LITHUANIA AND POLAND REACH AN AGREEMENT

By United Press
WARSAW, Poland, March 19.—Poland recognizes the right of the Lithuanian people to independence, foreign minister Joseph Beck announced tonight, after Lithuania accepted a Polish ultimatum and averted what threatened to become a dangerous European war.

Lithuania accepted Poland's demands for restoration of diplomatic relations. It was expected that within 48 hours Poland would recall the troops on the Lithuanian frontier.

The ultimatum and answer were exchanged at Tallin, capital of Estonia.

The Polish argument was that the dispute, which arose over Poland's occupation of the Vilna area and was brought to a climax last week when a Polish frontier guard was killed, was a danger to all Europe.

Members of the Lithuanian Volunteer's league distributed handbills asking the population not to accept the demands, but to take up arms. A cabinet shakeup might result in Lithuania.

DEEP WELL NEAR CARBON ADDED TO COUNTY'S OIL IN NEW DEVELOPMENT

Eastland county oil activity was at a several-month high this weekend as active wells and announced locations mounted to a total of nine.

The area about eight miles northwest of Cisco was without exciting new developments as the Lone Star Gas company continued efforts to shut off bottom hole water on its No. 1 Van Farmer, showing as the fourth producer for the Ellenburger pool.

Operator had plugged back two feet from total depth of 3,988 1/2 feet. Prior to recent acidization with 5,000 gallons from top of the Ellenburger lime at 3,972 feet a good showing of oil—2,500 feet of it in the hole—was registered. The No. 1 Van Farmer is in section 477, SPRR survey, about 3,000 feet north and slightly west of the Hickok Producing and Development company's pool opener on another Van Farmer lease.

The territory immediately near Carbon gained its second operation when Dobbs Oil company of Dallas announced location for a 3,500-foot wildcat on the W. J. Greer and others' land two and a half miles south of the city. With spudding slated April 1 or sooner, the test will be 300 feet from the north line of the J. E. Hardy survey. The well is in a block of 2,500 acres.

Five miles northeast of the famed old Pioneer pool— noted for the immensity of its producers—E. L. Daniels, contractor, was rigging up on No. 1 P. C. Larkin for Hayner and Reeves, oil operators. Located in the center of the northwest part of a 6,500-acre block, the well is three miles northwest of Rising Star. It is 527 feet from the south line and 960 feet from the west line, northwest quarter of section 40, block 2, ETRR survey. Drilling to a deep depth with a combination rotary and cable outfit is planned.

Six miles southeast of Rising Star, Eastland county, but in Comanche county, it was announced McCarter and Anderson No. 1 J. M. Smith estate, block 3, Lampasas county school land survey, was spudded in toward a goal of 3,000 feet. Location is three miles southeast of a 4,000,000 cubic foot gasser completed several years ago.

Also in the Ellenburger area northwest of Cisco, Hickok Producing and Development company was reported drilling at 300 feet on its No. 1 Grover S. Cleveland (D), section 476, SPRR survey.

Man Claims He Knows Kidnaper of Peter Levine

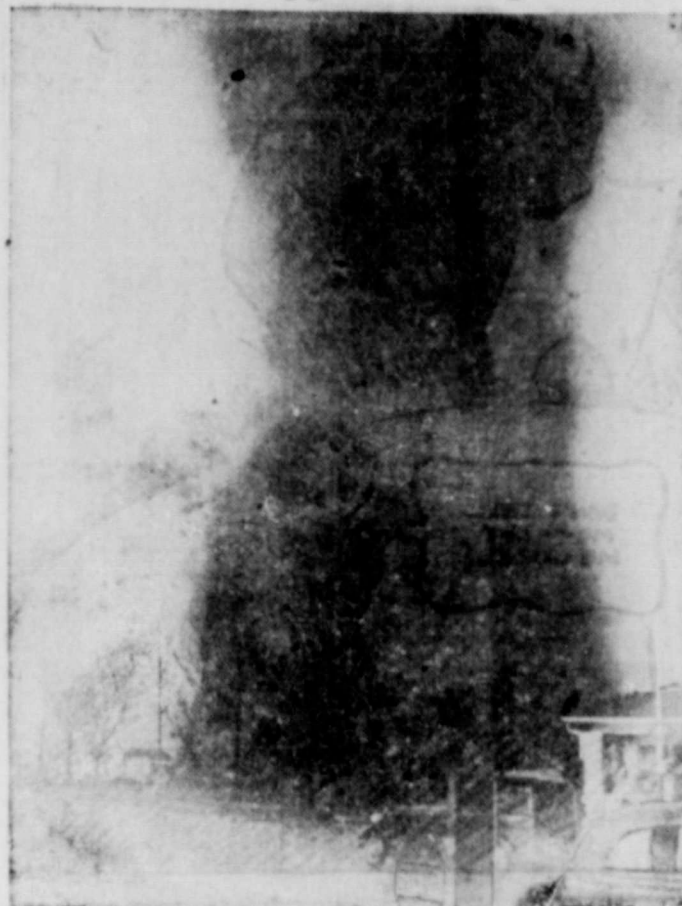

By United Press
NEWARK, N. J., Mar. 19.—Stanley Thomas Jasosky, charged with extortion in connection with the kidnaping of 12-year-old Peter Levine, was reported today to have told G-men that he knew who committed the crime and that the child was dead.

The suspect, 22, was held on $25,000 bail on the extortion charge. FBI agents accused him of writing six letters, demanding $30,000 to Murray Levine, New Rochelle, N. Y., attorney, and father of Peter. The child disappeared Feb. 24.

The FBI agents declined comment on reports that the suspect told them who committed the kidnaping and that he could lead them to the boy's body.

The department of justice said Jasosky's arrest in no wise solved the kidnaping and it was a minor arrest.

By United Press

Pope asked the senate finance committee to give consideration to his rider proposing the equalization fees.

Pope sought action on his plan after a New York banker warned that a "sit down strike by capital is threatened unless tax laws are modified."

MEXICO SEIZES OIL INTERESTS OF FOREIGNERS

By United Press
MEXICO CITY, Mex., March 19.—The Petroleum Workers Union seized the office building of the Mexican Eagle Oil company today and ousted American, British and Dutch employes.

The seizure was the first direct action by workers after a decree by President Cardenas expropriating the foreign oil industry, in which the United States and other foreign nations have investments totaling $400,000,000.

British, United States and Netherlands authorities were gravely concerned. Joseph Daniels, U. S. Ambassador, told American correspondents the situation was "most regrettable."

The permanent committee of congress called a meeting for tonight to arrange a special session of congress. Many details for operating the oil industry remained to be worked out. The vital question was who would be the customers for Mexican oil, especially if Royal Dutch or Standard companies refused to buy or transport it.

Cardenas said he wanted to sell oil only to democratic industries. Long lines of automobiles formed before filling stations seeking supplies before sales stop.

The Bank of Mexico and all other banks suspended trading in foreign exchange. There was bootlegging of dollars and gasoline at high prices.

LONDON, March 19.—The British oil industry, informed sources said today, will reply to Mexico's expropriation of foreign interests by a boycott of Mexican oil, designed to make it difficult for the Mexican Government to market its products.

NEW YORK, March 19.—American oil companies will fight for the return of their $200,000,000 properties which have been expropriated by the Mexican government, William Farish, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, said today.

BERLIN, March 19.—Peaceful settlement of the Polish-Lithuanian dispute, was hailed here today as forecasting more tranquil times in Europe, at least for the time being.

Adolf Hitler proceeded with plans for a second visit to Austria, more important for his visit in May for a visit with Mussolini in Rome.

Divorce Case of Aged Pair Is Dismissed

District Judge B. W. Patterson Saturday dismissed without prejudice the divorce suit of Virginia Stokes, 77, against S. H. Stokes, 82.

Counsel for Mrs. Stokes had indicated should the divorce be denied the case would be appealed to the Eleventh Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland.

Judge Patterson found that Mrs. Stokes had not lived in the county six months prior to institution of the case as required by law, sustaining the defendant's plea of abatement.

The aged Gorman couple had been married 57 years February 12. She alleges her husband became quarrelsome so as to make continued living as man and wife impossible. She separated from him in October and left the county to visit with children.

Mrs. Stokes seeks division of the community property which includes over $55,000 in cash and government bonds. The property was acquired by Mr. Stokes' thrift from property, testimony showed.

Mass Meeting To Interest Parents In Boy Scouting

A mass meeting of parents of boys eligible for boy scouting and all interested in formation of a Boy Scout troop in Ranger will be held in the Recreation Building Monday evening, March 21 at 7:30 with J. E. Meroney, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, presiding.

An urgent appeal to all parents of eligible boys has been sent out, urging that they attend the meeting, as the interest of the parents is to be solicited first, in order that the proposed troop in Ranger will have the proper backing.

The scout troop, which is to be formed after the mass meeting, will be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, as that organization started the movement to reorganize a troop in Ranger.

Russell B. Jones of Breckenridge, president of the Comanche Trail Council, will be present at the meeting, he has stated, and will bring along with him several scouts from Breckenridge, to give the people here some idea of what scouting can do for a boy.

Jones will speak on scouting and on the organization of a troop, and what it will mean, both for the boys and their parents, and the best means of forming a troop.

The scouts will give several demonstrations, which should prove interesting and which should give everyone present a better conception of scouting.

A committee composed of Raymond Steel, B. S. Lemma and Rev. G. Alfred Brown has been appointed to make arrangements for the mass meeting and to take the lead in forming a scout troop here. They have been actively engaged in making preparations for the troop, when it is formed, and for the mass meeting.

Ranger has not had a scout troop in more than a year, though when the troop disbanded it was one of the most active in the Comanche Trail, and one which always won its share of honors when rallies were held. It is believed that when another troop is established it will be just as successful, and will accomplish just as much, as did the troops that once operated here.

The Odd Justice of English Law

England's method of law enforcement has often been held up to the United States as a fine example which we do not follow in this country.

Four young men, all members of exceptionally "good" families, graduates of the best schools and all with rich relatives, were found guilty of robbery with violence.

The lord chief justice who heard their case listened to testimony of their backgrounds, their schools, their families and their surrounding of wealth and position—and then handed down sentences that haven't been equalled for severity in years in the British Isles.

He not only sentenced them to terms ranging from nine years to 18 months at hard labor, but he added penalties of from 15 to 20 strokes of the cat-o'-nine tails for three of them.

For, said the lord chief justice, the upbringing and the fine training these young men had received made their crime greater than if it had been committed by some warp-brained child of the slums.

In the United States the very things which the English jurist held against the four youths would have bulked large in their favor. For we in this country have a way of excusing personable young men of good talent and upbringing.

The English public opinion, carefully noted, was solidly with the court in the severity of its penalties. Americans might approve such sentences too.

Germany, out to capture the Spanish film market, is making "The Barber of Seville," apparently believing there's so little excitement in Spain these days it's a good time for a hair-raising movie.

Farm Security Administration working on lowest steel housing, might popularize their product with the slogan, "A steel at $2000."

expert and will bring many new things in the way of recipes and suggestions. In writing the Times she says, "I am not coming to Ranger to teach the women how to cook, because from the word over the state there are many excellent cooks in your city and community, but we will counsel together and I may be able to suggest something that will help them and I feel sure I will get many new ideas from the counsel and contacts with so many good cooks."

The school this year will have several added features. For instance, Mrs. Tucker is celebrating her 25th anniversary and will offer twenty-five silver quarters for the best cake entered in a contest at the cooking school. There are no strings to the offer. Here is how it will be done: On the last day of the school, or in all probability the last night, which will be Friday, April 1, a committee will be named and they will judge the cakes and award the prizes. The second best cake will receive silver spoons and the third some prize of value.

The cake will then be turned over to some organization and will be auctioned off at the show Friday night. Last year was the first time the show had ever been held over a night session, and it met with the approval of so many that it was suggested the Times close the school Friday night instead of in the afternoon. Many details of the school are to be worked out and it has been suggested that the last night of the show will be an event to which the men can go with their wives and look at the displays and get some idea of just what a cooking school means from an instructive as well as social viewpoint.

In the past the attendance at the four days' show has averaged better than 2,000 women, and last year with the added night for the men there were better than 3,000 registered at all sessions. Many prizes will be awarded each afternoon of the affair, and with the cake contest as an added feature no doubt the last night of the show will tax the seating

Replica of Windsor Ring On Display

The Royal Ring, a replica of the Duchess of Windsor, is now on display in the windows of Ken Umberson, Jeweler.

The ring was styled by J. R. Wood & Son, Inc., of Brooklyn, N. The ring has eight sides, which, according to the Reverend Jardine, signify Edward the Eighth. The Royal Ring is made in fashionable yellow gold, with or without diamonds, and there is a man's wedding ring to match. The ring was recently on display at the New York Museum of Science and Industry in Rockefeller Center, where it was very favorably received by the huge throngs who saw it.

City Commission Confers With WPA On Street Project

The city commission of Ranger has been somewhat on the war-path this week due to the fact that the street project of the city of Ranger has now been approved in Washington. Work should be ready within 10 days.

The city commission felt that since the city is spending $10,000, only people from Ranger should be employed. Most of the meeting Tuesday evening was taken up with argument with the representative of the WPA and the city commission. The city commission is holding out for someone from Ranger as supervisor and timekeeper, and further contended only people living in Ranger vicinity should be employed on the project. The argument was not settled Tuesday evening, due to the fact that the city commission's demands were contrary to the WPA plans. Friday evening the city commission met with the WPA representative in Eastland to discuss further the conditions that all help on the project should be people living in Ranger vicinity. The WPA representative assured the city commission that they wish to work with Ranger in every way and were doing this, however, instructions from officials other than Eastland county's WPA representative requested that the supervisor be from some town other than Ranger, due to the fact that 95 per cent of all supervisors at this time are not employed in the towns where they live, and the future policy will probably be that every supervisor should be placed in some territory foreign to him.

The city commission did win most of the argument. It was agreed that the WPA would hire some Ranger man as assistant supervisor or timekeeper; someone who is not now employed and someone who has made application on this job, and it was further agreed that no trucks or help would be employed out of the Ranger vicinity on the work so long as people in Ranger had sufficient men and trucks to handle the work and their trucks were capable of doing the work in a satisfactory way, and it was further agreed that if a supervisor was chosen from some town other than Ranger, which is their policy he will move to Ranger and make his home here while the work is going on. Mr. Dickson, the WPA representative of Eastland county, advised the commission that Ranger was well represented in

Savings Are Chief Interest of Buyers

Facts will prove that a "desire to save" plays a bigger part in influencing the buying public when it comes to purchasing than any other factor. Whether it be silk hose, cigarettes, gasoline or refrigerators, a purchase that represents a saving in dollars and cents is what all of us look for when we buy.

A completely satisfactory answer to this savings in refrigeration has now been found and is available in the new 1938 Frigidaire now on display at Killingsworth, Cox, according to J. P. Killingsworth, local dealer.

"When you think about it," said Killingsworth, there are four ways to save with a refrigerator: on current, food, ice and upkeep, and weakness in any one of these ways may mean the loss of the entire savings of the other three."

"Take food for example. Millions of dollars are lost each year due to improper food storage temperatures. According to the United States Bureau of Standards laboratories, the high danger zone of a refrigerator is anywhere above fifty degrees, for above that point, perishable foods spoil very easily. The dollars and cents loss of the Sunday chicken or roast, due to improper temperatures, might easily wipe out other savings a housewife expected to make with her refrigerator.

"Realizing the huge savings available through food preservation, Frigidaire engineers equipped each cabinet with the food safety indicator, which assures the user visible proof of proper temperatures in the cabinet at all times."

"A complete display of the food safety indicator, as well as other displays which show the saving possible on current, ice, and upkeep are a part of the demonstration set up by Mr. Killingsworth in his showroom.

WPA work and that the following people had been selected from Ranger to work for the WPA in supervisory and administrative capacities:

Paul Taylor, project timekeeper, Cross Plains; Mrs. Medora Pitcock, area supervisor, Eastland; Waldine Kribbs, senior typist, Eastland; Ernest Hood, project timekeeper, Eastland; W. F. Wilson, project superintendent, Cisco; Louise Stewart, area office assistant, Eastland.

This shows that more people have been selected from Ranger than from any other town in the county to be used in the official capacities.

Car Registrations Are Well Below 1937

AUSTIN, Texas.—New passenger car registrations in Texas during February were well below those of the corresponding month last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Reports from sixteen representative Texas counties show total sales of 3,993 cars, a decrease of 6.8 per cent from the month before and a drop of 22.5 per cent from February last year. Aggregate sales during the first two months were 8,279 cars, a decline of 22.2 per cent from the corresponding period last year.

"The two highest price groups made the best relative showing," the Bureau's report said. "Sales in the highest price group were 75.4 per cent above those in January, but 8.5 per cent below February last year; while sales in the price group just below the highest were 1.6 per cent below those of January but were 36.2 per cent above those of February last year."

Baptist Revival To Start March 27

The first Baptist Church of Ranger will have an old-fashioned revival, beginning Sunday, March 27, and continuing through Sunday, April 10.

Rev. Buford McLeRoy of Kilgore will do the preaching during the revival.

Rev. McLeRoy comes to Ranger with a most enviable record, both as a pastor and an evangelist.

Old time congregational singing and prayer meetings will be a special feature of the services, with B. R. LaMance leading the singing.

Services will be held twice daily, at 10 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. Everyone is given a cordial invitation to be present at all the services.

CONSTANCE MILDWELL—Nurse
Derek MANTON—An artist who loved money
HILDEGARDE THORVALD—Derek's sister
DR. ROGERS—He met his most difficult case

Yesterday, at work again, Constance hurried home the first night, expecting that letter from Derek.

CHAPTER IX

BUT there was no letter from Derek—only a forgotten bill from her dentist. When Constance realized that she sat down on the lower step of the stairway—limp and sick with disappointment.

In a moment, however, she was able to tell herself that she was unreasonable. Of course no letter could have come from California yet—soon by swift airmail. The Thorvald ranch was probably miles from the postoffice. . . . It was doubtful if Derek had his letter yet, although she had written it the day he left and sent it by air with a special delivery stamp. Perhaps even at this moment Derek's feet, hurried away from an empty mail box—hurt and angry. She knew how tragically incredulous Derek could be when time and events did not keep pace with his own desires.

She wrote another long letter to him that night. It was a little difficult to frame the paragraphs without telling him more than she wanted him to know. . . . She did, at length, tell him about Bartlett's—making high comedy of her experiences of the afternoon before—making it all sound like a lark to lighten the burden of their separation.

Bartlett's was quite the swankiest store in the city. So exclusive was it that an anecdote was gleefully told concerning one reverent customer, who, going home after a day's shopping, complaining bitterly that people had coughed and sneezed around her all day, fished hopefully. "But then, I was Bartlett's all the time. I don't suppose I've caught anything very bad."

CONSTANCE learned a great deal during her first few days' work.

She learned that, although Papa Anton was nominally head of the publicity department, and appeared to lend Continental lustre to all public occasions, it was the O'Dare who did most of the work, and made most of the important decisions.

Papa Anton was celebrated for his spectacular exhibitions of temper, during which he shrieked and gesticulated with a fine falsetto Gaelic frenzy that delighted many of his subordinates and intimidated few; because, underneath, he was the most humorless and spineless of men. Constance came to suspect that these theatrical outbursts were often deliberately staged and encouraged as a smoke screen to cloud the battle front when some under-cover inter-departmental war—of which there were many—was under way.

Elsa O'Dare, on the other hand, could be as soft as silk and hard as nails when it came to getting her own way—and all without raising her voice or lifting an eyebrow; could say things to meddling department heads or shiftless subordinates that left the victims helplessly gibbering with rage or speechless with humiliation.

"And she's got the right idea," Gertrude, the tall blond, confided to Constance. "In her job, without trying to damn her, what she's got to do is to damn them right back—in a perfectly ladylike way, of course."

But Elsa O'Dare knew, too, how to be tactful and wise—and above all, fair. . . . When she could be, she was kind as well.

As for the other models, except for a few amateurs who appeared only occasionally, some of them gave themselves the airs of cinema stars; most of them hoped sometime to work into positions as buyers or as executives—like Elsa O'Dare; and they played politics with a silken feline ferocity that left Constance sometimes amused—sometimes a little frightened.

THERE was no letter from Derek the second day, nor the third. On the fourth, Constance played a game with herself. To keep from hoping too painfully on the way home, she counted all the cars that passed on her side of the bus, betting with herself that there would be 5000. But she soon lost count. . . . And this time the letter was there.

"My darling," Derek wrote, "you can't imagine what a picturequely lovely place this is—with an old-world atmosphere of legend which I cannot put into words."

"The ranch house, itself—El Rancho del Oro—is set in a vast open valley, with mountains just close enough to break the flatness and make a majestic blue and violet back-drop, without crowding in upon you."

"The house was originally built, I am told, by a Spanish grandee, Don Felipe Sedillo, but has been added to extensively. The older part of the house has walls two feet thick. It is U-shaped, and its three inner walls are constructed about a flowering patio with a pool and fountain, in the Moorish style. The fourth side of the patio is bounded by a high wall with a wrought-iron entrance gate beyond which you see masses of fruit blooms against the blue of the mountains.

"My studio, with a bedroom and bath adjoining, is in one of the outer wings to get the best light for the inner rooms about the patio are very shadowy."

"The spaciousness and shadow of the old house will be very agreeable in the near future, for already it is very warm here. The patio is a mass of flowers and shrubs, and some of the dozens of climbing roses about the inner galleries are in bloom. Such variety and magnificence of color! . . . If you were only here to share it with me."

CONSTANCE read that line repeatedly.

"I have taken time," Derek went on, "to look about a little for a small house for us. But except for the shacks of the Mexican laborers, which would be impossible, there are no small houses on the ranch. When you come, we shall either have to live in the nearest town, which would be rather inconvenient for me—or here at the Thorvalds'. As soon as I can, of course, I am going to try to pave the way for that."

Rather inconvenient, Constance repeated to herself a little blankly. Pave the way—

There was more. . . . The Thorvald family consisted, besides Ernest Thorvald and his daughter, of a son, a year or so younger than his sister. "A good deal of a spoiled brat," Derek wrote.

"Hildegard is the Baron's companion and confidant, but George, I gather, is the apple of his eye. 'I shall be glad,' Derek finished, 'when I can actually get down to work. For that will mean that I can be with you much sooner in case there should be any slip-up about your following me here.'"

That last sentence gave Constance a bad night. So bad that she dreaded the next day at Bartlett's. However, the Museum would have been infinitely worse, with its barrage of pitying eyes and carefully phrased inquiries about Derek. Anne Cable, thank heaven! had gone out of town.

And at Bartlett's every one was too much concerned with his own plans and ambitions to have any interest in hers—or so she thought then.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

WRONG IDEAS OF RELIGION

Text: Mark 7:1-13.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of Advance

THIS lesson deals with about as large a task as could anywhere be faced—that of correcting wrong ideas of religion.

The more we study the work and teachings of Jesus, the more we must realize that this was very largely what He had to do. He pointed out again and again that He had not come to destroy but to fulfill, and that He was not so much offering a new teaching as endeavoring to bring home to men the realities of the truth concerning God and man that they had failed to put into practice in daily life and relationships.

What were the wrong ideas of religion that Jesus endeavored to correct? There was, first of all, the idea that religion consisted of outward and external things and insistence upon forms and rituals. Even so important a matter as cleanliness in washing the hands, Jesus found the same thing in exacting in His day in relation to the demands of the Jewish religion. The finest teachings and ideals had been set aside by conventional practice that modified or ignored them.

But Jesus was not content simply to correct wrong ideas of religion. Rather, perhaps, we could say that He corrected wrong ideas of religion by asserting true ideas of religion and by making plain and simple, for will and conscience, the two great commandments concerning love to God and love toward one's neighbor.

in bowing down in professed obedience, that the true worship of God is found.

In the third place, Jesus insisted upon the difference between truth and tradition. The fact that a thing had been long taught and practiced did not make it true. The truth of religion had to be tested by something higher than that.

In the fourth place, Jesus was insistent that the real requirements of religion—that is, the demands of honesty and love—could not be set aside by some formal code of practice. We have learned in our modern world how even good laws can be nullified by non-observance or non-enforcement. A few years ago, the nations joined in a pact against war; yet we have seen how nations that entered into the pact can be engaged in actual war, though by avoidance of the declaration of war they profess—technically, at least—that they are not breaking the pact. Jesus found the same thing in exacting in His day in relation to the demands of the Jewish religion. The finest teachings and ideals had been set aside by conventional practice that modified or ignored them.

But Jesus was not content simply to correct wrong ideas of religion. Rather, perhaps, we could say that He corrected wrong ideas of religion by asserting true ideas of religion and by making plain and simple, for will and conscience, the two great commandments concerning love to God and love toward one's neighbor.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
NEA Service Staff Writer

SOME like their curry hot. Others want it to taste like something else. Here's a good compromise—round steak with a mild mock curry sauce. Inexpensive and tastes like an India love lyric when served with a mound of steamed rice.

Curried Round Steak
(Serves 4 to 6)

One and one-half pounds of ground round steak, 1 medium onion, 1-2 clove garlic, 1-2 teaspoon ground ginger, 1 tablespoon curry powder, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 1-2 cup cubed raw apple, salt and pepper.

Chop onion and garlic. Heat butter in large saucepan. Add brown. Add ginger and curry powder and chopped meat. Stir meat continually until it is thoroughly browned. Slowly stir in milk. Simmer 1-2 hour. Add cubed apples and sift in flour. Simmer another 15 minutes, adding more milk if necessary. Add salt and pepper after removing from stove. Pass a small bowl of coarsely chopped peanuts with the curry.

Here's another variation of a well known kitchen theme. It cuts costs without cutting any joy out of living.

Beef Liver in Casserole
(Serves 4 to 6)

One and one-half pounds beef liver, 1-8 pound salt pork, 1 large onion, 3 large carrots, 2 stalks celery, 1 cup medium sour cream, salt, pepper, cayenne, flour

Slice onion, carrots and celery. Cut liver into 8 pieces. Soak liver in salted cold water for 1-2 hours. Drain and then rinse in ice water. Drain and dry. Roll in flour. Fry liver in bacon fat until browned on both sides. Arrange slices in casserole and scatter salt, pepper over them. Cover liver and salt pork with the vegetables. Sprinkle with seasonings. Dust lightly with flour. Add just enough boiling water to cover. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until liver is tender, about 1 1/2 hours. Stir in sour cream, mix well, and bake another 10 or 15 minutes. Have a few fat baked potatoes on hand to help you celebrate.

Monday's Menu
BREAKFAST: Sliced bananas and sliced fresh apples, brown sugar and cream, hominy muffins, crisp bacon, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Tomato juice, corned beef hash, poached egg, Boston brown bread, baked apple, tea, milk.
DINNER: Curried round steak, chopped peanuts, steamed brown rice, green peas, lettuce and grapefruit salad, strawberry Bavarian, coffee, milk.

Guest Artist Declared Outstanding Dramatic Reader by 80 Members

For quite a while William Dyer Moore, a member of the foreign language department at C. I. A. Denton, has been receiving much attention due to his personal appearances at all outstanding club organizations throughout Texas. Thursday afternoon Mr. Moore paid his initial visit to Ranger, as honor guest of the 1920 club, whose pleasure it was to act as hostess to the Thursday club of Eastland, observed as annual Friendship day.

Guests were greeted at the head of the stairs before entering the Colonial room. Gholson hotel, where the splendid program was offered eighty women, all active members of Ranger and Eastland clubs. The speaker was graciously introduced by Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, a past president of the hostess club. His beautiful dramatic reading was taken from the book, "Southwestern Knights and Romance," and reading titled, "A Knight of New France." Not for long and long has a program presentation been accepted with much apparent praise and appreciation.
