Loves That Make World Go 'Round

When opposition arose to the marriage of Marshal Werner von Blomberg with his secretary, Germany's war minister remarked classically, if simply:

"Well, I love her, and I would rather give up my job than leave her."

Which automatically put Marshal von Blomberg into the same class and classification with England's former king who declined to sit on the world's greatest throne without the company of "the woman I love."

And so, for the second time in just a little over a year, Cupid's dart has been a monkey wrench in the machinery of Europe's political affairs. England rode through the "Simpson affair" and the abdication of a popular king with scarcely a tremor, actually. Germany has already felt more than a tremor from the marriage of its highest ranking army officer to Erika Gruhn, the daughter of a Berlin carpenter, and may be fortunate if it doesn't get tossed about by a terrific upheaval.

There are two schools of thought and dozens of confused impressions prevalent regarding the blow off in the Nazi Germany, but a few things stand out as apparent. The marriage of Von Blomberg was the signal for the shakeup and not the cause of it. Whether the army wanted Von Blomberg out as its leader and seized upon his "socially impossible" marriage as an excuse, or whether Hitler was afraid of Von Blomberg's power and had been waiting only an excuse to get rid of him, is debatable.

But, regardless of either of those theories, Hitler obviously has a growing fear of the army's power and the influence of Germany's old ruling class which makes up the now powerful Reichwehr. By concentrating in himself control over all military, political and economic policies Hitler has momentarily, at least, forestalled any coup which might lessen or usurp his power. He requested and got the resignation of the commander-in-chief of the Germany army, promoted his right-hand man Goering field marshal, recalled ambassadors from Vienna, Rome and Tokio, named a new foreign minister.

All this leads most observers to believe some drastic changes in policies—probably international—will be announced with the called meeting of the Reichstag on Feb. 20. Hitler may come out of the shakeup with a position even more strongly consolidated than he has been occupying. Or he may be tottering with only one false step between him and a new German regime.

Wallis Warfield Simpson, whose mother ran a Baltimore boarding house, and Erika Gruhn, the Berlin carpenter's daughter, may never meet. But history will introduce them, and may write that these two women altered not the destinies of one nation—but two.

HEIL AND FAREWELL

New Farm Bill Is Outlined By A Texas Solon

By Marvin Jones
Member of Congress from Texas

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The new farm program is designed to give agriculture a place of equality in the national picture. No thinking person can deny the need of such a program. Anyone with even a short memory can recall the days of five cent cotton and twenty cent wheat, of ten cent corn and three cent cattle. These prices wrecked not only the farm and ranch sections but wrecked industry as well.

The well-being of agriculture is necessary if the nation is to prosper, and it is the well-being of agriculture that is the purpose of the farm program.

The new legislation contains the following features:

- (1) It continues the soil conservation program, improved and simplified. Every man, woman and child in America is interested in the conservation of the soil.
- (2) It provides a fund out of tariff collections to be used in the building up of our foreign markets for farm products, as well as for widening the distribution of such products in the United States.
- (3) It provides for loans on various farm commodities to prevent price collapse and to prevent scarcity.
- (4) It authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to apply for corrections in freight rate discriminations against farm products and to fight such applications through to a final conclusion.
- (5) It makes provision for finding new uses and new outlets for farm commodities and the products thereof and for a research laboratory in each major region.
- (6) It provides that the farmers, by a two-thirds vote may establish marketing quotas on corn, wheat, cotton and rice, to be effective only when there are surpluses above what the market will absorb both here and in foreign countries. It provides that if more than one-third of the farmers oppose any quota, it shall not be put into effect.
- (7) It increases the share in conservation payments to small farmers and tenants and sets a limit on the payment which large producers can receive.
- (8) It provides protection for tenants and prevents landlords who reduce their tenants without justification from getting any part of the payment that would otherwise go to the tenant.

I have insisted from the very first that the farm measure should contain provisions which would assure fair treatment to small farmers and tenants so that individual farming will be encouraged. Such provisions were included in the measure which I introduced in the House, and I am glad that we have been able to keep these safeguards in the measure.

The provision for enlarging our foreign markets is one of major importance. I believe that it is much better to pay a slight loss on shipments to countries which do not produce a commodity than to refrain from producing that commodity and thus lose the labor and commerce connected with its production. This philosophy has been retained in the bill. The measure is not all that some of us would have liked, but I feel that it is a step in the right direction. It provides the fundamentals for a long-range farm and ranch program and can, be improved in the light of our experience from year to year.

More than 800,000 English women sign a petition to Parliament. So now Britain's ministers are pen-pecked.

Janitor's Sneeze Is Scary to Robbers

PHILADELPHIA.—A janitor's sneeze saved a local hotel $250.

The gunman was preparing to open the safe containing $250, when the janitor sneezed, and as suddenly the bandit fled.

Now Is Best Time To Control Pests Advises E.V. Cook

Jack rabbits should be thinned out now by farmers before the spring increases and while food is scarce and they can be poisoned economically," advises Elmo V. Cook, county agent. Many farmers in Eastland county have been obtaining poison grain at the County Agent's office the last few weeks for placing in rabbit infested territory and are reporting with excellent results a very low expense. Cook announces that others interested may get the grain at cost for this purpose but suggests that several neighbors or a whole community should get a small quantity of poison grain for each farm and agree on a date for putting out poison, at which time all range livestock and dogs should be penned for a few days. Every dead rabbit found should be buried or burned as the strychnine used in the mixture stays in the digestive tract of the dead animal and does not lose its killing power.

The County Agent offers to deliver poisoned grain to any community where a group is interested and where someone, beforehand will collect requests for poison and the money for the material.

Last year the County Agent, in cooperation with the U. S. Biological Survey, distributed 100 pounds of poisoned grain free to 50 interested farmers, each man taking two pounds of the poison. Some of the results from these demonstrators were as follows: D. D. Finley, Gorman, killed 40 rabbits, 7 crows and mately 100 blackbirds.

W. H. May, Eastland, killed 100 rabbits and a few crows and blackbirds.

C. A. Forman, Cisco, killed his sample 37 rabbits and blackbirds.

W. J. Prange, Cisco, killed 25 rabbits killed.

Others reporting good results were B. C. Parker, Gorman; Reynolds, Nidrom, J. P. Ranger, and W. S. Maxwell.

Last year farmers who until after March 15th were reporting rabbit control results unfavorable, but interested farmers to take at once to control these pests.

For Love of Polly

By RACHEL MACK

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CHELSEY, heroine; had in London when war broke out.
JERRY WHITEHEAD, born the hero who sees her through.
MR. HANKS, privateer.
MISS NANCE, having been called the captain's quarters, Jerry Whitehead is charged with the duty of seeing that she is safe in the king's palace.

CHAPTER XII
CHELSEY did not catch the Dover coach next morning because she had a fever and she who prostrated her, the realization that she was loved by the man she loved and for another woman went to her room and gave up to alternate moods of grief and anger which admitted reasoning nor forgiveness. When this despair had spent its force, and when those who were around her could find no way to feed upon, Polly Chelsey cried. That is to say, she got out of bed, dressed, ate a meal in the public dining room, and then she did all this with a mechanical efficiency. Mrs. Toby's and sentimental heart was so disappointed. She had thought that the devoted young lady would languish in her room. But this quick and sane recovery!

Polly could not dwell continually on Jerry's perfidy. She had to get out of England, money would soon be gone; for all she knew, that terrible man, Oliver Dart, might be now looking for her. . . . Thank God Jerry didn't take money! she prayed devoutly of the Dover coach. In at least, he had been honored. He had given it back to her last night when they were together. . . . Did he know at that time that he was about to be betrayed? Or did he only fear that he would be?

"I doubt," replied the man, "if there is any safe way to count on." He was John Bull personified, respectable, intelligent, honorable and self-assured; he loathed Americans collectively, so it surprised him to find that they could be individually intriguing.

"No, there's not a safe way for any pretty friendless girl to cross the Channel in war time. She might meet polyanthry, and Spain Indians, bound with rawhide things and taken away. She was cruelly tortured flogged unmercifully almost daily, her body and bottom of her feet were burned to keep her from running away, her nose was burned to the bone, her hair singed from her head. Physically and mentally wrecked before being delivered to her people, March 19, 1840, she died a few years afterward.

Q. What other children were with Matilda Lockhart when captured near Gonzales?
 A. They were children of a neighbor named Putnam, and as usual with captured children, were separated among different tribes and reared as servants of the wives of the chiefs. One of the girls remained a captive for about 14 years, another was reclaimed after a time and one became the wife of a chief whom she refused to leave. The boy in the party was reared as an Indian, formed Indian habits and spoke their language, but was finally reclaimed.

Q. Why was Capt. Matthew Caldwell called "Old Paint"?
 A. His naturally black hair and whiskers were spotted with white from which he received the nickname "Old Paint," "Paint" being the name applied to Texas spotted horses.

Q. Who was Moses Lapham, killed Oct. 18, 1838, while surveying on the Leon River?
 A. Moses Lapham was a native of Vermont, who served in the Texas army from Feb. 20 to May 30, 1836, and was detailed to assist Deaf Smith in destroying Vince's bridge, returning to the camp in time to rejoin his company (Company D, First Regiment of Texas Volunteers) under command of Capt. Moses Baker. He was a surveyor for Samuel A. Maverick, when killed.

Q. When did Texas make its first effort to establish its claim to Santa Fe under the act of Congress of Dec. 1, 1836?
 A. On April 14, 1840, President Lamar addressed a letter to the citizens of Santa Fe reminding them that Texas, of which they were a part, had "entered the great family of nations" and had been recognized by the United States in which other powers would soon join and saying, "Under these auspicious circumstances, we tender you full participation in our blessings." He stated that he hoped to send a commission to Santa Fe in September "to explain more minutely the condition of our country and to perfect union and identity of Santa Fe and Texas."

Euell Bond Makes Formal Statement About Candidacy

To the Citizens and Voters of Eastland County, Texas:

In submitting my candidacy for the office of district clerk of Eastland county, Texas, I feel certain that you would like to know something about the qualifications and the character of any candidate before you decide to vote for or against him, and I most cheerfully state that I am now a man of family, and was born near Morton Valley, about five miles north of the town of Eastland, in this county, and have lived in Eastland county all my life.

If I have ever done wrong in my life, my neighbors would know about it. I have not asked any of them to give me any kind of recommendation, but I will be glad and thankful if you will ask just any of them anything you want to about me.

I have never asked for any office before. I think I am well qualified to attend to the duties of this office, and if elected, I will take pride in rendering faithful service. I can not explain how grateful I feel toward those who have already pledged to me their support. I need the office and most sincerely solicit your support.

EUELL D. BOND.

THERE'S more to a waffle than "good morning." They show up at some of the best luncheons and go out in the evening with the greatest ease. It's largely a matter of sauces. You must make the waffles fresh yourself, but many of the sauces you can buy, such as chocolate sauce, strawberry preserves, pecan sauce and various lively marmalades.

Debutante Waffles
 (Two cups section waffles)
 Two cups sifted pastry flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 3 egg yolks, 1-2 cup cream, 1-2 cup milk, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 3 egg whites beaten as stiff as crinoline. Sift pastry flour and measure. Add baking powder and salt, then sift again. Combine the well-beaten egg yolks with the milk. Add the egg-milk mixture slowly to flour mixture, beating to smooth consistency. Stir in the melted butter, and then at last fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron.

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST Bananas in orange juice, bran muffins, creamed ham, apple jelly, coffee, milk.
LUNCH ON: Beef and vegetable broth, debutante waffles, maple sugar and cream sauce, tea, milk.
DINNER Grapefruit juice, braised oxtail, mashed potatoes, 9-minute cabbage, green salad, roll, coffee, milk.

Jerseyish Sauce
 Makes 13-8 cups
 Two-thirds cup white corn syrup, 1-1/2 cups medium brown sugar, 1-3 cup water, 4 tablespoons butter, 1-4 teaspoon vanilla, 6 tablespoons heavy cream. Boil the first four ingredients until sauce reaches heavy syrup consistency. Cool. Add vanilla and cream. If consistency gets a little too heavy, add more cream. Another sauce which widens the social horizon of waffles--shave maple sugar and add to lightly whipped cream. It's great eating. Be careful not to whip the cream too much.

WASHINGTON—Charges against Senator John Milton of New Jersey, confidential henchman of Boss Frank Hague, are backed by evidence indicating that Milton is perhaps the only man who understands how Hague has been able to buy hundreds of thousands of dollars of real estate on an $8000 salary.

Milton has been counsel, "brains" and financial agent for Mayor Hague, who operates from Jersey City what is sometimes called the most corrupt big political machine in the country.

Appointed to the Senate by Hague's Governor Harry Moore after Hague himself had refused the job, Milton took his seat in the face of charges of fraud in the election of Moore and of "all the known devices of violating election laws."

Although the Senate is likely to be complacent about Milton's background and refuse to censure him, the air is becoming surcharged with epigrams. Not the least startling statement is that made by Senator William H. King of Utah, Democratic chairman of the subcommittee appointed to consider the charges, before he had familiarized himself with the evidence.

"I am the law!" said Hague recently.

"I ain't never been arrested!" said Milton after his appointment.

"As chairman of this subcommittee I cannot prejudice the case," said Senator King to a correspondent. "But Mr. Milton is here and he is going to stay!"

THE Republican senators, all of whom with the exception of Arthur Capper of Kansas voted against the cloture which would have forced a vote on the anti-lynching bill, did so largely because they didn't want Democrats to get credit for an anti-lynching vote among Negro voters.

Even more conspicuous, if anyone looked twice at the roll call, was the fact that none of the G. O. P. senators had any substantial colored constituency to worry about. States with large Negro populations haven't been electing Republican senators in recent years and so there just aren't any Republican senators from those states—except Jim Davis of Pennsylvania.

This is just one more evidence that the mass of the Negro vote has swung from the Republicans to the Democrats.

Any Republican who had to think of the colored vote presumably would have voted for cloture. Davis was paired in favor. Other Republican senators come from New England, Idaho, California, Oregon, Delaware, North Dakota and Michigan.

The only senator among the 37 anti-cloture Democrats who comes from a state where the Negro vote is important was Senator J. Har Lewis of Illinois. The others voted down the line for Walter V. Reuther and his anti-lynching bill lobby.

NEW YORK—Wifty Cox credits Sam Snead for Jimmy Thomson's tremendous improvement as a score player.

Cox contends that all Thomson required was spurs and that he got the urge when Snead suddenly challenged his reputation as a long hitter.

"I noticed the change," explains the veteran professional. "Jim spoke off-n of Sam. He started to work, was serious, and took more interest. Sam aroused the fighting spirit which was lacking in Jim. Thomson used to carry the speedy wrist and hand action of his wood shots into his approaches without being conscious of the fact.

"Then, coming down the stretch on the last lap of a big championship, when he had critical iron shots to make, he changed his swing. He tried to be more compact, but since this wasn't in line with his daily practice methods, he merely tightened and began steering his shots . . . a fatal error.

"Now he has corrected this by making his left arm work as a brake. It comes through to delay rubbery wrist action. His left wrist formerly broke too quickly. He is now hitting down and through the ball instead of flicking it."

Jimmy Thomson always had the shots. Now he's hitching them together to win big purses in place of faltering in the stretch.

HOCKEY is as uncertain as most other games, yet at this early date Lester Patrick believes that his New York Rangers will finish first in the American division of the National League and go on to take the Stanley Cup.

The Rangers have a happy combination of youth and experience, and not another manager in the loop can say that he is not top-heavy on either side.

Behind the Rangers, Patrick ranks Boston of the American group and Toronto of the International neck and neck.

But most of the Rangers have clauses in their contracts concerning bonuses, if they finish on top. A new ruling in regard to the division of the playoff swag makes first place much more desirable than second.

And the Rangers always have been a first-class money club.

WITH Rae Crowther installed as George Munger's line coach, Pennsylvania next fall no doubt will adopt Harvard's sequenced offense, which is based on a cycle of spinners with every play starting exactly alike.

Crowther, heavier now, was a swim end for Colgate in 1922, '23 and '24, when Dick Harlow held forth at Hamilton.

Under the Harlow scheme, Penn linemen will maul-rip, double-team, and cross-check the tackle.

Many schooled observers believe that the Harlow plan, making the most of deception, has outmoded the Warner attack, which leans so heavily on power ahead of the ball.

Topnotch material is required to make the Warner stuff go.

250 Delegates Attend Future Home Makers Meet

The district meeting of the Future Home Makers, which convened in Ranger Saturday drew an attendance of 250 delegates. Registration began at nine o'clock and continued until the noon hour, which brought a luncheon served at the First Christian church. Supt. W. I. Walton offered greetings.

Program theme of "Grooming" afforded a splendidly arranged feature taken part in by the following: Gordon representatives, "Hose"; Ranger, demonstration on the use of cosmetics by seven selected girls; Breckenridge, discussion on evening clothes; Cisco, style revue on street clothes; Albany, different types of clothes for school for young girls; Dublin, "Care of the Teeth." Cross Plains various modes of hair dress; Eastland, skit of originality of school accessories. Closing the impressive revue, street accessories in the form of a play introduced a group of girls in round table discussion upon leaving the theatre.

Business session preceded the social after which the high point of the program came with a formal tea given at the home of Mrs. W. D. Conway, West Main street.

The handsome spacious home was profusely decorated in clusters of spring blossoms. Tapers in pastel colors were used bringing about a soft and colorful lighting effect for the background of blending tones.

Minnie Lee Shirley, Alpha Lee Robinson, Annetta Faye Huffman, Bonnie Harper and Dorothy Christian formed the receiving line.

The tea table covered with an ecru cloth over apple green, had for the centerpiece an old fashioned ruffled heart decked with a St. Valentine design. Mona Vee Brewer and Juanita Dobbs poured, and Janie Falls and Dorothy Jean Lindsey, passed the tea cups.

The April meeting will be held at Albany. Five delegates from Ranger plan on representing the local club.

The class meets every Monday afternoon from 3 to 4. The lesson next Monday afternoon will be taken from the 6th chapter of Matthew, beginning with the 16th verse.

To Be Heard in Speech Recital This Evening

Friends of Muri Lee Stiles and Mrs. L. E. White are invited to the Recreation Hall this evening at 8 o'clock, for the speech recital to be presented by Miss Stiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stiles. Having shown much talent in her chosen field of study her presentation promises to offer much in a program of individual entertainment.

Founders Day Pageant Given Over KTAT

Monday morning found members of Mrs. Homer Smith's choral club, together with the president of First District of Texas Congress of Parent-Teacher Association Mrs. F. E. Jacobs and Mrs. H. D. Bishop, and Principal P. O. Hatley, journeying to Fort Worth where the group of singers were presented over KTAT at 3 o'clock. A Founders Day pageant climaxed with the singing of the State PTA song, "A Little Chain Shall Lead," rounded out the well given program with Mrs. Jacobs in charge of general arrangement and Mrs. Smith directing and acting as pianist.

The teachers of the association over the state are presenting programs over various stations and Ranger teachers will be responsible for three of the series to be given during February.

Latin-American Trade Is Seen As A Spur To South

DALLAS.—Increasing interest in the development of Latin-American trade by United States manufacturers is seen as an important potential for new industries for the South and Southwest by R. M. Bazzanella, soliciting agent for a leading steamship company, according to a report of the All-South Development Council.

Bazzanella, returning from a good tour of the southern countries, reported that "the average Latin-American consumer is rapidly becoming 'American-minded.'" More and more American-made products are being used and the consumer is becoming more familiar with the names of their manufacturers. By reason of proximity and favorable operating conditions, factories located in the South and Southwest stand a better chance of getting this business than those in any other section of North America.

A survey by the council shows that trade with Latin-America has made sensational gains during the last three years in comparison with exports to other markets. During 1936 this gain was 14 per cent over 1935, while the latest available statistic, comparing the first 11 months of 1937 with the same period of 1936, shows a gain of 49.3 per cent. No increase at all was recorded in European shipments for 1936 in comparison with the preceding year, while for the first 11 months of 1937, the increase was 27.6 per cent, considerably lower than for Latin-America.

Europe still ranks as America's No. 1 customer in dollar volume of trade, with exports there totaling $1,182,665,000 for the 11 months, but the significant gains in Latin-American trade support Mr. Bazzanella's contention that South and Central America provide the fastest-growing foreign markets for the United States, the council's report said.

The 1937 11-months figure of $570,107,000 for Latin-American exports is more than 88 per cent higher than the $302,238,000 that was the average for the years of 1910-1914, whereas the comparable European export total of $1,182,000,000 indicated that this market is currently purchasing approximately the same amount of American goods as during the pre-war period.

"Texas has more in common with Latin-American countries than any other state in the Union, because of its background, history and proximity," Bazzanella said, "yet I found little knowledge of Texas among business men in those countries while New York, California and Louisiana are very well known because of their vigorous solicitation of Central and South American trade."

"The favorable position of Texas with reference to this fast-growing market, coupled with her resources, her high rating in per capita purchasing power, and impressive population growth, could be strong selling points for location of new industries here. Organized efforts, backed by re-assuring state policies such as other states are adopting, are needed to capitalize on them and make Texas an attractive field for major industrial investment, the report said.

Comparative figures for the first 11 months of 1937 for all exports from the four "port districts" of Texas show gains over that period for 1936, but not in proportion to export gains for the whole United States, the council's survey showed. The combined exports of Texas port districts were $102,026,000 against $321,223,000 for the previous year, a gain of 24.8 per cent. Figures classifying these exports as to destination are not available.

The port district of Galveston, including Houston and Dallas, which made the largest, showed a gain of only 8.5 per cent, with $243,183,000 in 1937 against $224,035,000 in 1936; San Antonio, embracing Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Fort Worth, Laredo and the border district, was up 88 per cent, with $75,769,000 against $40,261,000; Sabine, including Beaumont, Port Arthur, and Lake Charles, La., increased exports by 44.4 per cent, with $62,636,000, compared to $50,292,000, while the smallest Texas port district, El Paso, gained from $6,655,000 to $10,527,000, an increase of 58.6 per cent.

Rangers Lose Game In Last Minutes of Game Here Monday

By Joe Jane Griffith

The Ranger Junior College basketball team met the Decatur Indians on the local court last night. Up to the last three minutes of play the Rangers led the Decatur team with four points; during the last three minutes, however, the Decatur Indians rallied and won the game by a final score of 37-35.

The high point honors are divided between Truitt of Decatur and Wilson of Ranger. Each made 12 points.

The visitors' starting line-up was Truitt and McMeely, forwards; Bost, center; Teague and Parker, guards. The Rangers' starting line-up was Hugh McCall and Alvis Wood, forwards; Frank Clement, center; Woodrow Wilson and Bewel McGaha, guards.

The Rangers will play the Abilene Christian College Freshmen at Abilene Thursday night. They will play Decatur a return game February 28.

No Wonder You Are Constipated!

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, oat, maybe some eggs? Why do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? ... wonder you're constipated—due to lack of "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft, bulky mass in the bowels. It's this mass that helps your bowels move.

The common sense thing to do about it is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast will give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal-ionic, vitamin B. But this crunchy toasted cereal every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.
