SLAYER GETS OUT OF STATE INSANE WARD

AUSTIN, April 16.—Howard Pierson, 23, insane slayer of his parents, Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. William Pierson, was at large today after escaping Friday night from Apatin State Hospital.

A search was maintained in Central Texas.

Pierson was confined in a new ward building at the Austin asylum and officials believed that he obtained or made a key, because a door he must have used to escape was locked Saturday morning.

His absence was not discovered until morning. His bed was occupied so it appeared to be occupied.

The youth was placed in the hospital shortly after a sanity trial which prevented his trial on murder charges following the shooting of his parents on April 24, 1937.

Chairman Claude Teer of the Board of Control said that only recently he had been advised that Pierson was getting along nicely, "was quiet but apparently took no interest in anything."

Candy Thief Pays Debt After Period Of 20 Years Passes

The letter, signed, read: "Find enclosed 10 cents to make restitution for a piece or two of candy that was taken from your car at the Whitefield church over 20 years ago. A bunch of boys were in the car and got into the candy and I happened to be amongst them. It was converted a few years ago and God requires restitution in all things."

THIRD STATION IN EASTLAND IS ROBBED OF CASH

An automobile radio valued at $25 and $28.96 in cash was taken at 1 o'clock Saturday morning by a masked hi-jacker at the Lucas Service Station on East Main street in Eastland.

Joe Jackson, attendant, reported the man approached by foot and demanded the money. The hi-jacker was armed with a pistol.

After taking the money Jackson complied with a command that he enter a rear room. The inside knob of the door was taken off and Jackson told not to attempt to leave for an hour and a half. He complied with the command.

The Lucas filling station robbery marked the fifth for this county in recent weeks. Only recently were the Cosden and Lambert service stations in Eastland robbed by a masked man. Shortly after the Cosden and Lambert cases two stations in Cisco were robbed by a masked person.

Jackson stated that the handkerchief with which the hi-jacker was masked made it difficult to study his features.

QUICK ACTION UPON RECOVERY BILL, PLANNED

WASHINGTON, April 16.—President Roosevelt's congressional leaders today prepared for quick action next week to jump through legislation needed to make the new $4,512,000,000 recovery drive effective and match rapid fire moves by executive agencies in the drive against depression and unemployment.

The Easter recess delayed congressional action until next week but executive agencies, under orders from Mr. Roosevelt swung their departments into high gear to put the program into effect.

The Federal Reserve Board and Securities and Exchange Commission provided facilities to extend fast new credits for business.

PWA Administrator Harold Ickes announced approval of 58 allocations for school construction in 27 states.

A report of the WPA showed that relief rolls reached a new 1938 high during the week ending April 9. Relief recipients then totaled 2,504,479.

Meanwhile Chairman John O'Connor of New York, of the House rules committee, appealed to his members to help get floor consideration of the new wage-hour bill, but met opposition from southern congressmen who blocked the original measure.

A bitter contest in congress also was predicted over the President's proposal for legislation permitting federal taxation of the securities and payrolls of state governments.

Supporters of each began plans for demonstrations.

Thompson was in high spirits after the reception given his opening address at Waco April 12. He was elated also in getting oil companies to pledge not to discriminate against Texas fields in favor of Louisiana.

McCraw remained politically idle this week, but W. J. (Dick) Holt, his first assistant attorney general, followed three other assistants in resigning to campaign for their chief.

The Cross

By Dora Byron

His cross was but A common thing Of cypress wood. Upon a tired hill, Desolate, it stood:

And yet its arms have reached from sea to sea. Arms so strong that they have set man free; And love so bright burning long ago Changed the cross to gold with its glow.

My cross sometimes is a weary thing, Too hard to bear, A tiny ugly thing; It floods my life in hopeless care; But with His love I, too, will make That cross of gold, And pour the dark Tear-stained wood Into His mould. My cross can never Stretch its arms From sea to sea, But it can raise My heart to God, And set me free.

Many Children at Oil Belt Meeting Due by Dismissals

School children by hundreds are expected to attend the fourth annual Oil Belt Safety conference Friday, May 6, at Eastland, according to information received by Director General H. J. Tanner.

In a letter from W. T. Walton, Ranger school superintendent, it was stated that likely the schools would be dismissed one-half day so that children may attend the meeting.

Already word had been received that Eastland schools and county rural schools would close to enable children to attend the meeting.

Word War Looms Over Registration Of Texas Engineers

AUSTIN, April 16.—A merry war of words is threatened in Texas because of its latest registration law for the engineering profession.

The professional engineers want the operators of locomotives and attendants of stationary engines to be known as "engineers."

If the professional engineers want to distinguish themselves from the general run of engineers the locomotive and stationary engine operators retort, they ought to choose a less general term.

The situation was heightened this week when the Texas State Board for Professional Engineers sent out a notice including a bald statement that the law makes it illegal for any person to call himself an engineer unless he is registered by the board.

Close reading of the act together with its exemptions makes it a question whether the broad statement of the registration board's letter would be followed by the courts. Another complication arises because there already exists a distinction between the term "engineer" and "engineer" in titles of railroad brotherhood organizations. And in section 2 of the act uses the term "professional engineer" rather than "engineer."

BRITAIN AND ITALY INITIAL A NEW TREATY

Great Britain and Italy initiated an agreement of friendship Saturday, presenting a new promise of peace in a world that found major wars raging in Spain and China on Easter.

European statesmen believed the British-Italian accord was one of the most important advances toward peace in several years. It was believed France might be included later, crippling further the Rome-Berlin axis.

The treaty led the way to British recognition of Italy's Ethiopian conquest and in return Italy promised to respect Great Britain's "lifeline" through the Mediterranean and Red Seas. The treaty was only initiated Saturday, but will be signed, formally, when Mussolini withdraws his troops from Spain and England insures league of Nation's recognition of the Ethiopian conquest. Italy promised to seek no domination in Spain.

Initials were affixed by the British Ambassador and Italian Foreign Minister.

Chinese led by Christian General Chiang Kai-Shek, chose Easter as the time for a great offensive, following recent defeats of the Japanese in Shantung Province. A "Good Friday" Chinese battalion claimed they had bottled up 10,000 Japanese at Yashien, Gen. Chiang broadcast to the contrary on "why I believe in Jesus Christ" Saturday night.

Unemployed Fund Receives $1,500,000

AUSTIN, Tex.—Into Texas' checking account for the unemployed this year has gone $1,500,000, transferred from the Trust fund in Washington for issuance of jobless checks. From $1,270,085.44 of this amount, checks to about 45,900 people have been issued. The number of weekly checks received by an unemployed man varies according to his previous work record. 147,200 checks in average amount of $8.75, have been issued.

Of the 85,887 claimants for benefits, 51,644 have been declared eligible for Unemployment Compensation and checks have been mailed them. Some 17,900 have already received all weekly benefits for which they qualify.

At present the number of applicants being paid in full are nearly equalling the number of new applicants.

Despite the one and one-half million withdrawn, the Trust Fund has steadily increased during the past three months. It stood at $19,463,744.84 on January 1 when benefit payments became payable. Today it stands at $23,215,877.81, an increase of $3,900,132.97, notwithstanding the money withdrawn for the checking account.

This large increase is due because many employers who were delinquent in their state taxes paid in full during January to receive the 90 per cent credit allowed on the Federal taxes.

Under the terms of the Federal Social Security Act, this money would go to the United States, instead of Texas, if Texas had no Unemployment Compensation Act.

Since there is a State Act, the Federal government collects one-ninth of that the state collects, and pays all administrative expenses of the state act. The state-collected taxes go into the Texas jobless fund in Washington and can be paid only to unemployed Texans who qualify under the act.

Preacher Refuses Aid For His Son A Second Time

DALLAS, April 16.—For the second time in two years, Rev. J. M. Hart refused to let one of his sons receive medical treatment for a fractured skull.

Hart's son, Billy Joe, 13, was taken to an emergency hospital after being knocked off his bicycle by an automobile. Doctors said he had a fractured skull, right hand and spinal injury.

But his parents refused to let him be taken to a general hospital and called an ambulance to take him home.

Doctors said the boy had only a slight chance to recover without medical treatment.

The parents called attention to a similar injury to Billy Joe's brother, Ralph, a year ago. Ralph also was hit by a car. His skull and collar bone were broken.

His devout parents, accompanied by fellow church members, held prayer meetings at the Hart home and the boy recovered.

Words on War to Give One Pause

The gravity of developments in Europe and the Far East as threats of a serious nature to our own security sometimes seems to increase or diminish in intensity according to the person one reads about.

Little wonder that the public mind falls into the habit of skimming as lightly and casually over articles of significance on international affairs as it does over the various contradictory pronouncements on the real nature of the warfare of the future.

On an exceedingly rare occasion a man whose personality and background are such as to compel exceptional attention to his words in that particular situation arises and gives a whole people pause with the thing he has to say.

It is likely that Senator George W. Norris' words on naval defense and the ambitions of other nations are commanding some attention. Senator Norris on another subject might not command it.

"I feel bound to keep our country armed to an extent greater than Japan is armed or greater than either Italy or Germany is armed," he says, although he adds his opinion that the present pending naval construction bill is "unreasonably large."

Senator Norris, who was one of the six senators who voted against the entry of the United States into the World War, and who is no alarmist, says: "To me it seems almost as if these nations (Japan, Italy, Germany) have gone wild and have lost all sense of decency and honor."

It seems to me, no matter how we feel or what we think, we must make reasonable preparations, at least, to meet such a contingency.

The "contingency" referred to the bombing of civilian populations.

The electric horse on which Calvin Coolidge used to exercise now turns up in a health club for tired business men. This is in the nature of a Republican get-together.

As the Spanish war approaches its end, the only thing puzzling observers is who will be left to be taxed to reconstruct the country if there is anything left worth reconstructing.

H. V. Davenport Makes Statement Upon Candidacy

Weekly Sunday School Lesson THE TEST OF LOYALTY Text: Mark 9:2-10

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

THE story of the transfiguration of Jesus is very remarkable, even in a New Testament that tells us remarkable things.

We have the portrayal of Jesus as He preached to the multitudes and as they thronged upon Him, not only to hear His words but also to see His wonderful works.

But here, even from the inner circle of twelve, we have Jesus taking three of the disciples—Peter, James, and John—and bringing them up onto a high mountain, where they had an experience that must have strengthened their faith and in some ways changed their whole lives.

Peter, always the ready spokesman, was so overwhelmed by the vision that in his eagerness, he exclaimed, "Master, it is good for us to be here; and let us make three tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elijah."

These conditions I have tried to maintain at all times. Keeping these facts in mind, and if you desire an honest and efficient administration of your affairs, I respectfully solicit your vote in the coming primary, renewing my pledge to you of an honest, courteous and efficient administration.

Christian Science SERVICES

Sunday School, 9:45 a. m. Morning worship, 11 a. m. Wednesday, testimonial service, 8 a. m. Public cordially invited.

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 17.

The Golden Text is: "I and my Father are one" (John 10:30). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ."

For through Him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father" (Ephesians 2:18, 19). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Atonement is the exemplification of man's unity with God, whereby man reflects divine Truth, Life, and Love" (page 18).

A. L. (Aaron) Stiles Statement Upon His Candidacy

In announcing my candidacy for Commissioner of Precinct No. 1, I desire to state, in the outset, that I have never before asked for a public office, therefore, if elected, I will have no political pretensions to favor or political enemies to punish.

In view of the fact that I have lived in the County and Precinct for thirty-one years, I am very deeply interested in the welfare and progress of both. During the last twenty years of my life, I have been engaged in business in Ranger during which time I have closely studied and carefully observed what I considered to be the needs of our county and precinct.

Past presidents of the sixth district who will be present at the convention are: Mrs. Sam Butler, Eastland, resolutions; Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, Ranger, education in institutions of higher learning; Mrs. J. J. Butts, Cisco, war veterans; Mrs. John Perry, Sweetwater, American home; Mrs. H. D. Broadbent, Colorado, home extension; Mrs. J. B. Smith, San Angelo, club houses; Mrs. Frank Friend, San Angelo, scholarship and loans.

Sixth district chairman from Eastland county are: Mrs. Lee Burkhead, Rising Star, farm relief; Mrs. Ellen Oldham, Gorman federation pin; Mrs. F. M. Kenney, Eastland, finance; Mrs. William Reagan, Cisco, institutes and forums; Mrs. Mattie Henry, Desdemona, program extension; Mrs. Art Johnson, Eastland, revision; Mrs. James Horton, Eastland, scholarship and loans; Mrs. G. B. Kelly, Cisco, transportation; Mrs. J. W. Ducker, Ranger, education in institutions of higher learning; Mrs. C. R. West, Cisco, Texas writers; Mrs. W. B. Collier, Eastland, legislation; Mrs. E. Roy Townsend Eastland, public health.

If elected your commissioner, it shall be my constant endeavor, in co-operation with the other members of the Court, to conduct, at all times, the affairs of the county and precinct on a business basis. Furthermore, I believe that the business of the county should be handled on the most economical basis possible.

The precinct, also, has many thousand dollars invested in road machinery and equipment which investment should be protected. In my opinion, this could best be done by employing operators who are conscientious, efficient and experienced, which I would earnestly endeavor to do.

Pampa Is Planning A Fiesta In June By United Press PAMPA, Texas—This city's annual Top o' Texas Fiesta will be staged June 9 and 10, Chairman R. B. Allen announced. Allen stressed that the fiesta was not a local affair, but was planned as an observance for the entire Texas Panhandle.

precinct would permit. Furthermore, it shall be my policy to employ Eastland County men, and will insist that those so employed be sober, honest and patriotic. It is my purpose to maintain two crews, one of which will be located and work out of Eastland and the other at Ranger, thereby making it possible to give each part of the precinct the same consideration and service.

Nebraska Oil Boom Bubbles Into Nothing

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb. — No since the capture of two alleged killers by this town's mite of a sheriff, Homer Sylvester, has the population been all agog. For about 24 hours Plattsmouth residents dreamed of becoming the center of the first Nebraska oil field.

One day, a tenant farmer and the owner of the land excitedly came to town with samples of oil they discovered bubbling up from the ground in an alfalfa patch.

But after investigation the dream was shattered. Years ago the owner of the place had dug two large cisterns into which oil was placed for use in smudge pots to save fruit trees. It was supposed the cisterns had broken and the oil bubbled to the surface.

Social Happenings Lend Color To Gay Easter Day Parade

There's been a rush of pre-Easter gaiety lending much color to the social calendar and Easter parade in full swing today. The limelight centers on two prominent happenings, a wedding of Saturday night, and one at high noon today.

Thursday afternoon a bridal shower held at the handsome home of Mrs. Nannie Walker, South Marston street, paid compliment to Miss Doris Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mitchell, whose marriage took place at First Baptist church high noon today. She became the bride of Mr. R. V. Robinson, with the Rev. Mr. Talley officiating. Sharing honors with Mrs. Walker, house hostess, were Mmes. Doc Reuser, Felton Brashear, Colonel Brashear, Ross

Hodges, Hugh Russell and Bob Hodges.

A beautiful profusion of spring's fragrant blossoms were used in decorations. Pansies nestled in soft clusters vied with bouquets of roses entwined in fern sprays and green fronds.

Miss Mildred Fern Mitchell, sister of the bride, presided at the bride's book, a lovely gift from her sister-in-law, Mrs. Weaver Abshman.

The coffee table was a picture of rare beauty, centered with a silver boat filled with radiance roses. Silver and crystal made complete the appointments. Mrs. R. C. Carville presided over the handsome service.

Music was furnished during the calling hours by three of Ranger's violinists, Miss Muri Dean Murrell, Polly Packwood and Billy Ross Hodges. Such fitting and beloved compositions as "I Love You Truly," "At Dawning," and "Sunshine of Your Smile," were rendered.

The gift room was presided over by hostesses and mother of the bride, Mrs. Lee Mitchell.

The popular bride-elect has been feted with a series of courtesies, among them an informal tea given at the home of hostess Mrs. Homer Smith, during the week passed. Guest list was made up of close friends of the honoree. Those calling Thursday were:

CAST OF CHARACTERS
SAVIE WILKINSON, heroine; she is a young girl.
ISOBEL PORTER, traveler; she sought a mate.

Yesterday Mrs. O'Hara accused Joyce of cheating in a ship's game and Joyce can almost hear the curious whippers behind her back.

CHAPTER X

THE rain stopped early on Friday morning and toward 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when the Empress sailed into the lovely harbor of Havana, the weather was perfect. Morro Castle, a gleaming white fortress, stood silhouetted against a cloudless sky of blue, and as the waves washed up against the rocks the sunlight was caught in tiny rainbows in the spray.

Here in Havana the Empress was anchored nearer the dock than it had been in Bermuda, and the ride across the harbor was short. They found car No. 27, assigned to them, where a beaming young Cuban named Adolph offered himself as their chauffeur-guide. Dick got in with the girls and Mrs. Porter. Neither the doctor nor Mr. Gregory planned to join the party, and Joyce wondered absentmindedly whether Mr. Gregory had been successful in finding another agreeable companion.

"I suppose the first stop is Sloppy Joe's," Dick asked merrily. "Of course," Mrs. Porter's voice lacked enthusiasm. "That's the first place every American dashes for, as soon as a boat touches Havana. Unfortunately."

"Why unfortunately?" "It makes things so difficult for me, Richard. The drinks are strong, and Americans must always try new concoctions which they cannot stand."

Adolph drove expertly around the narrow streets, where sidewalks were no more than two feet wide, where every corner was a blind corner. But it did not matter; he had a good horn and he enjoyed it. So apparently did every other chauffeur in Havana. The city was a bedlam of auto horns.

"Sloppy Joe's they stopped," said Joyce stared in obvious disappointment. This place was famous from New York to Miami, but except for its size and its restaurants, it looked for all the world like an orange drink stand on a Broadway corner.

"What'll we have, Joyce?" Dick asked brightly, as they found a table. Isobel answered for her. "Let's have a Plinkers' Punch. They're fine here."

So Joyce, too, cast in her lot, and four Plinkers' Punches came along. Now other groups from the ship were arriving, and Sloppy Joe's faded into the familiar background of the ship's smoking room. It was easy to laugh and forget one's inhibitions and become a part of this gay, tempestuous city.

All too soon Mrs. Porter urged them on. "It's after 10 o'clock, and we should be at the Jai Alai games."

Isobel frowned. "Oh, mother, we don't want to sit there for hours! You run on along and we'll have one more drink and join you."

"Yes, why don't you, Mrs. Porter?" Dick encouraged, too. "Adolph can return for us."

She hesitated, but only for an instant. "All right, then," she conceded. "But only one more drink."

Dick laughed. "Only one!" he assured her. But it was almost midnight before they drew up in front of the stadium, and the last game was almost finished. Joyce glimpsed a quick vision of a sport that was a combination of tennis and handball, where the players used a long, curved racket, strapped to their wrists, and reminding one of the tenacious claw of some huge bird of prey. And then the game was over.

Outside, Adolph waited to drive them out to the famous Casino, where fortunes were made and lost on the spin of a roulette wheel.

INSIDE the Casino, Joyce knew instantly that here was the spirit of Cuba. Here were the beautiful women she had dreamed of, glamorous and dark-eyed, queenly in their grace; here were the proud and gallant men, the light of conquest smoldering deep within their eyes. Here they came for their amusement, to win or lose, it mattered not. Life was an adventure, gay and reckless and romantic.

Soon Mrs. Porter left to join old friends, and Isobel was carried off by a dark-eyed young man who spoke of meeting her on a previous trip.

They played for many minutes, and Joyce watched the pile of chips dwindle slowly in front of her. It frightened her to see $10, $20, disappear in so futile a fashion, and she thought of Aunt Martha's frugal warnings. But when she tried to beg off, Dick urged her on, adding chips in his own pocket to her stack.

Then, quite astonishingly, she won. Dick patted her shoulder in spirited approval as the croupier swept the money toward her. Wide-eyed, she stared at the incredible pile. She'd won at least four times the number she had started with!

New, buoyed by her success, she played eagerly. She could lose lots of chips now and still be ahead. . . .

WHILE she placed her bets, all attention now to the numbers in front of her, Mrs. Porter came up quietly behind the crowd and beckoned Dick.

"It's that Mr. O'Hara again," she whispered tragically. "Won't you help me, Richard, please?" "Of course," he leaned over Joyce's shoulder, murmuring a hasty excuse.

Joyce did not look up until after the play. Then Mrs. Porter was out of sight, but she did see Dick disappear into the bar. She felt a quick and unreasoning disappointment that he would leave her in a place like this, for another drink.

Perhaps it was half an hour later, perhaps more, and her winnings were increasing steadily, but Dick had not returned. Now even her success at roulette was a bitter thing. Dick Hamilton, whom she had admired more than any other man she had ever known, was back there at the bar, drinking himself silly. And Isobel Porter, most likely, was with him!

A moment later, her suspicions were justified. One of the waiters from the bar came to the table and asked for her. In his broken English he tried to explain: "Sorry, the senior, he is—what you call sleeping. Too much—you know?"

Yes, she knew. She rose from the table and cashed in her chips. Dully she watched the bills counted out for her. Two hundred dollars! Well, sometimes it cost more than that to discover what a man was like. . . . She picked up her things and left the Casino. Adolph would drive her back to the ship. If she could not find him, there were other chauffeurs. Money did not matter now!

THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—The spring primaries are almost upon us and betwixt a now and late September the voters and the politicians will nominate candidates for the entire House of Representatives, a third of the Senate seats and governorships in 33 states.

Democratic primaries are exciting the most interest, since they involve Mr. Roosevelt's influence on Congress and to a large degree the control of delegates to the 1940 convention.

The White House desire to chasten its conservative opponents, save the skins of its loyal favorites and replace anti-New Dealers with pro-Roosevelt men is involved in various contests and in the campaign year wears on one is likely to hear of sporadic attempts at Republican-Democratic coalition.

Here's an outline of primary fights to be settled in the near future:
ILLINOIS, April 12: Gov. Henry Horner is backing Congressman Scott Lucas against U. S. District Attorney Mike Igoe, who is supported by the Kelly-Nash machine of Chicago.

FLORIDA, May 3: Senator Claude Pepper, considered to be one of the few southern New Dealers in Congress, is opposed for renomination by Congressman J. Mark W. Fox at former Gov. Dave Shelz. Nomination is equivalent to election.

SOUTH DAKOTA, May 3: Here's the first state in which Republicans are conceded a fair chance to unseat a Democratic senator. The senator is Democrat Caldwell Herbert E. Hitchcock, who has voted consistently with the administration and is opposed by Congressman Fred Hildebrandt, former railway conductor and member of the House Progressive bloc.

Harder is a popular favorite in Cleveland, where he has pitched with great success for 10 years. But Viti's biggest worry is the Indians' defense in the field, as he easily could sacrifice Harold Pitting is the Tribe's strongest department, with Algy, Alvin, Bob, Felix, Demmie, Calhoun, William Hudlin, Johnny Humphreys, Al Milnar, Earl Whitehill, and Joe Helwig.

McNair, a converted shortstop, had his finest season in 1937 hitting 290. His reporting late gave John Cronin an opportunity to take a better look at Bobby Doerr, the San Diego recruit who sat on the bench practically all of last season. Doerr, Felipe, the most of the chance. Cronin believes the youngster merits considerable attention.

G. Alfred Brown, Pastor
"Good News" will be the theme at the Easter morning service at the First Methodist Church. This will be the last of the series of Consecration Week sermons by the pastor, and the latter part of the service will be given to the reception of members into the church. There will also be special music by the choir.

The choir will have complete charge of the Evening Service, beginning at 7:45, and will present the beautiful Easter Cantata, "Immortality." Needless to say, weeks of work have gone into the preparation of this service, everyone is invited, and large numbers are expected to take advantage of this unusual opportunity.

AN APPRECIATION

At this writing it is too soon to know whether or not the weather will be propitious for the sunrise Easter service at Seepie Point this morning, but it is not too soon to express our thanks to our Heavenly Father for Easter Day, and all that it means to our souls. Christ is risen, and we glory in all that it promises to humanity.

To all who had part in making this early morning service possible, we extend thanks. Our mayor, Hall Walker, in the last few days, has worked faithfully to make it a success. He contacted the mayors of other cities and had them join in official proclamation; He visited these towns and secured larger cooperation by the papers at his own expense; he had printed handbills for distribution in Ranger and other towns, and Boy Scouts carried them around.
We are grateful to Mr. Don Minnick for leading the united choir; to Prof. Lynn Tulloch for the trumpeters; to Mr. Herbert Rapp for painting the sign, and Mr. Steele for putting it up; to Prof. Lynn Tulloch for securing 200 copies of the program and songs; to Mr. Guy Quin for the use of his amplifier and loud speaker; to Chief Murphy for parking the cars properly, and to all others who had any part in promoting the great occasion. It is confidently expected that this will become an annual affair, and that next year thousands may gather here for glorious Easter sunrise celebration equal to the best in Texas.

Attends Convention

D. L. Jameson, Ranger agent for Southwestern Life Insurance company, who has returned from the annual convention at San Antonio, is enthusiastic over the prospect for big business in 1938.

Jameson Enthused Over Convention of Southwestern Agents

D. L. Jameson, who has just returned from San Antonio, where he attended the Southwestern Life Insurance company convention, with headquarters at the Gunter hotel, is enthusiastic in his praise of the convention.

Jameson states that the convention has grown into a grand homecoming and inspirational meeting, where everyone feels at home. The speaking, music, dancing and banquet are managed by officials of the company in such a way that one forgets the hard plodding for a time and comes away with new ideas and inspirations and a resolution to be at the 1939 convention, to be held at Colorado Springs.

Jameson also says C. F. O'Donnell, president of the company reports that due to the continued satisfactory earnings of Southwestern Life's investments, the rate of excess interest allowed on proceeds of maturing policies left with the company will be one-half of one per cent during 1938, making a total of four per cent paid, three and one-half per cent being
