NEITHER FISH NOR FOWL

One Quarter Million Pounds of Elephants

Big AL G. BARNES AND SELLS FLOTO COMBINED CIRCUS coming here soon brings river of elephants.

A circus without elephants would hardly be a circus which explains why the great Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Combined Circus has this season elephants whose total weight is one quarter million pounds! Circus people love elephants but this is not the only reason the five herds are needed, for this season the new colossal 1937 opening spectacle, Old Mexico uses everyone of the pachyderms. Caparisoned in jeweled houdahs, and literally covered with silk, they, along with hundreds of actors and actresses also richly costumed, present one of the greatest circus spectacles of modern times.

Placing the Blame for Aerial Bombing

It is impossible to read of the airplane bombing raids on Chinese cities without a sharp wave of indignation. But it is rather important for all of us to be sure that our indignation is directed at the right people. Japan, of course, is doing the bombing. But what do we mean by "Japan"? Do we mean the Japanese government, the Japanese army authorities or the entire Japanese people?

In ordinary times we like the Japanese. They seem to be a courteous and a kindly people, and innumerable travelers have described Japan as a pleasant and hospitable country. Has this war changed them into a race of sadistic monsters who exult in the bombing of helpless civilians and the maiming of women and children?

A clew to this riddle, and tip-off as to the direction our indignation ought to take, is provided by a recent story from the Tokio correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune. This writer points out that the Japanese public is simply baffled by the wave of American and European indignation over the bombing raids.

For the Japanese people have not been told about the bombing of noncombatants. Their government has assured them that Japanese planes have attacked none but strictly military objectives. Not once has it even hinted that civilians have been killed by Japanese bombs. It has declared that ample warning has invariably been given to enable civilians to get out of danger, and it has insisted that Japanese aviators have risked their lives by flying low when dropping bombs so that they could be certain they would not hit the noncombatants.

Naturally enough, the Japanese people have believed all of this. As far as they know, their airplanes have been scrupulous in observing the rules of civilized warfare. And so—just as naturally—they can't understand why Europe and America are so outraged.

It would pay us to remember this. For one thing, it will help us to direct our indignation at the right target. For another thing, it gives us an understanding of the essentially inhuman nature of modern warfare. The Japanese are about like everybody else. No nation as a whole is ever going to approve the killing of children or the bombing of homes. People just aren't that cruel. Yet children will be killed and homes will be bombed in every modern war. Why?

Because the people at war will not know what their own governments are doing. Modern war is, above all, ruthless. It has to be that way. Military leaders will use "frightfulness" because they fear they will lose if they don't. If we ordinary folk don't want that sort of thing done by American planes, we have just one recourse: to see that America stays out of war.

Mid-Continent Oil Association Will Hear Railroad Head

DALLAS, Texas—Matthew S. Sloan, Chairman of the Board and President of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad, will be the principal speaker at the annual convention of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, to be held here October 29 and 30, according to E. L. Smith, chairman of the Association's General Arrangements Committee.

"We are indeed fortunate in getting a man of Mr. Sloan's calibre to address our convention," said Mr. Smith. "and the message he will have for Texas oil men is bound to be of far-reaching importance at this time."

Texas Stresses Quality Cotton

HOUSTON.—Texas, leading cotton-producing state, showed one bright spot in an otherwise gloomy world export market during the past growing season.

U.S. Consul Is Slain in Syria

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Daily, several hundred pickets can be seen these days loitering in the shadows of the black smoke rolling from the giant stacks of Republic Steel Corporation plants in Youngstown, Niles and Warren, O., still hopeful they can win their almost broken, three-month-old strike.

The brilliant diplomatic career of J. Theodore Marriner, above, U. S. consul-general at Beirut, Syria, was ended in a shower of bullets fired at close range by an Armenian, disappointed in efforts to get a passport to go to the United States. Marriner, whose work at the Paris embassy as charge d'affaires had secured his reputation as one of the more promising young American diplomats, was 45 and unmarried.

Sportsmen Could Get Into Trouble Hunting In Texas

AUSTIN.—A sportsman so inclined wouldn't have much trouble landing in jail in Texas.

There are 212 applications of local laws affecting game, including 20 on squirrels, 20 on quail, 64 on turkeys, 121 on deer and nine on doves, Burr said. A total of 218 applications of local laws affect fresh water fishing, two affect the taking of oysters, and 91 govern trapping.

Steel Pickets Still In Youngstown Line

The vigilantes, representing approximately 4,000 strikers in those three "steel" cities, live in tents, huts and other improvised shelter just outside the plant gates.

In June, when their strike called closed the plants and brought national guardsmen, signs reading "Victory is Near—Stay Out," were erected. Those signs still stand. But undaunted are the men who are now "out" and who observers believe probably never will get back in.

Oil Men Claim NRA Code Defense

Three officials of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana are pictured above at Madison, Wis. where attorneys for 22 oil concerns and 46 executives are claiming that charges brought against them by the government are based on practices identical with NRA codes. In the above photo are: Ed. Jackson, vice president; Edward G. Scubert, president; and Edward E. Hullock, vice president, all from Chicago.

... whether the work has been completed or is yet under way, and if complete, the use to which the structure is being put. In the case of non-construction projects, the nature and extent of services rendered by youths employed on the work projects will be summarized.
 This survey is being prepared as a part of the nation-wide survey of the work and services performed under the Emergency Relief Acts during recent years.
 Among construction projects to be reported by the Texas Youth Administration are recreation buildings, athletic fields and playgrounds, developed in a large number of Texas cities, including work done on a 440-yard cinder track with a 220-yard straightaway at North Texas Agricultural College; about 150 roadside parks constructed in cooperation with the Texas Highway Department; dormitories constructed at Prairie View College; and the farm service structures erected at A. & M. College.
 The non-construction project report will list work done in many Texas libraries; assistance provided in supplying lunches to school children; recreational leadership assistance in many Texas towns; community center program cooperation; clerical and statistical work; sewing room operation; and the soil conservation survey program undertaken last fall with the extension division of A. & M. College, in which 100,000 acres of Texas farm and ranch land was surveyed for terracing.

U. of T. Swimming Prospects Good for The 1939 Season

AUSTIN, Texas.—If the expectations of Coach Tex Robertson are fulfilled, the year 1939 should see the University of Texas swimming team high in the nation's collegiate ranks.
 That is the final year of a group of Olympic and sectional stars that Robertson is tutoring this year. The team includes Ralph Flanagan of Miami, Fla., national and Olympic free-style champion; Adolph Kiefer, Olympic backstroke tittle; John Crouch, Southwest champion, free styler; and Mike Sojka, one of the nation's ranking breast stroke racers.

 With this quartet, and the bolstering of youngsters whose prominence is confined to the Southwest at present, Robertson believes his team will be ready to pace the swimming world within three years. Texas has won the Southwest Conference swimming championship each year since matches were begun.
 Robertson's teams already have made successful journeys to mid-Western and Eastern states. For many years, Texas has stood out in intercollegiate tennis because of the favorable practice season—which makes natives proficient and allows all-year-round playing for out-of-state students.
 Robertson believes that good swimmers are choosing Texas and other Southern and Southwestern schools for the same reason. The outdoor swimming season in Austin is almost nine months long and indoor facilities are available for the remaining months.

Poison Saves Cotton Crop for Farmers

WICHITA FALLS, Texas.—C. W. Willhoit, Assistant Wichita County agricultural agent, estimates that Wichita County farmers saved cotton worth more than $28,000 this fall by using poison to destroy grasshoppers.
 County, state and federal governments furnished the poison free of charge, but because some farmers were not able to obtain it, their loss was expected to total $10,000.

City People Told of Fire Alarm Boxes

FORT WORTH.—Despite the annoyance of Hallows' pranksters, Fire Chief Ferguson declared as Fire Prevention Week opened that a review of fire records for the last two years has revealed that many citizens do not know how to turn in a fire alarm.
 "It's simple," the red-haired chief pointed out. "Just break the tiny square glass on the call box and pull down the key."

 MR. KERRIGAN—Cilly's name-

 MR. HITCHINS—Amy's

 SERGEANT DOLAN—officer called to solve the murder of Cilly.

Dolan stood in the living room, taking in the situation. "Come in, Mrs. Perry," Cilly urged. "Hello, Mr. Perry. This is Sergeant Dolan, from police headquarters. Mr. and Mrs. Perry are my next door neighbors, sergeant."

Dolan acknowledged the introduction with a brief nod. "Oh, this is just too horrible for you, my dear," Mrs. Perry went on. "And to have it happen the minute your young man was called away..."

Cilly's eyes widened. Dolan turned his shrewd glance on Mrs. Perry instantly.

"How did you know Jim was going away?" Cilly asked her.

"Oh, we met him that evening. Didn't we, John?"

"When was this?" Dolan asked abruptly.

"Just about midnight," Mr. Perry stated mildly. "Yes, it was exactly midnight."

A hurry he couldn't get a taxi. So we drove him down to the flying field."

"You drove him to Floyd Bennett Field Sunday night?" Dolan repeated incredulously. He saw his carefully prepared case crumbling before him.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry nodded simultaneously. "And we got him there in 15 minutes," Mr. Perry said with pride. "Kerrigan's friend had just arrived himself. It was exactly quarter past 12. We waited around until they took off, and then we started for Fall River."

CHAPTER XXVI

He leaned helplessly against the wall while Dolan proceeded to give orders over the phone to trace Jim's call.

He had phoned from the Pennsylvania Hotel. The operator verified that he could get out and appear in the subway in 30 minutes. She felt a subtle pleasure having outwitted Dolan.

He was so sure of himself, so sure in his theory. What did it matter to him that he was raising an innocent man to jail; that he was to the electric chair the first time, Cilly caught the significance of what Jim was saying. She held her breath in a new terror seized her.

He was arresting her. There would be nobody to carry on for her; nobody to watch the man, or Harvey Ames...

"How did you know which was Kerrigan?" Dolan interrupted.

"Why, we had met him before. One Sunday afternoon, we met him with Miss Pierce down at Jones Beach. We all came home together. So of course when I saw him in such a hurry Sunday night, I was glad to offer him a lift. We'd gotten the car, and had a little bite down in the tavern, and then just as we started off, we saw Mr. Kerrigan, running toward the subway. He seemed in such a hurry..."

"What time was this?"

"Exactly midnight. Remember, Mary, you remarked on it?"

"Yes," Mrs. Perry affirmed. "The steeple clock was just striking midnight. I teased Mr. Kerrigan about being in such a hurry to leave Priscilla, and he explained that he had to make a hurried trip out west. He didn't want to wait for trains, and there was a friend of his—a private pilot—who was leaving Floyd Bennett Field at 12:30 for Chicago. Mr. Kerrigan wanted to catch him, but of course because he was in such a hurry..."

CILLY could have wept for joy. Jim had been down at Floyd Bennett Field at quarter past 12. Amy was killed at 12:20.

There was a lump in her throat as she grabbed Mrs. Perry's hands in both of hers. "Thank you so much for telling us that," she exclaimed. Then, trying to be casual in her explanation, she added: "You know, everybody is under suspicion in a case like this until an alibi is established."

Mrs. Perry nodded smilingly. She did not understand why Mr. Kerrigan, Priscilla's special young man, needed an alibi. But she did not say so.

"Well, we'd better take the goldfish and run along," Mr. Perry suggested. "If there's any way we can help, sergeant, we'll be right next door..."

As the door closed behind the Perrys, Cilly turned to Sergeant Dolan. She could not hide the gleam of satisfaction which lighted up her eyes.

"Well, sergeant, do you still want to hold me as an accessory?" Dolan slumped into a chair wearily.

"I guess not. Their story rang true enough... and we can always check on it." He looked up at Cilly, smiled a little crookedly. Dolan looked at his watch.

"Well, I've got to hustle and check on some of these other angles you've been harping on. If he gets in touch with you again, will you ask him to see me immediately at headquarters? His testimony is still mighty important."

"I'll do that, sergeant."

"Thanks. I hope we'll be working together from now on, Miss Pierce. Sorry about everything..."

After Dolan left, Cilly made up her mind as to what she was going to do. There had been altogether too many stones left unturned in this house since Sunday night.

LET'S KNOW TEXAS

Under what flags were the conservative and radical factions organized in 1837?

The Conservatives, showing regard for Mexico, hoisted green, white and red flag of peace, with the eagle, cactus and sun omitted and the figures substituted in the central stripe the Radicals used a flag with a white star in the center and the word "Independent-period of time" also in white, lengthwise the flag at the bottom.

Planning Board Has Facts on Texas Of General Interest

AUSTIN.—The Texas Planning Board has unearthed some queer facts in its research. These have been listed in the board's bulletin under a heading, "Did You Know—"

That if all the goats and sheep in Texas were one big animal it would take a tin factory nine months to build a can big enough to put him in.

That Texas has three Bostons: New Boston, Boston, Old Boston—all within five miles of each other.

That the United States is well represented in Texas: Colorado, Nevada, Ohio, Washington, Illinois-Bnd, Missouri City, Tennessee-Colony, and Texas City, are towns in Texas.

That Pittsburg, Los Angeles, Buffalo, Detroit, Omaha, Moscow, Paris, Sweden, Turkey and Italy are in Texas.

That New York City is in Texas. Midway between Bellevue and Henrietta, a small store on the highway has this sign in front—"New York City."

That Dalhart, Texas, is nearer six state capitals than to the capital of Texas.

That the famous Three-D brand of the Waggoner ranch was caused by a cowboy who bent the iron into three perfect "D's" but found that when put on a cow the letters were backward.

That a train ran on hardwood rails from Rusk to Jacksonville in 1870. The larger city had a railroad and the citizens of Rusk built this one in order to hold the county seat.

That "XII" meaning "Texas in Texas," is that cattle brand of the Capital Land Syndicate which owns 3,000,000 acres of land in ten counties.

That Magoosh, last active chief of the Apaches in Texas, surrendered when he saw a Southern Pacific train in the Big Bend, with the exclamation that he could never beat iron horses.

THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON.—The question whether a popular referendum shall be required to take this country into war will almost certainly be a major issue on the floors of Congress within the next few months.

Last May, as reported in these dispatches, Congressman Louis Ludlow of Indiana had gathered 100 signatures for a petition to discharge from the House Judiciary Committee his resolution for a constitutional amendment which would require that the people vote on any proposed declaration of war.

Today he has 185 such signatures. This means that the proposed amendment, assuming Ludlow is correct in his assurance that he has enough additional signatures in sight to make up the necessary 218, will come before the House by February or March.

Subsequent processes of adding it to the Constitution would include passage by two-thirds vote in Senate and House and ratification by three-fourths of the states. House passage would require 290 votes if all members were on hand.

Heavy drive will be placed behind the proposal. A national committee of veteran, church, farmer, labor, war mother and other leaders is being formed to lend weight. Proponents think they can mow down opposition by insisting that America mustn't be asked to "save the world for democracy" again without some democratic process for deciding whether the American section of democracy is interested. Ludlow's amendment wouldn't apply in case the United States or its territory were invaded and any of its citizens killed. But otherwise, in case of threatened trouble, no war could be declared unless a majority of citizens voted aye on the question: "Shall the United States declare war on...?"

WPA rolls have hit bottom for the current year and are now expected to increase from month to month.

Number of persons employed shrank from this year's peak of 2,145,000 in February to 1,455,000 in mid-September. There were still 2,000,000 WPA workers at the end of May and most of those dropped after that date were taken on off because Congress limited WPA appropriations to $1,500,000,000.

The extent to which persons will be added to the rolls as cold weather goes on is uncertain and depends, according to unofficial advice, largely on the extent to which business continues to recover and expand private employment.

Congress provided that the appropriation be divided in twelve parts but gave no directions as to how much money should be spent in any given month. The drastic summer slash in the rolls was meant to assure enough funds for winter and spring, assuming business continued to improve. WPA may or may not be back at Capitol Hill for more before the fiscal year is out.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
 NEA Service Staff Writer

LITTLE PIGS of Heaven isn't a song exactly, but it does make people who eat it want to sing for joy. That's the report of Grace Moore, singer of stage, screen and radio. Yes, the truth is out—Grace does a spot of cooking now and then. The reason—her handsome Spanish husband enjoys just like any other husband. So Little Pigs of Heaven appears as dessert in Grace Moore's home on nights when she looks into the kitchen.

Tocinos Del Cielo
 (Little Pigs of Heaven)
 (8 to 10 servings)

One-quarter pound lump sugar,
 1-4 cup water, yolks 6 eggs
 Boil sugar and water until it forms a small thread on edge of spoon. Remove from fire and when slightly cool, mix in the well beaten egg yolks. Pour this mixture into small buttered molds and place them in a saucpan of boiling water. Simmer until mixture sets. Then turn out of molds and stand until cold. Serve with this sauce.

Little Pigs Sauce is terrifically simple. Use 2 squares chocolate and 6 tablespoons water. Combine over fire, stirring until chocolate is completely dissolved. Then pour over those sweet little molds and they will squeal "this is heaven!"

Even though Grace's notes are very sweet, she can cook other things beside desserts. She makes a grand Spanish salad and a high C of an onion soup. However, all we have room for here is her recipe for Arroz Con Pollo, meaning chicken and a lot of other pleasant things

Arroz Con Pollo
 (6 servings)

One large or 2 small chickens,
 3 large Spanish onions, 1-4 pound of gammon, 2 medium tomatoes,
 1 cup of rice, 4 pimientos, 12 asparagus tips, 1 cup of peas, parsley, salt and pepper, chicken stock.

Cut the chicken in six or eight pieces and cook in butter to a golden color, seasoning with salt and pepper. Add the chopped onion, previously fried in oil the gammon, cut in small cubes and fried in butter and the tomatoes sliced, also fried in butter or oil. Now add the rice, season highly with salt and pepper, moisten with chicken stock and cook till the rice is soft, adding enough stock to keep it moist. When done put in hot earthen-ware casserole and garnish with pimientos fried in oil, cooked asparagus tips, cooked peas, and a sprinkling of chopped parsley

Planning Board Has Facts on Texas Of General Interest

AUSTIN.—The Texas Planning Board has unearthed some queer facts in its research. These have been listed in the board's bulletin under a heading, "Did You Know—"

That if all the goats and sheep in Texas were one big animal it would take a tin factory nine months to build a can big enough to put him in.

That Texas has three Bostons: New Boston, Boston, Old Boston—all within five miles of each other.

That the United States is well represented in Texas: Colorado, Nevada, Ohio, Washington, Illinois-Bnd, Missouri City, Tennessee-Colony, and Texas City, are towns in Texas.

That Pittsburg, Los Angeles, Buffalo, Detroit, Omaha, Moscow, Paris, Sweden, Turkey and Italy are in Texas.

That New York City is in Texas. Midway between Bellevue and Henrietta, a small store on the highway has this sign in front—"New York City."

That Dalhart, Texas, is nearer six state capitals than to the capital of Texas.

That the famous Three-D brand of the Waggoner ranch was caused by a cowboy who bent the iron into three perfect "D's" but found that when put on a cow the letters were backward.

That a train ran on hardwood rails from Rusk to Jacksonville in 1870. The larger city had a railroad and the citizens of Rusk built this one in order to hold the county seat.

That "XII" meaning "Texas in Texas," is that cattle brand of the Capital Land Syndicate which owns 3,000,000 acres of land in ten counties.

That Magoosh, last active chief of the Apaches in Texas, surrendered when he saw a Southern Pacific train in the Big Bend, with the exclamation that he could never beat iron horses.

Miss Jessie Davenport Becomes Bride of John Simms Jr.

The following news story was taken from the Tuesday issue of the Denton Record-Chronicle: Lovely California chrysantheums in pastel shades, against banked ferns and palms before the altar of the First Presbyterian Church, made a colorful setting for the marriage of Miss Jessie Davenport and John Simms Jr., of Ranger Tuesday at 11 a. m. Dr. J. Frank Wear, president of Trinity University at Waxahachie, a former pastor here, and a long-time friend of the family read the ring service in the presence of relatives and close friends.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, W. B. McClurkin, and was attended by her sister, Miss Frances Davenport, as maid of honor. T. O. Murphy of Mineral Wells was best man and Harold Sullivan of Oklahoma City and W. F. Hamilton of Denton were ushers. Miss Gladys Kelson was organist for the wedding marches and played "I Love You Truly," during the ceremony.

The bride was wearing an olympic blue dweytn costume with a blue fox cape, black accessories and a corsage of white orchids, which was her traveling costume when the couple left on a wedding trip to Old Mexico. Her maid of honor was wearing a black and cyclamen suit trimmed in black fox, and a corsage of gardenias. The couple left immediately for their wedding trip, and on their return will be at home in Ranger.

Mrs. Simms has made her home with her grandmother, the late Mrs. W. B. McClurkin, and her aunt, Miss May McClurkin, since the death of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Davenport, a number of years ago. She is a graduate of S. C. W. and taught last year in the Ranger Junior College. Simms is a former student of S. M. U. and Sewanee University, where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and is in the oil business. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Simms Sr., of Mineral Wells.

Those here from out of town for the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Simms Sr., and Miss Joanna Morris, Frank Payne, Dwight Smith, J. R. Murphy and Tommy Fry, all of Mineral Wells; Mrs. Harold Sullivan and Miss Burnelle Sullivan of Oklahoma City; Mrs. M. W. Davenport of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Turner and Miss Marjorie Wheeler of Gainesville; Mrs. Frank L. Wear of Waxahachie; Mrs. W. D. Conway and family of Ranger and Mrs. Leona of Fort Worth.

Dance Creating Much Interest As Date Draws Nearer

Not in a long time have we heard so much about any one thing as we are hearing daily about the dance planned by the committee composed of Dave Cooper, G. J. Moore, Harry Henry and Nick Crawford, to sound the opening note for Ranger's big homecoming.

The lively committee has completed its plans and will introduce the popular musician, Jack Amberg, and his orchestra, of Mineral Wells. The Recreation building, an ideal place for such an entertainment, will carry a colorful floral dress for the evening, and that "something special" is to be a floor show. There's been a lull in the life of Rangerites, socially speaking, and it has been many moons since a real dance has been planned with so much consideration.

There's indication here 'n' there 'n' everywhere that it's to be a gala affair. Yes — as a many marks have been made by the 20th — giving personal reminders to the social calendar.

Leave For Fort Worth After Visit Here

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hull have been house hosts this week to Mr. Hull's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gentry, of Riverside, Calif., who left today for a visit to Fort Worth before returning to their California home.

Together in New Musical Romance

Topping "The Great Ziegfeld" in spectacle and dazzling array of talent, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer brings its last word in musical entertainment, "Broadway Melody of 1938," to the Arcadia screen for a 2 day showing Friday. With Robert Taylor and Eleanor Powell costarred and with its grand cast including such celebrities of the stage, screen and radio worlds as George Murphy, Binnie Barnes, Buddy Ebsen, Sophie Tucker, Judy Garland, Charles Igor Gorin, Raymond Walburn, Robert Benchley, William Howard, Charles Grapewin and Robert Wildhack, the new picture is heralded as the biggest musical attraction now on exhibition anywhere on the face of the earth. Roy Del Ruth, who was behind the making of such earlier musical film hits as "Broadway Melody of 1936," "Gold-Diggers" and "Born to Dance," directed the new offering.

BULLDOGS ARE GIVEN POINTERS AT REVIVAL

It was a very splendid service last night in which the football boys were guests at the revival in progress at the First Baptist church.

At 7:15 a fine crowd of young people met with Joe Trussell and he spoke to them on a paraphrase of the Ten Commandments written by Alonzo Stagg, a coach at the University of Chicago. A good attendance of the Bulldogs were present to hear the following ideas.

1. Keep your mind and body alert. Practice self control at all times.
2. Be true, square and honest; don't lie, don't cheat, keep your word.
3. Perform your own job just a little better than is absolutely necessary.
4. Help the other fellow; work for the good of the team.
5. Don't complain, whine, knock or quit; if you are given a job, do it cheerfully.
6. Don't be a grand-stander. Throttle your conceit. A swelled head will cut your career as short as though you had no head at all.
7. Don't be discouraged by failure.
8. Always be a sportsman and a gentleman.
9. Develop courage, determination and prolonged enthusiasm.
10. Pray to God every night.

Trussell said he believed this would work at home and in the church as well as on the football field.

During an unusual song service Trussell sang "The Last Roundup" and later he sang "My Record Will Be There."

The pastor, Rev. Charles T. Tally, Jr., took as his text from Acts 17:30-31, "God Comandeth all men everywhere to repent — because He hath appointed a day in which He will judge the world in righteousness." After emphasizing the certainty of a "Last Roundup" or a judgment day, he said everyone will be called upon to give an account of the deeds done in the body, of the words spoken, of all secret sins, but most of all, of what one has done with Jesus.

Today's program for the revival is also to hold fine interest. This morning in the Bible study at 10 o'clock Trussell sang "The Wayfaring Pilgrim."

The subject for the young people at 7:15 will be "Some Joys of the Christian Life." All the young people of the city are invited.

The members of the pep squad of the high school will be special guests in tonight's service. W. T. Walton, superintendent of the high school, has informed the pastor the girls will attend in a body. Trussell will sing for them. He said today he will probably sing "Thanks be to God."

The pastor and the church extend a friendly welcome to everyone to attend each service.

Cash Prizes Offered Pet Section Winners

Announcement was made here today that five cash prizes would be offered for five winners in the pet section of the parade to be the time and place of which will be given later.

Members forming the club are the officers, and Yvonne Ivy, Evelyn Harris, Inez Ferguson, Ruth Paynor, Hazel Eakin, Anna Mae Ivy and Loretta Thompson.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

WITH BILL MAYES

Well, well, Here's another Bulldog, "A Player Who Knows," who has turned scribe, and does he swing a wicked and truthful pencil when he gets started. He writes three pages full—all but four lines—and the pages are really full, not of just writin', but good, common sense. Attaboy Player Who Knows, that's the spirit. And here's the letter:

Dear Mr. Editor:

We, the boys who represent the Bulldogs of Ranger High School believe that the people of Ranger could give a heck of a lot more support to the boys who at least try to give them a football club. Of course we have not won a conference football game in two years but who is hurt more than the players who try or the grand stand quarterbacks who always have the second guess. The people of Ranger were noted as football fans all over the Oil Belt while they were winning but let them lose a season or two and where is your football supporter?

I have always heard that any one can back a winner but it takes a real man to stick with a ball club through thick and thin. Ranger, up to the football season of 1935 always had the thick side. A football team represents its town and the town is supposed to support the football team.

We the players, honestly believe in our coaches and are going to try our best to carry out our assignments from now on throughout the football season. We sometimes hear sneaking remarks about being yellow, but if anyone believes this, they know where we can be found and if they are not yellow let them come to our face and tell us. Do not talk to our backs!

It is not funny to lose a football game and we do not say it is. We do not make excuses. We can take it. What we would like to know is, can the true loyal football fan take it? I hope they can in defeat as well as in victory. When we get the old loyal support we will have the word victory, that you like to hear, written all over the Oil Belt. We are not kicking we know what to expect at the beginning of the football season that we would have to lose as we have. Asking you an honest question, "Have you ever worked hard at something and got disappointed?" Well, if you have you know what the boys have put up with for a long time. Two and a half years to be exact. Of course we are not kicking, we are just poor boys playing for our own fun. But surely the citizens and schools can give us a heck of a lot more support.—A Player Who Knows.

At least 10 people stopped us on the street this morning to talk football, and all talked about the Bulldogs. And, strange as it may seem, the opinions of all were identical, though they were expressed in a little different words.

Boiled down to the essential facts, the opinion was about like this:

The Bulldogs have every bit as good a team and as good material, but better reserves than the Mavericks, and should win easily, but won't. The reason they won't win is because Eastland really wants to win and will, but that the Bulldogs have not enough confidence in their ability and do not try as hard as they really should.

This last remark, in every instance, was qualified by the statement that no individual player on the team was shirking his duties, and each thinks he is trying, but few, if any, have learned to put out all they have in every play and to have that old "rock 'em sock 'em and bust 'em" spirit that any team has when it is winning.

As someone once expressed it, "to win a football game, every player must put out more than he can to win." Of course they don't really put out more than they can, but they do put out more than they had any idea they could.

The above coincided with what we believed, but had not expressed an opinion until our own thoughts had been thrown back at us so often that we thought everyone must have been reading our mind, if any.

And any team that does not think it can win by putting out, is shipped before the game starts. Some teams have been afraid that their opponents might win, and have come out with the long end of a score, but those games are few and far between.

If the Bulldogs ever get the idea that they can win a game, will keep that idea throughout any one game, and will do the kind of blocking that can't be stopped and which takes opposing players clear out of the play, regardless of size, they will win. But not until they do.

There is no hint of the team be-
