

THE WEATHER
WEST TEXAS—Cloudy, probably rain in Panhandle tonight and Saturday. Warmer North portion to night and Southeast Saturday.

Research shows that in the 17th century the table knife was used for cutting as well as eating. In the unskilled peabalancer's hand, it still serves both purposes.

AMERICAN ACE IN SPAIN WAS TEX. PRISONER

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 15.—It was recalled today that Harold E. Dahl was familiar with American jails when he left last winter to join the loyalist army in Spain, where he has been taken prisoner twice, sentenced to die and re-released.

He also left a former wife who divorced him in 1925. The present Mrs. Dahl, whose letters to the nationalist commander have twice saved her husband's life, also was known here. She was Dahl's fiancée and they left together for Mexico after he was released from jail on a writ of habeas corpus. He was held on a fugitive warrant from Los Angeles.

As he left the courtroom, Dahl stood in the doorway and made his parting speech:

"So long, boys. I am going to join the Reds in Spain. I have no doubt they will bump me off. But when they do I will be out of your hair. I need the money so I'll take the chance."

That was last November. He left with his fiancée and they were married in Mexico City.

673 Animals Are Killed By Trappers During One Month

AUSTIN.—A total of 673 predatory animals, including bobcats, coyotes and wolves, were caught by government trappers during August, according to the monthly report of C. R. Landon, San Antonio, district agent, received here today by the Texas Game, Fish, and Oyster Commission.

Landon directs predatory animal and rodent control work in the state for the Bureau of Biological Survey in cooperation with Texas A. & M. College, the State Livestock Sanitary Commission, and the Texas Predatory Animal Control Association.

The catch included 560 coyotes, 74 wolves and 39 bobcats.

A. L. Parker of Webb county was high man for the month with a catch of nine bobcats and 56 coyotes. E. L. Holman of Kennedy county and Dan Rhodes of Webb county tied for second with catches of 28 coyotes, two bobcats and 26 wolves each.

In the Red Wolf area, E. G. Pope of Palo Pinto county was high man with a catch of 12 wolves, while Andy Ray of Refugio county was second with ten. Jack Witten of Cooke county trapped eight, and J. I. Wilhite of Harris county and Carl Baker of Stephens county captured five each.

Pecos and Webb counties, Landon said, have agreed to cooperate with the predatory control program by providing financial assistance, and McMullen county has agreed to appropriate $2,649.60 and hire four trappers. This year Pecos county will contribute $3,500 and Webb county $3,312.

Negotiations looking toward Dimmit county's cooperative assistance are pending, Parker said.

In Daring Satire of the President

"President Franklin Delano Roosevelt" was balancing another budget—in a Boston theatre and with Actress Joy Hodges as his helper—when this picture was made. But it wasn't the real budget or the real President Roosevelt. It was George M. Cohan in the new play, "I'd Rather Be Right," a satire on the administration, so stingy it would have been taboed in almost any other country. Cohan portrays a singing and dancing chief executive, and throughout the cast pseudonyms are abandoned for real names.

JERUSALEM, Oct. 15.—Twenty-four hours of bloodshed, the outgrowth of Great Britain's Palestine partition proposal, were climaxed today with the enforcement of drastic curfew regulations.

HOUSTON, Oct. 15.—Sec. of Interior Harold I. Ickes, arriving in Texas to make two speeches, said today he hoped the State of Texas and private interests soon would purchase land for a national park in the Big Bend country.

ROOSEVELT IS PLANNING FOR EXTRA SESSION

By United Press
HYDE PARK, Oct. 15.—President Roosevelt divided his attention today between the international situation and planned for the special session of congress to convene Nov. 15.

Mr. Roosevelt's plan for six days of relaxation at his estate were ended by foreign and domestic problems that kept him on what aides described as a 24-hour a day basis of duty.

The president was in day and night communication with the department of state, over current events in Europe and the Far East. He was particularly concerned by the wounding of six navy men and business at Shinghai.

SHANGHAI HAS SUFFERED BIG WAR DAMAGE

SHANGHAI, Oct. 15.—The fate of Shanghai, which entered a temporary lull today after yesterday's furious Chinese offensive has caused damage estimated by foreign sources of approximately $1,000,000,000.

This was about double the damage of the 1932 siege and in addition 80 per cent of all trade has been halted and 90 per cent of the city's industrial workers are idle.

Additional horror was revealed today by health authorities that announced numerous Chinese children are dying weekly in refugee camps due to malnutrition resulting from shortage of milk.

"They reported four dead in the past week in one camp alone and while the total deaths were not revealed, it was noteworthy that there are 123 local refugee camps."

Cleanup Is Started For Homecoming

The work of cleaning up the City of Ranger for the Homecoming has been started and the work will continue until just before the celebration starts, in order that the town may be as clean as possible.

The cleanup is being sponsored by the ladies clubs of the city, assisted by the city commission.

Members of the street department, with some extra help, were busy Thursday and today cutting weeds and grass that has grown through the sidewalks of the side streets of the town and vacant lots near the business section, which have grown up in weeds. It will also be cleared, it was stated today.

Church To Be Host To The School Band

The Ranger high school band will be revival guests at the First Baptist church for the service to-night. This is to be an especially fine service, and the band will play two numbers. Also, Joe Trussell, who is conducting the music for the revival, will sing for them as he has sung for the football boys and the pep squad. Everyone is invited to "come and bring your friends."

Last night's splendid service for the pep squad girls was well attended. Rev. Chas. T. Tally, the pastor, based his sermon on the scripture, "Come unto me all ye who labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest."

After stressing the fact that a divine appeal, he said Jesus wants man to come to Him with his weakness, his sorrows, and his doubts. Men have the assurance that Jesus will give relief, because no one has ever failed to find help who went to Jesus in sincerity, the pastor said.

Trussell spoke to the young people at 7:15, on "Joys of Christian Living." Some of the joys he mentioned were the joy of fellowship, the joy of assurance of eternal life, the joy of prayer and the joy of soul winning. It is hoped a large attendance of young people will hear him tonight at 7:15.

Everyone is enjoying the singing of the talented Joe Trussell. Last night he sang "Thanks to God" and "Satisfied With Jesus." This morning he sang "When They Ring the Golden Bells."

Rev. Tally and each member of the church are welcoming everyone in Ranger to come and hear this unusual singer during the remaining services of the revival.

What-Not Bracelets Please School Girls

DALLAS, Texas.—Their mothers may go in for knickknacks on corner shelves, but Dallas high school girls have launched a new craze for bric-a-brac—"what-not bracelets."

Strung on chains about their wrists are numbers of tiny figures—dogs, horses, skulls, dolls of one kind and another, miniature pocket knives, and what have you.

"It rattles like everything and sometimes worries you almost to death," explained one blue young thing, "but we're willing to stand it. Every rattle represents a different boy."

DAUGHTER OF EASTLANDITES HAS PARALYSIS

Ruth Reed, 11, daughter of Herbert Reed, reporter for 88-district court, and Mrs. Reed, Friday was under treatment for illness diagnosed by Eastland physicians as infantile paralysis.

A cast was to be placed on her right foot, which her father stated was apparently the only part of her body affected. The symptom of infantile paralysis developed Tuesday.

Physicians described the illness as a slight case.

Authorities, it was stated, considered unusual the development of the case in this season. Although little is known of infantile paralysis, it is stated, records disclose that cool weather lessens chances of developing the illness.

The case is Eastland county sixth this year. Juanita Hagar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noll Hagar of Kokomo, this week was taken to Methodist hospital at Ft. Worth for treatment. She has been ill two months. Another daughter in the same family, younger than Juanita, has a case of less serious news.

Also at Kokomo a 22-year-old woman is completely paralyzed. In another case in the county several weeks ago a girl died of infantile paralysis at Scranton. Also a Scranton, but in Callahan county two of a family of five died of the dreaded virus. Another death at Scranton from infantile paralysis, also on the Callahan county side, resulted several weeks ago, officials report.

What Makes Japan So Scrapy

Whether on the battle line in China or in the world's junk yards, Japan is ready for more scrap. As her troops pour thousands of tons of steel shells at Shanghai's defenders, her ships load up with scrap iron that can be made into munitions. Above longshoremen at the American port of San Juan, Puerto Rico, direct the hoisting aboard the Glasgow Maru, below, of scrap iron with which its hold was filled before sailing.

Deaths from Cancer Bring a Warning from Health Officer

AUSTIN, Texas—"The increasing number of persons in Texas dying from cancer justifies a warning at this time against quacks and so-called cancer cures," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"While newspapers, as a rule, do not carry the cancer type of advertising, there are many other ways for misinformation to reach the public. Undoubtedly there are persons who, being thus deluged from seeking proper advice, unnecessarily become cancer victims, while others not having cancer are fleeced out of much money for a cure," Dr. Cox continued.

"There are but two ways of treating cancer. First, by surgery; and second, by the use of radium or X-ray. Treatment must be started early and in the hands of a competent surgeon. Surgery is relied upon to remove cancerous tumors and is used in nearly two-thirds of the cases. X-ray or radium is used to advantage in one-third of the cases, frequently by the two methods are combined. Self-medication, serums, colored lights, pastes, salves and diets are valueless.

"The great bulwark against cancer is early diagnosis. Every case is an emergency and it is unfortunate that the majority of those with cancer do not seek medical advice until beyond a permanent cure. No hope should be placed in fake cancer prophets and their treatments. Rather, the annual physical examination and an immediate reporting to your physician of any symptoms which may be expected to be the beginning of cancer, should be relied upon. These symptoms are: any unusual bleeding from any body opening, any lump in the breast or other part of the body; any persistent sore, particularly on the face or mouth, and chronic indigestion. These conditions may not be cancer, but sometimes they are forerunners of the more common types of this disease. Where cancer is suspected, do not delay, but consult your family physician at once," Dr. Cox admonished.

Health of Failing Students Checked By Rural Schools

TYLER, Tex.—A survey to determine what percentage of Smith county's rural school failures last year were due to ill health or to some physical defect is now being conducted by the Tyler-Smith county health unit under the guidance of Dr. Austin E. Hill, director.

Ten per cent of the county's total scholastic population, 114 children exclusive of Tyler's, county seat, failed in their studies last term, Dr. Hill said.

"Many of the failures can be traced directly to some correctable physical defect," he said, "chief of which is poor eyesight which is often overlooked by the student himself. Others are enlarged tonsils, discharging nose and anemia due to malaria."

A German streamlined train is called the "Flying Hamburger." A schoolchild could guess the names of its Pullman cars—"Onion," "Pickle," and "Lettuce"—both.

BIG, COMBINED CIRCUS, TO SHOW HERE SATURDAY, WILL BE ONLY RAILROAD CIRCUS OF THE SEASON

That exciting, thrilling hour, which has caused Johnny all week to keep his ears scrupulously scrubbed, is upon us. In fact with sunup tomorrow, its here. The exact minute is when two great special steel trains of the Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Combined Circus rumble to a stop in Ranger and begin unloading for the season's first day of white-top amusement. Circus Day! The holiday that makes all the city kin and which brings the rich and poor to sit side by side and "Ah" and "Oh" and marvel at the wonders and daring that neither age nor time can dim.

Circus Day! A phrase that brings a quickening of the blood stream; a sparkle to the eye and untold joy to thousands. And now its only twelve hours away.

Dawn to morrow will bring to Ranger some 25 acres of tent necessary to house this colossal enterprise formed by the uniting of these world famous names of the tented world.

Hundreds upon hundreds of the world's foremost arenic stars, and scores of European novelty acts are part of this year's colossal program. Features never before attempted are made possible because of the uniting of these two giants of the tented world.

One of the many hundreds is the largest group of ferocious jungle beasts ever assembled. Despite the fact these unruly animals refuse to be tamed or trained they are made to perform.

This daring feat is accomplished by Bert Nelson, the greatest wild animal trainer in the world. Mr. Nelson, with only a chair and whip as his protection steps into the cages and forces the brutes to obey his command. No more stirring, or thrilling sight has ever been, or ever will, be witnessed.

While everything is new with the Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Combined Circus for the 1937 season, every department has been greatly increased in size. This year sixty master clowns cavort and make merry on the huge hippodrome track. Four hundred horses comprise the horse fair, while the menagerie consists of 800 furred and feathered creatures displayed in electric lighted cages.

The greatest riding act ever brought to America, the famous Cristiani troupe come to this super circus direct from European triumphs. Composed of four men and their two sisters, this sensational turn features Lucio, the only rider in the history of the world accomplishing twisting somersaults from horse to horse. In the European contingent is also daring, exotic Amerika, in breath-taking balancing feats high in the dome of the tent, on a swinging trapeze. Amerika, without holding to ropes or supports, tiptoes about on swinging and whirling bars, utterly the just gasp in daring. Hal Silvers, unrivaled and most versatile genius of the tight wire is also from Europe, as are the Fly Artonys and the Two Karleys.

The colossal opening spectacle, Old Mexico was two years in the making and uses hundreds of costumes and gowns richly inlaid with jewels. Hundreds of animals take part in this pageant of unbelievable loveliness.

Performances will be given at 2:00 and 8:00 p. m. at the Air Port, the doors opening an hour earlier. Down town general admission and reserved seat tickets on sale Circus Day at Rose Pharmacy.

The Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Combined Circus will be the only railroad circus to show in Ranger this season.

Showing Youth That Crime Doesn't Pay

If you should see a policeman in uniform neglecting his beat in order to help a bunch of boys stage an informal baseball game on a vacant lot, you probably would wonder irritably just what that copper thought the city was paying him for.

On second thought, however, you might feel differently. For if a cop's chief job is to prevent crime, the officer who teaches the youngsters in his district to look up to him as a friend and counsellor is doing a very efficient and praise-worthy job of crime prevention.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief G-man, touched on this point the other day in a speech before the annual convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, at Baltimore.

Suppose, said Mr. Hoover, that a $100,000 bank robbery occurs in a given city. Every youngster in town is, to a certain degree, stirred by the excitement and the adventure of the affair. In a great many cases he will conclude that the robber has done a brave and romantic thing and is a person to be emulated. In other words, he makes a hero of him.

But if the police have means of contact with the city's youth—through police athletic associations, police play officers, police instructors and umpires for sandlot athletic contests, and so on—then the police have a fine chance to make youth see the robber, not as a hero but as a sap.

"You simply cannot combat in the literal mind of youth the fact that someone got $100,000," said Mr. Hoover. "He can listen to platitudes forever, but the thought remains in his mind—a man robbed a bank and a man got $100,000, and certainly in this instance crime must have been made to pay. And so our job as the guardians of youth is to say why and how that $100,000 is worthless.

"The boy must be made to understand that the money can be spent for no sensible purpose. He must be shown that this sum will be split among dozens of persons whom the robber must pay for aiding his escape.

"He can be convinced that every cent of this money for which a man has dared his life and the penitentiary must either be expended for things which do him not one particle of good or be paid out in a desperate effort to defeat the law, leaving him in the end penniless, a broken being living in a filthy, worm-eaten, rocking house of crime and robbed of everything worth-while which a life of decency might have given him."

That, as Mr. Hoover says, is a job well worth doing. It is a job the police can do easily enough, if they have the contacts with youth that enable them to get their message across. Such contacts, obtained through a systematic campaign of friendship and understanding, could be invaluable in the great work of crime-prevention.

The average criminal starts out as a juvenile cop-hater. If that trend can be reversed, a great step in law-enforcement can be taken.

Hero Who Aroused Minute Men in 1775 Boasted of Skill in Dental Science

When Longfellow immortalized the historic ride of Paul Revere he failed to mention the latter's tremendous pride in his dental skill. The hero who aroused minute men on that memorable night of 1775 displayed a variety of talents—goldsmith, copper roller engraver, powder manufacturer. But he took most pride in his skill in oral hygiene. In a circular he wrote of himself: "He fixes teeth in such a manner that they are not only a real ornament, but of real use in speaking and eating."

For his day, says the Dental Institute of America, Paul Revere may have rated high in the ancient profession, just as did the "dentists" of the Roman era. Bridge work and gold inlays were accomplished as early as 1000 B. C. A book published on dental science in 1530 was surprisingly complete for its time. But even in the days of the plerions there were no real dentists. Many comparatively young women were toothless. The first two trained dentists arrived on these shores with Rochambeau's fleet in the Revolutionary War.

"Dental science has advanced more in the past half century than in a dozen previous centuries," said the Institute today. "The x-ray for locating centers of infection, the art of straightening teeth, the evolution of immediate dentures or plates, and many other improvements have brought dental science to a high level of efficiency since the strenuous days of Paul Revere."

A society of leading practicing dentists throughout the country, the Institute has been carrying on a nation-wide survey of conditions with a view to improving the general health standard through more attention to oral hygiene.

El Paso Prepares For Baptist Meet On November 8-13

EL PASO—This picturesque border city was speeding preparations today for welcoming 5,000 Baptists expected to crowd Liberty Hall, municipal auditorium, during the annual session of the Baptist General Convention of Texas Nov. 8-13.

An elaborate program of entertainment for the delegates from 3,018 churches and additional thousands of visitors was planned, its climax coming at an unprecedented underground convocation Nov. 14 at Carlsbad Caverns, New Mexico. Baptists of New Mexico will join in the impressive services to be held underground.

Outstanding leaders of the denomination will report on foreign missions—now disturbed by war in the Far East—Home missions, civic righteousness, Christian education, hospitals and care of orphans. A special report will be made on the summer evangelistic campaigns held throughout the state in which denominational leaders estimated 100,000 members were added to Baptist churches in Texas.

Dr. Wallace Bassett of Dallas, two-fisted, hard-hitting pastor will crack down on gambling and the liquor traffic in his speech on civic righteousness. Texas Baptists during the past year joined anti-gambling forces, leveling their fire especially at horse racing.

One day preceding the general sessions, pastors and laymen will meet in their annual conference to thresh out problems of special concern to them. This meeting annually provides a forum in which ideas are exchanged and plans formulated for future effectiveness.

E. D. Head, Houston, pastor, will deliver the convention sermon, keynoting the program of the denomination which includes 650,000 members in Texas. Geo. W. Truett of Dallas, president of the Baptist World Alliance; F. M. McConnell, editor of the Baptist Standard; R. C. Campbell of Dal-

Dr. J. B. Tidwell, head of the Bible department at Baylor University, Waco, for many years an outstanding leader among Southern Baptists, is president of the convention.

Baptist women of Texas will meet in their annual session, Nov. 8-9. They will hear addresses by Mrs. Eugene Salles, Missionary to China; Mrs. George W. room. True, there might be a murderer hiding in there, under the bed, or in the clothes closet at the side. But Cilly did not think so now. Fearfully she peered through the window only to get a glimpse of the room's layout. Then she took the dressmaker's tool out of her pocket.

Very carefully she cut a semicircle in the pane of glass directly above the window's catch—just enough so that she could slip her fingers through and unlatch the window. Some day, she thought with a smile, she would confess to Mr. Johnson and offer to pay for the broken window pane.

The small semicircle of glass fell to the floor within the room and splintered with a resounding crash. But it could not have been heard anywhere except in the apartment below, and that was her own. Cilly unlocked the window and raised it slowly. An instant later, she slid over the sill, careful not to tread on the broken glass at her feet.

She wished she had brought a flashlight, but she did not own one. She looked carefully at the window shade. . . . Good! It was as she had hoped. The windows were equipped with two sets of shades, light and dark, for this apartment faced the south and the sun shone in brightly all day. She pulled down both sets of shades; now she could turn on the light with little fear of being seen from the outside.

In the full glare of the overhead fixture, the room looked bare and cold. It lacked the cozy homeliness one usually associates with old ladies' rooms. There were no magazines on the end table, no intimate snapshots of nieces or nephews or grandchildren, no smugly cushions. . . .

CILLY started on the chest of drawers. One after another she opened each drawer, and her eyes widened in amazement. They were entirely empty! There was not even newspaper covering on the bottom. Had Mrs. Elliot moved out completely, bag and baggage, as had Mrs. Wheeler?

Next she looked into the clothes closet. Would this too be empty? But no, there were clothes here. Typical old ladies' clothes. A black silk dress, of no particular style. A plain cloth coat, of a slightly rusty black. A muslin slip, hanging on a wall bracket. Black oxfords, very large black oxfords, looking not unlike a pair of man's dress shoes, lay on the floor.

Cilly looked again. Surely there must be something else. . . . this was only one complete outfit. Did Mrs. Elliot have no other clothes? And where were her underthings, her house dresses? She opened the door wider, to see deeper into the closet. . . .

Here was something! Another coat, it appeared. Cilly brought it out to the light. Why, it was a man's coat! A man's topcoat!

Cilly felt a sudden panic-stricken. Here was the solution to the mystery. Here in Mrs. Elliot's apartment. This was where a man had been hiding out. . . . and Mrs. Elliot must have known him, else he would not have the temerity to hang his topcoat in her closet.

Mrs. Elliot knew who the murderer was. That was why she was remaining in Connecticut, until all the excitement had died down. . . .

IN the instant of that realization Cilly froze with terror. Where was the man now? How soon would it be until he returned and found here there? Perhaps any minute now, she would see him. She would be face to face with the murderer of Amy Kerr. And she would be just as helpless as Amy had been up there on the roof. . . .

If she waited long enough, she would discover him. But what good would it do her, if she never lived to accuse him? Quickly she put the topcoat back into the closet. Her hands shook violently. She knew only one thing: that she wanted to get out of this apartment and downstairs just as fast as ever she could. She did not dare go out into the other rooms to search for more clues. She would call Sergeant Dolan immediately and let him do that. . . .

Somewhere a board creaked suddenly. Cilly spun around and stared outside, into the darkness that was the living room beyond. She could see nothing. She stood still for one dreadful moment. She must go over to the doorway and switch off the light, yet she hesitated. For some reason she didn't want to be left in that dark bedroom to find her way back to the fire escape.

And even as she thought this, her eyes widened in horror. She tried to scream, yet the very breath choked in her throat. For a man's hand—a large, powerful hand—reached in from the living room and turned off the light instead.

The next instant, she felt that hand around her throat, and she was dimly conscious of the odor of damp turf. . . .

Four Grid Games Will Be Broadcast Saturday Afternoon

Two important intra-conference games headline the four football broadcasts to be put on the air by the Humble Oil & Refining company Saturday afternoon.

Of major significance is the game between Texas A. & M. and Texas Christian University, to be played in Fort Worth. T. C. U. has a loss to Ohio State, a tie with Arkansas, and a win over Tulsa University. The Aggies have won two inter-sectional lifts, one against Manhattan in New York, the other against Mississippi State College at Tyler.

The Humble company will broadcast the game at 2:30 p. m. over stations of the Texas Quality network — WIPR-WFAA, Fort Worth-Dallas; WOAL, San Antonio; KPRC, Houston — and over Stations KRIS, Corpus Christi; KRGV, Weslaco.

Of scarcely less importance in the championship race is the game to be played at Austin between the Universities of Texas and Arkansas.

The Humble broadcast of the Texas-Arkansas game will begin at 2:20 p. m., over Stations KNOW, Austin; KTSA, San Antonio; KTAT, Fort Worth; and KXYZ, Houston.

The Rice-Tulsa game at Houston climaxes the Oil World exposition which has been running in the South Texas city all this week. The game will be broadcast at 2:20 p. m., by the Humble company over Station KTRH, Houston.

Another game packed with human interest is between Southern Methodist and Vanderbilt Universities, scheduled for the Cotton Bowl in Dallas. The Humble company's broadcast of the game will begin at 2:20 p. m., over station KRLD, Dallas. Hal Thompson, assisted by Jack Mitchell for color, will be at the microphone.

Q. How becomes of the rinds of Texas citrus used in making fruit juices?
 A. Heretofore they have been waste, but a dehydrating plant is under construction in the Lower Rio Grande Valley for utilizing these byproducts of the orange and grapefruit industry.

Q. How much land is available at Santa Anna for the manufacture of glass?
 A. It has been estimated that enough could be readily obtained there to make at least $30,000,000 worth of ordinary commercial glassware.

Q. What name did Pineda give Matagorda Bay on his map of Texas coast?
 A. La Bahai del Espiritu del Santo.

Q. How was Coronado's report of his unsuccessful expedition received?

WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—It is perfectly true, as charged, that Chinese arms embargo—deklarable if the President found a state of war to exist—would automatically shut off all exports of planes, guns and munitions, there is no law under which exports of scrap iron, oil, copper and other war materials could be stopped. A "cash and carry" order would tend to favor Japan more than China.

Exports of oil and gasoline to Japan from January to July, inclusive, amounted to about 15,500,000 barrels with a value of more than $22,000,000, according to Department of Commerce figures. That represented an increase of about 6,000,000 barrels over the same period in 1936.

Figures on scrap iron, scrap steel and scrap tin exports for the same period amounted to 1,536,000 tons, valued at $31,500,000, as compared with 644,000 tons and $8,400,000 in the first seven months of 1936.

Export to Japan of copper, a very important war material, increased from 47,000,000 pounds to 85,000,000 pounds—in value from about $4,100,000 to $11,200,000.

China's January-July copper imports from this country rose from 3,600,000 pounds to 8,250,000. Her imports of scrap haven't been important enough for the Commerce Department to list. Although in July she had bought but 13 American planes, compared with 87 at that time last year, the August-September demand for planes to China increased considerably. The August figure and the

Traffic In "Night Life Women" Goes On Unchecked

EL PASO—Regular traffic in "night life" women between Oklahoma, El Paso and California is operating almost unchecked because of the unwritten "code" of the women involved, the Federal Bureau of Investigation has revealed.

An FBI official said officers seldom can persuade a "lady of the evening" to swear to any definite information that might implicate the panderos, because she is ostracized by her kind if she does.

As a result, prosecution of such cases is almost impossible if the women involved will not assist by swearing to the complaints.

El Paso maintains one of the few remaining supervised "red light" districts in the United States.

Time after time, police and federal agents have had a case almost completed when the woman involved would change her original story. Agents would need her testimony that the man accused transported her across a state line for immoral purposes.

Night Police Chief Leonard Butchofsky recalled a recent case of a night life woman being beaten so frequently by a man that police entered the investigation.

When first arrested, the woman admitted that the man had forced her to lead an immoral life in several states. FBI agents were called into the case. Then the woman changed her story and denied that the man ever had transported her across a state line.

Butchofsky said many of the women in El Paso's supervised district had men "managers," that most of the women have entered such a life of their own volition and have become attached to men who force them to continue, through intimidation.

Road Mappers On A Nine-Year Trek

AKRON, Ohio — Members of the Brazilian highway expedition, blazing a trail for a proposed Pan-American highway from Rio de Janeiro to New York, visited here as they neared the end of their nine-year trip across two continents.

Commander Leonidas Borges de Oliveira, Francisco Lopez de la Cruz, Mario Fava, and S. W. White, who made up the party, traveled through 15 countries in their survey. They prepared 34 maps and charts of the route, which will be turned over to the Pan-American Union in Washington.

Ten thousand miles of the 16,812 miles of the highway are open to motor traffic, they said. It is expected that the route will be opened south to Honduras within two years and that the entire project will be finished within six years.

The exploratory expedition traveled across almost impassable stretches of country in Central and South America. For weeks at a time they lived on parched corn, roots, and drank water from the stalks of the bejuco tree.

When they had no gasoline they fueled the cars with a mixture of kerosene and alcohol and lubricated them with lard.

The Pan-American Highway would enter the United States at Laredo, and extend from there to Austin, Dallas, Little Rock, Memphis, St. Louis, Springfield, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Akron, Pittsburgh, Washington, Philadelphia and New York, enabling South American visitors to this country to traverse the most important industrial and commercial centers.

The expedition reported it had received both moral and financial support from all of the countries in which it had made surveys and studies of the route and the countries have also proved their sections of 600 mile highway.

Where more than 30 expeditions have attempted same undertaking and present expedition sees the nine-year trip all right.
