Wreck Weather Coming

Summer approaches, the pulse of nature quickens, life begins, and shortly the country's motorists will start slowing up one another's pulses and ending their lives.

Traffic cops know that good weather breeds bad accidents. The safest time to take a spin is at the height of a rainstorm or the tag end of a good thick blizzard. Most people are more than ordinarily cautious then. When the sun comes out and the roads dry off, everybody does a little relaxing, lets it out, and turns his car into a kind of traveling nut house.

The season, therefore, is ripe for taking stock . . . of your own assets and liabilities as a driver, the ones that appear to be those of the average driver you encounter, and those of your car as something to entrust your life to.

How long it will take to make the nation's highways as safe as its sidewalks nobody cares to guess, but the problems of traffic have never commanded such concerted, countrywide study as they are now receiving. National organizations, community groups, city, county, state, and federal officials are going after satisfactory solutions from every conceivable angle.

Highway improvement is one idea. The chairman of Connecticut's Highway Safety Commission has recently expressed a hope, as have others, for compulsory car inspection prior to any transfer of ownership of a second-hand automobile. The imposition of driving tests and other examinations on license applicants is growing.

A Chicago traffic court judge has gone to the extent of having traffic law violators examined by psychiatrists, and induced to take treatments whose purpose is the correction of the "personality twists" responsible for their abnormal behavior at the wheel.

The greatest movement, and the most effective one, is the safety education campaign among children and adults. Figures on traffic deaths and injuries in cities all over the country show startling reductions where such campaigns have been pursued.

If present efforts in the direction of highway safety are kept up with continued interest, a traffic death in the future will really be news.

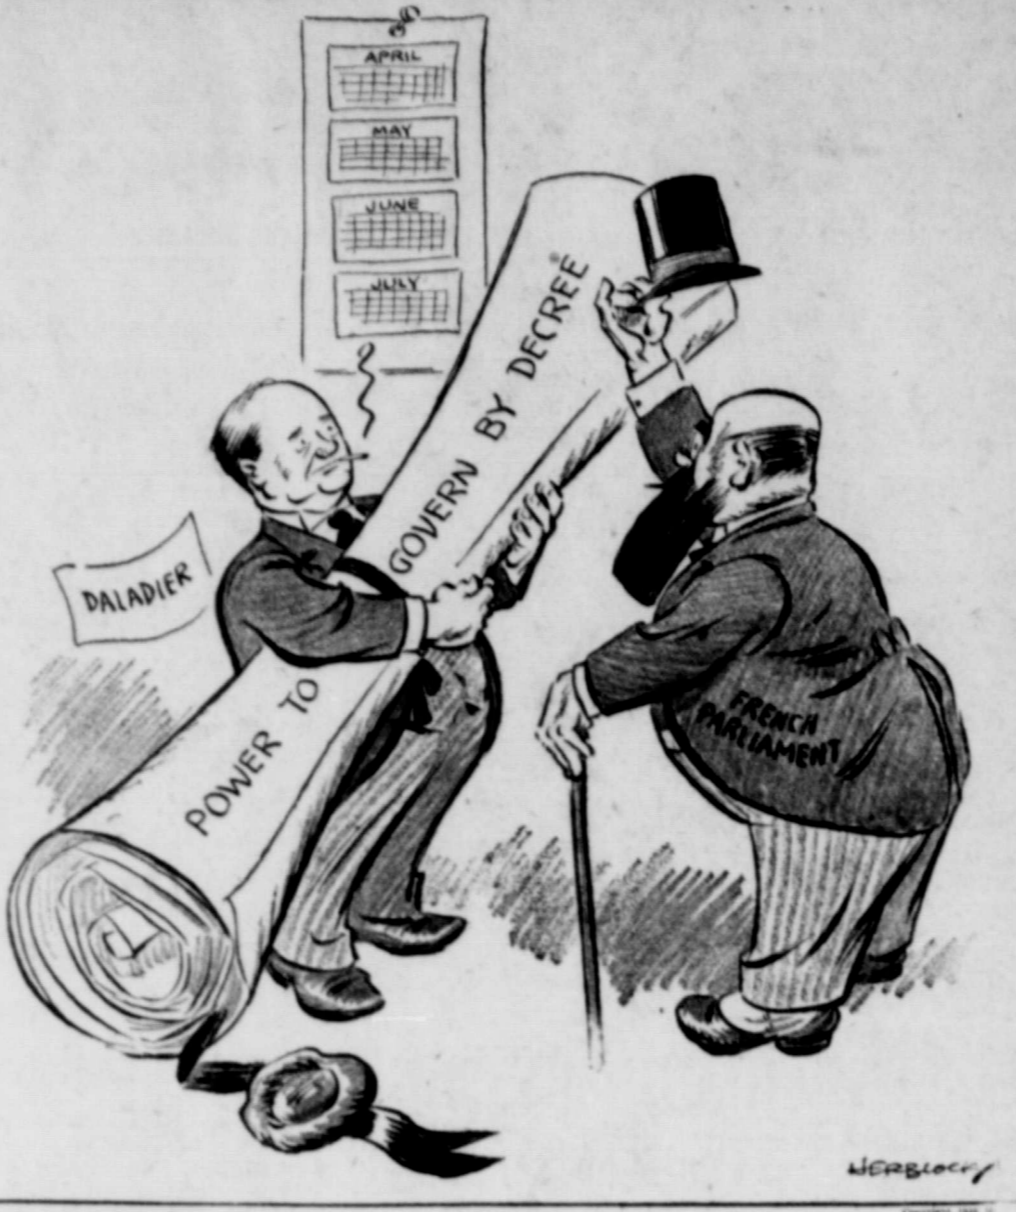

Two psychiatrists believe they have discovered that obesity is a matter of one's frame of mind. "Gosh, I'm feeling fat today; it must have been something I thought."

What do you suppose is the motto of the League of Hoboes of the World now in convention at Altoona, Pa.—"Blessed be the ties that bind" or "Spare the rods and spoil the child"?

noted artist of Eastland, played 'The Swan' by Saint Saens and 'Spanish Dance' by de Falla. Mrs. Lola Gibson Deaton, Abilene, head of the voice department of Hardin Simmons, sang 'O Sleep,' an aria from Handel's Semele, 'At Eventide,' Deaton; 'Twilight Lullaby' by Deaton. She was accompanied by Miss Louise Buckley.

A splendid address was made by Mrs. Morgan Jones of Abilene on Grecian Culture. She brought out in her talk that much of modern culture originated in ancient Greece; the Greeks gave democracy to the world; they also originated modern architecture, and also athletic contests. The Acropolis and the Parthenon are the things which lure to traveler if she is willing to undergo all the indignities and inconveniences of entering the country and traveling through it. Greece has an indescribable beauty, and its architecture has surpassing majesty even though Greece is in ruins today, because her culture was founded upon the sands.

The Sixth District assembly wishes to extend thanks and appreciation to the many who have helped make this conference a success it has been accorded. They are listed as follows: Texas Electric Service company for the lovely April Shower tea given Thursday evening on the Connellee roof; Eastland Floral for the many lovely flowers and decorations used throughout the session; the Ranger Floral for flowers and decorations used; Chamber of Commerce for the courtesy corsages presented to distinguished delegates and visitors; Eastland Music clubs, for the morning coffee and favors to board dinner guests; Wilda Dragoos for her untiring co-operation to make it a remembered convention; Rotary clubs for gladioli for the churches, Community Gas company for dinner for the executive board; Mrs. James Horton and club women of Eastland for entertainment and the Junior Thursday club for the midnight frolic held Thursday; Methodist church and Baptist church for use of buildings; Connellee hotel for use of roof garden; Maurice Harkins, who conducted singing throughout the programs, and Mrs. D. L. Kinnaird who served as pianist; the Hail Typewriter company for use of typewriters for convention reporters and the county newspaper for their generous publicity.

'Bumblebee' Plane Buzzes Into Limelight

Habitues of Floyd Bennett airport in New York rubbed their eyes the other day when this airplane without a tail appeared over the airport in its first test in the metropolitan area. Developed by James B. Taylor, Jr., who is shown in the photo examining one of the two fins which act as air brakes, the plane is of the pusher type, has a 95 h. p. engine and a propeller in the rear, and is capable of approximately 120 miles an hour top speed. Washington officials are keenly interested in the bumblebee-shaped craft, both for military reasons and because it may prove to be relatively cheap to build.

Unionizing State Employees Expected To Get Approval

AUSTIN.—Union organization of state employees probably will meet no public opposition on the part of state department heads and boards. The movement, however, will not meet with enthusiastic encouragement from most officials. Partial organization has been effected in six state departments.

Civil service rules and participation in social security benefits are the announced objects of the organization drive. Wages are not involved, the leaders say.

Civil service generally has been advocated by state department heads. Some believe it leaves the head of a department with too little control. They favor it as a means of securing uninterrupted tenure of places by employees who

Last Members of 'Buzzards' Is In Jail

LANCASTER, Pa. — Joe Buzzard, perennial outlaw, is back in jail again—this time for taking a salesman's case of left-footed tennis shoes. Joe has been "in" for offenses ranging from horse-stealing to purloining bedspreads.

Buzzard, 75, is the last of six brothers who, with about a dozen other outlaws, once ranged over three counties.

Joe's idol and mentor was his widening and deepening the Sabine-Neches waterway from Beaumont and Orange, Texas, to the Gulf of Mexico, will be put before the house of representatives.

Princess Comes Home to America on Visit

FARID KHAN SARDY, American-born princess of Persia, has returned to her native land for a short visit. The princess, the former Doris Mercer of Alabama, once was the wife of Sebastian S. Kresge, chain store millionaire.

brother, Abe, who died behind the bars of Philadelphia's Cherry Hill prison in 1935. Abe, "the best boss thief in the country" — to use Joe's characterization of his brother — once roamed from town to town in the guise of an itinerant parson. He preached fire-and-brimstone sermons until he was caught one night in a farmer's henhouse. When he was searched, the sheriff found a set of burglar's tools along with Abe's Bible, hymn book and other effects.

If Joe completes his present stretch he will have spent about one-third of his life in jail.

Have You Ever Seen This Man?

Anyone who could identify the picture of the youthful navy man, above, would give Cleveland detectives a great boost in their efforts to solve the city's four-year series of 11 baffling "torso murders." The photo was found in a house once occupied by a 56-year-old man being held as a suspect. Police said the picture bore marked resemblance to one of the unidentified victims of the mad killer. The house also contained furnishings which appear in a picture of another victim, Edward Andrasny.

Parachute Jump to Feature Air Show At Local Airport

An air circus, with a parachute jump as one of the features, is to be staged at the local airport Sunday, April 24. It was announced here today by advance agents of the show.

Raymond Fitzgerald will be featured as the parachute jumper, with Pop Bloss and Bobbie Hardin will take up passengers. They will fly a Ryan cabin plane and a Travelair.

The public is invited to be present, and to ride with these experienced pilots, who have taken up thousands of passengers without a mishap.

The members of the Dramatics club and their guests hiked to a nearby roadside park Wednesday afternoon. Each person carried his lunch in hobo style, tied up in red bandanas, supported by sticks. They then went by the drug store where Mrs. Hunter bought each a cold drink.

The following members went on the hike: Fay Norris, Verna Norris, Melba Morgan, Nona Faye Plumley, Grace Jones, Buena Berry, Ellen Pockrus, Drucilla Perry, Mary Frances Ready, Mary Elizabeth Pickett, Joe Jane Griffith, Alvia Wood, Barcus Coalson, Carl Eakin, and Mrs. Hunter, sponsor. The guests were Reid Hunter, Mary Rose O'Neill and Mr. Blaylock.

Department Store Sales In Texas Are Better Than Nation

AUSTIN.—Texas continues to make a far better showing in retail sales than the nation as a whole, according to the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. Aggregate sales, as measured in dollars, during March of a representative group of department stores, dry goods and apparel stores, men's and women's specialty stores were only slightly below those of the corresponding month last year, and exceeded those of February by almost the normal seasonal amount, the report said.

Reports from 106 retail establishments showed total dollar sales during March of only 2.4 per cent below those of the like month last year, while the increase over February was 21.6 per cent. The fact that Easter came in March last year whereas this year it came in April lends further optimism to the current showing.

Cities in which March sales and sales during the first three months made more favorable comparisons than the state average with the corresponding periods last year were Lubbock, Dallas and Austin.

11 Million Boxes of Lumber Statistics Grapefruit Shipped Are More Favorable

By United Press
WESLACO, Texas.—Grapefruit shipments from the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas through April 9, totaled 11,663,320 boxes, according to figures of the grower's industry committee.

Total disposal included 6,414,023 boxes which went into fresh fruit channels, 4,823,297 boxes which went into by-products and about 140,000 boxes disposed of through express or charity shipments or dumped as culls.

There remains about 150,000 boxes of fruit to be moved, on the basis of latest estimates of the committee's estimating division.

High north winds during the week previous to April 9, badly scarred and bruised the recently set young crop of 1938-39 grapefruit and would undoubtedly cause a "very material lowering of the grade," the committee's report said.

AUSTIN.—Lumber statistics during March were slightly more favorable than during the preceding month but were well below those of the like month last year, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research has announced.

Reports from the Southern Pine Association show average weekly production per unit, 278,053 board feet, a decline of 14.3 per cent from the year before, but an increase of 4.5 per cent over the preceding month; average weekly shipments per unit, 281,770 board feet, a decrease of 8.8 per cent from March last year but a gain of 2.7 per cent over February; average unfilled orders as of March 31, 576,568 board feet, a decline of 30.9 per cent from the corresponding date last year and 11.8 per cent under those at the end of the preceding month.

"Pin the Tail On the Donkey"

When you were young, you played that timeless game. Blind-folded, you weaved your way to the painted donkey on the wall, and tried to pin his tail in approximately the right position. You hit his nose, his ear, his leg—or you missed completely, and your blind stab landed on the empty wall.

Do you still "pin the tail on the donkey" when you go shopping? Do you make your purchases "bindfolded," leaving your choice to chance? That is literally the "unenlightened" method. It wastes your time, your energy, your patience—and your money.

Don't buy haphazardly. Know beforehand what to buy, and where to buy it, and how much to pay for it. Read the newspaper advertisements! Scan the shopping columns; compare prices, compare values—decide upon your bargain. Then go directly to the store which advertises it; make your purchase—and be content!

No more hit-and-miss buying when you follow the advertisements. They lift the blindfold; they make it easier to find the best values.

Easter Cruise

BY MARION WHITE
Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JOYCE MILLNER, heroine who took an Easter cruise.
DICK HAMILTON, a big one he brought into the picture.
ISOBEL PORTER, traveler who sought a mate.

Yesterday, stranded in the Haitian woods, Joyce is searching for the child to whom she had given the bracelet. A native is with her.

CHAPTER XV
The man came toward Joyce, and as he stood in front of her, she saw only in a disreputable pair of cotton trousers, his sinewy chest bare and gleaming black, he bowed, and in the simple gesture there was all the grace of an old French courtier.

"I would assist mam'selle," he said in precise French. His voice was quiet, well modulated. He might have been the college professor lecturing to his class.

Mr. Gregory stared at him in amazement, at the strange incongruity of him, the tragic, overwhelming poverty for which he knew no shame; the proud, quiet dignity which set him somewhat apart from them all.

"Merci," Joyce replied, hesitatingly, as she struggled with a long-sleeved sweater. "The sweater is broken."

Seeing the man understood her evident phrases, he turned to his daughter and gave her quick instructions, instantly she disappeared once more.

"A message," he explained to Joyce, "will be sent to the ship."

She recalled what Dr. Gray had told them about the drums, that the natives could send a message more quickly than it could be telephoned. Little, had she realized that they might have an opportunity to test the fact.

Long minutes passed, and they stood in the roadway, a grotesque assembly. Then a welcome sound echoed through the hills, the sound of an approaching automobile. In the long half hour they had been standing on the road, no other car had passed them. They waited eagerly for its headlights to appear, when he saw them the man waved his lantern as a signal. The car was coming out from the city, and Joyce watched incredulously. Had the message actually been sent?

A moment later she knew. The car drew up beside them and stopped, and the first voice she heard was Mrs. Porter's, fretful and beating.

"Where are you going out here? You've held up the ship's sailing!"

But it was Dick who jumped out of the car and came toward them.

"Good Lord, Joyce! We've been worried to death. I hunted all over Port-au-Prince for you."

She smiled happily. "The car broke down and left us stranded. Then, still doubting her eyes: 'But how did you happen to come out this way?'"

"Why, I just got back to the wharf when some young boy came running down to say that a mam'selle and a monsieur from the big ship were stuck out here."

Her eyes were wide. "I can hardly believe it!" she declared, her mind still unwilling to grasp the simple fact of such communication. "This—this gentleman sent the message for us—not more than 10 minutes ago."

Dick looked up at the stalwart Haitian, lowering over him, and as Joyce explained he listened in astonishment. Then, impulsively and heartily, he snook the man's hand. "I'm grateful to you, sir. Indeed I am." He spoke in English, but the man understood.

Mr. Gregory still chafed under the strain of the afternoon; he seemed determined to magnify the incident, until he became a poor tortured victim about whom the voodoo-worshippers were already lighting the fires of destiny.

"Halt! A filthy, horrible place," Isobel snarled him, "and I don't see why civilized people want to visit it."

She too was irritable this evening. Her lips were pushed out in their old pout, and her voice was edged with sarcasm.

"You seem to run into hard luck, Gregory," Dr. Gray observed. "You go ashore and you walk into trouble. You stay aboard to play poker while the rest of us cavort in Havana, and you lose your shirt."

Dick looked up quickly. "It wasn't as bad as all that," Gregory amended. "I only lost about $12. If I'd gone to the Casino it might have cost me 10 times that much."

Dick's mouth hardened. "You didn't go ashore in Havana?" he asked quickly. "You weren't at the Casino?" He waited intently for the man's reply.

"No, I stayed on board to play cards with the officers," Dick's eyes met Joyce's, held them for a long beseeching moment, as he began to understand how they had been deceived.

Then Isobel giggled, foolishly, breaking the heavy silence.

With an impatient gesture Dick rose and left the table.

TWO hours later, he sought Joyce out on deck, drew her over to a quiet spot alongside the rail.

"Joyce," he said penitently, "I've been a terrible fool."

"That night at the Casino," he went on, "I looked all over the place for you, until Isobel told me you'd gone off with Gregory."

"I should have, if he'd been around," she retorted with spirit.

"I certainly wouldn't wait around for an escort who preferred to spend his time in the bar..."

"Don't you remember? You left me at the table while you went into the bar; half an hour later one of the waiters came out to tell me you were unconscious."

"What? You mean to tell me that Mrs. Porter didn't explain?"

"Explain what?"

"Good Lord, Joyce, she was the one who dragged me off to the bar, to have her pick up that fool of an O'Hara. She told me that she'd explain to you."

Joyce looked off across the water, her eyes narrowing with our comprehension. "So that's it," she said. "I'm sorry, Dick..."

"Would you say," he asked a moment later, "that there's a conspiracy against us?"

"I've been thinking that Mrs. Porter doesn't altogether approve our friendship. Of course, now that you're about to become her son-in-law..."

"Wait a minute!" He looked down into her eyes. "You know I'm not in love with Isobel."

"I was standing here at the rail when the engagement was announced."

He laughed, mirthlessly. "What a prize sap I must have looked like! We had a few drinks that afternoon—drowning my sorrow at losing you, Joyce—and Isobel got the bright idea of becoming engaged. She was joking, of course."

Joyce felt an instant of triumph but she repressed the smile that tugged at her lips. So Mrs. Porter's private little dinner had fizzled out!

"Come ashore with me to Kingston, Joyce? Or is tomorrow taken up with Mr. Gregory too?"

SPORT GLANCES - - - - - By Grayson

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

NEWS from the University of Washington isn't encouraging for California and eastern crews as the all-conquering Huskies and the Golden Bears sharpen up for their initial three-mile race on Lake Washington, April 16.

This event is watched closely along the Atlantic seaboard, for out of it usually comes the Poughkeepsie winner.

Al Ulbricksen says the odds against Washington sweeping the Hudson for the third consecutive year, June 27, should be 1000 to 1.

One of the many things that make Ulbricksen a top teacher is that he isn't afraid to make changes. He recently unseated three veterans, putting Don Hume, who stroked two triumphant crews at Poughkeepsie and an Olympic winner, Capt. Gordon Adam, No. 3; and Jack White, No. 4, in the junior varsity shell.

Bad weather, a crew bugaboo, hit Washington. Conditions were perfect the early part of March. The Huskies were improving every time out. Things looked rosy, indeed, in comparison with previous years. Ulbricksen believed that he had the right combination, and began laying ground work for the tugging with California.

"BUT I wasn't figuring on the psychological slump my men were presently to undergo," says the Washington coach. "The first indication was a general lassitude, followed by successively poorer time trials. The California date kept crawling closer and closer."

Then came the unseating of the three stars. There was no result a week. Then, the trio of Olympic and Poughkeepsie heroes started showing their old form. Kerplunk! They were back in the varsity scow, where Ulbricksen knew they would wind up.

So Ulbricksen announces his 1938 varsity crew as follows: Hume, stroke; Bob Murray, No. 7; Ewen Dingwall, No. 6; Adam, No. 5; White, No. 4; Norman Turay, No. 3; John Carey, No. 2; George Chica, bow; and Johnny Rosenkranz, coxswain.

Ulbricksen feared that his crew became rusty when again handicapped by snow, hail, sleet, cold winds, rain, and choppy water.

But the 1938 Washington crew in its second three-mile test of the season bettered its previous mark by 15 seconds. Ulbricksen once more has two varsity crews, which are so evenly matched that it is difficult to choose between them. They traced a dead heat the other day.

THIS dead heat was reminiscent of a similar race between the varsity and junior varsity three days before the scramble on the Hudson last June.

That was the test that put the first crew at the proper edge to break the four-mile record at Poughkeepsie.

The Washington crews will stop at Madison en route to Poughkeepsie, and race Wisconsin over a two-mile course.

An experienced California crew finished fifth at Poughkeepsie last June, but excellent sophomore material promises to make the Bears more formidable this season. The newer hands were in the boat that finished second to the Washington pregreens on the Hudson.

And crews rarely do better than that against Washington boatloads.

APRIL and May are big party months for youngsters. Times may change but not children. Frosted cake and ice cream remain their favorite desserts.

Make it a rule to serve one hot dish for children and, if possible, a fruit juice before they crash into the sweets. For busy mothers, frosting has been simplified in the following recipes. Each one is colorful and packed with flavor, therefore guaranteed to delight the young hostess and her young guests.

Strawberry Frosting
This recipe makes enough frosting to cover two 9-inch layers or top and sides of loaf cake or about 24 cup cakes.

Two and one-half cups confectioners' (4X) sugar, 1-4 cup sweetened condensed milk, 1-4 cup fresh strawberry pulp, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Beat until smooth. Blend sifted confectioners' sugar through enough strawberries through sieve to make 1-4 cup pulp, add with lemon juice to first mixture. Beat until smooth and creamy. Cool cake before spreading frosting.

Sunshine Marshmallow Topping
Four eggs, 1-3 cup sugar, 3-4 cup pineapple juice, 1-4 pound marshmallows, 1-4 teaspoon vanilla extract.

Beat the egg yolks until light. Add the sugar slowly, while beating constantly. Then add pineapple juice. Cook at a low heat until thick (about 8 minutes). Set aside to cool slightly.

Put the marshmallows in small pieces, using a pair of scissors dipped in water. Add these and the vanilla extract to the egg yolk mixture, blend lightly, and chill. Then fold in the egg whites, beaten very stiff.

Keep in the refrigerator until ready to serve. Then place a generous spoonful of the topping over each slice of cake.

Maple Frosting
This recipe makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of two 9-inch layers or top and sides of loaf cake generously, or about 24 cup cakes.

One and one-third cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk, 1-3 cup maple syrup, 2 cups confectioners' (4X) sugar, sifted, nut meats, if desired.

Blend sweetened condensed milk and maple syrup thoroughly in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water 10 minutes, stirring occasionally until mixture thickens. Cool. Add sifted confectioners' sugar. Beat until smooth. Spread on cake. Garnish with chopped nut meats.

age turn it over to them. There are exceptions, however, as in the case of Jackie Coogan's mother. The excuse that he was a bad boy might be laid at her own doorstep since she is the one who brought him up. It is one thing to hold one's money until they become responsible but quite another to appropriate it for one's own use.

Odds and ends: People on the offense are sometimes offensive. Parents need to fight with their children, now they must fight for them. Spending money is easy if it belongs to somebody else. A difference of opinion, frequently is just a matter of which side one is on. A Dean to the Cubs sounds much like a professor to the bears. "Pump priming" may start the water flowing but it won't add to the supply.

The European situation is not the reason Kentucky plans to appoint 10 new colonels this year.

THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The big news is that the Roosevelt administration has decided to try to "spend" the country out of the depression.

The decision finally was reached by the President and WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins at Warm Springs. Further developments are rapidly unfolding.

Half a dozen plans for pumping money into the economic system, backed and press-anted by as many groups, are being pushed around in the air. There are plans for pure spending and plans for pure lending, schemes for lending in such a way that only part of the money will come back and schemes for lending so that none of it will come back.

Although mechanics of the pump-priming scheme to be recommended to Congress are not worked out, it is certain that Mr. Roosevelt will call for at least $3,000,000,000 of funds for WPA and public works.

It is not unlikely that the old PWA, whose machinery has been kept oiled for a program such as is now imminent, will be merged with WPA and that the whole works-recovery program will be co-ordinated under Hopkins. In order to get a fast start, the merged organization would begin at once on projects of both agencies which have been proposed and studied but have not been acted on because of lack of funds.

Prominence of Harry Hopkins in the Roosevelt councils and in administration of the spending program makes it certain that comprehensive if not favorable consideration will be given to a large scale housing program, under government direction and financed by government funds. Hopkins always has wanted to build houses with WPA labor.

Various ideas as to housing as a part of the new spending program are as far up in the air as anything else, but a significant amount of attention is being devoted to possibilities of large-scale erection of pre-fabricated homes.

Some government experts insist that mass production of cheap pre-fabricated homes represents the only way to build cheap individual houses. They say several production units are ready to start off in a big way and that WPA labor could be used to lay out sites, streets, cellar and water mains as well as to put the houses together.

According to the pre-fabrication experts, it's largely a question of getting the public used to this type of house and if someone will just get a lot of them up there will be stimulus for a huge new industry.

But this is only one idea among many and opposition from building trades unions, building materials interests and other groups is likely to kill it. Early indications are that pump-priming proposals of whatever type will be closely scrutinized in Congress and perhaps subjected to considerable alteration.

The proposal to turn the public works program over to Hopkins, assuming that Roosevelt decides he wants to do that, is one which conceivably may cause an uproar on Capitol Hill.

Rambling With The Rambler

BY WAYNE WALLACE

The defeat of the reform bill shows at least one thing and that is that American is still a democracy and that the people do have the say in the running of the government. All that is necessary is that the people show some concerted action. As long as our representatives are dependent on the people for their jobs, just so long must they strive to satisfy the wishes of the majority. The trouble is that our citizenry is careless in this regard and it takes considerable prodding by someone before they swing in action. While many of our representatives in Congress are or less seemed to favor the reform bill, the many telegrams protesting their stand cause many of them to change their attitude with regard to it. Whether or not the fact that election time is near at hand was a major factor in their turn of mind might be debatable. One thing noticeable about the defeat of the bill was that immediately after its rejection the stock market rose.

It has been generally admitted that one of the major factors in the present business recession is uncertainty. Men as a whole do not like change. It makes them cautious. They want to feel their feet on firm ground before they risk anything. The majority of people have passed through some such experience that will give some credence to their statement. A new job or even the same job in new surroundings under new bosses is a common one. Until they become accustomed to their new circumstances they are ill at ease and careful in the extreme of what they do. All reconstruction periods are caused by some drastic change in the welfare of the people. Every war or change of government has been followed by some such period. People must reorganize themselves and they do not like it.

Business is much the same way. While a few hardy souls will take risks, the majority are content to sit back and wait until conditions are more favorable for the enterprise they have in mind. For every Walt Disney there are a thousand men more timid. Few men would have cared to run the risk he took in producing "Snow White" and the Seven Dwarfs. First of all it was something new in the field of entertainment. It took a large amount of money to produce it, money a part of which he had to borrow. Times were bad and attendance at theatres slack, yet disregarding all these risks he took a chance. That it turned out to be such a gigantic success does in no way detract from the boldness of the venture. Still it remains a fact that Mr. Disney must be classified with the exception rather than the rule.

President Roosevelt has kept Washington in a state of turmoil since first being elected, by his experimental ideas, with the exception of a few breathing spells. Such experiments cannot be said to be good for business in its daily routine, even when such measures may be good or beneficial in the end. Why? Because

Softball Practice Games Will Begin Here Next Monday

The Ranger Softball Control Committee, with Tom Yonker, president of the Ranger Softball League presiding, met in the office of the Chamber of Commerce last night and worked out details in connection with the rapidly approaching softball season.

It was voted by the committee that in addition to the $150 in cash prizes, to be split between the winners of first and second places in the season's play, that the committee would furnish balls for the teams for the first two weeks of the season.

This action is being taken to determine whether or not enough interest and attendance is going to be attracted to continue the policy of furnishing balls throughout the season. With unusually strong teams entered, better than have ever been in the local league, and with nine inning games being played, it is hoped that the committee can pay for balls throughout the season.

A week of practice games has been scheduled beginning Monday night, April 25. The schedule for the three games is as follows: Monday, April 25, TeePee vs. Elks.
