BULLDOGS PLAY COMANCHE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

The RANGER BULLDOGS have matched another football game this season, and will play the Comanche high school team at Comanche Friday night, beginning at 8 o'clock. Arrangements for the game were completed Monday night.

The Comanche team is expected to be a severe test for the Bulldogs, as the team defeated Stephenville in the first game of the season last week-end by a score of 21 to 7. Stephenville, co-champions of the Oil Belt last year, had several of their best players, but were said to have almost as good a team this year as the one which represented the school last season.

After defeating the Gorman Tilly Jackets last Friday night in a home game, the Bulldogs coaches wanted another practice game, and one with real competition, in order that the Bulldogs might be put through a stiff test before meeting the Eastland Mavericks at Eastland, Sept. 30, when both teams open their conference schedule. Newcastle was considered, but when Comanche turned in such a brilliant performance against Stephenville, negotiations were started immediately for a game between the two teams.

The Comanche game gives the Bulldogs a 10-game schedule, which is all the Texas Interscholastic League allows for one season, and completes the playing routine for the team. The only remaining date between now and Thanksgiving Day is on Oct. 28, the weekend before the Stephenville-Ranger contest.

Another Big Crowd Is Due Saturday

Ranger's trades days are increasing in volume as the events become better advertised over the territory, and Saturday will see another large crowd taking advantage of the merchandise offered. Specials are always available at the stores and the people are coming in from many miles distant to take advantage of the affair.

The retail merchants are sponsoring the weekly trades days and no money is being made by the association.

Ranger business men are well pleased with the way the trades days are being handled and the business interests of the city intend to keep the present plan in operation for many months to come, and anyone not aligned and cooperating with the group of 91 merchants is urgently asked to call the Retail Merchants association and come in as soon as possible.

Ranger merchants invite the public to participate in the Greater Ranger Trades Days.

RUSSIA NOT TO AID CZECHS IN THEIR WAR

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 20.—The possibility of Soviet Russia, alone, aiding Czechoslovakia, appeared blasted today when Soviet sources told United Press that Russia would stand by her treaty obligations, but had given no pledge to fight unless France went to war first.

There have been no conferences between Czech and Soviet representatives, it was emphasized, and no pledges have been given Prague, because "the Czechs already know perfectly well what the Soviet's position is."

"I can see where your board and its program fits into the plan I have for the industrialization of Texas," O'Daniel said after hearing members of the board report on their activities.

The planning board's 10-point program for the social and economic development of Texas was outlined to the gubernatorial nominee by W. M. Massie, Fort Worth, chairman; E. A. Wood, Austin, director; E. L. Kurth, Lufkin, who is in charge of the board's forestry work; C. S. Numerous industrial surveys have been made by the board's technical staff and those will be used by O'Daniel when he launches his campaign to bring new industries to Texas.

NINE KILLED IN WRECK OF CRACK TRAIN

The trains met at a siding 180 miles east of Los Angeles in the desert. The Californian, running from Chicago to Los Angeles, had pulled safely into the siding. The engineer swung down from his cab and the fireman, C. E. Morton, remained in the cab.

I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Plugger . . .

Any proud parent who knows what it is like to raise a promising infant and see him turn into a drug store cowboy should be able to sympathize with Dr. Lee De Forest.

Dr. De Forest is the father—or one of the fathers, anyway—of modern radio. And when he celebrated his 65th birthday recently, reporters who dropped in to find out what he thought of his brain child were greeted with this reply:

"Isn't it sickening?"

Then Dr. De Forest went on to explain that he has, after all, suffered the common fate of parents. That is, his promising child didn't turn out at all the way its father had expected it to.

"I seldom listen to it any more," he said, "except for a weekly symphony program and some cheerful music while I'm dressing."

"Not only are the programs poor, too much swing and crooning," Dr. De Forest went on, "but the commercial interruptions are maddening. It isn't at all as I imagined it would be."

"The way I envisioned it, stations would have been specialized—one would play symphonic music and opera; another, educational, and another, dramatics, and so on. In that way you'd know exactly what you'd hear at any point on the dial. As it is, one never knows, because too many stations are doing the same thing."

There is no denying that Dr. De Forest had a fair vision, and it is equally undeniable that what he got missed the vision by a thousand miles. But if it is any comfort to him, he suffered not only the common fate of parents but also the common fate of American inventors.

For if a father never can tell just what his son is going to be like, come maturity, and inventor in this unpredictable land of ours never knows just what his invention is going to do when it is turned loose in the world.

We aren't a particularly orderly people, and we have a great way of giving the people what they want. It happens that more people in this land want swing music, crooning, hillbilly comedies, and gangster dramas than want high-brow music; consequently, that is the fare that is provided. It may be too bad, but that is the way we do things.

Sooner or later we shall probably improve things a bit. Public taste does rise, slowly but surely. When it has risen far enough, its rise will be reflected in the popular arts—radio, movies and other media of expression. Until it does, those media may be the despair of the cultured—but there won't be much of anything the cultured can do about it.

London commuters are now taking advantage of a special low train fare before 7:30 a. m. Well, early to bed and early to rise makes a man less poor, anyway.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
SEA SERVICE STAR WRITER

ROAST FOWL is known by the stuffing it keeps. Here are two stuffings to improve the reputation of any bird.

Bacon and Cucumber Stuffing
(For chicken or duck)

Three slices (long) bacon, 4 tablespoons onions chopped, 1 cup fresh cucumber finely chopped, 4 cups bread cubes toasted, 1 can condensed consommé.

Cut the bread in small cubes, spread out on tray or large pan and toast in a hot oven. In the meantime cut the bacon into small squares and cook in pan until brown.

Remove the pieces of bacon and in the remaining fat cook the onions and cucumber until soft but not brown. Add the toasted bread cubes and the condensed consommé. Heat and steam until the consommé is absorbed by the bread.

Mock Wild Rice Stuffing

This tastes like wild rice but costs far less. And little ducks adore its flavor.

Three cups cooked rice, 1 cup cream, 1 can condensed chicken consommé soup, 2 tablespoons butter melted.

Combine bran with the cooked rice. Then add the condensed chicken gumbo soup and the melted butter. Mix well. Note: Mocked consommé is also good.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Grapefruit and tomato juice, dry cereal, bacon, waffles, honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Popovers stuffed with creamed tuna and peas, fresh fruit salad, sweet wafers, tea, milk.

DINNER: Roast duck, bacon and cucumber stuffing, mashed potatoes, string beans, orange and watercress salad, chocolate souffle, coffee, milk.

Savory Bread Stuffing

Two quarts bread cubes toasted, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup onions chopped, 1-2 teaspoon thyme, 1-2 cup melted butter, 1 1/2 cups consommé, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper.

Cut bread into 3-8 inch cubes and toast a light golden color in the oven. Cook the onions in the two tablespoons of butter until soft but not brown. Add the cooked onions, thyme, seasoning, melted butter and consommé to the toasted bread cubes.

Put in a covered pan over a low fire and steam until the consommé is absorbed by the bread. Makes about 8 cups of stuffing or enough for a nine pound turkey. This would also be good in a crown roast of pork.

Mass Found In 1908 Declared a Meteorite

By United Press
PROVIDENCE, Ky. — Thirty years after its discovery on a northern Kentucky farm, a metallic mass has been identified as a meteorite, the 19th such specimen to be found in this state.

Ever since it was found in 1908 on the farm of W. T. Yeager near here, the specimen has been kept by Yeager in his home as a curio.

He did not learn of its value as a meteorite until early this year when he took the specimen to the state highway department at Frankfort. John Stokly, geologist, submitted the curio to David

M. Young, curator of the University of Kentucky geology museum, who identified it.

Young said the 15-pound body was a siderite of the coarse octahedrite variety, composed chief of iron and nickel. The new meteorite was named the Providence siderite.

SERIAL STORY HIT-RUN LOVE BY MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

CHAPTER IV THERE was nothing but music, laughter, color inside the doors of the club, nothing to remind one of subtle worries, groundless suspicions.

She saw Larry's eyes suddenly grow alert, saw a smile come to his lips and a nod of pleased recognition as they passed another couple.

"Dottie Barnes," he told her under his breath. "Quite a looker." After the dance Larry maneuvered until they were standing near the girl.

Tall, sunburned "Sailor" Bromley detached himself from Dottie Barnes and turned toward Pat. She looked at him with interest.

A silky smile curved his lips, and a knowing, daring light danced in his brown eyes. "Where've you been keeping yourself, gorgeous?" he said.

"I'm new here. You see I'm a working girl enjoying the night out." It gave her a secret pleasure to see the way Larry's jaw tightened.

"DOTTIE BARNES" stopped talking when she saw Larry's eyes travel to Pat and Bromley. "She's more than a stenographer."

Bromley took Pat by the arm. "How about a drink? Who cares how many cops are hanging out tonight? You're too pretty to let it cruse anyway.

"No material any more," says the famous coach, amid his first good cry of the campaign. "Our freshman teams have won only three games of their last eight. Nobody coming up from them."

"We did get Marshall Goldberg's brother, Bill, this fall. He's not quite as tall as Marshall, but he's a bit huskier. Too bad, isn't it, that they couldn't have played one year together?"

Dr. Jock Sutherland nodded overcame at the very thought of two Goldbergs in the same backfield. Discussing this season's Panthers, which generally are expected to mop up in general, the good doctor complains that they will have no replacements to speak of.

"I shudder to think what will happen to us if anybody gets hurt," shudders the large Scotsman. "Offhand, I would say that, due to lack of reserves, we aren't as good as we were a year ago."

Dr. Sutherland asserts that Goldberg is playing football only because he hasn't anybody else. "FORTUNATELY he's willing," explains the doctor. "He won't, of course, be able to break into the open so much as from half and he'll have a lot more things to do. But he's got plenty of drive, and we may be able to do something with him off tackle. Goldberg going to fullback means that we'll have to play Dick Cassiano at half. And he was only a substitute last season."

So many candidates are to be nominated without opposition that sum total interest is less than in either the Georgia primary following day, when Senator Walter George is expected to beat New Dealer Lawrence Camp instead of being "purged," or the Maine general election on the 12th where former Gov. Connecticut's state Democratic convention, Sept. 13-14, is expected to renominate Senator Augustine Lonergan and Gov. Wilbur L. Cross. Liberal Congressman Herman P. Kopplemann, pro-Roosevelt candidate, has been deemed a loser since Attorney General Cummings personally endorsed Lonergan.

Agriculture Teacher Will Aid Farmers Running Terraces

Charles H. Bell, teacher of vocational agriculture in the Ranger High school, announced today that he will be able to begin soil conservation work by October 1, and insists that farmers whose fields are in need of terracing get in touch with him at once.

In discussing the matter, Bell pointed out the necessity of beginning the soil conservation work during the early fall months that other farm operations may not be interfered with, and that terraced land may get the full benefit of the winter rains, thus storing a maximum amount of moisture in the soil.

Farmers who have fields which may be protected by strip-cropping are also invited to ask for assistance in running their rows on contour lines.

The farm level and accessory tools will be furnished and operated at no expense to the farmer who wishes to cooperate. This invitation, of course, is extended only to those who live in the Ranger trade area, either in Eastland or Stephens counties.

If you are interested in doing any of this work on your farm you are asked to address your letter to the vocational agriculture teacher, Box 534, Ranger.

and show our teachers, we are behind them for the greatest school year in Ranger.

There will be plenty of fun and entertainment for everyone. We hope to have a good representation of fathers at this meeting as well as mothers. There will be no long speeches and no collection.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

By Bill Maves
The Bulldogs, after defeating Gorman easily last weekend by a 38-to-0 score, will have an opportunity this weekend to see what they can really do. No one seems quite sure whether the Bulldogs were strong or if Gorman was weak. At any rate, there were several rather ragged looking spots in the Bulldog play that should have been ironed out in that Gorman game.

This week end they meet the Comanche High School football players — and we presume they are called Indians, or Chiefs, or Braves, or Redskins, or something — but we can't remember right now. To some Comanches may be just another Class-B team, but this year they appear to be more than just that. Last week they polished off Stephenville by a score of 21 to 6, which would indicate something. You can take your choice. At any rate it will give the Bulldogs the coaches, and the fans an opportunity to compare the Bulldogs with Stephenville. And they have to play Stephenville later in the season.

Some new and rather tricky looking plays are being given the Bulldogs. So far they aren't working just right as the timing is not perfect, but they should be good once they are mastered. Few plays were used against Gorman, but against Comanche Friday night they probably will have a few more, and some that are pretty deceptive looking, even in practice with the timing not so hot.

The Comanche game, which will be played Friday night in Comanche, will round out the Bulldog schedule for the year, as only 10 games are allowed under interscholastic league rules, and, on the possibility that the Bulldogs are still in the running later in the season, the game with Highland Park at Dallas would have to be forfeited, or something, to keep within the 10-game limit.

NOTES OFF THE CUFF—We have been asked to protest about the spectators occupying the sidelines—and the players' bench. Not by the coaches, however. The ticket windows at the stadium are being painted white and green. A heavy screen is to be installed in front of the press box to keep kids from using the desks as seats during a game. And lights are to be put in the press box. We are glad. Last week we got a headache trying to write in the dark. Something is going to have to be done about the light standards at Bulldog Stadium. They are filling up with water and will rust out before long if not drained. Several suggestions have been made. Drain holes had to be punched in the uprights on the stands, too, for the same reason. We still say Charlie Martin would make one of the best lull carriers, especially in the open, if he would learn his signals well enough to get into the game. Eastland has been invited to play the Eastland-Ranger game in Ranger under the new bulbs. But Sept. 30, the day the game is scheduled, is the middle day of the fair at Eastland, and the game may remain over there. Mrs. Bill Tipton should make her letter this year. She seldom, if ever, misses a practice session and always sits in the stands and watches the team closely. She should know those plays better than some of the Bulldogs. Eastland is reported to have but 19 men on the entire squad. The Abilene papers are singing the blues because the Eagle backfield weighs but 132, 143, 157 and 162 pounds, respectively, which is above the average

Railways Lose On President's Trips

By Frederick A. Storm
United Press White House Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Railroads lose money when they carry the President of the United States, but they love it.

The loss is not a matter of free rides, for the President and those of his party pay the same fares as do ordinary citizens. An Interstate Commerce Commission regulation provides for that.

It comes because the carriers are forced to add expense in the handling of the Presidential Special. They must be certain that everything is perfect—that the train is not delayed, that all equipment is in order, in short, that the President a swift, comfortable and trouble-free ride.

New equipment is trotted out. The latest type engine gets a fresh coat of paint. The engineer and fireman, when notified that they are going to take out the Presidential Special, show up in new overalls, cap and bandana.

The job of moving the President from one city to another is an anxious one for the executives. Tom Daniel Willard, head of the Baltimore and Ohio, receives a report every hour, night and day, on the progress of the Roosevelt train while on his system.

None of the big bosses wants anything to happen. On more than one occasion this correspondent has heard railroad men heave a sigh of relief as the special was shunted the tracks of a competing line after finishing its run on his road.

The high cost of handling a Presidential Special is not only in equipment. Additional man power is required all along the route.

Clothes Define a Caste for Nudists

SANTA CRUZ, Calif.—A caste system for nudists has been introduced into the Elysium colony near Holy City, according to Arch McDowell, its manager.

The system, McDowell avers, has one great advantage over all other caste systems in the world. A person who starts in one caste is not condemned to remain there for life.

Instead, there is a progressive system. All that is required for the candidate to progress is for him to discard more clothes.

The topography of the Elysium colony does much to make this possible. In the center is a hill with an altitude of 1,125 feet. It is here that the system approaches its highest form — that of complete nudity.

The hill has been divided into a series of horizontal barriers or zones.

At the base nudists can wear all the clothes they want. Then, if they wish, they can pass on up into the higher zone by shedding a few clothes.

However, those who attain the highest caste (and altitude) of nudity may descend only by putting on their clothes.

The great advantage of the system, McDowell explains, is that it keeps those who are not confirmed nudists separated from those who are.
