WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The United States, awaiting a reply to President Roosevelt's direct protest to Emperor Hirohito of Japan, today lodged new formal representations with the Japanese foreign office over the destruction of the U. S. Panay.

The new protest demanded a formal apology, "complete and comprehensive identifications" and adequate assurance against attacks in the future on American nationals by the Japanese.

TEXANS FEEL WINTRY BLASTS THROUGH RAIN

Texans shivered Tuesday as a "wet norther" brought more than eight inches of snow to portions of the Panhandle, freezing mist southward as far as Abilene and chilling rain to most of the remainder of the state.

Highway traffic in northern and western sections was made hazardous by the slippery glaze.

Shippers were warned to guard Tuesday night against temperatures ranging down to 22 degrees within a 200-mile radius north of Dallas, freezing west and east and south nearly to San Antonio.

Freezing mist, sleet and rain extended over the south plains of West Texas, as temperatures dropped to 22 in Amarillo and Lubbock, Tuesday.

The cold was expected to extend, Tuesday night, to the extreme southeastern portion of West Texas, but temperatures were expected to rise in the north section.

Snow and rain fell except on the Atlantic seaboard and in the great lakes regions of the remainder of the nation. In the mid-west sub-freezing and rain made highways hazardous.

In Louisville, Ky., schools were closed, travel was at a standstill and bus systems were hours behind schedules.

TO THE CITIZENS OF RANGER:

For several years it has been the custom of the more fortunate citizens of Ranger to provide Christmas baskets containing the necessary commodities for a Christmas dinner to be given to the needy families of the community.

In the past I have not been situated so I could take an active part in this work, but recently I was called into a conference at which the matter of doing the work this year was discussed.

It developed in this meeting that according to government statistics there are at least 335 families within our community that need to be remembered this Christmas with at least a good dinner.

I was very much impressed with the statement of a citizen present, the head of a department of a business concern in Ranger, to the effect that the employees of his department had decided not to exchange gifts this year but to cooperate by each contributing the amount of one basket to the Christmas Cheer Fund.

This idea appeals to me and I am thinking that it will appeal to every individual in Ranger who is able to cooperate in an effort to spread Christmas cheer.

It has occurred to me that everyone who has been gainfully employed continuously for at least the last four months might see fit to contribute to this most worthy cause as much as fifty cents for each of those four months. This will amount to $2, the cost of one basket.

I am informed that it is possible to purchase fourteen different items of good food with which to fill each basket at a wholesale cost of approximately $2.

This will be ample in quantity to provide a nice Christmas dinner for a family of five.

There are some other plans whereby some additional items of food will be donated instead of money. In the case of a family with more than five, from this food additional items will be added to make the basket compare with the others.

The Ranger Times is cooperating with the committee and will publish a list each day of the names of those who have pledged one or more baskets.

Several organizations have already announced 100 per cent cooperation of their employees and in such cases the name of the firm will be listed with the names of the employees who have pledged one or more baskets, following.

If you will watch the paper from day to day, you will be able to tell how the campaign is progressing and who is cooperating.

All donations should be made to the Christmas Cheer Fund Committee and taken or mailed to the Chamber of Commerce.

I hope and trust that every individual in Ranger who can, will find it in his heart to buy one or more baskets for it will take just this kind of cooperation for us to do the job as we should. If you do join us in this effort to see that everyone in Ranger eats a nice Christmas dinner, I feel sure you will be happy in the thought that you have done a good deed.

HALL WALKER,
Mayor of Ranger.

Greed Dims Luster of Man's 'Miracles'

Thirty-six years ago, almost to the day, a gifted Italian sat him down, tapped a telegraph key, and performed a miracle.

The sputtering, crackling sparks which his keep-tapping caused to jump into the air were weak little things—apparently. They flashed and died, and a person half a mile away could neither have seen or heard them.

But somehow they reached up into empty space and tapped an invisible source of energy; and far across the Atlantic ocean they caused a telegraph receiving set to click out a message.

Guglielmo Marconi had bridged space and had sent a message 3000 miles through the inert atmosphere.

His miracle of wireless telegraphy; is a familiar one, by now; so familiar that most of the time we fail to recognize it as a miracle at all, and take it just as much for granted as we do such every-day miracles as sunrise, a baby's laugh or the love of a boy for a girl.

But it remains a miracle, nevertheless; and we might have a better understanding of the world we live in if we could remember that the whole structure of modern society is built on just such miracles, so that the mere existence of our complicated civilization is one of the most breath-taking miracles of all time.

The real truth about man is not at all the sort of truth that the "realists" proclaim—that he is just another animal, with greed and self-interest his eternal motive-springs. It is a much more noble and surprising truth: that he is a miracle worker, able to transcend the limitations which nature has put upon him, capable of surpassing himself and of building for himself a world infinitely complex, beautiful and wondrous.

The ship at sea is no longer isolated. Nation now talks with nation, over mountain barriers, limitless deserts and storm-bound ocean. The air by night is filled with music, which can be tapped by any man who owns a cheap little box of tubes and wires. And the ordinary daily life that we live is keyed to this succession of miracles, so that if they should suddenly cease to exist we could not carry on our regular routine at all.

Now one thing is certain about people who inhabit such a world: they have to live up to it. If they can perform wonders that make the geni of the Arabian Nights look like stupid incompetents, they cannot very well go on living by the ideals and customs of the cave man period. The old jungle-rule of tooth and claw fits this era no better than does a stone age hatchet.

War, dictatorship, conscienceless wealth, unscrupulous demagogery, oppression in any or all of its forms—these things are disastrously out of date in our modern age. Miracle-workers like Marconi have set us free of the limitations of our physical world; now it is up to us to set ourselves free of the limitations of our own blindness, greed and folly.

Texas Population Growth Bolsters Bid For Industry

DALLAS, Texas, (SpI).—Census figures showing Texas retaining its hold on fifth rank in population among the states against the challenge of California—which has narrowed the gap decidedly since the 1930 tabulation—bolster the Lone Star state's bid for greater industrial development, says a report of the All-American Development Council.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

WASHINGTON.—Opinion appears to vary as to how much of the potential 16 billion dollar housing boom suggested by Roosevelt actually can be realized. The problem of reducing building material and labor costs, which the President will tackle in promised conferences with industry, labor and finance, and which he says must be met if the proposed boom is to succeed, is very far from solved.

From Chorus To Stardom

FROM chorus to stardom was the overnight jump made by Miss Martha Tilton now singing with Benny Goodman's swing band every Tuesday evening over a coast-to-coast network. Miss Tilton had to go to Hollywood to make good in New York. After training in her home town—St. Louis—she sought a career in the film capital. Benny Goodman heard her there as one voice among many in a "swing chorus." He chose her at once as vocalist for his band, and after a trial tour, now has her singing in New York with one of radio's big-time orchestras.

 Bob, LiSSa suddenly remembered.
 In that instant, oddly enough, LiSSa's mind skipped back over the 3000 miles to New York City, back a few years, to single out a statement made by a university professor whom she had greatly respected. "Life has only one real tragedy," the professor had said.
 "It is unrequited love."

LiSSa set herself to be cordial to Honey Bee, but the cordiality was not reciprocated. Apparently only Bob existed to the red girl.
 Bob didn't notice the slight.

"Did you tell?" he was demanding. "Did you tell the others?"

"No," she shook her head.
 "They think you went there "And Hades Jones?" Bob was intent on his questioning.

"He is so crazy almost, looking for you."

"I'll bet!" snapped Bob, grinning. "Good old Hades. Well, look, Honey Bee, you're great, not didn't pan out anyway. I mean,

Neither of them really looked at Honey Bee, so intent on each other were they, or they surely would have observed the wild jealousy that suffused the Indian girl. The squaw was literally mad, insane.

"Let's hurry down," LiSSa urged, happily. "Come on, dear." Bob climbed to the foot of the first ladder, as customary, and waited for her there, his hand held up to assist her. It was, however, quite a long climb down, 20 feet nearly to that first narrow ledge. Caution was essential.
 LiSSa remembered the total height there was 600 feet, and it looked 6000.

Above on the rim, Honey Bee stood glaring. She was still glare-ing when LiSSa stepped onto the ladder.

Suddenly the Indian girl saw her chance! All the pent-up fury in her came to life.

(To Be Concluded)

matches, even my pocket flash, were in the pack."

"LiSSa spoke up then. "He means I dropped the lantern, Honey Bee. I did. I am sorry, for everybody's sake. It is inexcusable."

Honey Bee made no reply, but her face underwent such a pronounced change that even Bob was concerned by it. The red girl literally reflected hatred. She glared at Mary Melissa in a manner almost fieshell.

"Why, Honey Bee, of course it was an accident!" Bob stared intently at her. "Miss Lane's life was in as great danger as mine." LiSSa smiled a little. "You missed the point, Bob. Please let's go on out."

WITHOUT further words they moved upward and presently came within the white light of day. First it also was a pinpoint, then grew to become the cave mouth, where Bob had labored to remove the rocks days ago. It was still early morning and the sun was pouring into the cliff castle area with great brilliance.

"I was never so glad to see anything in all my life!" exclaimed LiSSa. She ran to the edge and peered down. "And the camp—it looks heavenly, Bob. Oh!"

There were sundry other exclamations and sighs of relief.
 The two were, indeed, almost ecstatic with joy. Bob took both her hands and danced in a circle with her, kid fashion. Then he swung her into a close embrace and kissed her, long and thoroughly.

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
 NEA Serv. - STAR WRITER

THE word "home-made" on candies is like sterling on silver.
 That's why a box of it should always rest beneath any well registered Christmas tree. Make up several batches, wrap each piece in wax paper, pack the candy in some utility box or container which will be useful throughout the year—and you are more than a good cook—you are a veritable Santa Claus.

Handsome boxes covered with modern washable wallpapers in small patterns make beautiful gift containers. So do grass and metal boxes. Glass utility dishes, some of the new stainless steel baking dishes and casseroles which come with heat-proof service tray—the list is surprisingly large.

Chocolate Nut Creams
 Two cups granulated sugar, 3-4 cup water, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, 1 tablespoon corn syrup, 2 1-2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Mix sugar, water, chocolate and syrup in saucepan. Place over low fire and stir constantly until mixture boils to soft ball stage.
 If you do not use a thermometer, test for soft ball stage by dropping a little of the mixture into a cup of cold water. If you can pick it up in a ball with the fingers, then it has reached the desired soft ball stage. Remove at once from fire and set in pan of cold water. Add butter and vanilla. When thoroughly cold, beat until stiff. Remove from pan of water, roll into small balls and press a half nut into each ball.
 This is an old recipe from a wonderful cook, aged 90, and she says it has never failed.

Here's an old southern custom in the modern manner.

Fralines
 (Makes about 3 very large ones)
 One-half cup maple syrup, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup white sugar, 1-2 cup yellow corn syrup, 1-2 cup water, 2 egg whites, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-3 cup candied cherries, 1-3 cup pitted dates, 1-3 cup pecan nuts.

Cook sugar, syrup and water until it becomes brittle and break easily in the hand when dropped into cold water. Remove syrup from fire. Beat egg whites until absolutely stiff and dry. Pour syrup over egg whites a little at a time, beating mixture all the time. Add vanilla when nearly stiff, then add the cut up cherries, dates and nuts. When mixture is stiff, pour on a greased plat and cut in squares.

 candied cherries, 1-3 cup pitted
 dates, 1-3 cup pecan nuts.

AFTER acting as though it preferred to play Amherst or Johns Hopkins, California winds up with a representative and worthy opponent in the Rose Bowl, Jan. 1.

The current and young Alabama varsity may not be the equal of two or three of its predecessors which appeared at Pasadena, but it's a determined and well-drilled team, and the Tuscaloosa tribe's nickname, Red Elephants, always was a misnomer.

Alabama was California's second choice, but what institution in need of funds wouldn't want $110,000, which should be each club's share with the top tariff jacked up to $5.50?

California handled the situation all right once it settled down to inviting, but the pre-bid talk on the golden slope did the football department of the Tournament of Roses no good.

While the Pittsburgh players were fed up, the statement by California officials that they'd like their opponents to wear the cloaks of appropriate scholarship rating, undoubtedly had some bearing on the Panthers' refusal to make the trip to the coast.

It was reported that President Robert Sproul of California attempted to coax Dartmouth into making the junket.

To be sure, there always is Fordham, but when Pittsburgh rejects a highly remunerative pigskin appointment, Grade A bowlers are becoming scarce.

California's demanding some learning in the other corner was commendable, but a school about to drag down $110,000 for participating in a commercial venture miles from its campus, shouldn't be too choosy. It can't expect to collect that kind of kale on a strictly amateur basis.

It is Alabama's fifth trip to the Arroyo Seco, and the Crimson Tide has yet to be repelled. Under Wallace Wade, Alabama repulsed Washington in a thriller, 20-19, Jan. 1, 1926. It tied Stanford, 7-7, one year later, and Wade's finest job at Tuscaloosa crushed Kingston State, 24-0, Jan. 1, 1931.

Frank Thomas was in charge of the Alabama squad that passed its way to victory over Stanford, 29-13, three years ago.

After watching creditable Alabama ramble through the 1937 season of upsets without a setback, southern observers are at a loss to figure out just where the strength of the precise, never-give-up array lies.

COACH THOMAS believes the fourfold answer to this year's success is teamwork, balance, coordination and spirit.

Of course there's Joe Kilgore, whose play in the backfield all year has been unwavering, but Kilgore isn't the broken-field breakaway artist or the punter that Dixie Howell was.

Thomas' second team is sparked by Soph Herky Moseley, who runs passes and punts like Howell. The second-stringers are far more spectacular than the regulars. There is little lost when replacements are sent in.

Hayward Sanford won the Vanderbilt battle with a fourth-period 6-1 goal.

Thomas is a resourceful coach, and has the material with which to find the way at Pasadena.

LUCKY CHARMS POPULAR
 By United Press

SYDNEY, Australia. — More than 250,000 "lucky charms" are sold every year in New South Wales. "Nine out of ten people in all walks of life are wearers of charms," one dealer said. "They go out of fashion like women's hats, and new charms are manufactured to take their place."

It was laid off adjoining the Fanthrop Tavern site by Henry Fanthrop and named Alta Mira, but the place continued to be known as Fanthrop until after it became Anderson in honor of Kenneth Anderson, former vice-president of the Republic, the change in name being at Fan-throp's request.

Muscles Stressed In Fitness Drive

LONDON—The British Government's national fitness campaign is going to affect not only muscles but metus. Much of the physical unfitness of the English people is attributed to unsuitable and badly cooked food. The Ministry of Health and the Board of Education are considering how the better and wider teaching of cookery can be linked with the physical culture movement. No detailed plan has yet been produced, but it is anticipated that steps will be taken to encourage the provision of more evening cookery centers for adults and the better patronage of those

Why Use Pills or Purgatives?

The purpose of most cathartics is to over-stimulate your intestines. Afterward, you may feel weakened. In cases of common constipation, isn't it better to keep "regular" with a wholesome NATURAL food like Kellogg's All-Bran? All-Bran will keep you "regular" as the time-table—but it works so differently from medicines. It doesn't over-stimulate your intestines; it gives them TWO things they need. First, All-Bran provides "bulk"—it absorbs water and softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination. Next, vitamin "B"—All-Bran is a good source of this vitamin that tones up your intestinal tract. Use All-Bran REGULARLY: eat two tablespoons every day and drink plenty of water. The results will delight you! Every grocer sells All-Bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
