japan.

Leland Harrison, United States minister to Switzerland, transmitted the statement to the league on instructions from Washington.

The official statement to the league is a diplomatic courtesy designed to show that the United States, while remaining independent of league action, is working on the same lines as the fifty league powers.

Letters have already gone to 17 nations, asking them to convene a specific conference and to invite the United States and Japan as signatories of the nine-power treaty, who are not league members, and Soviet Russia as an interested nation. Germany may be invited.

Two Are Killed At County Fair

HUNTSVILLE, Oct. 7.—An inquest verdict was awaited today in the death of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Lindsey, who were poisoned and shot near the Walker County Fair grounds last night.

The Lindseys had been estranged. The sheriff said that Mrs. Lindsey told him, before she died, that she and her husband "loved each other and decided to do this."

Shifting Trends That Vex Business Men

Just as if we didn't have enough other things to worry about these days, we are now invited to view with alarm the fact that mother doesn't begin to bustle around in the kitchen the way she used to.

The invitation comes in the form of an address delivered before a recent convention of the American Gas Association by a veteran gas company executive, Walter G. Beckjord.

The good old days of man-sized breakfasts, says Mr. Beckjord, seem to be gone forever. No longer does the sturdy citizen sit down to a table full of bacon and eggs, cornbread, potatoes and fried cornmeal mush, as in the good old days.

Mr. Beckjord and the gas companies draw cards in this situation, of course, because of the fact that when mother cooks a big breakfast she uses a lot of fire; and when, as and if, she is using a gas range, a lot of the gas company's product is consumed.

Now all of this probably strikes the ordinary citizen as mildly amusing. Yet it is far from amusing to the gas companies, which find an unlooked-for shift in popular habits cutting into their business; and it is just a sample of the unpredictable hazards that all kinds of business face these days.

The cotton textile industry, for instance, had no way of knowing that women were suddenly going to stop wearing three petticoats at a time and content themselves with one filmy slip; but they did, and the demand for cotton textiles is a good many million yards less today than it would be otherwise.

You could go on citing such examples all day, and when you got through you would begin to understand why business executives so often get gray hair. Ordinary competition a business man expects. He can meet that; it's part of the game.

Such shifts are characteristic of American life. They offer fortunes to the men who can foresee them and get in front of them; but they mean the biggest kind of trouble to the men who get caught in the squeeze.

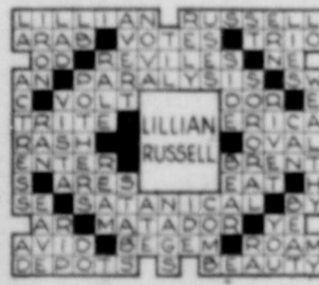

Dr. Walter Pitkin says almost every responsible job is held by a person past 40, a conclusion not often upheld by the wrecked auto's speedometer.

Ranger Writer is Giving Finishing Bits of Color to Book:
A world of beautiful things are ours to view, study and appreciate each day, but many have overlooked the value of the smaller yet so worth while beauties which come under the category of simple loveliness. Nature holds and gives so much. A Ranger woman, Mrs. Beulah Kay Hicks, is now adding the last bits of color and finishing touches to her book "In Organ Notes of Dawn." The book is made up of twelve chapters, one for each month of the year. Each chapter holds one's interest in a delightfully soothing way, accentuating in a restful and refreshing manner its contents. Simple beauty is expressed so complete in this book and compiled in such a manner you read page after page gaining knowledge furnished through the pen of a writer who has gathered her material from a heart's desire and realization.

CROWDS STILL GROWING AT REVIVAL HERE

The auditorium of the First Baptist church was filled to near capacity last night for another of the series of fine and inspiring meetings which will continue throughout this week and next.
The pastor, Rev. Charles T. Tally, Jr., took his text from Daniel 5:27, and used for his subject "Found Wanting." Heart-searching was the challenging message he brought and the plea he gave that men might consider the manner in which they live before it is eternally too late. He said the best way man can know whether his life would be lacking, were it "weighed in the balance," is to search the scriptures. Here poetry, history and romance are found in their rarest forms. "What mystery story is more thrilling than the one found in Daniel of the hand-writing on the wall; 'Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting?' vividly and impressively he presented the certainty that man must face and answer the question of his soul's eternal destiny.
Outstanding as an attraction to this revival is the part being taken by Joe Trussell who is directing the music. Each evening and each morning he brings splendid messages in special song, as well as with the congregational singing. Everyone is cordially invited to come for each service.

A large crowd was present at the devotional service at 7:15 last evening which was under the direction of Mr. Trussell. Again this evening he will speak at the same hour in the basement of the church, using for his subject, "How to be soul-winners." The public is invited for these devotional periods and all Sunday school and B. T. U. workers are especially urged to attend.

A campaign is under way for an attendance of 300 in Sunday school next Sunday. It is hoped this goal may be reached or even surpassed.
Splendid reports are coming in from the morning services, where attendance is steadily increasing. Very fine indeed was the service this morning. An important feature of the service was Mr. Trussell's rendition of the song, "An Evening Prayer."
A friendly invitation is given by the pastor and each member of the church to everyone in Ranger to "come once and you cannot stay away."

receiving informally.
The principal speaker, Mrs. Hal H. Hunter of Ranger Junior College, gave in her capable way a parliamentary drill. She was followed by Mrs. Lee Galley who offered two entertaining numbers.
Among members who take active part in the study each year was Mrs. F. E. Jacobs, president of First District of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers.
It was voted to enter a float in the parade to be staged in connection with Ranger's Homecoming October 21. From a prettily appointed table tea was poured and passed with a plate of molded salad, cheese wafers and cookies.
Members from all P. T. A.'s and study clubs made up the large group enjoying the tea.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.
