WORST FLOOD HITS IN SOUTH TEXAS TODAY

COLUMBUS, Texas, July 28.—The worst flood in 25 years ravaged the lower reaches of the Colorado River Valley today as planters demanded a Public Works Administration investigation into protective measures of the $40,000,000 Buchanan dam system. The crest of the ravaging river swirled around LaGrange, inundating thousands of acres of fertile farm land and washing out a highway bridge. The best corn and cotton crops in several years were lost. Flood damage in the past week was estimated at $3,500,000. A mass meeting of planters will be held here tonight to appoint committees to investigate charges of mismanagement, which have been aimed at the Lower Colorado River Authority.

McALLEN, Texas, July 28.—Floodwaters of the swollen Rio Grande river were expected to reach the floodway system of the lower valley today, but trained river observers said the floodways would be adequate to control the overflow.

Security Chiefs To Attend Confab At A. & M. College

The Eastland county supervisors of the Farm Security Administration will be in College Station during the week of August 1 to August 8 for the annual state meeting of FSA employees. Geo. I. Lane, county rural supervisor, will be the keynote of the conference. The Farm Security Administration is concentrating its attack upon the one-crop system, the supervisor went on. "All farm and home plans accepted by FSA must show several sources of cash income. It is not only desirable that there be several sources of income, but also that the income be received at frequent intervals, instead of the old one pay day a year." The rural supervisor and Mrs. Ila R. Parrish, county home management supervisor, have been appointed on special committees to make recommendations based on their work in Eastland County concerning the future policies and procedures of the Farm Security Administration. These recommendations will be presented at the meeting and passed through the state and regional offices to the national executives in Washington.

EDMONTON, Alta., Canada, July 28.—The United Air Transport officials said today that the plane carrying premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario, got as far as Taku Bay a few miles from its destination at Juneau, Alaska, before being turned back by fog at Carcross, Yukon Territory. Aboard the plane with Hepburn, who was making an aerial survey of Canada's wheat crop were Bernard "Sell Em Ben" Smith, New York stock operator, who made a fortune during the depression, J. P. Bickell, Toronto mining magnet and Pilot James Towne of Toronto.

The plane is owned by Bickell. The party left Toronto 10 days ago on an 8,000 mile trip through the new Canadian mining district in the Northwest Territory and across the Western Canadian wheat plains. Last night Towne left Whitehorse for the 135-mile flight for Juneau.

Move Is Started In El Paso Upon High Freight Rates

EL PASO.—The first move here to battle freight rates was made when R. C. Fulbright, Washington, D. C., nationally known rate attorney, was employed to combat the latest petition of railroads, which calls for increased rates differential territory.

Fulbright was employed by the executive committee of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce and board of directors of the El Paso Freight Bureau. The decision to "fight the railroads" program was unanimous. Hearings will be held July 25 in Austin and August 1 in El Paso. Fulbright and E. R. Tanner, manager of the El Paso Freight Bureau, will appear at both hearings in defense of local jobbers and shippers.

Freight officials began conferences with officials of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to arrange to work together in presenting testimony at the hearing in El Paso. "West Texas Chamber of Commerce officials will cooperate in presenting testimony in behalf of all shippers in the El Paso differential territory," Fulbright announced.

Fulbright also announced a change in procedure of attacking the rate hike request. He recommended that all efforts should be concentrated on proceedings before the Interstate Commerce Commission as a result of recent developments. He referred to the complaint filed on June 17 by Texas railroads with the ICC, which authorized that body to order changes in interstate rates where such rates constitute a discrimination upon interstate commerce being handled by the railroads. A similar petition has been filed with the Texas Railroad Commission by the Texas railroads.

WASHINGTON.—Thirty new international aircraft performance records established in the past few months by Italy, France and Soviet Russia have relegated the United States to the back-ground, according to the National Aeronautic Association.

Of the 175 established international records, the United States holds 19. France leads with 52, Italy is second with 33, Russia and Germany have 18 and 17 respectively.

Czechoslovakia holds 13 records, Great Britain 10, Poland 7, Belgium 3, Austria 2 and Japan 1. The association proposed that manufacturers seek to keep the majority of landplane and seaplane record performances in this country to "enhance our prestige and retain our export trade."

That the United States has a long way to go is shown by the fact that of the 27 heavy landplane records, this country does not hold one, and holds only two in the heavy seaplane class.

DIES MAKES A NEW ATTACK UPON ALLRED

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Rep. Dies asserted that "98 per cent of the people in the judicial district are opposed to Allred's appointment, announced by President Roosevelt in Texas. "It is just this kind of politics that brought on the revolution in Texas. The people are fed up and disgusted with this kind of politics," Dies said. "The people of Texas are not going to stand for this sort of stuff."

Sen. Morris Sheppard of Texas disapproved of Dies' statement, saying, "I am for Governor Allred's confirmation."

Special Care of Foods Necessary To Preserve Health

AUSTIN.—"Recent outbreaks of food poisoning show very strikingly the need for special care in handling and refrigerating any food that must be prepared in advance of serving," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. "Prevention of food poisoning requires clean food handled as little as possible and consumed while it is fresh. Foods prepared hours before serving, and allowed to stand at warm temperatures become good culture media for bacteria. Cooked products of a perishable nature are readily subject to decomposition, and must be kept well refrigerated."

"Most food poisoning is caused by infection by certain types of bacteria which grow rapidly under favorable conditions, such as high temperature and high humidity. The infection may come from dirty hands, utensils, flies, rodents, contaminated water, infected food materials and in some cases, which are rapidly spread and not necessarily associated with filthy conditions."

"Picnic food is particularly susceptible to transmitting food poisoning to the members of the picnic party. Be sure you have sound, fresh foods, clean, free from stagnant odors, slime, etc. Require all who prepare food for use to wash their hands thoroughly before handling it. Avoid excessive hand contacts with the food. See that clean containers are used and that special care is exercised in wrapping foods and in protecting them from contamination."

Largest Project of Air Conditioning Started In Dallas

DALLAS.—The largest air-conditioning project in the South was undertaken today, after D. A. Little, president of the Magnolia Petroleum company, announced that the 28-story Magnolia building here would be completely air-conditioned for both summer and winter.

Construction of a steel and concrete shaft near the skyscraper was underway. The shaft will be used to house machinery for the air-conditioning work and otherwise prevent disturbance of tenants of the building during the conversion period. The shaft will be as high as the building.

Four floors of the structure already are air-conditioned. Little said, and the entire project will be completed by April, 1939. Each tenant will be able to determine the temperature of his office during the year round, or to eliminate the air-conditioning entirely if he wishes.

State Tax Rate Set At 35 Cents By Tax Board

AUSTIN, July 28.—The state automatic tax board today set the state ad valorem tax rate at 49 cents on $100 valuation, the same as for this year. The levy is 35 cents for general revenue, seven cents for Confederate pensions and seven cents for free schoolbooks.

No levy was made for general school purposes, since the board decided other revenues are sufficient to pay the per capita school apportionment. Members considered the per capita statute fixing a $17.50 allotment makes that the maximum possible.

The state board of education is scheduled to meet here tomorrow and set the school apportionment. It was estimated the school fund would have income from special taxes and other sources to pay an apportionment of $21.40 per capita.

Romantics' Reassurance From the Sky

Things can never get too mechanized and routinized for adventure in this modern world.

For a time it looked as if that was just what had happened in the realm of aviation.

After the soul-stirring flights of the Lindbergh era, aviation went ultra-scientific. It got out of the "stunt" period and buckled down to the unsensational job of providing safe, spectacular service. Its heroes were not daring young geniuses, any more, but carefully trained crews of technicians, who worked together like well-ordered machines. It gave a whole lot more return in the way of transportation—but the romance went out of it, seemingly for good.

And then two very startling things happened in close succession.

First, Howard Hughes and his buddies went streaking around the world in a flight which passed all the way through the mechanized, team-spirit business and came out on the other side, in the realm of romance. The thing was so perfectly organized, so surpassingly well integrated and planned, that it became what everyone had thought no flight of that kind could ever be—thrilling and uplifting.

Right on the heels of that came a throwback to the old, devil-may-care barnstorming era—the Atlantic flight of young Douglas Corrigan, who blithely flew the world's worst sea in a rickety crate that was obsolete years ago. Corrigan simply set the clock back, temporarily, and gave the world a last glimpse of aviation as it used to be, when a flyer was an adventurer first and a technician, if at all, afterward, and when the hallmark of distinction was a willingness to risk one's life casually against any sort of odds that might present themselves.

So these two flights brought back that unpredictable and indefinable quality called romance to modern aviation. And the way in which they did it is worth at least a passing thought.

They showed, in the first place, that a mechanized, modernized world need not be monotonous after all. If romance is a momentary transcending of the ordinary limits of workaday life—and that's about as good a definition as any—then the Hughes flight simply showed that when man really perfects the intricate technical details of modern life, modern life is romantic and not humdrum.

And, secondly, there was a reminder that the human spirit is irrepresible and dauntless; and it will not be confined by any formulas, but will break loose and challenge fate in its own way every now and then. And there is always hope for a world in which that is true.

They were fine things, those two flights. They make this complicated world look like a more promising place to live in.

ALLEY OOP

MYRA NORTH, Special Nurse -- By Thompson and Coll

SERIAL STORY MYSTERY AT THE LAZY R BY CLARKE NEWLON

CAST OF CHARACTERS
NIKKI JEROME, her friend, blond, popular, is engaged to six-foot, black-haired STEVE MALLORY, hero, who is accompanying her on a trip to Nikki's aunt and uncle on a Wyoming dude ranch. Nikki's father, PETER JEROME, is a wealthy New York level merchant.

Yesterday, Nikki and her uncle had gone to take a mountain trip and Steve, Bancroft and Fiske decide to go too!

CHAPTER VII
THEY took the trail just as the sun broke in dawn and sent its first warming rays into the mists that formed a soft, white cloak over the hills toward which they rode in pairs, conversing and adjusting their bodies to the gait of the fast-walking animals.

Nikki rode with Steve and realized, in the grandeur of the breaking dawn, that she loved this man very much and that she was being distinctly unfair to him. Anything might happen on this trip, she thought, and decided to tell Steve about Bancroft and the money at the first opportunity. In the meantime she rode beside him in silence and told him with her eyes that she loved him greatly.

Long before they stopped to eat the sandwiches that had been prepared and to boil coffee over a tiny fire, the trail started upward and became more and more rocky. Once they crossed a dry river bed that was a tremendous trail of boulders walled in on either side by cliffs along which the seams and formations traced irregular patterns.

Their pause for lunch was brief for Uncle Jim wanted to reach the cabin before dark and the worst of the trail lay yet ahead. As they started out again he arranged them in single file and warned each rider against trying to pass another or of getting too close on the trail.

Rance led the way, followed by Nikki, Uncle Jim, Fiske, Sarto, Steve, Bancroft, and Woody, who brought up the rear to keep any of the little party from straggling too far back.

The trip appeared to be a hardship for Sarto alone. He was distinctly not an outdoor man and nature to him meant taking a taxi through Central Park—when it was the shortest route to his destination. He clung to his saddle as the trail narrowed and hunched disconsolately in his seat, scowling silently. The pack trip was obviously not of his choosing.

The trail wound along the side of a cliff, tortuous and rocky.

On the inside rose the sheer walls of stone, washed clean by centuries of mountain storms, marked with the oddly colored lines of capricious reds and blacks against the brown. On the other side, along most of the slender path, the mountain side in foaming white cascades, stripping the slope of its bushes, stunted trees, and boulders, transforming the decline into a sudden, breath-taking drop that might be 50 or might be 200 feet straight down before the break ended in a rough bed of granite.

They had been on that upward trail several hours when it happened. Nikki was watching her horse stepping carefully at the heels of Rance's mount. Behind her Uncle Jim hummed a monotonous little song and paid small attention to a trail that was long familiar to him.

Behind her uncle came Fiske, quiet and observant, and back of him rode the glowering Sarto. They were passing one of the sections of the trail narrowed by the snow-laden torrents and the path hung precipitously over awe-some nothingness on the right. There wasn't over 20 feet of danger and then the trail widened and fell off into gradual sloping ground again.

NIKKI heard a sudden fright-ened yell and turned to see Sarto's horse plunging forward, hugging the inner wall. Sarto clung to the pommel, his head ducked forward into the steed's mane.

The quick lunge carried Sarto's horse crowding between the wall and the mare ridden by Fiske. The mare fought desperately for balance. Her iron-shod hoofs struck sparks as she slipped on the edge of the trail.

"Throw yourself off," shouted Uncle Jim, twisting in his saddle, helpless to aid.

There was only an instant as the mare hung on the brink. Fiske leaned desperately to throw his weight inward. Sarto's horse surged forward again in frightened leaps and broke through.

Steve, riding directly behind Sarto, reined in his horse abruptly at Sarto's unexpected lunge. He could see the quick, deadly drop off the trail, the narrow path upon which two horses could not stand side by side. He could see just ahead the safety of the sloping mountain with its dotting shrubs and small trees.

That safety lay a bare seven feet ahead of Fiske.

The final plunge of Sarto's horse thrust Fiske's mare far on the edge. One hind foot slipped over and pawed into the thin air. She fought and lost the battle for balance.

Then Steve moved. With the sudden skill of years of polo playing, he turned his horse to the outside of the trail. He leaped forward and brought his flat hand down brutally hard on his mount's rump.

His horse bounded forward and struck Fiske's mare almost as she slipped off the trail. The momentum of the blow carried the mare forward and in. She was safe. So was Fiske. But the motion threw Steve's horse to the outer edge, fighting for footing on the last few feet of the trail which overhung the precipice.

STEVE lost his balance and plunged over his mount's shoulder, but the force of the fall carried him past the precipice. He grabbed a clump of bushes as he slipped off the trail and clung on desperately. His horse scrambled forward, lost its footing, rolled over twice and finally stopped against a tree, got up and shook itself vigorously.

Uncle Jim was off his horse by that time with a rope in his hand. He tossed the other end to Steve, snubbed the nose end around his saddle horn.

"Slip it over your arms," he shouted, and Steve, managed to find footing long enough to get the noose over his head and shoulders. Rance and Uncle Jim hauled him back up.

Sarto still sat his horse sullenly. Fiske was leaning against the wall. He came over to give Steve the final helping hand back up on the trail.

"Thanks," he said, and his voice meant it.

"That was mighty quick thinking," said Uncle Jim.

"Mighty quick acting, too," said Rance.

Nikki was standing back, her face white, and she couldn't get over the feeling that her horse weren't going to support her any longer. Steve came over and she clung to him.

"I'm all right, honey," he told her and laughed gently.

"I know you are now," she said, "but you weren't a minute ago and you might have been killed. Oh, Steve."

'VKL' Tires Resist Heat, Wear Longer

A lot of motorists believe the old adage that "there is nothing new under the sun," but they are wrong, in the opinion of L. C. Russell, local dealer for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.

"One has only to look at the advances made in tire construction to prove that the old adage is in error," Mr. Russell declared. "Many are the improvements that have been made in tires, and of these, a big percentage have been made by Goodyear. Important Goodyear advances were the first straight-side tire, the first multiple cord tire, the first pneumatic truck tire, and the Life Guard, the remarkable device that eliminates danger from tire failures at high speeds.

"Important advance in the truck tire field is the Goodyear VKL, which is delivering almost unbelievable mileages in the most severe types of service. Operators whose tires popped without warning after comparatively short service, due to the high speeds or heavy loads on long distance operations, are now able to get thousands of miles of trouble-free mileage with this new development.

"Secret of the VKL is that its carcass is made of specially woven rayon fabric, instead of the conventional cotton. This rayon cord, called Rayotwist, enables the VKL to build up long mileage due to its resistance to heat.

"Heat is the natural enemy of tire life, and especially goes heat build up in truck tires in high speed, long-distance hauling. Tensile strength of cotton fabric decreases as it heats up while tensile strength of Rayotwist decreases only slightly at high temperatures. Thus the VKL eliminates failures from heat, gives the truck operator the mileage originally built into the tire."

WASHINGTON.—The candidates in Oklahoma who tried hardest to out-promise the others were licked. Namely Gomer Smith, for senator, and Alfalfa Bill Murray, for governor.

Mr. Roosevelt's friend, Senator Elmer Thomas, who won Democratic renomination after the President patted him on the back, is no sound, cautious conservative himself. Elmer always is wanted to do something more about silver, printing press money and inflation.

In fact, there were those who felt that poor Woody Hockaday, who tried to spring on the President with a prosperity plan based on shining shoes and buying wheat to make bread at a profit, belonged somewhere on a ticket which featured Gomer, Alfalfa Bill, Elmer and an astonishing assortment of Mae Wests, Daniel Boons, Brigham Youngs, Huey Longs, Oliver Cromwells and Patrick Henrys.

But by all odds the most spectacular recovery proposal from Oklahoma is made by Oscar Ameringer, lovable old Socialist editor of the American Guardian at Oklahoma City. Oscar was not running for anything, but it's hard to see why someone didn't pick up his program.

He proposes that the Treasury immediately print $20,000,000,000 in $1, $10 and $100 bills and broadcast them from airplanes, guaranteeing that:

"Every mother's son and father's daughter employed and unemployed will drop whatever he or she has on hand and start hunting bills.

"As fast as the bills are found the stores are emptied.

"Ill. Frantic orders for more goods open factories, creating demand for labor.

"If no one being willing to work for less money than he hopes to find (remember there may be a $100 bill in the next yard or cow pasture), employers are compelled to raise wages sky high, adding earned purchasing power to found purchasing power.

"V. All farmers out on dollar hunt, 100 per cent crop limitation will send farm prices sky high.

"VI. Unprecedented sales, prices and profits will be realized. Treasury, balance budget and retire bills recovered.

"VII. Exercise in the open air promotes health and longevity."

Oscar admits this may be "goofy," but insists it's no goofier than a system which doesn't let people buy the food and clothing they produce and keeps them from producing more.

CLEVELAND.—Big Ed Walsh pleads for the return of the dead baseball and inside play.

The famous White Sox pitcher of 30 years ago points out that it is practically all outfield play now little infield play.

The Big Moose years for more base-running, hitting and running, double plays, and diving catches.

In Walsh's day, a pitcher had to do something besides bat a base-runner around.

Players had to stand out defensively as well as offensively.

Walsh, now associated with a filtering plant outside of Meriden, Conn., dropped into Cleveland for a remarkable old-timers' game which saw Tris Speaker field his 1920 world champions intact.

Most of them played nine innings, including a young catcher named Stephen Francis O'Neill. And after watching Smokey Joe Wood, Charley Jamieson, Bill Wamby, Doc Johnston, Joe Sewell, and Elmer Smith cavort, and Walter Mills pitch, it might not be a bad idea for Alva Bradley to bring back some of the old Indians.

AFTER Duster Mails pitched two innings, O'Neill asked him how long he believed he could go and be that fast.

"For nine innings," replied the big left-hander now campaigning for the office of sheriff in Marin County, California, while serving as public relations counsel for the San Francisco Seals.

"I've a notion to kidnap you . . . take you to Buffalo," said O'Neill. It was a fine old-timers' game, with the 71-year-old Cy Young

SENATOR William H. King of Utah, who has an almost unbroken record of always having been against anything—Federal in the Hoover or Roosevelt administration—now finds himself in a rather curious spot.

He is a member of the monopoly investigation committee. He is opposed to monopoly, but he is also opposed to practically any proposal to curb monopoly. First one impulse gets the better of him and then the other.

Thus, recently, Senator King was saying privately that the less change made in laws governing business, the better it would be.

But a day or two later he wrote to Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, demanding that patent monopolies be included in the committee's investigation and proposing a bill to prevent companies from locking up patents for long periods without using them.

MAILS says that in Bill Lillard, 19, and in his second year of professional ball, San Francisco has the slickest Pacific Coast League shortstop since Roger Peckinpaugh and Dave Bancroft. Bill is a Los Angeles lad and a brother of Gene Lillard, who became a pitcher for the Angels after being shipped home by the Chicago Cubs as a third baseman.

The Duster adds that Dominic DiMaggio is a better outfielder than Joe, but that he is a year or two away in hitting. He lists Brooks Holder, a 21-year-old San Francisco outfielder who guards the plate like Max Bishop, and Schoolboy Hutchinson, a 19-year-old, 195-pound Seattle pitcher, as bright prospects.

He says that the veteran pitcher Win Ballou, now with the Seals, would aid any major league outfit as a relief worker.

"Ballou's curve breaks like a ball dropping from a table," explains Walter Mails, the people's choice of Marin County.

Elks Win Over Texas Pipeline

The Elks Club of Ranger defeated the Texas Pipeline softball team at Breckenridge in a fast, snappy game at the Municipal Field Wednesday night by a score of 5 to 1.

The Elks scored once in the first inning when Pace slid into home on a squeeze play and Texas Pipeline tied the count in the third.

Minter, who tossed the first four innings, allowed but one run. Whitefield, who relieved him, was not touched for a hit and only Reginald Denny and Madeleine Carroll snapped in an intriguing moment in "Blockade" the excitement and thrill plus comic and Spanish life. Henry Fonda is featured in the romantic lead with Miss Carroll. Leo Carrillo lends the comedy touch to the picture which will be seen at the Arcadia theatre today.

Good Advice About Constipation!

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with any ailment is to get at its cause. If you're constipated, don't fiddle with makeshift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble!

Chances are you won't have to look very far. If you eat just the things most people do. Most likely, you don't get enough "bulk"! And "bulk" doesn't mean just a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is what you lack, your diet is crisp, crumbly Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the intestinal tonic, vitamin B.

But if every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars"! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

and Auction In Oklahoma Is Set

By United Press
VINITA, Okla.—One of the state's biggest land auctions, to be held here in August, will have as its objective the reclamation of farms abandoned because of years of recurring drought.

One hundred and seventy-five farm properties now held by the state will be up for sale. The 22,000 acres they represent will be divided into tracts "capable of sustaining an average family."

It will be part of the process of dispersing the state's 1,300,000 acres of foreclosed land, Orlando Sweet, secretary of the state school land commission, said.

Terms offered purchasers will be as favorable, Sweet said, as can be found anywhere in the nation. Down payments of 10 per cent will be required, with the balance divided into 40 equal payments with interest at 3 per cent.

Sweet said that he expected many of the tracts to bring between $150 and $200. That much initial payment, he said, would be sufficient to set up a family in a new home with 40 years to retire the indebtedness.

The school land commission said it has had many inquiries about its foreclosed land from persons who went west to "take a plunge in wheat."

Bay City Youth Kills a Big Bear With a .22 Rifle

BAY CITY, Tex.—Floyd Thompson of Houston is a "fair" shot with a rifle—sufficient to bring down squirrels from the tree tops. But he had only a .22 caliber gun when he met the charge of a 300-pound female black bear.

He had brought down three squirrels while hunting in the Linville community. Thompson occasionally heard movements in the woods behind him, but thought it was a hog roosting in the underbrush.

"I kept on hearing that noise," he said, "and finally I glanced around. There was a large bear rearing up on its hind legs."

As the big female advanced, Thompson frantically fired a dozen times. One bullet struck the bear in the throat and two others pierced its heart.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by stiff kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking waste acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day of about 3 quarts of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste accumulates in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.
