Returns Show County Wet by Small Margin

VISION DAY W. B. COLLIE PEARLS NEAR

Statement issued Saturday by State Senator W. B. Collins of Eastland in support of his candidacy for the lieutenant governorship of Texas, expected to be announced in the next few weeks, would be soon. Collins, only senator ever re-elected from the 24th district, said the office "is appealing to me as one of the most important places for broadening the service to my native Texas. I also said that the succeeding officer of the office should be one of the best men most likely to counsel and cooperate with the legislators at state officials. The lieutenant governor is one of the most important places for broadening the scope of service to my state. I believe with the successful president of the senate should be the best able and most capable and cooperate with the legislators and other state officials in their many problems, personal enmities and factions. I expect to see to it that whoever is to be the next vice president of the senate will be the best possible man to save this ship and chart a new course."

Beer Is Returned By Decisive Vote In Howard County

BIG SPRING, Mar. 12.—Howard county voters today decreed a return for legalized sale of beer, the wets rolling up a margin of 679 votes in a county-wide referendum. The complete unofficial count stood: For beer, 2,550; against, 1,871. The total was 4,421, compared to the county's ballot strength of nearly 7,000. All Big Spring precincts were heavily wet, the beer margin in the city being 1,056. Beer advocates carried the Forsan box but all other rural precincts were dry by sizeable margins. Beer was voted out last December, along with all other liquors, after having been sold legally since 1933. Yesterday's election was on beer and wines of less than 14 per cent alcoholic content.

AUSTRIA NOW UNDER GERMAN ARMED FORCES

VIENNA, Austria, Mar. 12.—Adolf Hitler, preceded by thousands of German troops, came to Austria today and was hailed by the now dominant Nazis as a liberator. The Nazi partition of the country was accomplished and anti-Jewish agitation began. The ousted chancellor, Kurt Schuschnigg, and other officials, are guarded by storm troops. German mechanized troops were everywhere in the country and one detachment crossed to Brenner Pass, gateway to Italy. The first tanks entered Vienna in late afternoon. Fifty German planes arrived at the German airport, 25 miles from Vienna. Most business and many banks were suspended Saturday. The German government coldly rejected the protest of Britain and France of the German invasion as "unwarranted." The most amazing political coup in modern history was accomplished without bloodshed. Dollfus Square in the center of Vienna was renamed Adolf Hitler Square. German army airplanes droned over Austrian cities, as German troops, in a foreign country for the first time since 1918, marched along the roads into the country. Austrian troops joined them as they marched. Many garrisons placed themselves under German command. A new provisional cabinet was announced, containing seven Nazis, three Nazi sympathizers and two anti-Nazis.

HITLER ENTERS AUSTRIA WITH GERMAN FORCE

By United Press
LINZ, Austria, Mar. 12.—Adolf Hitler, greeted with frenzied acclaim by 250,000 Austrians in Linz on his triumphant return to his native land, told the Austrian people in a radio broadcast tonight the demonstration proves the entire Austrian nation wishes to follow Germany's leadership. After his radio talk Hitler left by automobile for Vienna. Hitler was welcomed at Linz by Provisional Chancellor Arthur von Seyss-Inquart and other officials. "If Providence calls me from this town, Hitler said, 'its only intention could be this, through me to restore my dear homeland to the German nation. 'I lived and fought for this aim and I think now I have fulfilled it.' Hitler referred to the coming Nazi-controlled plebiscite and said: "When you are called on to give a confession of faith, I hope I can be proud of my home province. I hope you can show the whole world that German unity cannot be dissolved. 'Just as you are ready to do your share, Germany is ready to stand by you. The German soldiers who have marched in are fighters for the entire nation — for the unity of the Reich.'"

MORE ENTRIES IN STATE RACE SEEN IN WEEK

By United Press
AUSTIN, Mar. 12.—Additional entries in the race for lieutenant governor of Texas are expected this week as former Senator Woodward of Coleman tonight announced his withdrawal. Woodward said he had announced on an understanding that Sen. Will Pace of Tyler would not run. Since then, he added, other friends have become candidates and he did not care to compete with them. He mentioned former Sen. George Puri of Dallas and Sen. Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth and Wilburine Collie of Eastland in addition to Sen. G. H. Nelson of Lubbock; Rep. Coyle Stevenson of Junction and John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, who have announced already. The governor's race lost one candidate and gained two in the week. Mayor C. K. Quin of San Antonio decided not to run. S. T. Prodon of Stephenville and tourist camp proprietor Joseph King of Houston paid filing fees for the Democratic primary.

State Finances In Snarl, King Says

By United Press
AUSTIN, Mar. 12.—No business organization could survive, even for a short time, under Texas' present financial setup, Governor Allred was told today by State Auditor Tom King. During the year ended Aug. 31, 1937, state agencies handled $169,601,214, King said, "without check except a conscience of the administrator." Such conditions, he said, "encouraged waste and extravagance and create conditions under which certain functions are supported in luxury and others are starved."

WET MAJORITY IS 300 VOTES LATE SATURDAY

Eastland County went wet in the election to legalize 4 per cent beer Saturday, on the basis of almost complete returns from over the county. With only eight small boxes to be heard from there was a majority of 300 wet voters, with only 267 poll taxes and exemptions in the eight boxes, making it impossible for the final standing of the election to be materially changed by these boxes. A total of 4,522 votes had been accounted for by County Clerk R. V. Galloway, who was tabulating the votes in Eastland, when his office closed at 10 o'clock Saturday night, after it appeared unlikely that any more voting boxes would be reported. At that time beer was carrying over the county by a vote of 2,441 votes for legalization compared to 2,111 against, with absentee ballots included in the totals. This gave a clear majority of 300 votes. Eastland, Ranger and Cisco piled up a commanding lead for the sale of beer early in the election, Ranger having a wet majority of 519 votes, Cisco having 306 and Eastland 854, making a total wet majority in the three towns of 979 votes. Alameda and Dothan also voted wet, the Alameda vote being 12 wet and 10 dry, while Dothan voted 28 wet and 13 dry. Boxes unaccounted for, and the number of poll taxes paid in each, are: Kokomo, 51; Nimrod, 42; Mangum, 20; Pleasant Hill, 26; Staff, 47; Cook, 42; Tudor, 17 and Sabanno, 22.

Cotton Referendum Barely Carries In Vote Over County

The cotton referendum in Eastland County barely carried in favor of participation in the crop control measure, with a vote of 257 for and 222 against. Vote by the six individual boxes showed:

	For	Against
Cisco	44	50
Rising Star	58	55
Eastland	43	17
Gorman	53	55
Carbon	35	51
Ranger	20	14

Texas Will Retain Its 16 CCC Camps

By United Press
BROWNWOOD.—Texas will retain its 16 CCC camps in state and municipal parks for the present, according to Wendell Mayes, chairman of the Texas State Parks Board. Mayes and William J. Lawton of Austin, executive secretary of the board, have just returned from Washington, where they conferred with National Park Service officials. "No movement of camps will be made April 1 as was contemplated, but Texas may lose one camp on July 1," Mayes said. "Texas is making greater progress in development of state parks than possibly any other state in the nation at this time," Mayes said. "The areas being developed are of such importance that the State Parks Board feels that any reduction in the CCC camps would create a handicap to the program."

Ah, Driver, Spare Our Tender Nerves

New York state has taken a happy step which other states will be following one of these days—the introduction of a bill to curb automobile horns.

Anti-noise campaigns are old stuff and they fit into a pattern for cities, but the automobile horn is an old raucous offender wherever the auto may be and as long as the motorist has strength to push the right button—long and hard.

You walk along a city street and are aware of a multitude of sounds, accustomed sounds that form a background for thoughts and conversation—the whir of tires, the rattle of a cart, the cry of the newsboy, the bustle of unloading vans, the scrape of feet on asphalt.

Stepping through the farmer's barn lot (because no one ever walks country lanes any more) are the rural noises that poets have made idyllic—the moo of bossy, the crackle of corn between the teeth of enthusiastic shoats, the rustle of the elm tree by the fence, the murmur of the creek back of the barn. More self-effacing noises, these. They don't intrude, but fall forgetfully into the dim, unheeded corners of the brain where noises should retreat.

Enter the automobile horn. It is two-toned, half-toned, vile toned, and bad-mannered. It startles, it screams, it rides roughshod over meditation and conversation. It shatters nerves and moods, roughens tempers, starts fights and makes enemies. It breaks sleep, and dreams and ear-drum.

The horn is necessary, you say, a necessary evil. Perhaps, although that's a grudging admission.

But is it necessary for the manufacturers to build them so, evilly ingenious? So that by pressing a button the driver loses a thousand green demons which stride your spine with stabbing steps, driving their trident-barbed spears into your brain with gleeful gusto and a twist that sends your brain fibers curling and writing like a bucketful of blacksnakes.

This is a pious plea for moderation in motor horns, uniformity and soothing tones. Let them fit into everyday life like the call of the traffic cop or the whippoorwill. Let them lilt or coo or caress, but don't let them quaver and bellow and screech.

Then, if you get run over, you at least haven't been petrified first.

KEEPING THE BODY STRONG

Text: Mark 6:33-36; Judges 13:12-14; Corinthians 2:16, 17; Romans 12:1, 2.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

PERHAPS one of the most characteristic aspects of our age is concerned with the body and with good health and physical well-being.

Yet strange to say, there probably never was a time in the life of humanity when there was on such a wide scale so much disregard of physical welfare and security, and so widespread indulgence in ways of living and habits that are destructive of the ideal of "a sound mind and a sound body."

Where men and women have lived healthy lives with useful toil, plenty of fresh air, proper hours of rest, without vicious or questionable habits, and with plenty of good wholesome food, there has not been much need to concern themselves with the body or to think a great deal about it.

THE passages from Corinthians and from Romans only enforce very strongly this general conception. If a man has a sense of the sacredness of his own life and a realization that his body, as it is the temple of his soul, may also be the temple of the living God, he cannot lightly or knowingly indulge in habits or follow ways of life that are against the welfare of either body or soul.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

Sunday school, 9:45 a. m. Morning worship, 11 a. m. Wednesday testimonial service, 8 p. m. Public cordially invited.

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 13.

The Golden Text is: "My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus" (Philippians 4:19).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Blessed be the Lord, who daily loadeth us with benefits, even the God of our salvation" (Psalms 68:19).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God's thoughts are perfect and eternal, are substance and Life" (page 286).

FRITZ CRISLER'S switch from Princeton to Michigan recalls a striking example of Amos Alonzo Stagg placing ethics ahead of victory.

Crisler sat on the bench as Stagg's assistant in Chicago's melodramatic game with Princeton in 1922. Crisler begged the Grand Old Man to send in Alonzo Stagg, Jr. as quarterback in the last few seconds with orders to try an end run.

The Maroon was on the Tiger's one-yard line. Crisler anticipated that John Thomas would be stopped at center.

But Stagg wouldn't heed his young aid's entreaties, later explaining: "I had sponsored a rule against substituting for the purpose of giving instructions. I would have been untrue to my principles had I sent in my son under the circumstances."

It followed that Tad Wieman would inherit the head coaching chair at Princeton. His appointment insures the perpetuation of a system that rehabilitated the gridiron game at Old Nassau.

Wieman is a painstaking coach, and great line tutors sometimes are rarer than fine head coaches. Many a nationally recognized coach owes a good share of his reputation to an unsung assistant who drills his forwards in individual position play and group execution.

Wieman doesn't go in for heroics. He is matter-of-fact and impersonal in pre-game talks.

"Just go out there and execute your assignments on each play as though it were the only play in the game," he tells his men before games. "Forget the game as a whole. Concentrate on doing your job. The score will take care of itself."

Leslie MacMittell will do quite a trichter Olympic prospect coming along.

This week is a good time to buy a 1938 FORD V-8

Now that National Used Car Exchange Week has reduced dealers' used car stocks, this is an opportune time to buy the new 1938 Ford V-8 you have been wanting. There are three excellent reasons for acting now. First, the ability and desire of your Ford dealer to accept additional cars in trade—now. Second, the fact that spring arrives officially next week, and it's a real thrill to meet it with a new car. Third, the 1938 Ford V-8 itself. It is a great value at its present low price—and the value seems even greater when you learn the exceptional amount of equipment included in the advertised price.

The big 85-hp. De Luxe Ford V-8 offers a new standard of luxury at a low price. The newly styled Standard Ford V-8, even lower in price, is available with either engine size. With the 60-hp. V-8 engine it is "Public Economy No. 1"—owners are reporting 22 to 27 miles per gallon. You are invited to see your Ford dealer this week for an appraisal on your present car—and a chance to drive the Quality Car in the Low-price Field.

Table with Ford V-8 prices for various models like Standard Ford V-8, De Luxe Ford V-8, etc.

Fort of Three Flags Will Be Restored

NEW ORLEANS—An old fort, built to protect New Orleans from an invasion that never came, will be rebuilt to protect the city's legends, history and beauty.

Called Spanish Fort because all that is known of its history is that Spaniards constructed it, the crumbling, weed-covered structure now guards only trim sailboats and chugging tugs on peaceful Lake Ponchartrain.

The property, after many years of negotiations, has become a city park. The park board appointed a committee, headed by A. G. Moffat, to restore the fort as it was about 1810.

"We are in the midst of research," Moffat said. "We are studying old maps, plans and accounts in order to determine as nearly as possible how the fort looked when it was constructed in brick."

Spanish Fort, built by the French, rebuilt by the Spanish and strengthened by the United States, came into the hands of the United States officially in 1803.

According to historical data collected, the present ruins are those of the rebuilt structure of 1808.

Though never the site of a military engagement, according to historical records, the fort was garrisoned on several occasions during conflicts about the city. Gen. Andrew Jackson landed there when he came to New Orleans during the War of 1812.

R. F. D.—Regular Floating Delivery

To Make Monument Of Courthouse In Which "Kid" Fought

LINCOLN, N. M.—The two-story adobe courthouse in this town which once harbored with gun shots from the Southwest's most spectacular bad man, Billy the Kid, may become a national monument.

A WPA allotment of $8,657 had been approved by President Roosevelt for the restoration and repair of the old Lincoln County courthouse. The New Mexico legislature has asked the federal government to have the building designated as a national monument.

It was in this dusty building that the fair-haired Billy the Kid, who killed 20 men before he was 20 years old, was kept prisoner. This was the historic structure from which the "Kid" escaped after killing Deputies J. W. Bell and Robert W. Olinger shortly before his own death at the hands of Sheriff Pat Garrett.

Today tourists from around the nation tip-toe up the outside wooden stairway and peer into the locked windows at the bullet holes made by the shots fired by Billy in 1881.

He was being held in the upstairs room. There he grabbed the gun of his hated enemy, Olinger, from his friend and captor, Bell. He killed Bell. With the same shotgun he fired from the top of the outside stairway at Olinger, who was crossing the street, returning to the courthouse.

Olinger was returning to the job of guarding Billy and taunting him for his escapades and killings. One blast from the shotgun and Olinger lay dead in the dusty street.

Down these outside steps hobbled Billy. He commanded the blacksmith across the street to file off his leg iron. He leaped on a horse and escaped. Three months later he was killed by sheriff Garrett.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CONSTANCE MAIDWELL—heroine; the stand-in.
DEREK MANTHON—an artist who loved money.
HILDEGARDE THORVALD—Derek's painted-by portrait.
DR. HUGHES—he met his most difficult case.

Yesterday, Derek breaks the news that he is to leave for California to paint a portrait of Hildegarde Thorvald. A knock is heard just then at the door.

CHAPTER III

DEREK muttered something impatient and called, "Come in!" At sight of his guests, however, his manner altered as if by magic. In an instant he was all charming, boyish deference.

"Why, good morning, sir!" he cried. "It was nice of you to drop in again. . . . Do sit here, Miss Thorvald."

As the tall golden girl in the rich fur wrap moved forward, Constance was unpleasantly conscious of her own faded tweeds and shabby hat.

"Miss Thorvald, may I present Miss Maidwell?" Derek was murmuring. "Miss Maidwell—Mr. Thorvald."

There was in his gesture the manner of one presenting Constance to royalty.

Hildegarde Thorvald said in a slow, warm voice, "How nice to meet one of Mr. Manton's friends—since we are to see a great deal of him for a while. . . . Perhaps you are an artist, too?"

"Oh, no!" smiled Constance. "My artistic effects are achieved solely on the typewriter."

"Oh, you write then?"

Miss Thorvald's manner was simple and friendly.

"If you can call it writing. . . . They would chat for a while, like this, about nothing, and then Derek would tell them. . . . Constance heard her own voice run-

Hildegarde Thorvald said in a slow, warm voice, "How nice to meet one of Mr. Manton's friends—since we are to see a great deal of him for a while. . . ."

ly out of the room. . . . She couldn't say just where it was. And, he finished, his cheek against hers, under the circumstances, it's bound to take me a little time to hunt it, isn't it.

Suddenly Constance remembered Hildegarde Thorvald's brief hesitation as she paused to collect her belongings—that amused, secret flicker of a smile in her eyes. . . . And in that moment she hated the other girl for the impulsive kindness of the gesture that had sent Derek back to her.

"You needn't hunt at all," she said clearly. "The glove is right there on the table."

"Oh, well!" Derek released her reluctantly. "The sooner I run away, the sooner I can get back. . . . Wait here for me, darling."

When Derek had gone, Constance stood staring at the door, the back of her hand beating against her lips.

So Derek had come back only because another woman had sent him back to find her glove. It was a hateful thought. But try as she might, Constance could not entirely hate the tall girl. Hildegarde Thorvald, she told herself, was kind—with a kindness as warm and natural as that of the sun that melted her father's fruit.

And of course Derek must think of his future—their future. Derek did not want to go away from her. She did not need to hear him say that to know it. . . . But, on, how she had wanted to hear him!

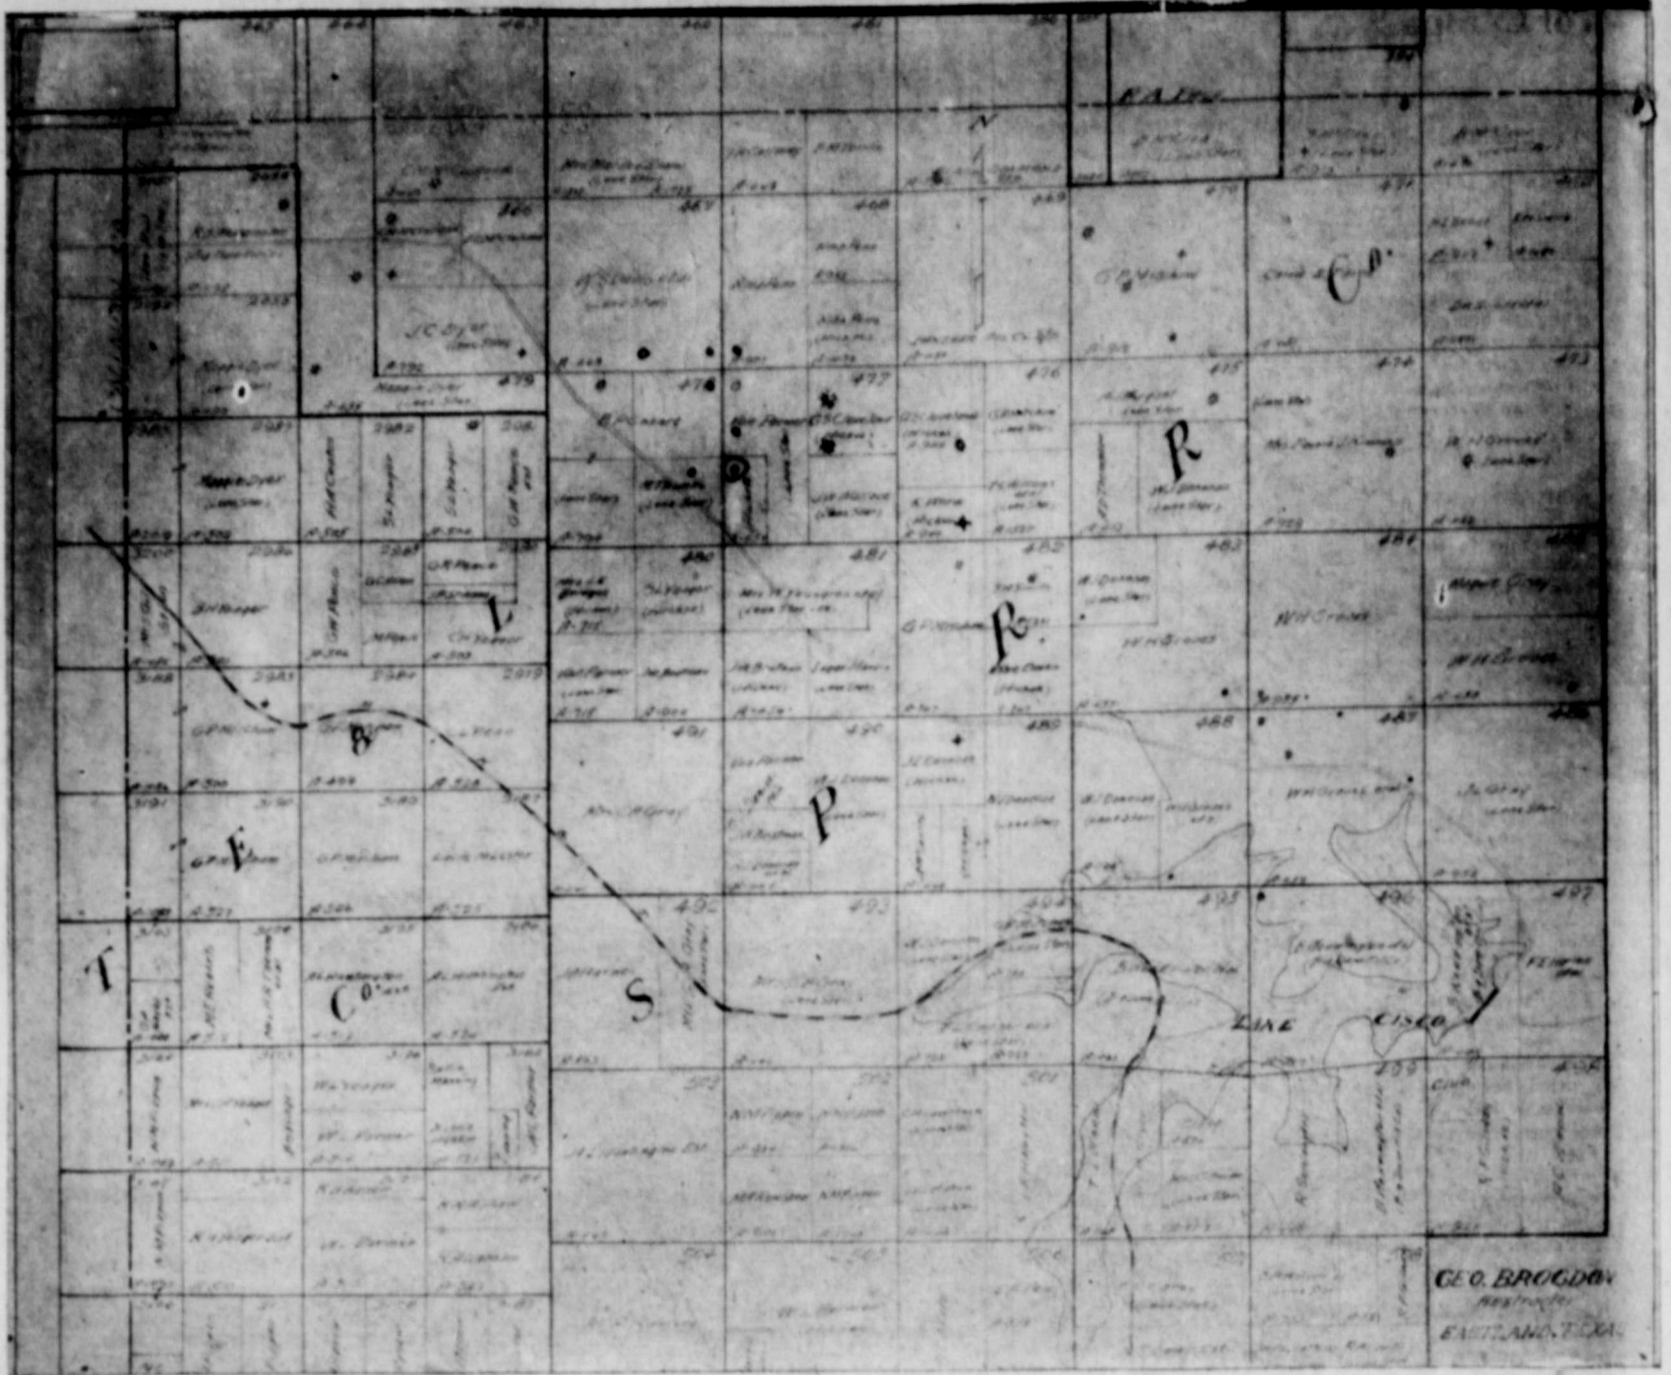

Nervously she began wandering about the denuded studio, righting with deft fingers the disorder Derek had left after his hasty packing—closing drawers, dusting a little, and carefully covering several canvases Derek had set out for transfer to the gallery of a local art dealer—even setting the nails in the boxes Derek had packed for shipment.

Finally she went over to her former seat before the fireplace. She threw more wood upon the dying embers, swept the hearth, and then—because there was nothing else to do, she sat down to wait.

She had hardly settled herself into her chair, before someone rattled at the door.

Map Shows Location of Wells Bringing County In Spotlight

The above map of the northwest Eastland county area, prepared by George Brogdon, Eastland abstractor, shows the Ellenburger pool opened by the Hickok Van Farmer No. 1 (in circle). The Hickok well was completed for a potential of more than 1,000 barrels daily. West of it in Section 478, is the Lone Star's Marshal Thomas No. 1, also completed for more than 1,100 barrels daily. Offsetting the Hickok Van Farmer to the north is the Lone Star's Van Farmer No. 2, drilling from surface. Directly north of the Lone Star No. 2 and in the corner of the northwest quarter of Section 477 is the Lone Star's No. 1 Farmer, deepened from a gas horizon and acidized Friday with 5,000 gallons. Offsetting the Van Farmer No. 2 to the west, is the same company's No. 1 Cozart, likewise deepened, with a potential of 288 barrels daily. The location is shown in the lower part of the figure "87" of the section number, which is 478.

Completion of Another Offset In Deep Lime Pay Is Nearing; Location Staked for Well Close to Eastland

Complete results of a 5,000-gallon acidization received Friday by the Lone Star Gas company No. 1 Van Farmer, fourth producer in the deep lime area nine miles northwest of Cisco in Eastland county, will be known Monday or Tuesday, it was announced Saturday.

The deepened gas well received the acid from 3,972 feet, where the Ellenburger lime was topped, to 3,988 1/2 feet, total depth. The Van Farmer is 800 feet east of the No. 1 Cozart, also a deepened gas well, which was finished recently for 288 barrels daily. In section 477, SPRR survey, it also is about 3,000 feet north and slightly west of the discovery well drilled by Hickok Producing and Development company on a different Van Farmer lease. Observers believe the Lone Star Farmer is as good if not better than the Cozart.

The Railroad Commission potential test on the Lone Star No. 1 Marshall Thomas, section 478, SPRR survey, 1,341-foot west offset to the discovery, was given Saturday as being 1,183 barrels daily, higher than earlier announcement. Production was from the Ellenburger, 4,118 to 4,154 1/2 feet. It was presumed connection would be made, with the Illinois Pipe Line company as that is the only outlet in that area.

Lone Star's No. 2 Van Farmer, 1,321-foot north offset to the discovery well in section 477, SPRR survey, was reported drilling toward the 2,000-foot mark. Hickok No. 1 Grover S. Cleveland (D), section 476, SPRR survey, one-half mile northeast of the discovery, was ready to spud.

For the first time in several months since opening of the lime pool which had overshadowed other events, other portions of Eastland county, practically deserted before, were getting attention.

Neil A. Moore of Midland, formerly of Eastland, and others made location for a 1,500-foot well about a mile northeast of Eastland in the city limits. Drilling operations on the No. 7 Holcomb heirs, section 1, block 4, H&C survey, 970 feet from the west and 600 feet from the north lines of the lease, are scheduled to start March 21. It is in the southwest quarter of the section.

Two locations near Rising Star were reported. Hayner and Reed of Shreveport, La., were reported to have made location on the P. C. Larkin farm five miles northeast of Rising Star for a test 3-200 feet or deeper. It was said the location would put it in section 40, block 2, ETRR survey. Exact location, however, had not been announced.

Also it was reported that R. C. McCarter and others have staked a location on the Smith estate land about six miles southeast of Rising Star.

T. W. Johnson et al. no. 1 Mary L. Jackson, mile south of Carbon in section 34, block 2, H&C survey, was shut-down at an unannounced depth.

L. A. Warren of Cisco and others picked location for No. 1 J. M. Ramsay fee, 600-foot try, two and a half miles northeast of Duthan, section 504, SPRR survey, 1,710 feet from the north line and 150 feet from the west line of the lease.

Gallagher-Lawson et al. No. 1 Mrs. Bobbie I. Terry, N. H. Kuykendall survey, near Dadesmond but in Comanche county, were drilling at 4,815 feet in Ellenburger lime topped at 3,404 feet.

Brannon and Murray scored a 150-barrel producer and 100,000-cubic foot gasser in their No. 14 J. C. Dibrell, block 265, J. W. Hicks survey, from a sand 1,954-1,960, total depth, in Coleman county.

Also in Coleman county, four miles southwest of Barkett James Walker trustee selected location for No. 1 C. L. Davenport, W. T. Dunlavy No. 259, 200 feet north of the south line and 5,700 feet east of the west line of the 524-acre lease. Drilling to 800 feet is planned.

R. H. Goble and L. O. Moore of Bryson announced plans to drill No. 2 E. P. Costello, northwest Palo Pinto county in the Pickwick area, McKinney and Williams A-339 survey, 250 feet from the north line of the survey and 300 feet from the east line of the survey. Plans are to drill to 2,400 feet.

Coleman county received another location in an application of G. A. Nett O'Connell to drill No. 1 W. S. Smith, R. H. Overall, J. W. Dillon and J. Thiele survey, four miles southeast of Coleman, 2,300 feet.

Plugged was Ed Selvidge No. 1 J. M. Perry, J. G. Rhea survey section 36, in Brown county, a total depth of 1,268 feet.

RISE IN TAXES IS SHOWN BY COMPILATIONS

Texas government now takes in $11 for each $1 it collected in 1915, back at the beginning of James E. Ferguson's first term as governor.

This was shown in a compilation made by John T. Smith in the Texas Tax Journal, based on reports of the comptroller's office, and including the 1937 report issued by Comptroller George H. Sheppard this week.

Table showing tax revenue data for 1915-1937, including categories like Ad valorem, Gross receipts, Insurance, Cigarette, Liquor stamp, and Net gasoline.

Table listing various taxes and their amounts, such as Franchise, Beer stamp, Licenses, County, federal and other aid, Land, rent and royalties, Fees and permits, and Highway Costs.

Highways cost $53,194,207. Educational expenses were $44,804,271. Pensions totaled $20,519,716. These three items represented 138 millions of the total cost.

Some of the other bigger items were: Legislative, $968,109; judiciary, $2,047,378; executive and administrative, $5,392,308; eleemosynary and correctional, $7,703,596.
