DEMOCRATS OF STATE END A HECTIC MEET

By United Press
BEAUMONT, Sept. 14.—Texas Democrats left for home today after a hectic state convention, which lasted until 1 o'clock this morning.

Governor-Nominee W. Lee O'Daniel won his first fight for old age assistance.

A resolution proposing John N. Garner as the logical successor to President Roosevelt at the end of his two terms, was one of the last acts of the convention. A resolution also denounced sale of liquor by the drink. Both were adopted without record vote.

O'Daniel force came out victorious by two to one vote with their plank on old age assistance unchanged, as the vote gained headway to substitute a simple declaration for paying the maximum aid to persons over 65 years of age, O'Daniel leaders sent for him to hurry to the convention hall.

Boos were heard as O'Daniel came to the platform. Whether they were directed at him or merely attempts to interrupt the vote was disputed.

O'Daniel returned to his hotel without speaking.

O'Daniel's pledge to repeal the tax requirement for voting went down before an onslaught of cries that repeal would open democratic primaries to negro votes.

The pension plank, approved by O'Daniel and adopted is:

"The legislature should make immediate and adequate provision for the social security program and immediately provide payment for the maximum age of assistance to persons over the age of 65 years, within the provisions of the constitution of this state and the United States."

Roosevelt Leaves For Washington From Rochester

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—President Roosevelt hurried toward Washington today to keep in closer touch with an increasingly grave crisis in Europe. Secretary of State Hull declared American representatives are well informed of their functions in event of any European emergency.

Cancelling plans to go to Hyde Park, N. Y., Mr. Roosevelt left the bedside of his son, James, at Rochester, Minn., to come to the capitol. As he left he explained:

"I am not going back to my Hudson River home, but to Washington, for as you know conditions of affairs in Europe are extremely serious. That is why I go back to the national capitol as president."

Morrison, above, was shot in the arm by an unknown assailant as he was returning to his camp at Hammond, La. Morrison, bitter foe of Governor Richard W. Leche, is pictured above, speaking at a rally.

With his wounded arm bandaged, James H. Opponents characterized the incident as a "publicity" stunt.

EASTLAND 11 FOR FRIDAY TILT IS LIGHT

A light and, for the most part, inexperienced Eastland Mavericks team will journey to Olney Friday night for the initial game of the season for both teams.

With a squad of 19 and only five letter men, the Mavericks this season will have to "hump" to stay up with their out-of-district and district opponents, according to present indications.

The five lettermen are Buck Perine, tackle; Fuzzy Furse, guard, and Bobby Furse, quarterback; L. W. Mitchell, halfback, and Sid Barham, guard.

Estimated weight of Eastland's first team is 150 pounds. It is understood the Olney club is considerably heavier.

The Eastland starting team Friday will be: F. Furse, center; Eld Barham, guard; Van Geem, guard; Jimmy Young, tackle; Tom Davenport, tackle; Buck Perine, end; June Bryant, end; B. Furse, quarterback; Jack Bagley and Barney Smith, halfbacks, and Mitchell, full.

Outside the five lettermen, only four players are experienced. They are Van Geem, guard; McFarland, tackle; Bryant, end; and Bagley, halfback.

B. Furse, the light quarterback, is regarded as a passer of potential.

Pete Mansker is team manager. Admission for the Friday game will be 25 and 50 cents. Game will be called at 8:15.

BULLDOGS WILL PLAY UNDER OWN LIGHTS IN OPENER WITH GORMAN

Definite assurance was given today by A. N. Larson, chairman of the building and grounds committee of the Ranger school board, that Bulldog stadium would be lighted for the Gorman game, to be played in Ranger Friday night, Sept. 16, beginning at 8 o'clock. Delays in receiving part of the wire to be used on the job made a last minute rush to get the work completed, but the crews made good time Tuesday and the work is to be near enough completed tonight for a workout, it was stated.

A good crowd is anticipated when Ranger and Gorman meet in the first clash for Ranger's team this year, as Eastland will be playing an afternoon game at Olney and much interest has been shown in the "Bulldogs" this year, because they are expected to have the best team the town has boasted since their district championship in 1934.

After trouble arose on the team, in 1935 it was completely revamped and young boys, much lighter, younger and more inexperienced than any that they met, was put on the field for the next two years. But these boys have grown considerably in the past two years and are now large enough and aggressive enough to make a good showing, in the belief of everyone who has watched them work out.

They have trained harder than any team Ranger has had in many years, and what they have learned since the fairly good grid machine, one that will be trying, even though it may lose.

Gorman, which may have been somewhat underrated, has a strong team, too, with the line averaging about 160 pounds and the backfield being out slightly lighter, and with several experienced men in the lineup. Two, in particular, are playing their fourth year for the Yellow Jackets, and since they are two of the largest on the team they can be counted upon to deal any team they meet plenty of misery.

The Gorman starting lineup, with the substitutes who will see service, has been listed as follows:

POWERS STILL HOLD TROOPS IN READINESS

By United Press
LONDON, Sept. 14.—The peacemakers of Europe worked desperately today to avert an explosion. The balance swung precariously between peace and war.

There still was hope for peace without setting off the spark, but notions did not break their preparations to meet war if it comes.

Great Britain, the key nation, was ready for any eventuality. The king decided to return from Scotland at once. The cabinet held a grave two and a half hour session and discussed plans for immediate mobilization, if necessary, and the advisability of summoning parliament in emergency session.

There was no general public excitement, only anxiety.

In Berlin the government maintained an air of calm, but there was much belligerent comment in the press and among the people. The Belgian ambassador to Berlin reported to his government that Hitler had called a conference of his chief military and political advisors this afternoon.

France continued to hope she and Britain could put enough pressure on Czechoslovakia to bring about concessions which would avert war. Like Britain, however, she continued every form of military and economic preparedness.

George Favored To Win Georgia Primary Election

By United Press
Sen. Walter George, one of four conservatives that President Roosevelt is seeking to retire from congress, faced the crucial test in the Georgia primary today, and betting odds favored his renomination.

The president is backing Lawrence Camp.

Today's Georgia primary featured the busiest week of this primary year. Yesterday nine states held primaries in which no national issues were involved.

The results included:

Colorado—Sen. Alva Adams won the democratic renomination without opposition.

Michigan—Gov. Frank Murphy won the democratic renomination without opposition.

Louisiana—Rep. J. K. Griffith, backed by the machine of the late Huey Long, won renomination over James Morrison, who was shot and slightly wounded from ambush Saturday.

NEARLY 100 ATTEND LION REGULAR MEET

Ninety-three persons attended a quarterly meeting of Lions of five cities Tuesday night at the Connelley hotel in Eastland.

Lowest in attendance, the Breckenridge club, was awarded the attendance "prize" gold. Formerly the goat was held by Eastland, which at the Tuesday meeting had the largest number present. Ranger was second in attendance.

Dr. Rupert Richardson of Abilene, District 2-E president, announced that in the future Grambling Lions would attend a group meeting in their area. In order to revive several clubs in the group's district, Richardson assigned clubs to assist in their promotion.

Eastland Lions were assigned to assist De Leon; Ranger will aid Strawn Lions; Cisco will help Cross Plains Lions and Breckenridge Lions will assist in furthering interest in the Throckmorton club.

Horace Conley of Cisco, president of the group of clubs, presided over the meeting.

Entertainment features included music by Clara Jones Kimble's violin quartet, accompanied by Marie Plummer, and songs and dances by Dorothy Henry and Margaret Watt, accompanied by Mrs. Tom Watt, Mrs. Harry Henry, mother of Dorothy, was a visitor.

Mrs. Chamness' wrists and a throat had been cut. She was the widow of the late Stephen Chamness, attorney.

CASUALTIES IN FIGHTS HEAVY REPORTS STATE

2,000 Sudetens, With Machine Guns, Battle Hundreds of Soldiers and Police.

EGER, Sudeten, Area, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 14.—Battling almost on a wartime scale broke out today in the Sudeten area north of Eger.

Casualties were estimated by Sudetens at more than 30.

In the battle 2,000 Sudetens, armed with machine guns, rifles and pistols fought hundreds of Czech troops and police.

Shortly after news of the battle became known it was announced in Prague that martial law had been extended to three more Sudeten areas, making 11 now under military rule.

The smoldering animosity between Sudeten Germans and the Czechs, fanned by events since Adolf Hitler's speech Monday night, broke into armed rebellion over what started as a trivial incident.

The Sudeten version was that communists taunted Sudetens and a scuffle resulted. Police patrolling the streets tried to quiet the disturbance, but in a few minutes free-for-all fighting broke out.

FRAGUE, Sept. 14.—Two grave outbreaks with heavy casualties among Czech troops and Sudeten Germans occurred in Czechoslovakia today.

Several battling with an undetermined number of casualties on both sides occurred at Haberstark, near Eger, when 2,000 Sudetens fought Czech troops and police. Advances here said 10 to 15 police were killed in the early fighting, which was still in progress.

At Schwaderbach, also near Eger, Czech troops put down a revolt in which the Sudetens besieged the local police station and were surrounded by troops. Latest advances said eight gendarmes were killed. Casualties among the Sudetens were not known.

The Czech troops issued an ultimatum to the Sudetens to lay down their arms, but there was fighting before they could be subdued. Advances here said police had regained control of the district, except the police station.

With the latest outbreaks total casualties since Hitler's speech Monday night were believed to exceed 40.

Wilbur Carr, United States minister, visited the foreign office today for a report of events.

Lecture Given Boys Who Haze Six Freshmen

Twenty suspected Eastland High school upper-classmen were lectured Wednesday by Justice of Peace E. E. Wood for extreme hazing of six freshmen Tuesday afternoon.

Clothing of the freshmen, said Constable Hugh Carleton and Deputy Sheriff L. A. White, was stripped and the boys left on the Carbon highway several miles from Eastland.

A resident of the vicinity came to their rescue and retrieved the clothing which had been left a considerable distance from the nude youths. They had been taken on the highway in an automobile.

No action will be taken unless parents of the exposed boys demanded so, said Wood. The offense is against Texas law.

Justice Wood recommended that the guilty boys apologize to school authorities and to the boys who were hazed.

Other Youths Will Get Higher Training

Names of other Eastland youths who will leave for colleges and universities were announced Wednesday.

H. J. Kelly, son of City Manager and Mrs. M. H. Kelly, will leave Thursday for Austin to attend the University of Texas.

Collin Satterwhite, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Satterwhite, will leave to attend Texas Technological college at Lubbock.

Welcome Parties— Mirrors of a Nation

You can get an idea of the kind of world Europe has built for itself these days by noticing just what it is that nations show to visiting dignitaries when they want to make an impression.

Admiral Horthy visits Germany, and what does he see? Miles of warships, fleets of airplanes, long ranks of soldiers; the might of war, ready to swing into action at the nod of a dictator's head. Having seen, he is duly impressed; no one else, apparently, had anything quite as fearsome to show him. And it is just possible that the future history of Europe may—in part, at least—swing on the impression which these warlike little playthings made on the boss of Hungary.

To say all of that is simply to say that Europe today is a made world, in which the best energies and the most earnest thinking of the leaders of all the great nations are devoted to that one subject—war.

In a happier time, no one would think that the most important things which a nation could display to an important visitor were its warships and its fighting men. In fact, the natural impulse would be to exhibit those things which showed how well the country's people were getting along; the rich farmlands, the thriving business houses, the great factories, the universities and the scientific laboratories and the treasure houses of art and literature. A country rich in such things would be a proud country; a country which lacked them would feel the lack keenly, knowing that its citizens were not getting as much of a break as they ought to be getting.

For the objects of national striving are, after all, fairly simple. A government exists to ensure its people a decent chance at "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness"; it is the instrument through which they live together as a social and economic unit, and its one excuse for resistance is that it enables them to live in peace and security while they try, each man according to his talents, to win a little happiness.

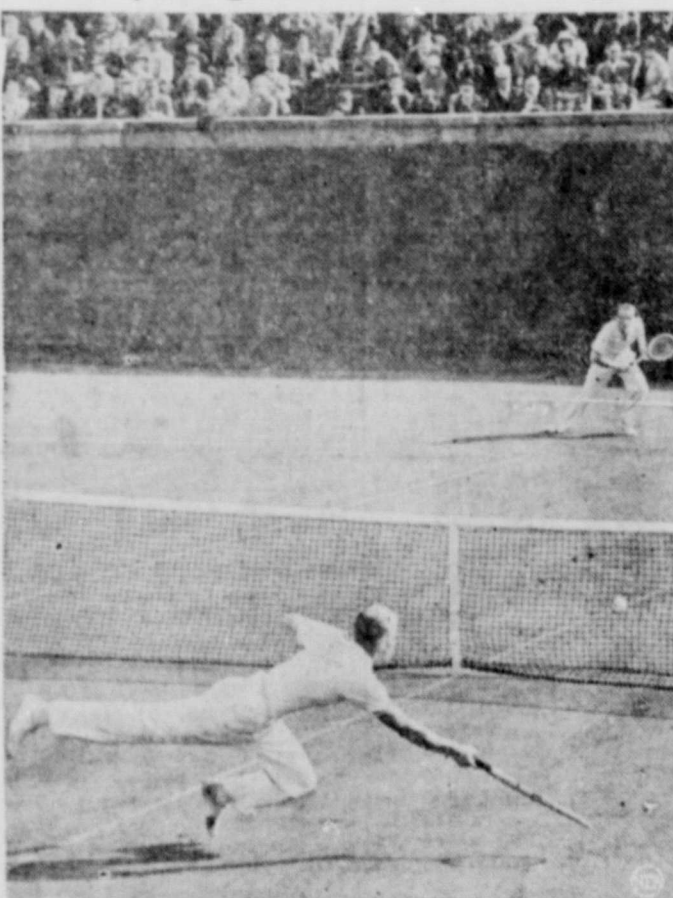

But in a world which lives under the shadows of war, that ceases to be true. The well-being of the ordinary man is forgotten, then; whether he is getting a fair break in his pursuit of happiness ceases to be important. All that matters is that nothing be overlooked in the preparation for war. And the ordinary man (who pays the bills for the whole business) becomes a person who is used by his government, rather than the person for whose sake the government exists.

That is the kind of world Europe is today. That is why Admiral Horthy looked at ships and guns and planes, on his visit to Germany. Those are the attributes by which modern European nations are judged. And as long as those things are the most important things in Europe, the lot of the ordinary European will continue to be unhappy.

As the men eat, so eat the women. That's an old restaurant story that keeps on being true.

The chef of the New Yorker Hotel, New York, kept a two-week record of the two dishes most popular with men. So be guided by what he told me and serve these dishes for your men folk AND yourself.

Beefsteak Pie

(Serves 6)

Two pounds round steak, 10 small white onions, 2 hard boiled eggs, 1 tablespoon finely chopped celery, 1 scant tablespoon lard, 1 cold boiled potato, 1 tablespoon flour, salt and pepper, plain pie crust, bay leaf.

Cut the steak into pieces one inch square. Rub them well with salt and pepper and put in heavy pot with the hot lard and carefully peeled whole onions. Let the meat and onions brown well; sift in the flour, and mix thoroughly.

Pour in one pint water, the chopped celery, bay leaf, and more salt if needed. Cover the saucepan and let simmer slowly for one hour. Remove the bay leaf and put a layer of the pieces of meat in a deep baking dish. Add a layer of the diced boiled potato and a few slices of hard boiled egg. Then another layer of meat, and so on.

Pour the gravy containing vegetables over all, and cover with plain pie crust, rolled about 1/4 inch thick. Make a slit in the center of the crust. Brush milk over it and bake in moderate oven until the crust is light brown.

onions, 2 stalks celery, 3 sprigs parsley, 1-2 bay leaf, salt, tabasco, 1 teaspoon onion juice, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 hard boiled egg, 1 tablespoon capers.

Proceed exactly as in making chicken broth. When the fowl is nearly done, allow it to cool in the broth. Take it out and remove the meat from the bones. Put the skin and bones back into the broth and boil down until there are only 1 1/2 pints of broth left.

Strain through a cloth and season highly with tabasco, salt, lemon and onion juice, and set aside to cool sufficiently to skim off the grease. Remove all sinews and gristle from the chicken, and cut in pieces about 1 1/2 inches long.

Fill a mold, or small individual molds, with pieces of the chicken, slices of hard boiled egg and capers. Pour in the chicken liquor and set aside to get cold. When thoroughly chilled and congealed, unmold on lettuce leaves. Serve with highly seasoned mayonnaise.

Chicken aspic may also be made by adding 1 tablespoon gelatin, which has been soaked in 2 1/2 pints ordinary chicken broth, seasoned as above.

EVERYBODY gets a prize!

Have you ever attended a "Treasure Hunt" and raced frantically all over the neighborhood searching for cleverly hidden clues? It's fun, but only the fastest win the prizes.

But there's another "Treasure Hunt" run every day where everybody wins! It's in the newspaper you are reading now. The clues aren't hidden or in code—they're made easy for you! The advertisements in this paper are the clues—and they lead you directly to prizes you choose yourself.

Perhaps you want a toaster or a pair of shoes or a certain kind of soap. Look over the advertising clues till you find what you want at the price you can afford to pay. Without the ads, you'd have to Treasure Hunt all over town, from store to store, from counter to counter, to find just what you want. You can save lots of time and money by getting your clues from the advertising columns.

THIS DESSERT GETS INTO THE MOVIES

Here is a close-up view of the banana Cream Dessert which was "cast" in the movie, "A Star In My Kitchen". It played an important part in connection with the love story woven into this Hollywood production, produced especially to appeal to the homemakers of the nation. Arrangements are being made for special showings of the film here in connection with the cooking school this week.

The recipe was selected from the 1938 Frigidaire recipe book and is shown here with the Frigidaire super freezer in which it was made.

For those who may be interested, here is the recipe in full:

BANANA CREAM

Six Servings

- 1 medium size banana
- 3/4 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/16 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1 1/2 pints coffee cream

Slice banana very thin and add to sugar. Mix well. Add lemon juice and coffee cream and pour into freezing tray and allow to freeze firm. Remove to ice-cold mixing bowl, add vanilla, and beat with electric or hand beater until mixture becomes very light. Return to freezing tray and allow to finish freezing without further agitation.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

By Bill Mayes

It was nip-and-tuck as to whether the lights would be installed in time for the Gorman game, but assurance has been received that all the lights will be ready and the game definitely will be played Friday night.

The holdup, it seems, was caused by delay in receiving the heavy electric wires that carry the juice to the lights. All the fixtures arrived, but the wire had to be back-ordered from the factory. When it had not arrived by Monday some telephoning was done and it was found that it had been shipped by water to Galveston and from there by train.

The wire arrived Monday night and work was begun Tuesday morning by an electric crew, and two crews secured for this morning. The lights will be ready by Thursday night, it is said now, but the main holdup was that the coaches wanted one practice session under lights before the game, and they couldn't give the team a stiff workout Thursday and expect them to play Friday.

However arrangements have been made and a good part of the lights will be up by Wednesday night, enough for a workout by the team, at least.

The more we think about it the more we are inclined to think those Gorman boys may have something.

That lineup, which has been on the desk for the past two days, keeps staring us in the face and those weights and that experience looks like something to worry about. The Gorman line weighs just a little under 160 pounds to the man, according to Gorman estimates, which may be light, and the backfield average 155 pounds to the man. And one of those back field men weighs 168 and has been playing his position for three years, this being his fourth. At least that is the way we interpret the statement that "two 4-lettermen are included in the lineup."

It may be a matter of opinion, but we think not, but the Bulldogs are looking better and better in practice each day, and the improvement in the past week is quite apparent from the sidelines. Of course they are not letter-perfect, by any means, and there are still things for them to learn. Yesterday they were given practice on kickoff formations, were taught how to come out of a huddle—and there is more to it than one would think by just sitting in the grandstand and watching a game—were practiced on kicking points after touchdowns, if any, and kicking field goals.

Those are some of the details of football that don't just happen, but are taught and learned and all have an important part in making a cleanly functioning team.

The school tax rate set at $1 for public schools and 24 cents for the Ranger Junior college.

Football Team to Be Theatre Guests On Thursday Night

A big time is planned for Thursday night, on the eve of Ranger's first football game of the season, when members of the football team and band will be guests of B. E. Garner, manager of the Arcadia theatre.

"Hold That Co-Ed," a college picture with a gridiron background, will be shown that night, as a prelude to the Gorman-Ranger game.

The entire football team will be introduced from the stage, along with the two coaches, in order that football fans of Ranger, who have not had an opportunity to watch any of the team workouts, can see who will represent the school this year.

Another Big Crowd Expected Saturday For Trades Day

Saturday will see another of the Ranger trades days in operation, and the public is cordially invited to take advantage of the many special items that are offered by Ranger merchants, not only in dry goods, groceries, furniture and the like, but many filling stations do special work such as greasing, washing, etc., that will be part of the trades day specials.

One of the largest crowds of the year was in town last Saturday, and another big crowd is looked for next Saturday.

Ranger merchants invite the shoppers of the Ranger trade territory to come to Ranger for their supplies and the merchants and business men of the city offer inducements that cannot be beat anywhere else.

School Board Holds Important Meeting

The Ranger school board met in an important meeting Tuesday night, when several matters were brought up for discussion.

The board went over the school budget for the ensuing year, and held a conference with officials of the Lone Cedar school.

The tax roll, submitted by H. C. Wilkinson, school tax assessor and collector, was adopted and

S. M. U. Is One Of Most Unknown of Grid Teams

DALLAS.—The Southern Methodist University Mustangs begin their 1938 football season as one of the stronger—but the most unpredictable—of the teams in the Southwest conference.

Wise coaches of the conference already have warned that SMU has a team to be wary of. Head Coach Madison (Matty) Bell has a roster that is impressive on the practice field and on paper despite the loss of eight seniors from graduation.

Two seasons—in which Bell's teams fell two games short of breaking even—have elapsed since Southern Methodist captured the Southwest title with a sensational victory over Texas Christian, then lost to Leland Stanford at the Rose Bowl. History indicates that the Mustangs are on the uprend this year.

Bell has a probable starting lineup of five seniors, four juniors and two sophomores. His two biggest holes now are at the ends, where Co-Captain Pete Acker and Keith Ranpot played brilliantly last year.

Capt. Charlie Sprague, 196-pound little brother of Mortimer (Bud) Sprague of West Point grid fame, and Billy Dewell, 6-foot 4-inch senior who was all-conference as a sophomore, are chosen to fill those vacancies. Sprague is being shifted from tackle.

Raymond Mallouf, a sophomore from Sayre, Okla., is the touted star of the backfield. His kicking and passing are styled beautifully to Bell's tactics of play.

Other key backfielders are Nolan Jackson, half, who runs with the ball, gets down under passes, and serves as marshal; John Harlow, half from Amarillo, a former all-state player in Texas; and Bob Belville, driving runner with the ball.

The line probably will include Clifford Matthews and George Sanders, both veterans, at guard; Willie Curik and Jack Sanders (brother of George) at tackle; and Raymond Pope at center.

Bell, who holds a lifetime contract at Southern Methodist, won 12 consecutive games in 1935, the first year after he was promoted from assistant coach when Ray Mc...son went to Vanderbilt.

Southern Methodist's 1938 grid schedule follows:
Sept. 24—North Texas Teachers, at Dallas.

Oct. 1—University of Arizona, at Dallas.

Oct. 7—Marquette University, at Chicago.

Oct. 22—Pittsburgh University, at Pittsburgh.

*Oct. 29—University of Texas, at Austin.

*Nov. 5—Texas A. & M. College, at Dallas.

*Nov. 12—University of Arkansas, at Dallas.

typewriter keys were clacking when someone knocked on the door. Who was that? If it was a garrulous neighbor—
"Bruce!" she exclaimed, as she threw the door back. "How'd you find me?"
"I see Mr. Sandy every day or so. Here—take a look." He gave her a manila envelope. "Open—read." She glanced from the envelope to Bruce. This was a different Bruce, a more determined Bruce than she had ever known. "All right—sit down."

She opened the envelope. Drew out galley-proofs of a short story. Bruce said: "Sold that last month—wanted to surprise you, so I didn't mention it."
Linda's eyes swept through the lines. She looked up. "You rascal! You've put Uncle Sandy in this; he's the whole show!"
Bruce grinned. "No, just a composite of the Uncle Sandys in the Blue Grass. About time for a new character in light fiction: like Ephraim Tutt, or Tugboat Annie, or old Judge Priest—only different." He sobered. "They want more."

He got up, took the proofs from her. "Got to go—correct these tonight. Map out another one. Be seeing you." He smiled—and was out the door without another word. Linda stood still a moment. Heard his footsteps die out. A catch came in her throat—
She shook her head. "None o' that, m'girl," she told herself grimly; sat down at the typewriter again, began pounding the keys.

FOUR days later Uncle Sandy asked, "Read the entries this morning?"
No, she hadn't. She, too, was busy writing. The old horseman sniffed. "And you the owner! Golden Toy—I dropped him into a condition race this afternoon. Six furlongs."
"Why—why didn't you tell me you were going to? I thought you had decided to hold him back for the Stakes?"
"He needs educating; you be in the paddock at 4 o'clock."
And at 4 o'clock Norman led the blanketed colt into the enclosure. The saddle bell rang; valets trooped in with their jockeys' tack. Norman brought the colt up; Uncle Sandy skillfully saddled him. Then jockeys—the sun flashing on their silks—came down the tanbank path. Said the trainer: "I got Marder ridin'—best boy there be for handlin' a green 2-year-old."

Marder, who had ridden a thousand horses to victory, nodded; said nothing. Chewed gum as if unconcerned. The bugle sounded the call to the post. The jockey grasped the reins with one hand, his saddle with the other. "Up you go!" Uncle Sandy threw him up. The horses paraded out.

Linda, her nerves a-jangle, went with Uncle Sandy into the infield, to watch the race closely. "If there ain't no post delay—" the trainer muttered. Then—
"They're off!"

THE shout went up from the stands as the field shot out from the starting-gate. "Durn it, he didn't get out in front," Uncle Sandy said, as a great golden animal, ridden by a jockey in scarlet and purple, streaked ahead of the pack. "He's opened daylight—yeh, sir, we got a right good colt!"
Uncle Sandy spoke judicially. "Now they comin' to the turn—he's opening up more daylight—"
"Whoa, there!" the trainer shouted excitedly. His trainee eyes saw it first. Now Linda saw—and her heart seemed to stop. Golden Toy was running wide coming into the stretch—running to the outside fence—Marder was fighting him—
"Oh, shucks!" Uncle Sandy exclaimed. "Come on—race is over for us." But it wasn't—quite. The colt lost a half dozen lengths of the run-out; but Marder, speeding him along the tow-path by the outer rail, managed to finish third. The disappointed crowd—Golden Toy had been heavily played on—hissed and booed as Marder rode back to weigh out. Uncle Sandy took Linda's arm. "Don't worry, honey—the crowd's always a fool," he said.

Marder slid from the colt, jerked the saddle off, weighed out then came to Uncle Sandy and disgruntled Norman blanketed the colt and led him away.
"What happened, son?" Uncle Sandy asked.
Marder took a deep breath. Said: "Awful sorry, boss—but I couldn't help it. We was three-quarters around the turn—I was holding him steady, then, like a flash o' lightning, he shot to the rail."

Uncle Sandy nodded. Repeated the track's oldest phrase, "Better luck next time." Then, "I want you for the Stakes, son. We'll break him of that." The trainer started back to the stable, to cool out the colt. Linda went through the gate onto the clubhouse lawn. And almost ran into Mor e Hill's arms.

"Linda! I just shipped in from New York! Been looking for you; then I saw the Toy entered. Knew I'd find you at the finish. Come on—I've got something important to tell you."

diplomats and all high Mexican officials attend will be held in connection with the celebration of "El Grito."
On the 16th, the big event is the annual military parade. A full division, under the command of Gen. Pedro J. Almada, inspector general of the army, will pass in front of the presidential palace and along the main boulevards. Ten thousand men will parade, using for the first time the new French-type helmets which the army recently adopted.
The Mexican troops will be joined by a detachment of Cuban sailors, who were sent in two Cuban gunboats to Vera Cruz to return the visit of a Mexican "cultural mission" which recently went to Havana.
Another big event of the day is the drawing of the 1,000,000 peso "Independence Lottery." The actual drawing is surrounded by considerable pomp and circumstance, with vaudeville acts, bands playing, and thousands of people listening in on the radio to hear if they are lucky. There are three 1,000,000 peso lottery drawings a year.

Big celebrations are held also on the night of September 15, in all cities, towns, villages and hamlets, with considerable firing of fireworks.

Farm Program of McDonald Urged
By Geo. B. Terrell

AUSTIN, Texas—George B. Terrell, former commissioner of agriculture, today endorsed the domestic allotment plan of J. E. McDonald, present agriculture commissioner, and declared that "Texas farmers will fight" until the federal control plan is abandoned.
"Texas farmers should organize immediately against the AAA farm control program," Terrell said as he called upon McDonald in his office here. "Out where I live in Cherokee county we can't even get a permit to sell our cotton now and it's stacked up by the hundreds of bales."
"Ninety-five per cent of the farmers and business men who understand the domestic allotment plan are for it," Terrell declared. "The main benefit of the plan is that it will double the value of the cotton crop in the south and it will not cost the federal government one cent in bounties to the farmers. What the cotton farmers need is increased purchasing power and the domestic allotment plan will give it to them. And with that purchasing power they themselves can increase the requirements of the nation's cotton mills from 8,000,000 bales annually to 11,000,000 bales annually. The greatest potential market for cotton is the cotton farmers themselves. And the domestic allotment plan would establish a parity price for cotton."
Terrell served as agriculture commissioner from 1921 to 1931 and now lives on his farm near Alto in Cherokee county.

Sport Glances... By Grayson

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service
PITTSBURGH — Pittsburgh is making it tough for Pie Traynor and the Pirates.
The Pirates take it for granted that the Buccaneers will win the National League pennant.
A local newspaper is running a sports quiz contest, the winners prizes being free trips to world series games played away from Pittsburgh.
The assumption is, of course, that there will be but one city to which to escort fortunate contestants.
This despite the fact that Traynor knows that only an exceptionally crazy race in a circuit noted for nutty races has saved the Corsairs.
The club has another eastern trip—finishes the grind away from home.
Traynor wonders what club is winning all the games.
"Certainly, we are not," he smiled. "Everybody seems to be losing."
"We're still on top and we've looked terrible. We look especially bad against second division clubs. You should have seen the Phillies play against us. They looked like the league leaders and we gave a fine imitation of cellar champions. Ennett Mueller was on third base for them and he just tore the cover off the ball."
"When the Bees came to town there was another shrimp, Rabbit Warstler, coming up and breaking up all the games. He'd hit me just out of reach of the shortstop and then he'd hit one that Lloyd Wasser would just miss catching. It was enough to make you go mad."
The Pirates haven't been hitting a lick in most of their recent games.

THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Behind the scenes of a Senate investigation far more goes on than is apparent in full dress public hearings.
Only occasionally is a committee surprised by testimony. Usually there has been a long period of painstaking investigation, careful preparation of documentary evidence and pertinent questions, and other stage-setting.
Best current illustration is the LaFollette civil liberties committee.
Senator LaFollette and his colleague Senator Thomas of Utah set out to prove the extent to which corporations' detective agencies had operated illegally or questionably in labor disputes.
LaFollette staged preliminary hearings to advertise need for the inquiry. Union men told sensational tales of anti-labor violence and anti-union spying. Then, with an initial $15,000 appropriation and since grown to $150,000, a staff was picked—attorneys, investigators, accountants, statisticians, clerks, stenographers, economists and a chart-maker. At peak about 100 paid employees, volunteers and men lent from federal agencies were working. All were working in Washington, where they were known.
Starting out to show extent and methods of labor espionage, investigators promptly went after the detective agencies with subpoenas for records. About all they got was torn-up waste paper, through quick demands on office-building managers. Precipitated together the scraps proved sensational evidence against at least one agency.
Investigators naturally visited people who said their civil liberties had been violated. Sometimes evidence seemed reliable, sometimes not.
Banks nearly always cooperate, thus helping expose public officials whose bank accounts swell strangely.
Unexpected volunteers pop up, as did the garage man in Elwood, Ind., who found important evidence in a Republic Steel police captain's discarded automobile. Others offer "sell-out" information for cash, which is never paid. Investigators work 10 to 18 hours a day in the field, as they must have many interviews at night.
Finally comes a period of hearings. Investigators and lawyers work beyond midnight preparing cases. Lawyers prepare "briefs"—sequences of questions to be asked witnesses by the chairman. LaFollette and Thomas ask their own questions as well as those prepared.
Sometimes a witness tells more than the committee knows. He's at a disadvantage because the committee always has certain documentary evidence and he can't tell how much. Testimony often is changed when documents indicating the contrary are produced. Copies of documents and exhibits often bulk as large in the record as the transcript itself.
In sharp contrast with Chairman Martin Dies of the House "Un-American" committee, LaFollette insists on high standards of evidence such as would stand up in a law court.

Purchasing Power Of Car Owners Shows Increase

Purchasing power of 5,284 light car owners in Eastland County has been increased during the past 12 years by $179,127.60 according to L. C. Russell, manager of Goodyear Service.

These figures are based on a nationwide study just completed by P. W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio.

"In the United States today there are 15,260,266 individuals who may be identified as a distinct group through their ownership of light automobiles in the Ford, Plymouth and Chevrolet class, Mr. Litchfield said. They comprise about 64 per cent of the nation's car owners and, taken with their families, account for almost one-half the nation's total population. Improvements in product and method made by the tire industry during the past 12 years have brought to each individual in this group today a saving of $33.90 in his annual tire bill."

For proof of his statement, Mr. Litchfield cites the fact that tires used on light cars today give an average of 26,500 miles of service, as compared with 14,200 miles delivered by light car tires in 1926; that a tire and tube now costs $19.35 as compared with $23.95 in 1926; that today's tire gives $44.78 worth of mileage on the basis of 1926 values, thus reducing the consumer's tire bill by $25.43 per tire. As the average tire is in service three years, saving for one year is $8.74 2-3, and on four tires for one year is $33.90.

"With $33.90 released to him for other purposes, he may pay a month's rent for an average urban home, buy an extra average suit of men's clothes or overcoat, pay an average family grocery bill for one month, or buy enough gas and oil for a 2,500-mile auto trip," the Goodyear executive continued.

"Thus can the amount of the saving be translated into definite, tangible improvements in the living standards of the individual.

"The extra spending money accruing to this entire group of car owners reaches the staggering sum of $517,000,000 a year. Such a sum baffles comprehension. Stated in more understandable terms this sum, a round half-billion dollars, is an avenue, almost 500 miles long, lined on each side with newly-built homes in the $5,000 class, each with 52 feet of street frontage; 100,000 of these homes, or modern living quarters for all of the people in a city the size of Columbus, Ohio; the total amount expended by our national government during the first 66 years of its existence; the cost of 10 or more super-dreadnaughts for our national defense.

"The story of the tire industry's contribution to public well-being is but one chapter in the record of service rendered by American industries. In other lines of industry, where technological progress has been exercised, other vast contributions have been made.

"Under the inspiration of a free competitive system, modern products steadily improve the products of the past. Nowhere in the world is there a people so consistently well served. Nowhere in the world is there such a widespread creation and sharing of new wealth.

"Goodyear, quite naturally, is proud of its part in this record of accomplishment," he concluded.
