MAN KILLS HIS WIFE AND TRIES TO KILL SELF

BURLINGTON, Oct. 19.—Mrs. Pool, 80, was dead today after a bullet wound inflicted last night by her husband, 32, and he died in a Fort Worth hospital after a suicide attempt that followed the shooting of his wife.

Officers, called by a brother of the wounded man, found Pool lying behind his garage, one bullet in his head and two in his stomach. Beside him was an empty .38-caliber pistol.

Officers said Pool pleaded with them for "just one more bullet so I can get it over with."

Mrs. Pool was found lying dead in the doorway of their home. She was shot twice in the head and once in the shoulder.

The brother, Will Pool, said the shooting last night climaxed a matrimonial discord which had lasted several months. Mrs. Pool had been living with her husband in Dallas, came to her parents' home here, accompanied by Will Pool and his wife. She intended to get her belongings and get her husband sign some papers.

Another Figure In Early Oil Activity In Sector Succumbs

CISCO, Oct. 19.—George W. Weaver, 62, veteran oil well driller, and one of many of the early figures in development of this sector who have died recently, will be buried Wednesday afternoon in Oakwood cemetery after services at the family home.

Mr. Weaver died at 10:30 Monday terminating an illness which confined him to his bed since Oct. 1. He was active in oil fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Oklahoma and Kansas before coming to Ranger in 1918. He operated the following years at Ranger, Breckenridge, Graham and Rising Star, receiving the injury which brought on his death here Monday.

Besides his wife he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. George Christie of Cisco, two brothers and three sisters. Brothers are Charles E. and William J. Weaver, Jr., of Pittsburgh and the sisters are Mrs. Laura McIntosh and Mrs. Mary Van Deventer of Pittsburgh, and a sister, Sarah, Buffalo, N. Y.

National Oil Daily To Cover Celebration

North Bigbee, editor of the Petroleum Daily, national newspaper published at Dallas, covering oil and gas exclusively, announced Tuesday the publication would have a representative Thursday at Ranger to "cover" the homecoming celebration observing the 20th anniversary of the discovery of the Ranger field.

The Petroleum Daily has published several stories publicizing the Ranger celebration.

Man Injured By Auto Is Improved

Condition of John Webb, Eastland, injured Monday morning when struck by a hit-and-run driver while walking to work on a highway, was reported improved Tuesday.

Officers were at a loss in efforts to trace the identity of the driver of the machine which struck Webb.

Defendant Favored Against Eastland Man; Plan Appeal

A verdict of a federal court jury Monday in Abilene favored the defendant in the suit of Carl Perrin of Eastland against Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co.

Perrin had asked larger recovery than allowed by the Industrial Accident Board of Texas for injuries assertedly received April 14, 1936, while employed by the Lone Star Gas Co.

Allen D. Dabney, attorney representative for the plaintiff, stated at his Eastland office he has given notice of appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals at Dallas.

Peanut Marketing Problems Subject At Carbon Confab

Peanut marketing problems in the Carbon territory will be discussed Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Carbon high school auditorium by growers and others interested.

J. D. Guy of Carbon, chairman of a committee securing members to the Southwestern Peanut Growers association in that area, will be in charge.

Loans for Pensions Urged In the House

AUSTIN, Oct. 19.—Governor James V. Allred was asked today to permit house action on a bill that would enable the board of control to borrow money for old age assistance if necessary.

Rep. Clarence Farmer of Fort Worth, the author, said the tax bill, if passed at all, probably would not take effect for 90 days after the present session expires. Farmer said he was informed that $1,756,500 due a Dallas bank for an old age assistance loan, must be paid before Jan. 1.

Man Arrested On California Warrant

FORT WORTH, Oct. 19.—A 49-year-old Fort Worth man was arrested here today on a warrant issued in Los Angeles charging him with violation of the corporate securities act in selling two California interests in a machine to discover oil under the surface of the ground.

Army to Vaccinate 150,000 CCC Youths

EL PASO, Oct. 19.—The army will begin a campaign next month to vaccinate 150,000 CCC youths against pneumonia, Surgeon General Charles Reynolds of Washington said here today.

Baylor University To Lift Debt Soon

DALLAS, Oct. 19.—Dr. J. T. Harrington of Waco, chairman of the board of trustees of Baylor University, said today that for the first time since its establishment in 1845, Baylor soon would be free of debt, "due to the excellent management of President Pat M. Neff."

Car Registrations In Slight Increase

AUSTIN, Texas.—Registrations of new automobiles in Texas during September increased moderately over the like month last year, but declined sharply from the preceding month, according to the Bureau of Business Research of The University of Texas. Sales in the intermediate price groups made the best relative showing.

Reports to the Bureau from fifteen representative counties give total sales of 4,698 cars, an increase of 4.5 per cent over September last year, but a decrease of 18.1 per cent from the preceding month.

Aggregate sales during the year to date for the fifteen counties were 51,088, a decline of 2.6 per cent from the corresponding period a year ago.

LEGION WEEK SET

AUSTIN, Oct. 18.—Gov. Allred today designated Nov. 7 to 13 as American Legion week.

ECONOMY IS OUTGROWTH OF BUDGET TALK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—President Roosevelt abandoned hope today of a layman's balanced budget in this fiscal year and presented the country with alternatives of quick economy or higher taxes to bring expenditures within federal revenue.

Mr. Roosevelt's October budget report confronted the nation with its eighth consecutive deficit and pointed the public debt toward a new $37,000,000,000 high mark.

Mr. Roosevelt acknowledged the treasury gold sterilization policy probably would force the public debt considerably beyond the $37,119,758,732 figure indicated in this budget summary. But sterilized gold is rated a prime asset and available always to reduce the debt at its face value. Mr. Roosevelt's reference to gold was interpreted to mean the treasury would continue to buy all metal offered here at New Deal prices.

Trimming revenue estimates and increasing his spending schedule, Mr. Roosevelt looked toward a gross deficit of $895,245,000 on June 30, 1938, the close of this fiscal year. He estimated the second largest federal income in treasury records.

The net deficit, including $200,000,000 for statutory debt retirement, will be $695,245,000.

Revised budget estimates were made public here last night as Mr. Roosevelt, in a community chest speech from Hyde Park, was saying:

"We all agree that unless federal taxes are to be greatly increased, the expenditures have to be brought within the existing tax receipts."

The two statements were expected to arouse an economy storm in the extraordinary session of congress which will convene Nov. 15. They appear in the midst of the most ominous stock market slump since the New Deal took command.

Stocks and Grain Prices In Decline

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The heaviest trading since 1929 on the New York stock exchange today showed additional losses ranging to more than $7 a share. Under pressure of overnight liquidation, sales in the first hour totaled 2,210,000 shares.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Wheat prices dropped more than three cents a bushel today on the Chicago Board of Trade as speculators and traders dumped their grain holdings on the market as the New York stock market continued to fall.

Feed Rail Rates to Await a Ruling

AUSTIN, Oct. 19.—An agreement reached between Texas railroads and livestock organizations on reduced feed rates for drought areas, awaited today an approval by the state railroad commission and District Judge Roy Archer.

Meantime a temporary injunction against the rates, ordered by the state railroad commission, was held in abeyance in Judge Archer's court.

One Dies As One Goes to Iron Lung

FORT WORTH, Oct. 19.—Death today ended seven weeks of suffering for seven-year-old Lawrence Platt of Venus, Texas, infantile paralysis victim, who had been in an iron lung at a Fort Worth hospital since Sept. 1.

WICHITA TRIP

Sheriff Loss Woods returned on Monday from Wichita Falls, where he placed a mentally ill patient in a state hospital. He was accompanied to and from Wichita Falls by Omar Burkett, a friend.

Scenes From Canine Auction

The fox-horn call with which Hugh Hurdock, above, opened the 259th annual dog mart at Fredericksburg, Va., may have meant only another day in a barker's role for silk-hatted Auctioneer Nat Bacon Kinsey. But to thousands at the sale, it carried a lot of sentiment, too. Tears flowed frequently as sellers put their "best friends" on the block. Below, Kinsey is hounding the crowd with praise of the docile canine he is holding. Legend says the annual custom began when white pioneers swapped dogs for Indian possessions.

RANGER'S PLANS FOR HOMECOMING ARE ABOUT COMPLETED

Arrangements for all the phases of the 20th Anniversary of the Discovery of Oil and Ranger Homecoming, to be celebrated in Ranger Thursday of this week have been completed, it was announced today by Hall Walker, general chairman, after a meeting of the chairmen of the committees held in the Gholson Hotel Monday night.

"There are still several details that must be completed before Thursday," Walker stated today, "but every committee is working and is receiving wonderful cooperation. I believe that the Homecoming will be one of the most important events, not only for Ranger but for the surrounding towns that has been held in many years."

Arrangements were made at the meeting Monday night to have the opening parade start at 10:30 Thursday morning, instead of at 10 o'clock, in order that it might be broadcast over Station WFAX, Dallas. Tentative arrangements have been made to have a staff announcer from the station present to describe the parade, the crowds and other highlights of the opening of the Homecoming.

W. T. Walton, chairman of the band section of the parade, announced today that he had received definite word that the Cisco Lobo Band would be present for the parade, which assures five bands. Musical organizations will be present from Eastland High School, Breckenridge High School, John Tarleton Agricultural College, Cisco High School and the Ranger High School.

Those who anticipate having entries in the parade have been urged to notify the Chamber of Commerce at Ranger not later than Wednesday noon, in order that the order of march for the parade can be arranged to the best advantage.

The celebration will start Wednesday night with a big Homecoming dance at the Ranger Recreation building, with Jack Armstrong and his Crazy Hotel Orchestra furnishing the music. Admission to the dance will be $1.50 per couple, which will permit dancing from 9:30 to 1:30, in addition to the floor show that will be staged in connection with the dance. Indications today were that there would be a large crowd present for the dance, as well as for the Homecoming next day.

Eastland, Cisco, Breckenridge, Graham, Abilene and Fort Worth have planned special features to be presented at the free street show Thursday night.

Car Is Stolen In Ranger Monday

A 1937 model Deluxe Ford sedan was stolen from W. L. McGregor in Ranger Monday night, it was stated today by members of the Ranger police department.

The car was parked in front of the McGregor home, 461 Pine street, at the time it was stolen. It bore license number 856,209, and the engine number is 4,012,220.

McGregor is an employe of the Texas company, working in Breckenridge, but lives in Ranger.

Ransom Is Paid To Ross Kidnapers

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Federal agents revealed today that $50,000 ransom had been paid in a vain effort to obtain return of Charles S. Ross, 72-year-old greeting card manufacturer, kidnaped Sept. 25.

Daniel J. Ladd and Earl J. Connelly of the Federal Bureau of Investigation made public a list of the numbered ransom bills.

Miss Cornelia Fay Stewart, assistant county home agent, announced Monday the election of Marjorie Calvert as president of the Alameda Girls 4-H club.

Other officers chosen by members, she stated, were as follows: Betty Jo Walker, vice president; La Fray Reid, secretary; Jacqueline Perrin, reporter; Otha Thomas, song leader; Dorothy James Armstrong, garden demonstrator; Marjorie Calvert, clothing demonstrator, and Mrs. W. E. Calvert, sponsor.

The club meets second and fourth Tuesday of each month at 1 p. m.

Present at the election were Maxine Perrin, Otha Thomas, Jacqueline Perrin, Marjorie Calvert, La Fray Reid, Blackie Munsell, Helen Joyce Wisdom and Betty Jo Walker.

ALL IN PLANE FOUND DEAD BY SEARCHERS

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 19.—A searching party reached the wreckage of a United Airlines plane today and found all of its 19 occupants dead. The toll was actually 20, because one woman passenger, had she lived a few days longer, would have given birth to a baby.

Ralph Johnson, United Airlines pilot, and member of the first party to reach the wreckage, made a hazardous journey down the slope of the Unita Mountain and reported in Knight, Wyo., that all aboard the plane were dead.

Eighteen bodies had been thrown through a hole torn behind the pilot cockpit and were scattered for 100 feet in front of the plane, he reported. They were buried in the snow with only arms and legs protruding.

One body was found in the cockpit.

The plane struck so hard that 11 seats, all well fastened to the floor of the cabin, followed the occupants out the front of the plane. Practically everything movable in the cabin went out a hole in the nose of the plane.

NOV. 15 SET FOR HEARING ON CC'S MOVE

Milburn McCarty, of Eastland, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, said today that Nov. 15 has been set by Judge Dennis Ratliff of Haskell upon a temporary restraining order enjoining the general manager of the WTCC from moving its offices from Stamford to Abilene. D. A. Bandeen is general manager.

"We are not moving, nor are we occupying the Stamford office until we get legal advice to ascertain our rights," Bandeen was quoted in an Abilene newspaper.

The Abilene office was to be opened Monday.

Mayor W. W. Hair of Abilene said that "Abilene stands ready to fulfill its offer made Friday x x x of course we would like to have the office. We made our offer and it was accepted. We are sorry, however, that any court proceedings have resulted."

The Stamford Chamber of Commerce brought the legal action resulting in the temporary restraining order to occupy the Abilene office pending a final hearing.

C. M. Frahm, treasurer of the WTCC and resident of Stamford, was quoted as saying, "Our only object is to defeat a secret, inside decision of a few of the officials who were afraid to let it come before a general meeting of all directors, which is in accordance with the by-laws and constitution of the organization. The city of Stamford will not object to the headquarters of this organization being removed to any other city when it is done in accordance with the by-laws and constitution."

Camp Fire Group For Morton Valley To Be Organized

Organization of the third Camp Fire group in Eastland county is scheduled Wednesday, Oct. 26, at the Morton Valley school house by Miss Catherine Lee Wahlstrom, associate field secretary of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., New York.

Miss Opal Hearn of Morton Valley has consented to assume guardian duties of the group to be formed.

Miss Wahlstrom is slated to speak at 3 p. m. the same day before an assembly of girls and faculty members in Eastland High school. The public, too, is invited.

The associate field secretary will come from Breckenridge to Eastland and visit in Hamilton after the Eastland visit. She is on the West Texas trip to stimulate interest in the Camp Fire Girl organization.

Only Camp Fire groups to date in the county are at Eastland. Through a misunderstanding it was previously announced Miss Wahlstrom would be in Eastland this week.

Comanche County Kickoff In Co-Op Drive Announced

Membership drive of the Southwestern Peanut Growers Association in Comanche county will be inaugurated with a meeting tonight at Comanche, it was announced by County Agent Elmo V. Cook, cooperating with the organization. The meeting will be at the courthouse.

To attend from the county and assist in organization will be Cook, W. B. Starr, Cisco, president of the association, and W. A. Gwaltney of the marketing section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, of Washington, D. C., who will also attend.

County agent M. E. Scudell will be in charge at the Comanche meeting.

Marines Recruiting Men In This Area

First Sgt. Burnworth and Sgt. Weber of the U. S. Marine Corps, will be at the Ranger Postoffice Wednesday morning from 8 to 10 o'clock, where they will interview prospective recruits for the Marine Corps.

Sgt. Burnworth stated today that plans call for enlistment of 100 men into the Marine Corps, and that anyone wishing to enlist should see him at the postoffice before 10 o'clock.

The two were in town all day today interviewing those who had made application for enlistment.

Big Spring Game To Be Broadcast

W. T. Walton, superintendent of the Ranger Public Schools, announced today that arrangements would be made to have the Big Spring-Ranger football game, to be played at Bulldog Stadium on Thursday afternoon, broadcast over the Big Spring radio station.

An announcer from Big Spring will be present to give a play-by-play account of the game for the benefit of the Big Spring football fans who will be unable to attend the game.

The date of the game has been changed from Friday, Oct. 22, to Thursday, Oct. 21, in order that it might be played as a part of the 20th Anniversary of the Discovery of Oil and Homecoming.

Railroad Coach Looks Like Plane Body On Wheels

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—A railroad coach that looks like an airplane body on wheels and swings on its trucks like a backyard hammock is under construction here by the young grandson of Jim Hill, late "Empire Builder" of Railroad.

Courtland T. Hill, former New York stock broker, guaranteed that there would be no annoying tilting of seats on curves, no light upper berths and no jounces. He said the Santa Fe Railroad would be given the first car in November.

"The coach will be built of lightweight steel and duralumin," he said. "It will sit close to the rails, and he guaranteed jounceless."

The 11,300 pound car will be suspended at the ends from upright fastened to the trucks. On these it will swing from its ropes. When the train stops on a sharp curve, the suspended car will hang straight down from its uprights.

John K. Northrup, the designer of speed planes, worked with Hill. The coach has the appearance of a transport plane without wings, even to the porthole windows.

Body of Oil Field Worker Is Shipped

CORPUS CHRISTI, Oct. 19.—The body of W. W. Corbey, who was killed in a fall from an oil derrick yesterday, was sent to Joplin, Mo., today for burial.

YOUNG ENTREPRENEUR CAUGHT IN THE ACT

ELKO, Nev.—Numerous children present in an Elko theatre without the ceremony of passing the box office puzzled John Rowberry, manager. He hid behind a curtain until the lights were turned off and found a 12-year-old boy admitting his pals through an exit door—for 5 cents each.

ALLRED NOT TO CALL NEW SESSION SOON

AUSTIN, Oct. 19.—Gov. Jas. V. Allred today notified the Texas House of Representatives that he will not submit the topic of economy appropriations to the special session of the legislature.

At a press conference he announced he has no idea at the present time of calling another session after this one expires Oct. 26.

"I see no occasion for another session," said Allred. "I have no hope the legislators would do more at another session than at this one. There are still seven working days to do this job. I have done my part already."

Allred thought that the senate tax bill by its reallocation of revenues would force a restoration of the recent cut made in the state ad valorem school tax.

"I wonder how the real estate owners will like that?" he said.

It was expected that hearings on pending appropriation reductions would be dropped. The house appropriation committee had postponed direct action on a $5,000,000 departmental reduction and the state delayed hearings on educational and judiciary appropriation cuts.

Urged All Mail Be Sent to C. of C. to Get Cancellation

Ken Ambrose, chairman of the special cancellation committee of the Ranger Homecoming, today urged that everyone in town who will have mail going out of Ranger Wednesday, stamp the letters and take them to the Chamber of Commerce office, instead of the postoffice, and the special cachet would be placed on the letters before they were mailed.

"In this way Ranger will receive a lot of good publicity," Ambrose stated today, in urging that all mail going out of Ranger have the special cachet.

Fort Worth Plans a Part On Program of Ranger Homecoming

B. E. Gorman, manager of the Street Show, to be staged in connection with the Ranger Homecoming, received a letter today from C. C. Patterson and Chas. G. Cotten of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, stating that they would be in Ranger with a tumbling act to present on the street show.

Enclosed in the letter was a copy of a letter sent to several hundred Fort Worth business houses, calling attention to the Homecoming celebration in Ranger and urging as many as possible can to attend. The letter states that the Ranger boom was instrumental in the development of Fort Worth two decades ago, and that Fort Worth would be well represented at the homecoming.

Comanche Well Is Planned by Firm

Slip Springs Oil company has filed with the Railroad Commission office at Eastland, an application to drill No. 32 J. M. Houser, section 56 D & D. A. survey, Comanche county.

The location on the eight-acre tract is 1,190 feet north of the south line and 290 feet east of the west line. Depth of the proposed well was not given in the application.

Seeing Our Jobs as Part of the Whole

The business world wants the small liberal arts college to supply it with "men who are citizens first and business men second."

Dr. Luther A. Harr, Pennsylvania state secretary of banking, made this remark before some 600 educators who had gathered at Muhlenberg College the other day for an academic symposium. He went on to expand his statement by saying that the business world needs men with these qualifications:

"Men with an awareness of the pressing problems of our distressed world; men with the desire to grapple with the most dangerous and difficult issues; men with enough historical background not to be deluded by the sirens of Fascism or the vigorous claims of Communism; men who realize that business is not the be-all and end-all of life, but a part of a larger whole."

All of which shapes up to quite a set of specifications. It is much like telling the colleges: "We need a smarter and more altruistic set of human beings—won't you please start grinding them out?" It is a good trick if the colleges can do it.

And yet something along the line of what Mr. Harr is asking for is very greatly needed—not only in the world of business, but in all other walks of life as well. For we are under the necessity nowadays, more than ever before, to realize that all of us as Americans are in the same boat together, that we can't drift our way out of our troubles, and that we need something more than a mere application to the problems of our own bread and butter.

Life has grown almost unimaginably complex in this modern world. The national welfare depends on the mutual adjustment of an infinite number of individual selfish desires—which boil down, in the end, to the varying ways in which each of us tries to get as many of the good things of life as he can possibly lay his hands on.

Our success, or lack of it, in that age-old human quest depends largely on the sort of country we have—its degree of prosperity, its ability to evolve policies that will keep the economic machine working, its readiness to remove disabilities from the shoulders of the unfortunate. And yet these things, in their turn, grow out of the way in which we as individuals go about the business of earning a living.

We are all links in a chain which describes an endless circle. No trade, business or profession can settle its problems without reference to the larger whole. It is hardly going too far to say that our national future depends on our ability to see our personal concerns in their relation to the national picture. If the colleges can help us to do this, then more power to them.

After straining all year to put their expositions over, some cities are wondering now how to keep that super-colossal effect from becoming just a public spectacle.

Textbook Heroine in College

DENTON, Texas, Oct. — Texas school children know Nancy Harris as the gay little heroine who rides ponies to adventure in the state-adopted texts, "Real Life Readers," which they use in their first classes in school. But Nancy, whose fan mail has reached from coast to coast, is growing up, and this year is a freshman at the North Texas State Teachers College, where her father, Dr. B. B. Harris, is dean. Above, Nancy is seen as she was when Dr. Cora M. Martin first conceived the idea of a series of readers about real children. The picture is one of those used to illustrate the books. Below, Nancy today, a charming little co-ed of 15.

Young Orators to Debate Unicameral System As Topic

AUSTIN, Texas — Schoolboy and school girl orators will debate the question of making the Texas Legislature a unicameral body as this topic forms the 1937-38 subject for the Texas Interscholastic League debate tournament. A bulletin entitled "Texas Legislature: One House or Two" has been prepared by Dr. Joe M. Ray, former instructor in government at The University of Texas, has been published by the University Bureau of Public School Interests which is the State executive office for the League. This bulletin contains both affirmative and negative briefs on the subject, and reading material on both sides, including statements from members of the Texas Legislature, articles by authorities on government, and newspaper and magazine editorials.

WALKS OUT TO BEAT WALKOUT

A threatened walkout by members of the University of Cincinnati's ill-fated football squad led to the resignation of Head Coach Russ Cohen, above. The positions will be filled for the remainder of the season by Wade (Red) Woodworth, below, line coach under Cohen. The latter gave ill health as his reason for quitting, but has been the central figure in a fight that has raged between two U. C. gridiron factions for nearly a year.

Spurt In Latin-American Trade Is Boost for Texas

DALLAS. — Marked increases in shipments from the United States to Latin-America, indicating the growing concentration of American business interests in Central and South American markets, challenge Texas to capitalize its proximity to these developing trade areas in bidding for new industry, a report of the All-South Development Council, made public today, points out. The council report cites a gain of 14 per cent in shipments to Latin-America for 1936, compared with 1935, more than twice the 6 per cent gain in exports to Asia, while no increase at all was registered in European shipments during the same period. Europe still ranks as America's No. 1 customer in volume of trade, with exports there last year totaling more than $1,000,000,000, but the significant gains in Latin-American trade point to Central and South America as the fastest growing foreign market of the United States, the council's study declared.

It recalls that exports to Latin-America today are 40 per cent higher than the $121,028,000 figure which was the average for the years 1910 to 1914. During the same period, shipments to Europe have declined 25 per cent from the 1910-1914 average of $1,350,299,000.

"The growing importance of Latin-American markets is indicated by the $52,863,425 increase in exports over the 1935 figure of $376,718,611, to bring last year's total to $429,582,036," the report states. "Imports likewise showed a gain of $45,654,302 during the same period, to hit the $528,722,136 figure."

The favorable position of the Lone Star State in the future development of foreign trade areas to the South, coupled with a 20 per cent increase in Texas purchasing power for 1936 compared to 1935, which insures an expanded domestic market, are powerful appeals to industrialists contemplating the establishment of new plants and factories, the council believes.

The major factor retarding the rapid settlement of new industry

Youth Centers to Be Extended Soon

PHILADELPHIA.—The American Junior Marines, revived after a depression of virtual inaction, has begun a drive for youth centers throughout Philadelphia and eventually in other parts of the country.

Designed to give young men and boys a chance to "find themselves" and an opportunity to participate in all forms of sport, the new centers will be located in districts where juvenile delinquencies are more prevalent.

The American Junior Marines has no tie with the United States Government, but originated as a boys' baseball team in 1927 under the leadership of Chas. E. Dreppard, now national commandant.

Realizing the need for a clubhouse where boys of the neighborhood could "blow off steam," Dreppard persuaded citizens of his section to form a committee and supply a meeting place for the youths.

Through the committee's efforts, the first youth center was established. Immediately the number of delinquencies in that section decreased. Encouraged, Dreppard and his associates extended their efforts to other parts of the city and to Camden, N. J., just across the Delaware river from Philadelphia.

As the social and recreational centers grew, Junior Marines officials felt that a wider field lay open to it. They decided to make the organization educational as well as entertaining, and now are considering courses in Diesel engines, radio and photography, to be given in night trade schools conducted in the more centrally located quarters of the Marines.

Students must be members of the Marines, and must pass prescribed examinations before becoming enrolled in any course.

An aviation mechanics school already has been established and its work will continue on a more extensive scale with creation of the school of trades. The organization, operated on a strictly non-profit basis, includes on its board of directors, W. N. Ottinger, chairman, prominent Philadelphia lawyer; R. G. Kitchen, official of the Jourdan Diesel Engine School; T. A. Sikorski and S. Diamond, both lawyers.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Life gets to seem terribly complicated when you sit and listen to lawyers discuss the merits and demerits of Albert Levitt's suit to have Justice Hugo Black disqualified as a member of the Supreme Court.

Facially, Levitt's case seems quite simple to many laymen. The Constitution says that no senator or representative, during his elected term, shall be appointed to any office the emoluments of which have been increased during that term.

This year Congress passed the Summers-McCarran bill permitting justices to retire on $20,000 a year, providing they have reached 70 and have served 10 years.

Previously there was no provision for retirement pay for justices, although when a justice resigned Congress customarily voided him his salary for life.

Levitt says the emolument of Supreme Court office was increased and that Black hence is ineligible. Then he makes his second point, which also has been made by Senator Borah: Justice Willis Van Devanter's retirement did not create a vacancy on the court. So there was no seat for Black to fill, says Levitt.

The Supreme Court itself has held that when a circuit or district federal judge retires instead of resigning, he, under a similar law, does not lose his status as a judge. One of Mr. Levitt's points at a time, place. Did Congress increase the emolument of Black's

As to the other point—that there isn't any vacancy—it was definitely noted on the first day of the court's present term that Justice (or is it ex-Justice?) Van Devanter didn't appear and that his place was taken by Hugo Black.

If Black hadn't been there the court would be operating with eight justices. And if all the justices over had retired and it had been noted that their retirements caused vacancies, there would have been only three of them—Stone, Roberts and Cardozo—left to do the work. In time, according to the theory, those three might also retire, leaving the nation with no court at all.

All of which gives some lively why most of those who crowd the courtroom on "Black day" thought it looked as if Black was firmly planted in his seat. (Copyright, 1937, NEA Service Staff)

Ten Commandments For Business Women Included In List

By United Press

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Katharine Bleecker Meigs, director of the first course in manners offered by a publicly supported institution, drew a list of ten commandments for business women today.

Mrs. Meigs will supervise "The ABC of Living, for Conversation in the Amenities, Behavior and Customs" at Hunter College. Such a course has been available heretofore only at finishing schools.

The commandments: Thou shalt not ever use scented powder as a substitute for soap and water.

Thou shalt not wear flashy clothes, screaming colors, regardless of what the Duchess of Windsor has selected for parties.

Thou shalt not put on heavy makeup nor perfume thyself so that strong men reel when you pass.

Thou must not talk too freely—keep gossip for thy private life. Thou must keep thy love life outside the office.

Thou must not necessarily leap like a fire horse at the alarm when 5 o'clock comes.

Thou must speak clearly and directly.

Thou must not be emotional or over-sensitive or get thy feelings hurt.

Thou must do thy work thoroughly.

Thou must not think men in the office are making passes when they are only being civil. Do not make passes thyself.

Look Like Duce Well, Why Not?

Hurriedly ending his trip to Hollywood, Vittorio Mussolini is seen here in a police car at Newark Airport, N. Y., on his way back to Italy. The 20-year-old son of Il Duce, whose resemblance to his famous father is clear in this closeup camera shot, was secluded by police in an unknown hotel to avert possible demonstrations.

OUT OF THE NIGHT

BY MARION WHITE Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
 FRISCELLA PIERCE—heroine, young attorney.
 JIM HITCHINS—Pierce's roommate and murderer's victim.
 HARRY HUTCHINS—Pierce's fiancé.
 ARMY HITCHINS—Amy's young visitor.
 SERGEANT DOLAN—officer assigned to solve the murder of Jim.

Yesterday Cilly heard the whole story of Jim's murder from his roommate, Harry Hutchins. She had been in Amy's office to examine her evidence against her fiancé, Harry Hutchins, when she had heard the news of Jim's death.

CHAPTER XXX
 UNLESS this time of any danger to herself, Cilly rushed into the bedroom and carefully unlocked the door. She knew, beyond the shadow of a doubt, that she had not opened the door from the outside had she opened and pushed the window up, very quietly, so that she had not noticed. Why had it been done?

Suddenly, Cilly saw the reason that window having been opened so stealthily. The man wanted to hear what she might have recognized Jim when he came to the house. He had heard a thousand might-beens. . . . The thing was that she had heard the entire case against him. Whatever suspicions lurked in his mind were now clear.

He had heard Jim's complete story. He had heard about the evidence against him in Amy's deposit box.

STRANGELY, Cilly did not realize at the moment that she was in the same danger, since Jim had left her everything. All she could do was that Jim must be freed. Somehow she must get into the Cannon Building before this man who had listened at the window.

Only Sergeant Dolan was to go with her! But she didn't wait for him. Every minute was important.

The thought of the officer up in the vacant apartment had had orders to remain there.

In the end, she left a message for him for Dolan. Would the sergeant follow her to the Cannon Building, just as quickly as she could? It was important, tremendously important.

She took the subway to Manhattan. That was fastest. Jim, in a hurry, might have taken a taxi. But Cilly knew the subway would get her to the Cannon Building in half the time it would take a taxi, even though every second of the trip would seem an eternity.

For the first five minutes of the trip, she was in an agony of suspense. It was as if the car were a prison, holding her backward; she pressed her body hard against the seat and beat a mad tattoo with her feet to speed the train forward.

Then, quite suddenly, every muscle in Cilly's tense body relaxed. For a long, breath-taking moment she sat there, very calm and very still. She had been asleep, and had just awakened.

She knew who the murderer was!

AS the train roared its way under the river, she went back in her mind over the whole case. The pieces fitted together in a perfect pattern. What a blind fool she had been! What a stupid, unreasoning fool!

She recalled the events which followed Amy's death on Sunday night; she remembered standing in the kitchen before going to bed. And then, the most important piece of evidence in the whole case, which she had completely forgotten until this minute. . . .

The dumbwaiter.

She had heard it descending slowly; passing the level of her own kitchen and continuing down to the basement. That was how the murderer had left the house. It was all so clear now.

Mrs. Downey had heard him running down the stairs from the roof. He had reached the second floor, entered Apartment 2-A, and from there he had taken the dumbwaiter. . . . while Cilly stood in her kitchen, listening to it, too stupid to realize what it might mean.

Fourteenth street. . . . Pennsylvania Station. . . .

Cilly got off the train and flew up the stairs. The Cannon Building was just around the corner.

THE lobby was empty. Usually a night elevator man remained on duty. . . . Yes, one of the cars was coming down. Casey, the night man, stepped out.

"Hello, Miss Pierce!" he exclaimed. "Tis a queer time for coming to work now, isn't it?"

Cilly dragged him back into the car. "Hurry, Casey," she cried. "I've got to get upstairs. . . . Did you just take someone up?"

"Just this minute, ma'am. A young gentleman, it was, saying he wanted to go to your office. . . . He had the key and all. . . . Was he alone?"

"Sure, he was. Not another soul's been in the building since 10 o'clock." He brought the elevator to a stop at her floor.

"Do something for me, will you, Casey?" Cilly begged hurriedly as she stepped out. "Go downstairs and get a policeman—just as quick as you can. . . . something terrible may happen. . . ."

She ran down the corridor, turned a corner, passed her own office, and continued on to Ames & Wakefield. She noticed the light shining through the transom. Jim was there, alone, and she was in time!

Breathless, she opened the door. Jim was trying to pick out Amy's desk, according to the position Cilly had described. He spun around to face her.

"Cilly! Cilly, darling, what's the trouble?"

"Jim, I know who did it! He listened, Jim, he listened at my window while you were telling me about it. He'll be here any minute, I know it. He won't let you get hold of that evidence. Jim, he'll kill you!"

Jim reached out, put his arms on her shoulders.

"There!" he assured her, "we're safe for the moment. Cilly, tell me, who is it? Who is it? If I could only get my two hands on him. . . ."

"What do you think you'd do, my hero?"

Simultaneously, Cilly and Jim whirled to face this new voice. The door of Harvey Ames' private office was open; Harry Hutchins stood on the threshold, covering them both with a gun.

There was the same old cocksure smile on his lips, but his hand never wavered as it leveled the revolver at them.

"My dear Friscilla," he gloated, "nothing you have ever done has pleased me more. Now I have the two of you here together, the only two people in the world who stand in my way. . . ."

Cilly thought of Lot's wife, changed to a pillar of salt as she turned to look back. In her case, however, she had become a column of solid ice the moment she turned to see Harry Hutchins. But Jim was all fire now—all fire and fury. He sprang forward, heedless of the gun. Cilly heard the safety catch click. Only a second now.

She shut her eyes, afraid to see Jim go down before her. . . . then she heard the shot, intermingled curiously with the sound of crashing glass. . . .

INTO the mouths of babes goes wisdom which their parents might follow. Simple desserts make young children grow healthy and keep older people young. The following desserts have been selected for their delicacy, good taste, and their lack of richness which gives tummy trouble to mamas and papas who want something sweet after dinner.

Honey Raspberry Delight
 (8 servings)

Two tablespoons gelatin, 1-2 cup cold water, 1-2 cups milk, 1-2 cup honey, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup whipping cream, 1-1/2 cup red raspberries, quick frozen or canned.

Soak gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Scald milk and pour it over the gelatin. Stir until the gelatin is dissolved. Cool. Mix honey and lemon juice and stir in the milk mixture. Chill and when it begins to set, add the whipping cream and raspberries. Pour into 8-ounce heat resistant thin glass custard cups. Place in a refrigerator until very cold. Serve in the custard cups.

Gingerbread
 (16 portions)

One-half cup butter or other shortening, 1-2 cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, beaten, 2-1/2 cups flour, sifted, 1-2 teaspoons soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup New Orleans molasses, 1 cup hot water.

Cream shortening and sugar, add beaten egg. Measure and sift dry ingredients. Combine molasses and hot water. Add dry ingredients alternately with liquid, a small amount at a time, and beat after each addition until smooth. Bake in paper lined pan 9x9x2 in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Top the dessert with whipped cream and serve.

Fresh pineapple cut through the center lengthwise and then cut into small strips with a piece of the spine left at the end of each strip to be used as a handle is the beginning of a very simple but delightful dessert. Make a groove lengthwise down the center of the strip. Fill this groove with some kind of berry. When you pick it up in a spoon and you have a combination of pineapple and berry which is as thrilling as it is easy on the digestion.

Another such idea is balls of fresh pineapple rolled in freshly grated coconut. Serve this on a dark plate in a mound. Then your love for over-rich puddings will melt away.

Tomorrow's Menu
 BREAKFAST: sliced bananas in orange juice, hot cereal, maple sugar, cream, raisin toast, coffee, milk.
 LUNCHEON: Broiled frankfurters, cabbage salad, gingerbread, cream cheese, tea, milk.
 DINNER: Pineapple juice, roast chicken, giblet gravy, baked stuffed potatoes, canned asparagus, endive salad, honey raspberry delight, coffee, milk.

Sport Glances. By Grayson

NEW YORK—The Giants believed they had a splendid chance against the Yankees; but it was just as well for our national pastime that the worst they could get was about $4000 apiece on the losing end.

Otherwise there might have been a sit-down strike.

There were tremendous possibilities for John L. Lewis at the Polo Grounds, and where was William Green, for—

"The Giants were crying, 'Come Labor!'"

A check of the payrolls of the world series combatants disclosed that the Yankees as a body drew exactly $88,500 more for the season's toil than the Giants.

"Suppose we win," said a group of young Horace Stoneham's hirings. "That only would encourage the owners to further hack players' salaries."

The Giants had the utmost respect for Terry, their Cheerless Leader who recently signed a new five-year contract at $40,000 a whirl. Terry doesn't even want to go to the trouble of changing his clothes and sitting on the bench for that kind of coin.

The Giants entered the world series intent on doing all they could for Terry and themselves, but with the knowledge that every spike in the plate whittled baseball pay in general.

They had bagged three pennants, a world championship, and had finished second in five years had running, and still they found themselves working at bargain basement rates.

EXCLUSIVE of the Johnny-Come-Latelys, here were the Yankee and Giant payrolls for 1937:

YANKEES
Joe McCarthy	$35,000	Wicket	4,500
Gomez	16,000	Duckey	15,000
Huffing	16,000	Jorgens	7,500
Pearson	12,500	Glenn	5,500
Hadley	11,900	Gehrig	36,000
Murphy	10,900	Lazzeri	18,000
Malone	10,900	Hefner	6,500
Andrews	7,500	Roite	10,900
		Total	$300,000

GIANTS
Terry	$27,500	Mancuso	11,000
Hubbell	18,000	Wanning	4,500
Schumacher	12,000	Madjeski	2,500
Castlemath	8,000	McCarthy	5,000
Smith	8,000	Leslie	8,000
Melton	6,000	Whitehead	7,500
Gumart	6,000	Ott	16,000
Coffman	6,000	Bartlett	14,000
		Total	$211,500

Why pay more, when you can have a winner for 33 1/3 per cent less? So, the Giants swung into the world series knowing that they were cutting baseball salaries with every cut they took at the plate.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS - By Blosser

IT REALLY HAPPENED IN FOOTBALL!

BACK in the early days of football, when Alabama Poly was playing Georgia Tech, the Alabama fullback punted, and the ball went almost straight up into the air, making all altitude records. While the 22 men stood in a mass, waiting for it to descend, a small boy on the sidelines added to the confusion by tossing his own football into the air. There was a wild scramble for both footballs. A Tech man finally got one, a Poly player the other. . . . but Tech had the real ball.

A. Referring to them as "unrivaled in valor and heroism," he thus spoke of the service they had rendered: "You have patiently endured privations, hardships, and difficulties. Unparalleled in bravery, you have encountered odds two to one of the enemy against you, and borne yourselves in the onset and conflict of battle in a manner unknown in the annals of warfare."

Q. What is the average annual cost of keeping prisoners in the Texas penitentiary?
 A. The average cash outlay for 1936 was $231.37 per prisoner.

This booklet of 32 pages, "Texas Empire Builders of '36" is a brief serial by Will H. Mayo of the momentous days in Texas history from March 1 to April 31, 1836, told in a way to impress upon readers the main events of the struggle, sacrifice and suffering for Texas independence. A number of schools are using it because of its clear, brief, instructive presentation of main facts in Texas history. You will find it interesting and helpful. Mailed postpaid for only 10 cents. Houston Justice, 83, Uninjured In Crash

By United Press

HOUSTON, Tex.—J. M. Ray, the "Judge Boy Bean" of Houston justice of the peace courts and one of the oldest public officials in Texas, celebrated his 82nd birthday with an automobile accident and announcement of his 131st candidacy to office.

Justice Ray, noted for his homely utterances in the courtroom, escaped from the auto mishap—collision with a street car—unscathed.

He expects to weather the election with flying colors. He has been defeated for justice of the peace only once in 12 campaigns.

Justice Ray has never had a vacation, he has lost only one day's work from illness and still gets up at all hours of the night for inquests and weddings.

"I'll run for re-election until I die or the people don't want me any more," he said.

The aged justice has left Texas once only—to take a prisoner to New Orleans.

Tonight's Attraction
Tonight's attraction centers on the feature contest to be offered under the auspices of Hodges Oak Park Parent-Teacher Association at Ranger High School auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Francis Eubanks, the dance team, Dorothy Henry and Margaret Watt, come in for their share of mention, followed with Jack Davenport and Marjorie Clark, a clever pair. Such well known persons as Helen Ghoslon, Virginia Beach and Gladys Larson, are to be seen in the talent and beauty feature. All in all it's something different in entertainment. Even though the contest is under the guidance of the local Parent-Teacher, as their major project for the year, it is backed by the All State Beauty Corporation, of Atlanta, Ga.

her clothing, and she shall rejoice in it to come." Every dollar which equals $3.50 in Chinese money Mrs. Humphrey is given through the customary Love offering she sends to China to further her work, a field to endeavor which advance encounters only during the past seven years.

So engrossed in the inspiring address little the audience realize the hour had come for Mrs. Humphrey to speak to the G. A. department under the sponsorship of Mrs. Lee Mitchell. Adjournment was made to the basement where refreshment were passed the honoree and thirty-five members.

They'll All Be Here From Far 'n' Yon:
Over cups of coffee in a downtown coffee shop this morning the last bit of dope was gotten on the dance for Wednesday evening since the dance committee, was in the last huddle before blending their artistic ability in decorations. Seemingly, Dave Cooper, was postponing matters at Mr. J. C. Penney's store, to join the committee, Charlie Moore, was insisting the work should be started and Harry Henry, was giving colorful description to the floor show and naming many persons from out-of-town who have signified their intention to be present. The absent person was Nick Crawford, whose duties were being taken care of at the Oil City pharmacy for the present, but his efforts would be given pronto! Each committee is interested in their part of the program being the outstanding attraction and that's the spirit to be manifest in any undertaking.

While chatting with friends in the Capital city of Eastland last evening, we heard Mr. and Mrs. Bill McDonald, formerly of Eastland, now of Austin, are bringing a party of Austin friends to join a group at Eastland, hence to Ranger for the dance. It is expected that every town in the Oil Belt and others will be represented at the gala party.

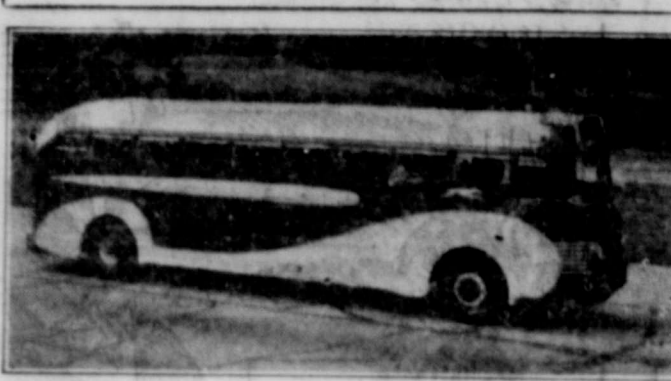

Jack Amlung, will be given a cordial welcome which should prove inspiring at least impressive. The Recreation building is ideal. For those not wishing to indulge the balcony provides comfortable space for visiting. Yes, there'll be a big time in the home town Wednesday night.

Greyhound's Super-Coaches Now in Service to El Paso, Los Angeles, Fort Worth, St. Louis and East

Greyhound's new Super-coaches are now in operation between Ft. Worth and El Paso. Besides providing the finest of all highway travel on this run, it completes a transcontinental Super-coach route from coast to coast.

Greyhound's Super-coaches are so utterly different from any previous type bus used in the industry that they involve radical departures in almost every detail.

The most important single change has been the placing of the motor in the rear of the bus. This arrangement means quieter operation, less vibration and complete absence of exhaust fumes. It also gives more space for passengers and adds to the riding comfort. Another noticeable feature is the new high, comfort level for passengers. It is above the vibration line and permits passengers to look over the tops of passing private cars.

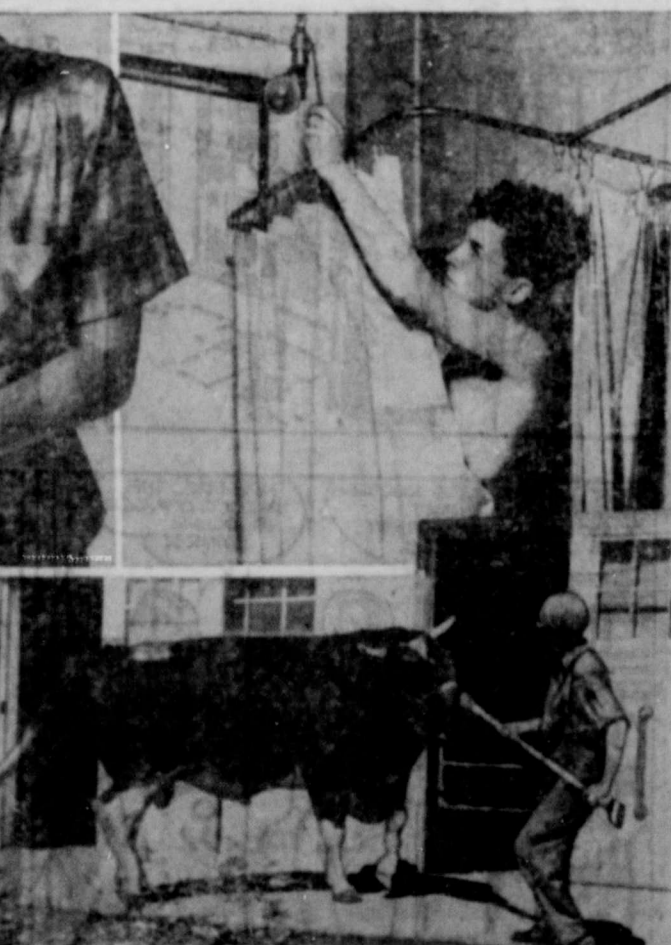

Special consideration has been given to the baggage space. Two large compartments, water tight and dust proof, have been built under the floor of the coach for suitcases, trunks and large parcels. The baggage rack on the roof has been eliminated.

The interior is modernistic and luxurious. A new system of lighting consists of a continuous circle of frosted glass tubing running for use in the new Super-coach. They can be made to recline in four optional positions for sightseeing, reading, relaxation or sleep.

Greyhound's new Super-coaches are modern and different, but in every respect they adhere strictly to the high traditions of safety and reliability which Greyhound has established in its nation-wide system.

To Sponsor Free Movie Wednesday

Anderson-Pruet, local Chevrolet Dealers announce that they are sponsoring a program of interesting and entertaining talking Motion Pictures to be presented from the Chevrolet Automotive complete theatre on wheels, in Ranger on Wednesday evening at 7 p. m., on used car lot across street from City Hall.

This unit is mounted on a 201 inch wheel-base truck chassis and contains a theatre type sound motion picture projector, amplifier, public address system and has its own complete Delco electric power plant. The unit is so constructed that the top raises and the pictures are shown on a translucent screen, which makes pictures visible to very large audiences.

This unit is in charge of a professional operator, thoroughly trained in this type of work.

Every one is invited to attend the showing from this most unusual vehicle.
