Chinese Agree to A Refugee Zone

SHANGHAI, Nov. 4.—Chinese military authorities agreed today to the demilitarization of a part of Nantao in the Chinese native section. All military activities would be excluded.

The section, a district where refugees could live without fear of bombardment, comprised one third of Nantao.

Although the Japanese have agreed to the proposal in principle it was believed there would be considerable discussion, since the Chinese wanted troops to retain control of the Nantao Bund for strategic purposes.

DUKE MIGHT CANCEL HIS TOUR OF U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Bitter labor criticism of the Duke of Windsor's American tour as a "slumming trip" and censure of his American guide today brought possibility of the former British ruler might curtail his trip.

The criticism recalled an implied threat the trip might be curtailed. The suggestion was dropped by Charles Bedaux, New York efficiency expert, who will guide the duke.

Yesterday Bedaux told reporters "if the radical press is inclined to butcher me I would suggest they wait until half the tour is over, because I would like to see the tour completed."

Bedaux, personally under criticism for his system of industrial efficiency, conferred over transatlantic telephone with the Duke today after being informed of growing criticism from labor leaders.

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—The minimum royalty and cash bonus payments that may be bid on state school lands will be raised at the next offering of such lands, land commissioner W. H. McDonald told a house of representatives committee here today.

Plans, he said, would depend on the area but it is his intention to raise the minimum and to simplify bids.

Minimums are now one-eighth royalty, 25 cents an acre annual royalty, and $1 an acre bonus.

Gold Seekers Soon Leave for Colombia

MIAMI, Fla.—Gold is the goal of an expedition which will leave here soon for Venezuela and Colombia in the 38-foot auxiliary ketch Mystery.

"We'll find it, too," declared Capt. Harry H. Benton of Lake Mary, Fla., who will head the expedition. "I know where it is, and, better than that, I've had 27 years of experience in the gold mining and washing business and I'll know just how to proceed when we find it."

Accompanying Capt. Benton will be O. B. Hirsch, architectural draftsman of St. Louis, and Alex Brun, mechanic, navigator and airplane pilot.

For Capt. Benton the voyage and the gold hunt will be the realization of plans he made 30 years ago.

"It seems like I've always had the gold search idea in my head," he said. "It's a sort of dream that I know will come true."

A years' provisions are being stowed away on the boat. From here the expedition will proceed to Colon, Panama Canal Zone and then on to Venezuela and Colombia.

PEANUT BUYING IN RANGER IS IN FULL SWAY

Buying of peanuts at the Ranger Bonded Warehouse in the old Waples-Platter building in Ranger, was proceeding rapidly, it was reported today by Dick Weekes, weigher and grader. The prices being paid for the peanuts are 87 cents for No. 2, and 93 cents for those graded as No. 1, it was mentioned, instead of the prices previously reported by mistake.

Wednesday afternoon about 18 tons were purchased by the warehouse, while a large amount was purchased by Tom Lauderdale at the Ranger Gin Company. Indications this morning were that 40 tons would probably be sold at the warehouse by nightfall.

"The peanuts, generally, are grading rather high this year," Weekes said today, "but there are a number of growers whose peanuts got wet and the grade is somewhat low."

Buyers from mills over the country are also reported to be making large purchases, which is making Ranger an important peanut market.

There is no red tape in selling the peanuts to the warehouse, it has been pointed out repeatedly. After they are weighed and graded a warehouse receipt is signed and a warrant issued for the amount of the sale at the Commercial State Bank. These warrants can be cashed, either at the bank or with any merchant, as they are immediately convertible into cash.

EMINENCE, Mo., Nov. 4.—Sheriff Freeman Powell said today that Lyman Tripp, 22-year-old farmer here, had confessed to driving Douglas Shedd, a WPA worker, to the home of Bertha and Lillian Gregory, elderly sisters, found dead in the burned ruins of their farm house yesterday.

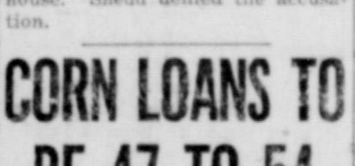

Tripp, according to the sheriff, accused Shedd of killing the women on a shotgun, robbing them of $100 and setting fire to their house. Shedd denied the accusation.

CORN LOANS TO BE 47 TO 54 CENTS BUSHEL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The government offered farmers loans from 47 to 54 cents a bushel on corn today to provide a more equitable system of marketing.

Agriculture Secretary Henry Wallace said the loans would stabilize prices by holding down market part of the estimated corn crop of 2,561,000,000 bushels.

At the same time the department of agriculture reported wheat growers had begun to plant a crop which may exceed this year's all-time record of $1,000,000 acres.

"An acreage of this size, with average wheat yield and average abandonment would produce a crop of more than 1,000,000,000 bushels," the department said.

WOMAN HELD WITHOUT BLAME FOR SHOOTING

DALLAS, Nov. 4.—Mrs. Orpha Balentine's soap store was open for business as usual today while funeral rites were arranged for her common law husband, J. C. Stewart, 57.

The slight woman, 49, secluded herself in quarters at the rear of the store across the street from the Dallas police station. Her 16-year-old daughter, Irma, waved visitors aside.

A coroner's inquest absolved Mrs. Balentine of blame for the fatal shooting of Stewart.

Irma told police that her mother and Stewart quarreled yesterday afternoon after Stewart had been drinking. Mrs. Balentine jerked a pistol away from him and fired.

As Mrs. Balentine and her daughter made statements to officers, Mrs. Balentine's lawful husband, Harvey Balentine, whose home is in Pennsylvania, walked into headquarters. He said he had been searching for his wife seven years.

TIMING FOR THEFT GIVES OFFICER TIP

Owner of Garage Finds Over $100 Cash Is Lost at Place.

Sheriff Loss Woods of Eastland and M. H. French, fingerprint expert from Cisco, Thursday were at Desdemona to investigate the rifling of a cash register containing over $100 and theft of automobile tires valued at several hundred dollars Wednesday night at the Desdemona Sales company.

J. H. Rushing, Jr., proprietor of the company, arrived at work early Thursday morning to discover the loss of the tires and a hasty check showed that over $100 cash was removed from the register.

He had left work last night at about 7 o'clock. The same day a shipment of tires had been received.

A portion of the money stolen represented first-of-the-month collections for utilities firms. The Desdemona citizen, in addition to ownership of the garage, is collector for the gas and light utilities serving the town.

Officers were inclined to believe the party stealing the cash and automobile tires were familiar with Rushing's business. This, it was pointed out, was evident because of the loss of the tires immediately after shipment and the loss of the money at the time of the utility collections.

Nothing else in the sales company, located in the business district of Desdemona, was molested, officers were told.

The safe in the garage had been removed and was found Thursday morning on the nearby school campus.

Legionnaires to Plan Celebration For Armistice Day

"Tonight is the night of all nights that at the regular meeting of the Carl Barnes post No. 69," reads an announcement of the meeting. "If you Legionnaires want to have a Nov. 11th celebration you had better attend tonight and help arrange a program. Do not stand back and say, 'Let George do it,' but come and get in the harness with George."

There will be other important matters to come up for consideration at the meeting, which will be short and snappy, it is reported, and which will start at 8:15.

Since Armistice day falls on Thursday of next week this will be the last opportunity for Legionnaires to plan for a celebration of any kind, it was pointed out, and a large attendance is anticipated.

Best Record For Canning Goes To Woman at Nimrod

The best canning record made by a Farm Security Administrator (formerly resettlement) homemaker in this county for the past quarter of 1937 was reported by Mrs. Frank R. Marsh of Nimrod community, according to Mrs. Ita R. Parrish, county home supervisor. To adequately feed her family of five persons, Mrs. Marsh's home budget called for 200 quarts of vegetables, 200 quarts of fruits, 30 quarts of sweets, and 20 quarts of relishes. Mrs. Marsh reports 500 quarts of vegetables, besides 200 pounds dried beans and peas. Her budget is not complete.

She also has had enough in her garden to feed her family during the growing season, finding it necessary to buy only such staples as sugar coffee, flour and spices. The home supervisor estimates that Mrs. Marsh has served food which would have cost her $300 to buy and, under the best of circumstances, she would have been unable to purchase such a well-balanced diet for her family. They are healthier from following a complete live-at-home program, and all surplus cash which might have gone for food is being turned in to repay the Resettlement loan, said the homemaker.

Squirrel Problem Is Worrying Carmel

CARMEL, Cal.—Carmel has one more complaint, and this time it is not against the literary, artistic and musical colony that is established there. It is against squirrels.

City councilmen say they have gone "nuts." Instead of eating nuts, they are chewing off the bark of pine tree branches until the latter drop to the ground.

One school of thought here insists the squirrels are entailing an unnecessary expense on the city for cleaning up of the broken branches, while the second school of the squirrels is a money saver, as it keeps the city from having to prune the trees.

Racing Dog Becomes Champ Blood Donor

Rip was retired by the Southern States Veterinarian Association. Most of the transfusions taken from Rip have been used to save the lives of dogs hurt in auto wrecks.

Doctors say Rip is an ideal donor — "never a whimper."

Stakes and Spectacles on Far East Trade

There has been a great deal of tolofty talk about "our stake in the Far East," and the value of trade with China and Japan as affecting American policy there.

Instead of windy generalities about such trade, the thing to do is to put on a pair of spectacles and look closely. The Commerce Department's most recent trade figures are good ones on which to focus the spectacles.

They reveal that for the month of August, American exports were as follows:

Table with columns: Buyer, 1936, 1937. Rows: China, Japan, U. S. imports from these countries during the same periods were.

From China... $ 4,693,000 $ 7,961,000
From Japan... 16,948,000 16,297,000

Now of course this is an appreciable stake, and helps greatly in the building up of American export trade, which was $178,975,000 in August, 1936, and jumped to $277,695,000 in August, 1937.

The 1936 figures are more reliable as a gauge for the future, because the increase in both China's and Japan's imports from the United States this year is clearly due in both cases largely to their demand for war materials, airplanes for the Chinese, and scrap-iron and other similar supplies of the Japanese.

Such trade is temporary. We found that out to our cost when Europe fought in 1914-1918. After the war it suddenly dropped away, leaving us holding a great bag of increased production facilities and no sales. Therefore the "war boom" in sales to China and Japan is nothing to get enthusiastic about.

Taking the figures for 1936, before the present war began, we find that American exports to Japan were only exceeded by those to Canada and the United Kingdom, while we sent as much export to Cuba as to China, and more to Australia and South Africa.

Even under the "war boom" conditions in China and Japan, causing them to take an abnormal amount of American goods, only a fraction more than 10 per cent of America's rising exports went in August to both countries combined. And of course export takes only a small percentage of all American production.

Besides this trade, with its tremendous risks of war, the market of peaceful nations who can trade with us and with each other in amity and good will, together with that tremendous home market that is the greatest of all, look very attractive indeed.

WILL THE VANISHING OIL RETURN

Ranger, fair city of ours;
We wonder if ever again your wells will flow black gold barrels by the hours.
As in the days of old.

Will bits bore the earth once more;
Going in the ground so deep;
To bring oil from the earths core.
Oft that nature meant to keep.

Shall the black gold return as in the past;
And will you remember?
That glad cry: "Oil at last."
And how they drilled even in cold December.

Twenty years have past;
Once bright eyes grow dim with worry and fear;
The oil is vanishing fast.
And many fear that here its end is near.

Famed Drake Anchor Being Trailed Down

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash.—A letter received here from the California Historical Society said a giant anchor once carried aboard Sir Francis Drake's vessel, the "Golden Hind," may be somewhere in Port Townsend.

The letter said the society was eager to recover the anchor for historical purposes.

The anchor was believed to have been lying on an old wharf, which collapsed about 20 years ago. Oldtimers say the big anchor may be lying in the water below the piling of the wharf.

The 1,200-pound anchor, believed lost by Drake 350 years ago, was raised from Drake's Bay, Cal., in 1887 by the late Capt. Charles E. Raynor. It bore a name plate indicating it to be from the famed "Golden Hind" in which Drake sailed to the Pacific Coast 350 years ago.

Colored Church's Completion Seen

Completion of the Eastland Baptist church for colored, a project of long standing, for services Sunday, Nov. 21, was seen Thursday by officials.

A "shingle rally" was announced by spokesman of the church as one of its final requests for co-operation in completion.

A statement read: "To our many friends who have been so nice to us in our church building we sometimes feel that we are a burden to you, then when we think of the great work we are engaged in (the great work of the Lord), then it gives us courage to ask you again. We have on a shingle rally and we are asking as many of our friends that can to give a bundle of shingles for the purpose of covering our building."

The following were named to receive the shingles for the church: Rev. J. I. Cartledge, pastor of the First Baptist church; H. J. Tanner, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Frank T. Crowell and R. L. Perkins.

At the same time acknowledgment was made of a gift of $5 from a white citizen who gave the contribution to Rev. Mr. Cartledge for them.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON.—New and heavier taxes will be used to balance the federal budget when and if.

This prediction is made privately by most of the few persons who, if they do not possess clairvoyance, are at least in the best position to size up the near future and to be informed as to what will be done about it.

Nothing is sure, it appears, except death and taxes which will cut into incomes of from $5000 to $20,000 a year far more painfully than they are being tapped at the present time.

Incomes ranging down to $2500 are very likely to be affected. And it's practically certain that when the rates on these middle brackets are raised, all incomes over $20,000 will likewise be subjected to levies higher than those existing.

All this is contingent on Roosevelt-Morgenthau recommendation and act of Congress. But the fellows who have earned the right to be called wise guys in Washington, say it's inevitable during this Congress, regardless of traditional Capitol Hill reluctance to raise taxes in an election year.

The naked truth is that it's harder to get Congress to hold down appropriations than it is to persuade it to pass a tax bill.

Roosevelt has warned of higher taxes frequently, as an alternative to this or that. He has even been rather definite with assertions that federal spending be cut. But if you count up, you'll find that his tax savings have built up a large "ifs," some of which materializing. Experience indicated that except in periods government budgeted to stay up, rather than go down.

Sighs of relief are heard virtually every hand when return of Russian Ambassador Alexander Antonovich Trotsky from his native land.

Trojanovsky probably is the capital's most popular ambassador. When he was sent back to Moscow last summer, his heart felt though subdued hope from his numerous friends. Most of these friends know or more old Russian acquaintances whose fate was either unsure—or all too certain.

All of them feared the worst. They feared that the ambassador would be sent to the front lines. But it seems that Stalin wanted to confer with Trotsky—who once was his enemy—to discuss Far East policy. And it's understood the ambassador now rates high in Moscow.

(Present Russian foreign policy in the Far East is to let spend plenty of troops, and other resources in trying to conquer China, with the hope that she will gradually come a weaker prospective ally.)

Cattle Shipments For September Up

AUSTIN.—Forwardings from Texas to Fort Worth stockyards and interstate points during September of all classes of livestock totaled 7,704 cars, compared with 4,247 cars during September of last year—an increase of 81 per cent, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Cattle shipments, 3,996 cars, compared with 2,529 last year, gained 58 per cent; shipments of calves, 1,830 cars, compared with 857 cars, increased 113 per cent; hog shipments, 638 cars, compared with 354, were up 80 per cent; and sheep forwardings, 1,240 cars, compared with 507, gained 146 per cent.

Shipments of all classes of livestock to the Fort Worth stockyards maintained a wide margin of increase over September last year and forwardings of cattle, hogs and sheep direct to feeding pens in Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois and other corn belt states were several times those of September last year.

JILL

arrived and no word had come from Alan.
He will phone, Jill decided. Busy young men who worked rather than played perhaps took these short, social cuts.
All the time she was getting ready, Jill had an attentive ear open for the telephone. While she was emerging glowing from her bath . . . while she was dusting her face and shoulders with fragrant powder . . . when she was slipping into scant, silken things. And finally, when the white and silver gown went slithering down over her head aided by her maid's practiced hands, to mold her slim body and sweep out in smart, flaring lines.
She was thinking: "He hasn't phoned. But he'll come. Of course he'll come!"

MRS. WENTWORTH had come into the room and was surveying Jill critically.
"You look very nice," she conceded, after a moment. "I must say that is the smartest evening dress you've had in a long time. Even if I did select it. All you need now are your flowers. I never saw so many. You can't wear all of them. But there's a gorgeous bouquet of white orchids that Milo sent. They would be perfect with your gown."
"I'll wear them, with Bill's," Jill said, unexpectedly tractable. Troubled waters were ahead. It was just as well to begin pouring oil.
Mrs. Wentworth noted the smile curving the corners of Jill's mouth. "She's thinking of Alan Jeffrey and how she outwitted me," she thought.
Well, Jill would soon find out she wasn't coming. She would doubtless put his unexplained absence down to deliberate rudeness. Then, no doubt, she would sensibly start putting him out of her mind. As she should have done long ago.
A secretive smile was playing over Mrs. Wentworth's face as she went out and closed the door behind her.
The telephone rang a few minutes later and Jill picked up her own phone. It must be Alan! It was Patty.
"Jill, something has come up. An important meeting with a publisher. So . . . can't come to your party. I'll go plutocratic another time. If you'll ask me, I wish . . . could be there so I could relay the swank details to Ardath. Did you know she's moved? I must say the town is a pleasanter place now. But she calls me sometimes when she's full of surplus conversation."

AUSTIN, TEXAS

Chambers County, about 10 miles southeast of the town of Liberty, pioneered in cattle raising as early as 1819. He operated the largest ranch in Texas for a number of years, having at times from 8,000 to 10,000 longhorn cattle. The original White ranch is still operated by descendants of the founder.

Q. When was Caldwell County organized and for whom was it named?
A. It was created in 1848 from Gonzales county and named for Col. Matthew ("Old Paint") Caldwell, who was in command of the Texans who defeated a large band of Comanche Indians at Plum Creek, near Lockhart, in 1840. Lockhart, (first called Lockhart Springs) the county seat, was named for Byrd Lockhart, of Gonzales, a surveyor of Austin's colony, who surveyed a number of grants in that section and acquired the land upon which the town of Lockhart is located.

Q. What flag was used by the Texas Navy during and after the revolution of 1836?
A. On April, 9, 1836, Pres. David G. Burnett adopted for the navy a flag with the upper left corner a union blue centered with a white star and with 13 alternate red and white stripes. This was so much like the United States flag that it was often mistaken for it to the advantage of Texas. It was known as the "Comodore Halkins" flag, and was used by the navy until Jan. 25, 1839.

This booklet of 32 pages, "Texas Empire Builders of '36" is a brief recital by Will H. Mayes of the momentous days in Texas history from March 1 to April 21, 1836, told in a way that interests young readers the main events of the struggle, sacrifice and suffering for Texas independence. A number of schools are using it because of its clear, brief, instructive presentation of main facts in Texas history. You will find it interesting and helpful. Mailed postpaid for only 10 cents. Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Prunes in orange juice, dry cereal, creamed flinnan haddie, cornmeal muffins, curran jelly, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Cheese omelette, vegetable soup, mince, raisin, assorted candies, tea, coffee.
DINNER: Grapefruit, rolled flank roast, mushroom sauce, surprise baked potatoes, green beans with mint, tomato salad, prune pie with cream cheese cover, coffee, milk.

Roasted Roast with Mushroom Sauce
(serves 4 to 6)
One flank steak (a flank steak usually weighs between 2 and 3 pounds), 4 strips fat bacon, 1 Bermuda onion, 1 turnip, 1 green pepper.
Lay flank out on table and trim off fat. Lay strips of bacon evenly across it. Cut turnip and onion into small cubes. Slice green pepper. Arrange these over top meat. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Carefully roll up the steak and tie securely with clean white cord. Place in a shallow roasting pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 1 1/4 hours, basting frequently with the drippings to which add a little onion juice and hot water. Do not cover. Serve this flavorful roast of beef with a mushroom sauce.
This recipe explains the general principle of rolling flank steaks for roasting. You can easily vary this stuffing, but remember that when no fat is used, a few pieces of suet should be scattered over the rolled roast in the pan. For roasting time, allowance must be about 10 minutes more a pound than for the expensive cuts. These flank and similar steaks have more connective tissue and muscle fibres in them and less fat. When serving, carve through the meat on the bias. You will get a much more tender result that way.

Quick-broiled Flank Steak
(4 to 6 servings)
One flank steak, salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons catsup, 1 teaspoon minced parsley.
Wipe steak clean and trim off superfluous fat. Have oven broiler very hot, then lay steak on greased broiler and run under flames. Broil for 7 or 8 minutes, turning 3 or 4 times. Then place at once on hot platter, where butter, catsup and parsley have melted and mingled themselves into a cordial welcoming committee.

REVIEWING Ohio State's setback by Southern California, which was due to missing two points after touchdown, Coach Francis Schmidt traced the pass play which accounted for the Trojans' second score.
He asked each Buckeye what he had done on the play.
Each had a ready answer.
Schmidt, who could terrify a battalion of Japanese, walked away shaking his head, wheeled, and shouted:
"I don't understand it. They couldn't have scored. They were all flat on the ground!"

IT took place in the southwest, of course. The most unusual things happen in football in Texas.
Gladewater High School introduced a half time innovation in connection with its game with Texarkana. A fox hunt, no less, with a pack of hounds coursing the field after picking up the trail of a live fox.

SOME night somewhere police are going to get next to themselves and do exactly nothing about it when a pair of clownish heavy-weight wrestlers start belting each other around with their elbows.
You would suspect that the cops long ago would have grown tired of serving as stoges for the grunters and groaners.
Or are they part of the act?

Navy Preparing A Turkey Feast By United Press

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—The 30,000 odd sailors who comprise that part of the navy station in San Diego are going to have plenty of Thanksgiving turkey to satisfy even the most ravenous—an average of more than 3 pounds per man.
This was revealed here when supply officers said they had ordered 90,000 pounds of turkey—45 tons, to be exact—to top the holiday menu at ship, and shore, establishments here.
Of course, the 90,000 pounds represents bird on the foot, but even allowing for shrinkage in dressing, the sailors will have plenty.
In addition to the turkey the Thanksgiving grocery list of supply officers would fill a market basket which would cause even a Hercules to stagger.
The list for the month includes: 1,125,000 pounds of canned corn, 3,300,000 pounds of tomatoes, 1,700,000 pounds of peas, 7,000,000 pounds of evaporated milk, 2,000,000 pounds of peaches and pears, 1,500,000 pound of jam, 500,000 pounds of sauerkraut, 1,750,000 pounds of catsup, 1,000,000 pounds of apples, and to top it all off, 360 tons of spinach.
No estimate was made of the amount of ice cream which will be needed to round out this sailor's meal de luxe, but it was indicated an equally large supply of food stuff would be needed for Christmas, although the officers hoped there would be some of the canned items left over, so another order would not be necessary within the month.

Flint Dart Found In Montana Dates To 4th Ice Period

By United Press
ROUNDUP, Mont. — A flint dart — a dart-making tool, believed to be from 100,000 to 200,000 years old, have been discovered near here by Earl McConnell, a rancher.

The prehistoric tools, which scientists said apparently dated from the fourth glacial period, were perfectly shaped. Both were of grey flint. The dart is similar to an Indian arrowhead except that it is heavier in the center.

Curved to a point on one cutting side, the dart-making tool was about 4 inches long by 2 inches wide.

The discovery was made in the bed of an old lake about three miles south of Musselshell, 23 miles east of here.

Skittish Mare Misses Share of Horse Sense

By United Press
ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Evidently Betty doesn't have any horse sense.

Betty, a skittish and adventurous mare, cantered away from a farm hand to inspect the trestle of a nearby railroad. Her slender legs slipped through the crevices between the ties and there she remained pinned for three hours.

Then help came in the form of an automobile tow car which was backed along the track for 30 yards almost to Betty's nose. A tie was chopped away, ropes slung around the mare's body and she was hoisted to safety.

Soon after her rescue a train roared by.

Rocking Horse Called Knock-Knee Cure

MINNEAPOLIS.—The most effective remedy for a knock-kneed child of the pre-school age is a rocking horse, advises Prof. M. Lange, Munich, Germany, who gives his theories in Modern Medicine, a publication issued here.

Lange believes that knock-knee in children should be corrected by simple and appropriate orthopedic treatment, abandoning use of splints and operations.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys
Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are the important way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 4 pounds waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may reach nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 42 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Sportsmen May Improve Hunting

By United Press
AUSTIN.—If deer hunting is good in Texas when thousands of sportsmen beat through brush thickets of the hills this fall, it will be only because there are sportsmen, Will J. Tucker believes.

Tucker, executive secretary of the Texas Game, Fish & Oyster Commission, does not share the view that game hunters are ruthless, willing to destroy a future sport for the sake of present pleasure.

"Protection of some species against hunting probably always will be a necessity," Tucker admits, "but to saddle the blame for wild life shortage on the sportsmen is ridiculous.

"Had it not been for the sportsmen, possibly there would be only a few score deer in the great deer country of South and Southwest Texas. Deer are very damaging to growing crops. Long ago, farmers killed them by the thousands. Then came the sportsman and a demand for a good deer supply.

"The farmer responded by allowing the deer to live. The sportsman paid the landowner for his harvest, in the form of hunting rights. This has brought about a million-dollar industry in the deer country alone, where approximately 7,000,000 acres of land are included in state shooting preserves.

"Had it not been for the sportsman, there would have been no deer, and no such wild life industry in the southern part of Texas."

South Dakota Is Aiding Beavers In Doing Dam Work

BELLE FOURCHE, S. D.—Harry Henderson, trapper-warden for the South Dakota state game and fish department has taken a cue from the federal government and has started rehabilitation projects for the state's beavers.

Henderson removes the dam building animals from property where they are causing damage to remote sections of the Black Hills where he rehabilitates them.

"We give them a chance to start housekeeping all over again," Mr. Henderson said. "When a farmer or rancher reports beavers are damaging trees or are insisting on building dams where they should not, we go out and trap them."
