WALLACE SAYS COTTON PLAN IS NECESSARY

By United Press
FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 30.—Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace appealed to cotton farmers today to continue their support of the federal crop control plan, which he described as a "middle road" to increased incomes.

Wallace, speaking before 7500 Texas farmers and southern workers for the AAA, attacked the so-called "domestic allotment" program for cotton and the theory that larger government payments are needed. He suggested that under federal loans might be distributed for relief purposes.

"The time is come for cotton farmers to make up their minds where they stand," he said. "Without the program surplus will pile up, prices will be ruined and income will fall. No other program that I know would give cotton farmers or other farmers as large an income over a period of years."

'40 and 8's' Roll in Czechoslovakia

The scene pictured above, is duplicated in the snap shot album of many an American World War veteran. It shows doughboys of the Czechoslovakian army leaving for the Sudetenland "front" in box cars reminiscent of the bone-wracking "40 and 8" freight vans of France. Another familiar touch is the group of women giving food to the departing soldiers. The slogan chalked on the car wall means "We will not give up the country—we will not give in."

GERMANS AND BRITISH SIGN PEACE "PAPER"

By United Press
MUNICH, Germany, Sept. 30.—A historic four-power agreement for the cessation of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland to Germany was sealed today with a British-German pledge to work jointly for the peace of Europe and "never to go to war with one another again."

Prime Minister Chamberlain for Britain and Adolf Hitler of Germany agreed to use consultations to settle future disputes. Promised to continue efforts to consolidate Europe's peace and said:

"We regard the agreement, signed last night, and the Anglo-German naval agreement, as symbolic of a decision by our two peoples never to go to war with one another again."

Chamberlain's announcement that occupation of the first 400 square miles of Sudetenland would start tomorrow, was made at a reception for the British-American press. He said:

"I always had in mind that if we found a peaceful solution of the Czech question, it might open the way to general appeasement in Europe."

Chamberlain said occupation by German troops will start "late tomorrow."

Shortly after wards Chamberlain left by air for London. Before he left Munich Premier Laval of France stated, "I believe the Munich meeting may mark an historical date for Europe."

A little while before the Czech legation at London had announced their government had accepted the four-power agreement.

But hope now surged in all Europe that the threat of general war might be turned into a triumph for peace.

Chamberlain himself announced that the German troops would enter Sudetenland, almost certainly, it was understood, with Hitler at their head.

Fire Prevention Is Urged For Week Of Its Observance

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 30.—Stressing the importance of continued vigilance on the fire prevention front, Marvin Hall, fire insurance commissioner, today urged state-wide observance of the annual Fire Prevention Week scheduled for Oct. 9 to 15.

"Fire uncontrolled is one of the most serious problems that confront us today," Hall said. "Each year its heavy toll in life and property is a black mark on the proud name of Texas. Only by constant and relentless vigilance on the part of every Texas citizen can we hope to reduce, and finally eliminate the costly destruction of this economic enemy number one."

"Active participation in Fire Prevention Week by every Texas citizen will go far toward curbing losses and saving lives, and, since fire losses have a direct bearing upon fire insurance rates, there are other practical benefits accruing from effective fire prevention."

"Fire Prevention Week is designed for every Texan interested in performing a distinct service to his state, to his community, and to himself," Hall said. "If we remember that the fire that never starts will never get out of control, and keep that thought before us each day of every year, then we will rightfully say that the practice of fire prevention pays big dividends in human lives and happiness."

LABOR HEAD URGES LABOR ACT CHANGES

By United Press
HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 30.—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, today shouted demands for changes in the Wagner Labor Act, called for the 30-hour week in industry and said the workers would fight against government control over their economic lives.

Addressing delegates to the building trades department a few hours after his arrival for the federation convention Monday, Green roared defiance to the C. I. O.

"After two years of warfare the federation emerges with the highest paid-up membership in its history," he said.

He defended the "absolutely necessary" to meet the recent economic emergencies, but said "pump priming cannot go on forever."

Delegates applauded as he demanded that the six-hour, five-day week be put into effect in industry immediately, without a cut in the workers' pay.

Czech Settlement Is Only a Prelude Chamberlain Says

By United Press
LONDON, England, Sept. 30.—"Settlement of the Czech problem is only a prelude to a larger settlement in all Europe," Prime Minister Chamberlain said today in a speech upon his return from Munich.

"Settlement of the Czech problem is, in my view, only the prelude to a larger settlement where in all Europe may find peace," he said. "This morning I had another talk with Hitler and here is a paper bearing his name as well as mine."

He then read the statement he and Hitler read in Munich, a "decision by our two peoples never to go to war with one another again."

The prime minister did not elaborate but authoritative sources revealed Chamberlain had discussed with Hitler and Mussolini a new agreement, including a settlement of the Spanish problem.

POLES READY TO MARCH TO CZECH AREAS

By United Press
TESCHEN, Polish-Czech Frontier, Sept. 30.—Polish army leaders had difficulty today restraining their troops from marching into Czechoslovakia now occupying 600 square miles of Lower Silesia.

The Polish government ignored the settlement at Munich of the German-Czech crisis.

The army was ready to strike, soldiers concentrated along the border, hoping for orders to advance when the time limit for Prague's reply to Poland's demands expires at midnight.

President Moscicki said at Warsaw, after a conference with his ministers:

"Poland is determined to settle its conflict with Czechoslovakia independently. The Czech answer to the Polish note has been expected for three days. It will be handed over tonight."

"Should the Czech answer contain no agreement for the immediate cessation of the disputed territory, the Polish government during the evening, will resort to measures which may involve the most far-reaching consequences."

State Police Plan To "Clean Up" On Texas' Motorists

AUSTIN, Texas.—State police plan to "clean up" on Texas motorists—in a manner expected to be pleasing to the motoring public, it was announced today by the public safety commission.

W. H. Richardson, Jr., safety commission chairman, said plans are being made to equip patrol cars with soap, paper towels and containers of iced water. Then, when state police assist motorists with repairs to disabled vehicles, there will be a general hand washing scene, followed by refreshing drinks of water.

The safety chairman said the idea is part of a plan to impress Texas and visiting motorists with the state's hospitality and to permit patrolmen, whose hands are dirtied many times a day assisting travelers with repairs to their automobiles, to "keep clean and cool."

"We agree there is hardly a task as unpleasant as changing a tire, but it can be made more agreeable if there are means of washing hands and being refreshed with a drink," he commented.

State police expressed the opinion that a cold drink of water may even soothe the hurt feelings of drivers arrested for traffic violations.

El Paso Farmers To Lose by Loans

By United Press
EL PASO, Texas.—El Paso Valley farmers will lose $500,000 a year under a "special schedule" loan program announced by the Department of Agriculture, W. R. Squires, general manager of the Southwestern Irrigated Cotton Growers' Association, predicted here.

The department's loan program sets rates of $10.75 a pound for "rain belt" cotton of 1 1/4-inch staple or better, and only $9.70 a pound for "aridized" cotton of the same staple.

"This discrimination will cost El Paso Valley farmers $5.25 a bale," Squires said. "The association will ask 2,000 cotton farmers in the valley to protest the ruling."

Starch Plants May Utilize Yam Crop

By United Press
DALLAS, Texas.—Two hundred starch plants, utilizing the South's sweet potato crop, are needed to supply the domestic market with the 200,000,000 pounds to commercial starch now imported annually, largely from Java, according to an agricultural expert.

Writing in the current issue of the Southwest Business, Victor H. Schoffelmayer, agricultural editor of the Dallas News, tells of the demand for the starch plants. The article is one of a series Schoffelmayer is writing for the magazine on "chemurgic opportunities in Texas."

"A sweet potato plant at Laurel, Miss., has proved highly successful and points the way to establishment of some 200 similar plants, each with 1,000,000 pounds annual output of starch," Schoffelmayer writes.

"Production costs on sweet potatoes are much lower than on cotton, and net income to farmers from that crop for utilization in starch manufacture is two to three times greater than from cotton."

Fear of Dentists Is Now Unjustified Health Officer Says

AUSTIN, Texas.—"In spite of the great advances that have been made in dental instruments, local anesthesia and operative methods, there yet are many persons who entertain an unjustified fear of the dental chair. Unfortunately, this attitude influences thousands to postpone the visit to the dentist until there is actual pain or until an accident to tooth structure occurs. Such a fear complex not only is foolish but often produces real suffering, the possible loss of one or more teeth, an unnecessary expenditure of money and even serious illness," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

"It is true that some discomfort is connected with dental corrections, though it is more likely to be fear of pain rather than the pain itself. However, in view of the actual damage that can result because of delay, temporary inconvenience deserves no consideration whatsoever in a wise and economical dental program."

"Common sense suggests that early discovered conditions are more readily and painlessly corrected than those that are permitted to become aggravated and for which a cure is sought as a last resort. The time to ferret out dental trouble, therefore, is before one is even aware that trouble exists."

"For that reason, it is excellent practice to adopt a regular six-months' schedule as the minimum number of visits that should be made to the family dentist. Naturally, if in the meantime the necessity of dental attention arises, it is wise to make an immediate appointment. Postponing a consultation on the fear theory increases the probability of real discomfort, not to mention serious complications."

"In short, what one should fear is not the slight discomfort of the dentist's office when the visits are placed on a routine basis, but the fear of pain, illness and unnecessary loss of money and time because of a fear-postponing attitude."

Czech Railroads Are Controlled by Military Group

By United Press
PRAGUE, Sept. 29.—Military authorities assumed full control of railways today as the cabinet met to consider the four-power Sudetenland agreement signed at Munich.

Czechoslovakia received with gloom and suspicion the details of how it is to be dismembered to save the peace of Europe.

There was a strong feeling here that the price of peace may have been too high and a deep distrust of Adolf Hitler's future course after his army had occupied the Sudetenland, inside the mountain barrier that heretofore had provided the Czechs with a natural defense against invasion from the west.

They Took 'Little Hell' for a Ride

A few years ago, when the big city gangs were making more noise and doing more business than they are now, it was common to say that they were "inevitable." That is, it was argued that city slums, plus economic pressure, plus the natural spirit of admiration which the big shots aroused in the breasts of impressionable youths, were certain to produce criminal gangs.

The argument was true enough, as far as it went. The only trouble was that it didn't go far enough. For while it was impossible to keep those causes from producing gangs, it was perfectly possible to remove some of the causes.

Not so many years ago, a certain section of Chicago was known as "Little Hell." It was a slovenly district of crowded and inadequate homes, and the young fellows who were growing up had no outlets for recreation except the streets, the pool rooms, and the speakeasies. It was a wild and lawless region; within 18 months it saw 42 murders, most of them centering around a street intersection which picked up the significant name of "Death Corridor."

Here was a perfect breeding ground for crime. The development of gangs in that neighborhood was truly "inevitable." The only possible remedy was to change the neighborhood.

That idea at length got hold of certain public-spirited citizens. They bestirred themselves, interested the city government, did some work and spent some time and money off their own hook.

Playgrounds began to appear. Recreation clubs were organized. And presently things were fixed so that a growing lad could get into a baseball game, or do a little boxing in a gymnasium, or do some bowling, when he wanted to have a little fun.

The results were magical. "Little Hell" changed, over the years. The boys who had naturally drifted into the petty gangs which, in turn, fed them into the big gangs, had other things to do with their time. Baseball and bowling were just naturally more fun than petty thievery and alley fights.

And today, as a news dispatch describing the change says, the young fellows who once were recruited to fill the gaps in the ranks of the gunmen "are now more interested in Joe DiMaggio than in Al Capone."

A growing youngster is going to have some sort of outlet for his energies, and he is going to have some sort of idol to model himself after. If society doesn't provide the right outlet and the right idol, he will find his own. Society pays for its neglect in this matter with gangs, crime, and general bad citizenship.

But the remedy is fairly simple. Any time society chooses to spend on prevention of crime a fifth of the sum it ordinarily spends on its control and punishment, it will collect rich dividends.

Steel Rises From Twelfth to Fifth Safest Industry

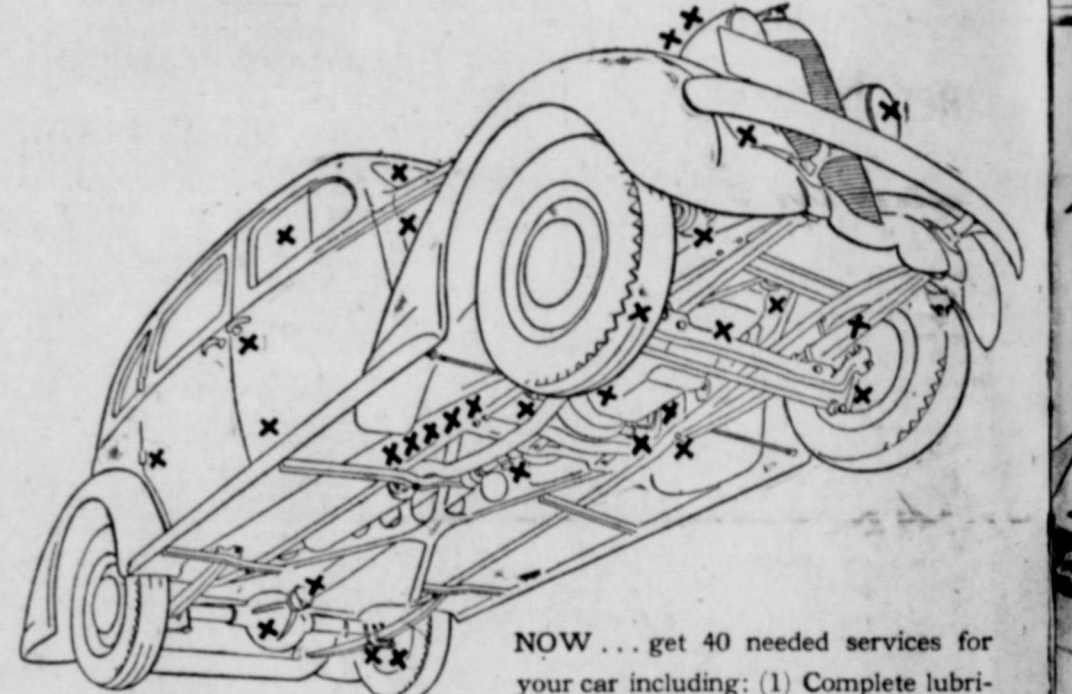

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—The safety record of the steel industry, as measured by freedom from accidents, within three years has climbed from twelfth to fifth place among 30 leading industries, according to an analysis by the American Iron and Steel Institute of reports published by the National Safety Council. During 1937, only the tobacco, cement, laundry and textile industries showed fewer accidents per million man-hours worked than did the steel industry. Of these four industries, only cement is comparable with steel as a producer of heavy products on a mass production basis.

Plane Is Used by An Arctic Priest

VATICAN CITY.—The utility of the plane as an adjunct to mission work in the Far North is illustrated in two radio messages just received by the Congregation for the Propagation of Faith from the "flying priest," Father Paul Schulte. In his first message, Father Schulte described how with a radio engineer and with Captain Cox of Bishop Turquetil's Mission ship, the M. F. Therese, he made an aerial inspection of ice conditions in the Frozen Straits district just within the Arctic Circle to determine whether the M. F. Therese might risk its scheduled voyage by that route. Hitherto few ships have passed through the Frozen Straits. The inspection, according to the message, proved satisfactory to Captain Cox who thereupon decided to begin his voyage at 3 a. m., the following day. The experience demonstrated how serviceable the plane may be in assisting the piloting of ships through Arctic ice by means of ice observations from the air. The M. F. Therese, it is pointed out, is the gift of an anonymous American woman. Built in Holland, it is equipped with a Diesel engine. The 270-ton ship began its mission career in July last year. Almost immediately upon returning from this inspection, the flying padre, according to his second message, set out again. This time he went on an errand of mercy with Dr. Thomas Melling of Chesterfield Inlet hospital. According to the message, Okumaluk, second son of the Eskimo King Hydsiauyav, had been shot accidentally by one of his five sons, Nypyark, aged 7. The plane brought Okumaluk from Igloodik to the hospital at Chesterfield Inlet, where he is recovering. During the latter flight, which covered about 1,200 miles, the plane once was driven back because of fog.

SERIAL STORY HIT-RUN LOVE BY MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

Yesterday Larry calls Pat's young brother, Bill, to help him to help Pat. He is to testify tomorrow.

CHAPTER XIII THEY sat there in the little cubby-hole of an office—Pat and Bill—while the day drew to a close around them. The boy's words had shaken Pat more than she realized. He had come to court prepared to tell a lie—a white lie as he believed—to save the man she loved.

She pressed her hands against her throbbing temples and twisted around in her desk chair. "You must promise not to do it, Bill. You can't do it. If Larry is innocent he can prove it without putting you on the stand to lie for him. If he is guilty—"

Pat sent him off home then, pleading that extra work would keep her busy. Actually she stayed to continue her own fight.

Pat sent him off home then, pleading that extra work would keep her busy. Actually she stayed to continue her own fight. The trick that Larry had meant to play with Bill shook her. He meant to do everything in his power to get off clean. Larry would use any means.

LOVE was gone. She knew that now. Larry had killed her love as definitely as when he became a hit-run driver. The act of being involved in a tragedy was not what had killed her love. To have stood beside him as he faced that charge would have been her right, the privilege of her love.

She slipped his ring from her engagement finger, watching the sparkling diamond catch the rays of the late sun. Tears in her eyes surrounded it with tiny rainbows.

"Still working away?" he asked, looking down at her while she tried to blink away the tears from her eyes.

HE touched her hair and picked up his books. She heard the door close after him. Tomorrow or the next day, he had said. Tomorrow there would be other things to think about.

"What does it mean, Pat?" he asked, his voice husky with feeling. "Can I help? Have you had a quarrel with—"

SOMEHOW she controlled herself. It's all over, Tom. I'm a lot better off. It—it just wasn't meant to be. I see that now.

"I don't know who he is, but I do know he's a fool to let something take you away from him. I wouldn't if I were in his place. I'd fight to keep you. There wouldn't be anything I wouldn't do if I were this chap."

"That's because you're different, Tom. You're—you're just you: honest and kind."

"Do you mean that?"

"Yes—everyone knows it. You can't be swayed when you know you're doing what's right. You can't be bought. You're honest, true."

"I'm honest when I say I care for you, Pat. Maybe not in the time to say that, but now when your world has crashed and you're so unhappy, but it's true. I care for you more than I've cared for anyone before in my whole life.

She put her hand over his, feeling his strength and courage, his gentleness and understanding. "I've never known anyone like you, Tom. I wish I could think only everything is so mixed up so—so horribly confused."

"I know, darling. I know, can wait and I will. Tomorrow or next week, or next month—"

She nodded. "Knowing that you care helps right now. Yes—late I'll be able to think clearer, any then—"

HE touched her hair and picked up his books. She heard the door close after him. Tomorrow or the next day, he had said.

Tomorrow there would be other things to think about. Tomorrow the case would continue. Larry would be found innocent or guilty.

Tomorrow Tom would either be due for congratulations for being the winning crutch against traffic offenders, or he would slip back into the role of inefficient prosecutor who lost an important case.

She put her hand over his, feeling his strength and courage, his gentleness and understanding.

"Only 10 minutes left in the visiting period. She's in the children's ward on the second floor."

Pat went up through the long corridor odorous with disinfectant.

Through partly opened doors she caught glimpses of crowded rooms, beds, drawn shades, dimly lit walls.

Someone motioned her to a bed in the corner where a small body lay quiet, motionless, in the hush. A worn toy lay unnoticed on the sheet.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON.—Justice comes alike to the rich and the poor in this great city of contrasts.

But the scheme of contrasts runs in two courts here, one the mighty United States Supreme Court, housed in a $10,000,000 marble palace atop Capitol Hill, where litigation costing many millions comes each year.

Down town in a rather shabby chamber of the Municipal Court Building is the contrast—the Small Claims Court of the District of Columbia.

This is a federal court, but also a local court. It's the "poor man's court." It handles cases which involve sums of $50 or less at practically no cost to litigants.

If they can't afford to pay the $1 fee charged for filing a case, the act of Congress says it may be waived. New York, Detroit and certain other cities have similar courts. But they're not common.

This one in Washington represents a formal blessing by Congress on the principle once enunciated by the late Chief Justice William Howard Taft, that something should be devised "by which everyone, however lowly and certain other cities have similar courts. But they're not common."

Ranger High School Band Is Honored by Chamber Of Commerce

After a strenuous drill practice by the band director, Mr. Milton Pullis, Thursday afternoon, the high school band was given a picnic supper by the members of the chamber of commerce. A committee composed of Messrs. H. T. Schooley, R. H. Snyder, Tom Youker, W. T. Walton, Joe Dennis, K. E. Ambrose, J. E. Meroney, Hall Walker, Lawrence Bryson, B. E. Garner and Mrs. K. E. Ambrose served the boys and girls.

Two tables had been laid, from which coney islands, ice cream, lemonade and cake were served repeatedly to the group.

The lovely cake, which had been made at the Schooley bakery, was eighteen inches wide and twenty-four inches long and consisted of two layers, one maroon and the other white silver. It was frosted with white icing and bordered with maroon frosting and roses of maroon placed in each corner. The cake tasted as delightful as it looked. The three hundred rolls used were also baked at the Schooley bakery.

The small barrel of lemonade consumed was mixed by J. E. Meroney. The chili for the coney islands was donated by Mr. Pina Moore and the winners by Mr. Hall Walker. Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Ambrose prepared them for the coney islands.

O. D. Dillingham contributed the delicious ice cream, which was plentiful, with some being left over.

Inspiring talks were addressed to the band by Messrs. W. T. Walton, K. E. Ambrose, B. E. Garner and J. E. Meroney after the supper, following which the band joined the pep squad in a rally on Main street.

Ward Employees Attend Meeting in San Angelo

Mr. G. L. Drake, local manager of Montgomery Ward headed a delegation of Ward employees who will attend an educational program at San Angelo tonight. Prof. James Watson, a noted college professor will be the principal speaker of the occasion.

The meeting will be held at the Cactus hotel and some 250 Ward employees from various parts of Texas and New Mexico will attend.

Those from Ranger were B. C. Johnson, Miss Nelma Robinson, Mrs. Roney Jones, Mrs. Frank Fox, Mr. Frank Hanrahan and G. L. Drake.

King and Roy Stevens, ends on the Ranger High team of 1931. Both were so well liked at Greenville they were given positions there upon graduation. King being assistant coach of the university.

And there may be others. If so we do not recall them at the moment, though there is an adopted Rangerite on the T. C. U. Squad, so we have been told. We are informed that Bob Jordan, who is listed as an end there, but who lives at Albany, played for a time with Ranger Junior College.

There's a boy in Europe who has won a philosophy degree at the age of 14. But then, in these times, they all get pretty philosophical at an early age over there.

At Tulsa University Corporal Jones, who played lots of fullback on the 1932 team, is playing end. Jones and Lyon, after finishing their eligibility here, played high school football in Oklahoma for a time. Lyon, Cole and Briley also played junior college football at Texas, if memory serves.

The last of the hitch-hiking bulldogs to join the ranks of university players is Gates Barker, who is enrolled at Furman University at Greenville, South Carolina. Barker followed two other former Bulldogs who have finished their university eligibility and who made outstanding names for themselves at Furman. They were Bob

Mrs. Hall Walker left today to visit her children, Amelia and Wesley and her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Hutchison, with whom her children are staying and attending school in Abilene.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

By Bill Mayes

At least seven former Bulldog football players are now playing on college teams in four states, and in most instances all are hitch-hiking to and from their schools whenever they visit their homes.

Right now probably the most outstanding former Bulldog who is still playing is Rankin Britt, regular end at Texas A. & M. College, who has lettered the past two years, and who is earning his third letter with the Aggies this year. With him is Onis (Stumpy) Warden, who, though small for a lineman, has made several trips with the team and who is expected to earn his letter at guard this season. Both finished their eligibility in Ranger with the great team of 1934.

The Arkansas Razorbacks could throw almost a complete Ranger backfield into a game, if they were so inclined.

Gloyd Lyon, who quarterbacked the district championship team of 1932 is calling signals on occasions with the Razorbacks, Ray Cole, who finished his Bulldog eligibility on the team of 1932, was undefeated and untied in conference play, is the mainstay in the blocking department of the Razorback backfield, while Joe Briley, who played half on the 1933 Bulldogs, is also being used in the Razorback backfield at times.

Public School to Popularize Labor

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—A new system of education which will "dignify" such humble jobs as digging ditches will be inaugurated in the Philadelphia public school system this fall.

Dr. Alexander Jerry Stoddard, new superintendent of schools, who resigned a similar post in Denver to accept the Philadelphia appointment, said, "we are going to try to implant in the pupils who probably never will have 'white collar' jobs that there can be a dignity and joy in common labor."

In outlining his policy to Philadelphia, Dr. Stoddard said: "As time goes on we are going to find that more and more educated persons are going to do menial tasks, and we must teach them to apply their cultural attainments to the environment of other phases of their lives. We must teach the children a different attitude toward the tasks of life; to place the emphasis upon living bigger lives rather than upon making larger salaries or wages. "I don't know why a man who is helping dig a ditch need feel ashamed of it."

Warden Fines Judge Six Ears of Corn

By United Press

TOWNSEND, Vt.—Judge John H. Ware caught a raccoon in a trap he set in his garden for the vandal that was destroying his early planting of sweet corn.

Because the law was on corn hunting the judge reported his act to the local game warden and was ordered either to kill the animal or free it.

When the judge demurred against the alternative the warden imposed a fine of six ears of corn—when it ripens.

Prisoner, On Way To Jail Finds $10 And Pays His Fine

FLINT, Mich.—"Crime does pay," and Thomas Hall, 35, who was arrested for fishing illegally in the Flint river can prove it.

Hill had no money with which to pay a $5 fine, and costs of $3.50. He was given the choice of paying or a five-day jail sentence.

As he entered a Genesee county jail, he found a $10 bill at the edge of the sidewalk.

He paid his fine, and departed with a balance of $1.50.

Average Motorist Saves $45 But Taxes Take Most of It

NEW YORK—If the average American motorist had paid the same price for gasoline in 1937 that he paid in 1923, his bill for motor fuel for the year, excluding taxes, would have been $42.44 greater, nearly 45 per cent, than it actually was, it is estimated by the American Petroleum Industries Committee.

Because the average price of gasoline in 1937 was only 14.58 cents per gallon as compared with 21.06 cents in 1923, the motorist might have enjoyed a saving of $42.44 in his annual expenditure for motor fuel. Increase gasoline taxes, however, reduced this saving to only $7.07, approximately 85 per cent of the saving, or $55.37, being absorbed by taxes.
