ELEVEN MEN KILLED IN A TUNNEL BLAST

BALTIMORE, Md., July 20.—Eleven men were killed and nine injured today when 450 pounds of dynamite exploded in a chamber, blown out of solid rock in a water tunnel 65 feet underground. The men, employed on a PWA project, were blown to bits when the dynamite accidentally was set off. All were negroes. Three of the nine injured were in a critical condition. Huge crowds collected about two shafts entering the tunnel and hampered rescue crews attempting to reach the scene. Of the 11 men listed as dead one was missing. Rescue workers believed he was closest to the dynamite and was blown to bits.

'I'll Wait,' Says His True Love

He did it all for her, and that's why Marie Paskal is standing in the cell door at Los Angeles county jail promising to wait for her fiance, Marvin L. LeMarche. Forging $650 worth of checks to finance their honeymoon brought LeMarche a six-month jail sentence. Miss Paskal, having sold their engagement ring to make restitution for the checks, is saying her last goodby before the cell door closes.

Road Fund Row Stirs Missouri

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—An increase in the Missouri state gasoline tax is not necessary to produce sufficient funds for road construction this year, believes Roy F. Britton, president of the Automobile Club of Missouri.

Britton and the club's board of directors have gone on record as opposed to the proposal of the Citizens' Road Association for a constitutional amendment to increase state gasoline taxes from 2 to 3 cents a gallon. The amendment petitions are now being circulated to place it on the ballot in the November general election—also would freeze registration fees on passenger cars at the present rates for the next 10 years, and would appropriate highway construction funds between trunk line roads, city streets and supplementary roads.

Britton declared that figures show Missouri has more than $6,800,000 in the state road fund with which to match $4,500,000 federal aid in 1938. The figures were compiled, he said, from the state highway commission estimates, coordinated with 1937 actual receipts from gasoline taxes, registration fees, drivers' licenses and miscellaneous fees.

"The purpose of the club's estimate," Britton said, "is to dispel the impression that state road revenues are dwindling to a point where federal aid will be reduced and to refute the argument that an increase in tax is necessary to maintain a road construction program, pending the outcome of the state highway planning survey now nearing completion."

Britton took exception to a recent state highway department report—endorsed by the Citizens' Road Association—estimating receipts and disbursements for this year. The report indicated that only $3,579,000 of state funds will be available for construction to match federal aid this year.

In the highway department's estimates, he charged, receipts for this year were reduced to less than actual experience in 1937, and disbursements increased in certain accounts more than 1937 experience.

"In addition, a new $1,000,000 disbursement account is included that never before has appeared in any of the department's statements of either actual or estimated receipts and disbursements. This new-found account is entitled 'cost of survey and plans, right of way, etc.' It's strange why a item of such major proportion should now appear for the first time after all these years when the state has built 15,000 miles of roads."

Eastland Woman's Brother Expires After Auto Wreck

BIG SPRING, July 20.—A terrific crash of two automobiles on highway 1, three and a half miles east of Big Spring during a driving rain Monday afternoon took the life of one man and left three other persons badly injured. Dead was Dan W. Smith, 30, gauger for the Standard Oil company at Mentone, Loving county. In the hospital suffering critical injuries were his wife and their young daughter, Billy Jean; and the driver of the other car, Fred Bond, oil driller of Coahoma.

Bond, driving alone, was east-bound in a Studebaker; the Smiths in a Chevrolet, were headed toward Big Spring. Officers investigating the mishap said one of the machines turned out to pass a truck and that the two automobiles collided almost head-on. The machines were demolished.

The injured were rushed to a local hospital by passers-by, and Smith succumbed about the time he reached there.

Mrs. Smith suffered a broken leg, two arm fractures, a fractured pelvis and severe face and body lacerations. Her condition was regarded as critical.

Bond suffered a severe chest injury, facial lacerations, and cuts on both knees.

Funeral arrangements for Mr. Smith had not been completed, but rites probably will be held Thursday, it was announced from the Nalley funeral home. Besides his wife and daughter, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith of Christoval; three brothers, Cecil Smith of Monument, N. M.; Raymond Smith of Christoval; and three sisters, Mrs. Alberta Walton of Eastland; Mrs. Elsie Oberchane of Monard; and Miss Lavern Smith of Monument, N. M.

TOKYO, Japan, July 20.—Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, war minister, after a visit to the emperor, called a general conference of high army officers tonight to discuss the Manchukuo border tension between Japan and Russia.

The incident occurred when the Russians occupied a hill that the Japanese said was in Manchurian territory.

A foreign office spokesman said Japan is ready if Russia agrees, to make a joint study of the border dispute.

Tax Board To Adjourn Session Until July 28

AUSTIN, July 20.—Absence of assessors' valuations for 13 counties and lack of reports on special tax collections for the first six months of 1938 today forced the state automatic tax board to recess without setting new tax rates.

Comptroller George Sheppard expected full reports would be ready by July 28. The present rates are 35 cents on $100 valuation for general purposes, seven cents for Confederate pensions and seven cents for schools. The rate is the lowest in 20 years. Decreased valuation reports indicate that no likely increase will be made in the present 49-cent state tax.

'Hoppers Now Are Active on 60,000 Acres Says Cook

Eastland county's grasshopper infestation now covers 60,000 acres of land, it was announced Wednesday by County Agent Elmo V. Cook, who this week assisted Charles H. Gable of Abilene, representative of the federal government in Texas' hopper control. The infestation is regarded as severe as it has been recently.

Only a small portion of the infested areas have received poison. In one part of the county, on the Jack Phippen farm near Dothan, it was found that fungus and parasites, natural causes, have reduced the number of grasshoppers.

The number of 'hoppers next year, it was said, depends largely on whether many of the 'hoppers will be destroyed by fungus and parasites. Ten thousand of the 60,000 acres infested is in crop land and the remainder in pasture.

A State Senator Kills Himself In New York City

NEW YORK, July 20.—State Senator Julius Berg shot and killed himself today in his law office after his wife had pleaded with him all night to tell District Attorney Thomas Dewey what he knew about the taxicab racket.

Berg was under subpoena to testify in the taxicab investigation in which one legislator already has been indicted. He told his wife there was "too much involved" for him to face investigation. When she stepped out of the office to get a drink of water he took a pistol from his desk and shot himself.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE MOVE TOWARD PEACE

Tightening bonds of friendship between Great Britain and France today promised important developments in Europe's 1938 diplomatic gains.

As King George VI and President LeRin pledged peaceful cooperation in Paris, it was disclosed that Nazi Germany had approached Britain in regard to problems that have threatened conflict on the continent.

The most encouraging factor was that the Nazi representative, Fritz Wiedemann had visited British Foreign Secretary, Lord Halifax, on German initiative.

Wiedemann's exact mission was not disclosed, but in Paris it was said that he carried Hitler's proposed solution of the Czechoslovakian minority crisis of vital importance to Germany, France and Britain. Halifax, presumably, transmitted it to the French government.

Meanwhile the Spanish Civil War found loyalist forces fighting back the mass offensive of Gen. Francisco Franco's insurgent armies against Sagunto and Valencia. Artillery bombardment at Madrid, reportedly damaged the U. S. Embassy.

In the Far East, Chinese defenders of Hankow reported their troops and artillery continued to turn back the Japanese offensive up the Yangtze River.

Terrell Describes Commission Work In Sherman Speech

SHERMAN, July 20.—C. V. Terrell, railroad commission chairman, related here how he established the precedent under which the railroad commission now conveys to the Interstate Commerce Commission its attitude on Texas rail and freight matters as he set out on another fast day of campaigning for re-election.

"Ten years ago, the Southern Pacific Railroad wanted to go into the Rio Grande Valley," Judge Terrell said. "Some Valley friends asked me to sit in on the ICC hearing. I did so, and from the testimony decided the application ought to be granted. When the ICC examiner who conducted the hearing wrote an adverse report, I filed a dissenting opinion. My argument in favor of letting the railroad enter the Valley was so sound that the ICC reconsidered the matter and finally voted 6-5 to grant the application."

"That was the first time the railroad commission ever crossed the ICC on a Texas matter. Later, when the railroads applied for a rate increase on coarse grain in Texas, we had that precedent to work on. I wrote an opinion on the application pointing out that such an increase would cost the farmers, shippers and consumers of Texas grain $2,000,000 a year, and the application was denied. People all over Texas, especially in West, Southwest and South Texas, benefited."

Once again war steps in to prevent the holding of the Olympic Games. The Japanese have announced that the games of 1940, scheduled to be held in Tokio, have been suspended.

The situation is similar to that of 1916 when the games were to have been held in Berlin. With practically all the other nations of the world contending against the Germans on more important fields, in Flanders, it was of course impossible to hold any international sports competition.

Tokio's suspension of the games is a tacit admission of the graveness, to Japan, of the war in China. Suspension comes not because contestants are warring against the organizing country, but because that country is so engrossed in war that it can not afford to devote attention and energies to objects of so little real importance as the Olympic Games.

The games have been over some pretty rough hurdles before. Since Pierre de Coubertin of France conceived their revival in 1894, their value as a promoter of international understanding has sometimes been questionable.

De Coubertin had only the loftiest ideals for the revival of the ancient Greek contests which brought together athletes from all the Greek world. "It is necessary," he said, "that we should preserve in sport those characteristics of nobility and chivalry which have distinguished it in the past, so that it may continue to play the same part in the education of the peoples of today as it played so admirably in the days of ancient Greece."

In the first place, ever since the first revival, the games have been taken too seriously. Sport and seriousness are contradictory terms. The more serious an athletic contest grows, the less sporting it is.

The Olympics have always been that way ever since in 1908 the frenzied partisans of Dorando, Italian Marathoner, picked up his nearly-unconscious form at the stadium entrance where he fell near the finish, and rushed him over the line. Soccer matches and winter sports in recent years have been marred by fights and squabbles, and the whole tone has been smudged by countries which have practically made an international crisis out of who won the hop-skip-and-jump.

However, even as bitter as some of the Olympic competitions have grown in past years, they are a good show, a better show than the bombing of helpless civilians or the shelling of a cathedral. Japan, having asked for the games, and having been awarded the privilege of being host to them, has now stepped out of the 1940 picture.

There is plenty of time for some other country to make the gesture, and to hold the games. It would be worth while, if only to show that there are some people in the world who prefer less lethal athletic events to putting the handgrenade or dropping the 500-pound bomb.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The new Federal Communications Commission regulations covering equal treatment for political candidates by broadcasting stations are a little more than a clarification and restatement of the Communications Act, which says in effect that any candidate for office who has the money shall be allowed equal opportunity to buy broadcasting time.

But the regulations emphasize some curious possibilities. For instance, a candidate who feels he can't afford as much radio time as his opponent can afford or who fears his opponent has a superior radio voice might, with a modicum of ingenuity, keep both the opponent and himself off the air. This possibility grows out of the provision that no station shall have power of censorship over material broadcast by any candidate.

Broadcasting stations have been held to be jointly liable with speakers for libel damages. No law prevents a candidate from walking into a station with a libelous speech manuscript and demanding the right to broadcast it. A station's only way of protecting itself, according to radio experts, would be to refuse radio time to such a candidate. But the law and the new FCC rules demand that in that case it must also bar his opponent or opponents in order to insure equal treatment.

On the other hand, most broadcasters are pleased by FCC's insistence on uniform political rates and its ban on rebates. No longer will victorious candidates be able to suggest that their radio bills be charged off by stations or their owners as "campaign contributions." That's against the law.

THE gross public debt at the close of the recently ended 1937-38 fiscal year was about ten and a half billion dollars above its war period peak—$37,185,000,000 as compared with $26,596,000,000 in August, 1919.

In one sense the present debt is less burdensome than the previous peak debt, since the annual interest charge was $1,054,000,000 in 1919 and only about $950,000,000 in 1938. That's because the annual interest rate in 1919 was 4.178 per cent and in 1938 only 2.576.

But with the new spending-lending program for 1938-39, the total interest charge will gradually approach the 1919 figure and it is being widely predicted that the total debt will reach $40,000,000,000 before the end of this fiscal year.

The federal debt per capita is about $286 now as compared with about $253 in 1919. You can get the former figure much lower than that if you go into the controversial field of "recoverables," loans which the Treasury expects to be repaid.

Secretary Morgenthau says the government's interest in the "net assets represented by loans and other investments of governmental corporations and credit agencies" amounted to $7,914,000,000, as of May 31. Anyone who wants to subtract that sum from the gross public debt will find that this method of figuring brings the present per capita debt down to around $235.

On the other hand, all the money repaid on those loans so far has gone into the Treasury funds and been applied against deficits, instead of being set aside for the direct purpose of debt reduction.

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—When thieves took the coat and uniform cap of Capt. Harry Weis from the office of central police station here, police thought that that would be enough of that. They hung a mirror so they could trap intruders. Recently thieves entered again, took Patrolman Harry Smith's overcoat and blouse from his locked locker in the basement, escaped unobserved.

By HARRY GRAYSON

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

NEW YORK.—Charles Evard Street, long a hard guy of baseball, mellowed with age . . . became a kindly soul.

Gabby Street was the good-fellow type of manager when he swept the Cardinals to National League pennants in 1930 and '31 to a spectacular victory over the Athletics in the world series the latter fall.

With the Red Birds some dozen games behind the leaders, Aug. 1, 1930, the Old Sarge kept plugging away . . . always cheerful.

As director of the last-place Browns today, Street is still trying, isn't exactly glum, and remains in a happy frame of mind. "I never go to a ball park with the idea of losing," says the hero of St. Michel, which is a new high note in optimism coming from the foreman of an outfit like the current St. Louis American League club.

But Street has grown tired of losing, and has cracked down on his athletes for the first time.

HE fined Oral Hildebrand $50 for failing to cover first base. He docked Jim Walkup four days' pay and suspended him for seven more days for insubordination, after the Arkansas touched off a five-run White Sox rally by walking Pitcher Johnny Whitehead at Comiskey Park with two out.

Street couldn't understand Walkup's inability to get a single ball over the plate to a gent as large as Whitehead, and particularly a pitcher. It was the ninth consecutive time that Walkup had failed to finish or win, and the grizzled pilot blew up when the right-hander popped off.

Gabby isn't worried about losing his job. "I've lost them before," he smiles.

He laughs at the story about a petition being circulated through Sportsman's Park demanding his scalp.

"How do they expect me to win with a pitcher and a half and one 300 hitter?" asks the Old Sarge, who insists that he would act as valet for a half-way decent relief worker.

NEXT to poor pitching, Street traces the flop of the Browns to the failure of Roy Chester Bell and Harland Clift to hit. Beau Bell batted .344 and drove in 123 runs in 1936, compiled a .340 average, and batted in 117 runs last season. Clift hit .295 in '35, .302 in '36, and .306 in '37. His total base figure was 312 last trip and he chased 118 runs across the plate.

Bell is now hitting just .236, and Clift .263.

But Gabby has hope. The Cardinal farm system required five years to bring results.

The Browns now own three minor league clubs outright and have working agreements with 11 others.

They have one of the finest second basemen combinations in the minor at San Antonio in Sigmond Gryzka and Johnny Beridino, and promising pitchers there in Kramer, Bill Trotter, and Kimberlin. Emilio Bildilli, Brown property, turned in a couple of one-hitters in bagging 10 straight for Springfield of the Three Eye.

Gabby Street, the optimist, chooses to believe that there are better days ahead, but meanwhile he has cracked down. Who wouldn't?

INTERNE TROUBLE BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

KATHERINE MILLER said tremulously—as if she had been just any romantic girl in love instead of the most efficient and hard-driving supervisor of nurses at Saint Vincent's, "What makes you say that? I mean that—how do you know?"

"Oh, that!" said Tran briskly. "That's one set of symptoms you don't recognize. You'd see it yourself if you weren't so scared of setting and feeling like a human being. . . . Oh, do go along before you have time to dry off! If you could only keep yourself looking as sweet as you are, all right!"

Without another word Miss Miller amazingly turned and went, almost running, down the corridor.

Tran sat down stiffly on the edge of a chair.

If the worst happened—if Stephen Sargent were really never to operate again, then she had nothing left. For the first time she realized how inseparably her enthusiasm for her work had been bound up in the thought of working with him. . . . For if her youthful visions—Tran was only 20—had ever held a more personal significance, it had long ago been submitted in the rest.

Finally she got up heavily and wandered out into the corridor. She hardly knew how or why she made her way to the instrument room—except that suddenly she wanted very much to cry, and its unfrequented sterility offered an admirable privacy for that purpose.

Curled up in a limp little gray heap on a wide window ledge, she was going about the business for which she had come in a thoroughly workmanlike manner when a door opened, and a man's voice said:

"Good Lord! Hasn't anyone warned you yet that Boods don't do surgical instruments any good?"

BOB BENCHLEY sauntered across the room and stood, leaning against the wall, his hands in his pockets, grinning down at her.

In her passion of loneliness, Tran was so glad to see him that she sobbed all the more loudly. "I had an idea you'd be letting your hair down somewhere," he went on cheerfully. "You would pick a nice festive little nook like this for it."

So he had been hunting for her. "I just thought you might like to know"—he was lighting a cigarette as he spoke, frowning down at it, carefully not looking at her

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS By Blosser

ELECT HENRY V. DAVENPORT COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Sometimes in elections there is so much confusion that local candidates for most important offices are neglected, particularly as to the men who are elected to the office.

In Eastland County the office of Commissioner is above all one of the most important, if not the most.

The duties of the Commissioners are to handle all the finances of the county and act as overseers for the proper distribution of the funds from taxation and all other sources.

We are particularly interested in the election of the most efficient person for the office of Commissioner of Precinct No. 1.

In looking over the record that has been made by Henry V. Davenport one can readily see the value of his services to the people of his precinct, as well as to the advantage of the entire county.

Davenport has proven himself thoroughly capable of conducting the affairs of his precinct as well as getting the most results out of the taxpayers' money for all work that comes under his jurisdiction.

His economical methods of handling the funds allotted to him has been outstanding throughout his past administrations. He has been fearless in assuming the position of seeing that no money is paid out for any purpose other than which is proper and worthy, whether for charity or for returns in labor.

He has been fair to all communities in the distribution of lateral roads that have been built and graded, and as fast as possible has been taking care of those communities that demand attention for better roads.

To defeat Henry V. Davenport in the coming election would be a calamity to the taxpayers of his precinct and would set back and create a serious menace to the road and work projects that his program calls for. It would be costly to every property owner in Precinct No. 1, and would cause irreparable losses.

The careful and devoted attention that Henry V. Davenport has paid to the needs of not only his precinct but of the entire county has placed him among the greatest assets the county could have. His judgment in matters of importance to the taxpayers' interest is not denied by his colleagues and his service is entirely free from discrimination or selfish motives.

Every voter and taxpayer in this entire precinct should make it a special business to cast their vote for Henry Davenport for their best interests. A careful analysis and study of his record will make an impression that will justify his retention in the office as your County Commissioner.

During this period of government spending, in which Eastland County has and will receive much benefit, if properly handled, it is the duty of every citizen to have a man who is thoroughly familiar with the Federal Government process for allotting funds for all county projects. The several years' experience that Henry V. Davenport has had in this particular work with government officials qualifies him above all others as the man to retain.

March of Time Is Devoted to Doctors

The growing concern of the American people over the problems of medicine and health and their expressed desire for a frank analysis of medical information has led the March of Time to devote its entire new issue to an objective account of "Men of Medicine, 1938."

In the first authentic motion picture for theatrical distribution to have the unrestricted cooperation of the American Medical Profession, the U. S. Public Health Service, the medical departments of the U. S. Army and Navy, the March of Time presents a complete behind-the-scenes film narrative on American medicine. "Men of Medicine, 1938" is the story of the modern, present-day practice of medicine, its functioning and its problems. Against a background of the scientific knowledge and disease-fighting weapons 20 centuries of medical progress have put at the medical profession's command, the film traces the U. S. doctor's training and establishment of practice; the problem of making his skill and learning available to all those in need. This pictorialization is based upon the actual lives of U. S. doctors and has been documented by medical consultants who cooperated in the production of "Men of Medicine, 1938."

Bronze Age Canoes Found in England

NOTTINGHAM, England. — Two canoes, hewn out of an oak tree by Bronze Age men 3,000 years ago, have been found intact in the bed of the River Trent.

They are 20 feet long and 2 feet wide.

C. W. Phillips, of Cambridge Prehistoric Society, who examined the canoes for the British Museum, said they were "in an excellent state."

People are reading fewer but better books than they used to, says a librarian. The writers, however, are keeping up with the old trend.

Big Motorship to Transport British Food from South

LONDON.—A super 27,000-ton food transport motorship, with accommodation for 525 first class passengers and capacity for 15,000 tons of cargo, is to be launched at Tyneside on July 27 for service between Britain, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand.

The vessel, which is to be christened the Dominion Monarch, is said by the owners, Shaw, Savill & Albion Company, Ltd., to be the biggest ship ever designed for trade with Southern Dominions.

Many novel features are incorporated in the vessel's design. There is only one mast, as the swimming pool leaves no room for a second one. There is air conditioning in the dining salon and cabins, which are equipped with telephones.

The cargo capacity is 700,000 cubic feet, of which 500,000 cubic feet will be insulated for the transport of meat, fruit and dairy produce.

It is planned for the Dominion Monarch to call at Madeira or Tenerife, Capetown, Durban, Fremantle, Melbourne, Sidney and Wellington. The average speed of the Diesel engines has been calculated at 19 1-2 knots, the trip requiring 35 days. This is despite the fact that the route to be taken is longer by 3,000 miles than that followed by other vessels.
