

Four-Point Program Is Given To Congress

COLD WAVE IS DUE TO REACH ALMOST HERE

DALLAS, Nov. 15.—Freezing weather, with a cold wave extending southward tonight to Abilene and almost to Dallas was forecast today by the government weather bureau.

Dr. J. L. Cline, federal observer, urged shippers to guard against temperatures ranging from 30 upward to 24, within a 300 mile radius westward and northward from Dallas.

The forecast for the eastern portion of Texas was for partly cloudy weather, preceded by showers in the extreme eastern portion, colder in western and northern sections with a cold wave from the northwest portion and freezing temperatures tonight, with dry cloudy weather and continued cold Tuesday.

For West Texas the prospect is for generally fair tonight and Tuesday. A cold wave in the panhandle and freezing temperatures in the north portion tonight and Tuesday except in the extreme west portion.

HIGH COURT DENIES TEXAS' TWO PETITIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The supreme court today denied a new petition that it review validity of the Texas intangible property tax, levied on oil pipelines, railroads, bridges and ferries.

The court also denied Texas' petition for a review of the fifth circuit court of appeals decision that interstate freight rates are applicable to cotton shipped from points of origin in Texas to Houston warehouses and cotton brokers.

The state contended that such shipments actually are in interstate commerce and that rates prescribed by the Texas Railroad Commission—higher than the interstate rates prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission—should apply.

Associate Justice Hugo L. Black aligned himself again with the supreme court's liberal minority in a six to three decision involving a technical interpretation of the federal bankruptcy law. At the same time the court dismissed two new challenges to Black's eligibility.

First on Red Cross Roll Call

When four-year-old Faith Young, granddaughter of financier Owen D. Young, had difficulty in affixing a Red Cross button to President Roosevelt's lapel, Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the American Red Cross, came to her rescue with a helping hand. The ceremony launched the annual membership drive.

JAPS CONTINUE TO ADVANCE IN SHANGHAI AREA

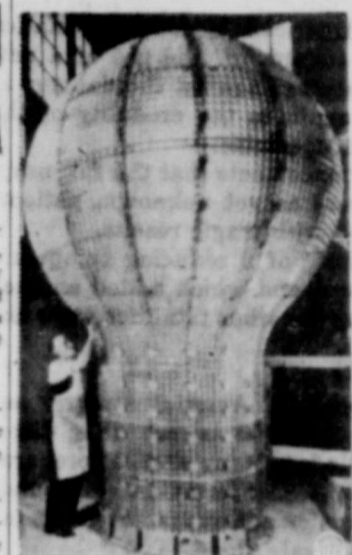

SHANGHAI, Nov. 15.—A terrific bombardment of Soochow, 45 miles west of Shanghai, by Japanese airplanes, was reported today. The report said more than 700 bombs were dropped in 30 hours.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 15.—Japanese authorities may offer peace terms to China after they take Soochow, it was reported today.

Chinese defenses east of Soochow seemed crumbling and a Japanese spokesman announced the capture of Juisan, only 15 miles east of that city, on which the Chinese defense line is to be based.

The spokesman claimed advances in all sectors.

CONDITIONS NOT DRASTIC SAYS MESSAGE

Roosevelt Urges Congress Pass Program Outlined On Opening Day

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—President Roosevelt committed himself today to limited tax law revision to remove injustices and proposed to an extraordinary session of congress a four-point program as a defense against "marked recession in industrial production and industrial purchases."

The special session met at noon after the president conferred with congressional leaders and read to them his message. He did not deliver the message to congress in person.

Committing himself to tax revision to remove inequities for small business and non-speculative investors, Mr. Roosevelt asserted his belief the supreme court hereafter would interpret the constitution more in conformity with the new deal to allow crop control.

He asked congress to provide:

- 1—Wages and hours legislation.
- 2—An "all-weather" crop control program.
- 3—Reorganization of executive departments.
- 4—National planning for better use of natural resources.

He explained that conditions now are not parallel with those in 1929. Mr. Roosevelt reiterated his intention to balance the budget. He demanded that congress provide new revenues for any expenditures now.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would have further recommendations including proposals to encourage private capital to undertake housing construction on a big scale.

The president merely reaffirmed his agricultural crop control program. The reorganization of executive departments and the proposal for seven regional planning bodies to coordinate use of natural resources.

He insisted that "immediate congressional action" is necessary to maintain wage income and purchasing power.

House leaders said that plans for putting reorganization bills ahead at the session have been abandoned and the house will delay action on all major legislation until the farm bill is ready.

The house ways and means subcommittee tentatively decided to grant business two new relief measures in connection with the undistributed profits tax, affecting an estimated two-thirds of all U. S. corporations.

DA Workings In County Localized

Direction of farm debt adjustment work is now in the hands of the local staff of the Farm Security Administration, in place of itinerant supervisors who visit the county once a month, it was announced by George L. Saxe, county rural supervisor. He will handle the work jointly with the volunteer debt adjustment committee of the county.

Farmers who need help with their debts, whether they are to borrow from the Farm Security Administration or not, are eligible for this help, the supervisor said, and should come to his office to make application for this service. The committee will function as it has in the past, and farmers may contact these committees at any time but are particularly invited to attend the monthly meetings held every third day.

A small group of FSA specialists has been retained by the regional office for advisory work, and will spend a week at a time in each district to help with acute cases involving a great amount of technical assistance. This service is available to farm creditors who believe an arbitrator can help clear up delinquent indebtedness.

This group was set up by order of the President for the purpose of bringing financial advice to farm debtors and creditors, in an effort to help avoid so many foreclosures. "We are not more interested in helping the farmers who are indigent than we are the farm creditor," the supervisor explained. "This is not a movement to help farmers avoid honest debts, but an effort to help sincere farmers and creditors work out terms whereby the farmer will not lose his working capital and yet satisfy the creditor. This does not cost either party anything."

Baird Convicted On Drunk Driving

Pleading guilty to driving intoxicated, Jimmie Baird received sentence of $50 fine, five-day jail imprisonment and revocation of driving license for six months by order of George L. Davenport, judge of 31st district court, Monday morning.

Upon motion of the state, cases of Harvey Stevens and Percy V. Short were continued for the term. Each is charged in companion cases with theft over $50 and burglary. The state's motion for continuance was based upon illness of a witness.

Motion of defense for continuance of the case against Tony Johnson, charged with theft over $50, was being contested by the state. The court passed the case until Monday afternoon for further decision.

The southern general convention is to meet in the latter part of April at Birmingham, Alabama. Eight clerical delegates to the general convention also were chosen at the Fort Worth meeting.

The general convention of the Southern Methodist churches is attended by delegates from the 25 conferences in the South. In the delegates is vested the authority in voting the church laws.

Expected as the paramount topic at the Birmingham convention will be a proposal for unification with the Northern and Protestant Methodist branches. The Northern and Protestant branches have already approved the unification. The branches separated during the Civil War period due to differences in opinion on slavery.

Tests for drivers applying for their first license will be given on Tuesday and Friday between 9 and 11 a. m., at Eastland, by M. B. Thomas and T. O. Dillard, examiners and highway patrolmen for the Department of Public Safety.

The examinations will be from the city hall. It has been announced that persons in applying for the tests must furnish his own vehicle or one he proposes to operate after he secures a license.

After oral quizzes are completed each applicant will be required to drive his car or truck over a designated route under the supervision of one of the trained examiners.

Not only will drivers' license applicants be examined as to their ability to handle a car with safety, but the car will be tested for defects in brakes, horn, lights, rear-view mirror and windshield wiper.

If a passing grade is not made after the test is completed, an instruction card will be issued which requires the applicant to return at a later date for another examination. About 20 minutes are required for the tests, it is stated.

At the same time, it was stated, chauffeurs who have never obtained licenses will be examined. It has been explained three types of chauffeurs' licenses are issued. The "A" type, said Sergeant Morgan Myers of the department, Abilene, is for drivers of motor buses and trucks with trailers. "B" type is for drivers of trucks alone and "C" type is for light delivery truck and service car drivers.

Sergeant Myers also stated that when present licenses of chauffeurs expire the drivers must take an examination for renewal.

"If you are unemployed or partly employed and are able to work and are seeking work, please fill out this report card right away and mail it before midnight, Saturday, Nov. 20, 1937. No postage stamp is needed.

"The Congress directed me to take this census. It is important to the unemployed and to everyone in this land that the census be complete, honest and accurate. If you give me the facts I shall try to use them for the benefit of all who need and want work and do not now have it."

Asking for Trouble in Quest of Health

Announcement by the American Medical Association that 13 deaths have been caused by the use of a new remedy, despite previous warnings against the dangers of the drug, directs attention again to the credulity of the American public in matters of medicine.

In the face of clear pronouncements that the full properties of the preparation were as yet unknown, patients readily subscribed to its use—with tragic results.

A companion case is that of a reducing compound which produces artificial fever, and which added another life to its toll on the same day the other fatalities were disclosed.

Inexplicable is the tendency of Americans to try out new medicines, with their own bodies as test tubes, disregarding truly scientific knowledge. Many of these preparations are produced under semi-secret formulas, compounded with pseudoscientific ingredients, manufactured not for improvement of health but for sale alone.

Equally inexplicable is the refusal of the purchasing public to accept the factual findings of acknowledged experts such as the crops of analysts employed by the American Medical Association, solely for the enlightenment and protection of the public.

Before any drug or medicinal preparation is accepted by the association it is subjected to most exhaustive tests and analysis. Only after all tests are complete and results correlated is the drug accepted and given to members of the association for use. All preparations found unfit are so branded, and physicians are warned against their use.

The human race should be old enough to realize that there is no mystical fountain of youth, and that equally remote is the possibility of finding panaceas for all ills. But with the same abandonment of common sense that keeps get-rich-quick promoters in wealth, man follows a will-o'-the-wisp in his search for health, willing to accept almost fantastic medicaments before he will turn to the advice of a qualified physician.

If science were to ask any man to submit his precious body to medical experiment that might endanger his life, he would scorn the idea as ridiculous. But without thought of future, without slightest concern for consequences, thousands and millions of invalids blandly accept the ballyhoo of high pressure quacks in the face of sound, accepted medical knowledge.

CHAPTER XXIII
"Did you see anyone else about that time?" Patty probed.
"Yes. An old woman in a thin coat. She was standing in front of the apartment. I took off my red scarf and put it about her neck, and I gave her a bill. She was talking about the time, and I told her it was 6 o'clock. She said I didn't have to tell her, because she told time by the sun."
"What did the police say? What made them think you and your father had quarreled?" Patty asked suddenly.
"The inspector said: 'Parents don't realize they make trouble for themselves when they're too indulgent. Are you sure you and your stepfather didn't quarrel about the expensive party you were giving? Wasn't it strange that you would have given such a party when his company was on the verge of ruin? Maybe he insisted on your announcing your engagement to young Montagne, son of his banker. And maybe, after you did, you regretted it—and quarreled with him? Tell us the truth, Miss Wentworth. It will be to your advantage not to hide anything.'"
"It did sound plausible, the case they were building up. Patty thought unhappily. Oh, poor Jill, what a trap she was in."
"Well, I still say those detectives and police are stupid. They could try to place suspicion on anybody else. What about Barry? It seems to me—"
"Oh, no!" Jill cried. But her eyes were suddenly wide and bright, her face flushed. She was remembering Barry as he had last seen him: drunk, ugly, cunning. How terrible Barry might be all of those things. But he would never try to kill her father.
She would never tell anyone about poor, weak Barry. How frightened he had looked today, avoiding her eyes. Ashamed. She wouldn't tell them he was up when she left the house. Not if she really died for it."
"Jill, dear, don't cry!" Patty cried. "I'd rather die!" Jill cried. "I could never tell Alan—or Ardash—to help me."

Q. What was the first name of Laredo and why was it changed?
A. Before its settlement by Thomas Sanchez, the site had been known as El Paso de Jacinto but on an order issued by Escandian the name was changed to San Augustin de Laredo (after a city in the province of Santander, Spain) which years later was shortened to Laredo.
Q. Who followed Garay in a futile effort to settle the Rio de las Palmas territory?
A. Nuno de Guzman, who received a commission from the King of Spain as governor of the Panuco country and arrived at Santiestevan on the Panuco in 1527, where he proceeded with great cruelty to exploit the natives and started a slave trade. Hearing that there were still greater riches among the Rio de las Palmas (now Rio Grande), and claiming all "Amichel" as his territory, Guzman sent Sancho de Canedo to settle a colony there, which was thwarted by warring natives.
Q. What reason did Santa Anna give for the bean-drawing declaration of the Texans who broke prison at Hacienda Salado?
A. Santa Anna said it was not for attempting to escape, but because they had broken open houses and robbed the inhabitants of Laredo after their submission to the invading army.
Q. What induced Thomas Sanchez to select the Laredo site for his settlement?
A. He gave as his reasons, that the section was well adapted to stock raising, that it afforded an abundance of fish and game, that it was reasonably free from Indian invasions and that it was near a good river ford. He also stated that he had inspected proposed sites along the Neches and had found them unsuited for settlement.

THE MONSTER WAR

Written to remind the people of the horrors of the war which is confronting two great countries in the East. In the East the daylight is breaking. The Monster War is at play. Human lives it is taking; Taking lives both night and day. Men fight; For what some of them do not know. The shells scream from morning till night. Into homes and hospitals they go. They do not heed God's word. "Thou shalt not kill." It is not heard. And fight they will. Many mothers are waiting for their sons return; But their lives are lost. For them their hearts yearn. Some one will pay the cost. But still bombs fall. Many people die; Even those who cannot yet crawl, Sad mothers cry. All that the men realize is that today they live. And it may be that tomorrow in this world they will be more. Tomorrow their life they may have to give. And march up to that golden shore. Will they cross over and live in eternal life? Or will they have to pay the cost; And have to live in peril and strife? Someone will have to pay for those human lives that were lost. Pray God that our country is not a victim of the Monster War. And that we won't have any lives lost. Let us live as we are; So that we won't have to pay the cost. Ernest Bob Dodds. Gunman Al Brady went to Bangor, Me., to buy bullets. ## FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS - By Blosser

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON.—Exchange of views between the Maritime Commission and the National Maritime Union, featured by Chairman Joe Kennedy's "put 'em in irons" cable to the Algic's captain at Montevideo and union President Joe Curran's promise to "get Kennedy's scalp," is going to get hotter.
The two chief factors begging solution are a strong anti-union feeling among most members of the commission and its staff and a serious series of breaches of discipline, especially among stewards, in the American merchant marine.
Labor leaders don't know it yet, but they'll be boiling blue mustard when the commission's report on the whole merchant marine situation is sent to Congress this month. The commission has decided that the Coast Guard should be used to train seamen, that new seamen should learn discipline on Coast Guard vessels and that subsidy contracts should require ship operators to hire the graduates.
This hits the seamen's unions right between the eyes. It would strike at their union hiring halls, where men are provided for outgoing ships, and tend to weaken if not destroy the unions.
The scheme is sure to be denounced as a "union-busting" device and reports from inside the commission indicate that some members and high officials believe, with either enthusiasm or disapproval, that it is exactly that. The dominant feeling in the commission is that labor unions, at least militant unions, have no place in the merchant marine.
Although propaganda about bad discipline at sea has been common

They will be held in mid-February. . . . The trouble with Navy this season is that it gains practically all of its yardage between the 40-yard line and springs a leak with port in sight.
SAMUEL D. RIDDLE's willingness to match War Admiral with all comers gives you an idea of how high his handlers rate the greatest son of Man o' War. . . . Big Red himself wasn't asked to do that. . . . C. S. Howard refused to send Seabiscuit against the Admiral on a dull Laurel track because the son of Hardack doesn't favor that kind of going. . . . Moreover, Seabiscuit has a tendency to lug in toward the rail, and Howard didn't especially like the Santa Anita. . . . Seabiscuit is going to California for the $100,000 War Admiral in the $50,000 Widener Cup at Hialeah, but Riddle and Trainer George Conway are as yet undecided as to their great money winner's winter program. . . . An injured foot accounts for the fact that Bronko Nagurski failed to live up to expectations in the Chicago Bears' 3-3 tie with the Giants in New York. . . . It was about time they handicapped the mightiest of the Minnesotans.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox

THE cow that jumped over the moon was the first beef to go ky-high, but still you can have beef on your table. Nexttime, 'aime, the darling young Albanian girl who wrote "Daughter of an Eagle," passes on to me these secrets of the way Albanians keep down their meat costs.

Albanian Stuffed Squash

(4 to 6 servings)
One-quarter pound ground round steak, 4-5 cup uncooked rice, 1 onion, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 2 eggs, 4 medium green squash (about 6 inches), 1 lemon, 2 tablespoons butter.
Scrape out most of the pulp, leaving a fairly well padded squash cup. Mix meat, rice, and pepper to taste. Stuff squash halves with this mixture, but do not pack very tight, because the rice will swell when cooking. In large deep kettle, place saucepans upside down. (Use a steamer.) On these, stand the stuffed squash. Better run a long toothpick through each squash half to keep it in shape. Cover the squash with more plates, add about 1 cup water to pot, cover and place over low fire. Add more water when necessary, but never very much at a time. Steam about one hour, or until meat and rice are done. Before removing squash from kettle, add this sauce and cook a little longer. Beat eggs and add lemon and beat thoroughly until light. Add salt and a little melted butter and beat some more. Pour this sauce into the pot over the tender squash. When sauce has boiled up, the dish is done. The Daughter of the Eagle knows her squash!

Broiled F. f on Toast with Pickles
This recipe comes from your own U. S. Sam via the United States Department of Agriculture. It is printed verbatim, and should add one more ground beef recipe that has the double advantage of being quickly cooked and easily eaten. Toast slices of bread on one side. Spread the untoasted side lightly with butter or other fat and sprinkle with salt and pepper. For 6 or 8 slices of bread, season 1 pound ground raw beef with salt and pepper and add 2 or 3 tablespoons top milk or diluted evaporated milk. Spread the meat mixture over the untoasted side of the bread slices, covering evenly to the very edge. Broil by direct heat under flame or grill, for 8 to 10 minutes. Add melted butter if desired. Serve hot with garnish of pickles, sliced onion, or green pepper."

Egypt's Desert May Become An Oil Field

CAIRO, Egypt.—Hitherto useless stretches of wasteland known as "Egypt's Western Desert" shortly may be sprinkled with rich oil fields.

According to an official government announcement, the much-coveted rights to dig for oil in the desert that starts at Cairo and reaches into the heart of Central Africa have been granted to a British company and an American company. The firms were not named in the announcement.

Experts are so confident that they are reported to have offered high sums for the privilege of prospecting. They are sure that untold wealth will be found beneath the scorching sands. The Western Desert is hot all flat sand, as is commonly supposed. There are also gravel flats, limestone outcrops, clay pans and regular lines of sand dunes.

Preachers' Revolt In Mexico Taken Rather Lightly

By United Press

JUAREZ, Chihuahua. — Some residents of Juarez are a little nervous over the recent manifesto issued by Senor Pablo L. Delgado calling for a revolution, but the bartenders and citizens at large of this city on the south bank of the Rio Bravo del Norte don't think so much of it.

Senor Delgado, a fiery-minded preacher who lives in El Paso, Texas, isn't at home to visitors. The fact is, he isn't at home at all. His family thinks he is somewhere in Arizona.

From the talk that is going on in Juarez, one could assume that Senor Delgado, former captain of Juarez fiscal guards, once allied notes, has developed during a period marked by a steady growth of automobile ownership by low-income families.

Direct taxes last year formed 86 per cent of the total of special levies paid by motor vehicle owners. The remaining 14 per cent was comprised of taxes on industries and enterprises in the automotive field which ultimately are paid by motorists in purchase prices.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling the germ-laden phlegm.

with the "Gold Shirts" of Gen. Nicholas Rodriguez, doesn't have much of a following.

But from his hiding place, the non-interview-giving leader has sent out a new statement:

"Some fools thought I was going to appear immediately on my white horse, like Napoleon, in front of Juarez. My manifesto was a call. The manifesto is finding its way to every nook and corner of the republic and very soon you will hear the music."

But the gentlemen who preside over the mahogany bars in Juarez merely laugh over their beer steins and assure the casual visitor that Senor Delgado can't get to first base in any sort of an armed revolt, and other than the gentlemen behind the mahogany, there are few better judges of wind direction on this side of the border.

"Unless Cardenas goes there is little chance of trouble here in Mexico," they say. "The poems love him because he has given them land and the chance to make themselves individuals."

Whether war is brewing, it is hard to tell. But this much is certain:

Gen. Juan Felipe Rico will have a special reception committee on hand to welcome the former Cardenista follower if he puts in his appearance on this side of the international bridge.

"The manifesto was put into circulation for personal financial gain," said Rico. "Delgado has

FIVE MINUS TWO LEAVES FOUR

Wrong, Well, yes—and no. The arithmetic of your school days taught that "If Mary had five dollars and spent two . . ." three dollars remained.

But that is mathematics—not shopping! In managing a home . . . guarding a limited family income . . . we've simply got to do better than Mary did. We must sharpen our buying wits . . . ascertain where the dollars of extra value lurk . . . take five dollars to town and get much more for the money spent.

Fortunately, there are ever-willing guides right at hand—the advertisements in this newspaper. Advertised merchandise is often exceptional value merchandise. It makes dollars S-T-R-E-T-C-H.
