'The American Way' Is No Miracle

Czech and German children danced together the other night—in New York.

It happened at a fall festival staged for the children who attend a settlement playground known as the Avenue A. Children's Gardens. Youngsters of 17 nationalities play at this settlement and at the festival they all had a good time together.

At the end of the festival they all got together and sang "America the Beautiful." And then the announcer summed up the spirit of the evening by saying: "Now we are all Americans. We're friends now."

There is more to this little anecdote than just a mild human-interest value. It is easy enough to say that America is probably the only spot on the globe where youthful Czechs, Germans, Poles, Hungarians and Russians could have a friendly evening of dancing and singing together, to celebrate the end of a summer's joint work and play. But if we simply pat ourselves on the back and let it go that we've missed the point.

There isn't a thing surprising about the fact that a mixed group of children will play together happily if they're given half a chance. The point of the whole thing is that these children, quite unwittingly, reflect a way of life which is the exact opposite of the way that is now producing such terrible fruits in central Europe.

It is customary to say that we Americans have a whole continent to live in, and that therefore our job of getting along together is simplified. We have immense resources to exploit, a tremendous trading area in which to buy and sell, and we don't need to have these bitter rivalries, hatreds, and jealousies.

But the Europeans also have a whole continent to live in. It would be an even richer trading area than North America, if the barriers were taken down. It has immense stocks of natural resources and it is enormously productive of raw materials. What has been done in North America could be done in Europe—if people would only understand that it has to be done.

As long as Europe clings to the old idea of watertight boundaries and conflicting "national destinies"—as long as men believe that one nation can prosper only at the expense of its neighbors, instead of in cooperation with them—just so long will there be wars and rumors of wars. Men won't have a lasting peace until they come around to this other way of looking at things.

We can call this other way the American way if we want to. There's no call for us to get conceited about it. We had a lucky break, in that we were able to start from scratch. But the object lesson is just as good. And the spectacle of those children, dancing and laughing together while their relatives overseas were ready to fly at one another's throats, is in its own way a signpost pointing to the only way to lasting peace.

The Greatest Minority Problem of All

COLONY NEWS

Wednesday, Oct. 5, 1938 No. 1

EDITORIAL

Through the thoughtfulness of the Editor of "The Ranger Times," Colony is to have its own news column. This opportunity to give us a newspaper of our own is appreciated by all. Every community, whether large or small, has news that would be of interest to others. The column is to be one for school as well as community. Reporters have been selected from various grades to help cover the news of the week. However, they alone cannot make the column a success, for cooperation of all must be had before any undertaking will be a success. If at any time you have some news that you think will be of interest to others, turn it in to one of the reporters.

FIRST AND SECOND GRADES

We made a store in our room. It has all kinds of groceries in it. We are now adding a meat market. The one who makes the best report gets to be store keeper.

Lost: My little dog, Whimpy, left home a little while back. I would like to find him. He is a brindle pup and will answer to the name "Whimpy." I surely would be glad if someone would help me find him.—Jo Ann Weeks.

THIRD AND FOURTH GRADES

The Third and Fourth grades have started this year's work with a project on "Studying the Seas." We are reading all the stories from our readers about ships, boats, sailors, sea animals, and weather conditions at sea. We pupils have collected a number of sea shells. Our sandtable has a sandy beach with a real little sea containing a live turtle brought by Harold Smith from Corpus Christi. In the harbor one steam boat is anchored. We are planning notebooks to finish our projects. Our windows are decorated with white swans and cranes standing in blue water.

FIFTH AND SIXTH GRADES

The fifth and sixth grades met and organized a citizenship club, which was called "The Public Speaking Club." The purpose of the club is to learn to use correct English. Also we want to be good citizens. The following officers were elected: President, Q. Echlon Ivy; Vice President, Clyde Ivy; Secretary, Vernell Caze; Assistant, Anna Basham; Treasurer, Frankie Dean Ford. The program committee consists of Jewel Harris, Dorothy Wymer, Oliver Beck, and Bobby Ray Eakin. The club meets every two weeks. Our next meeting will be Friday, October 7, at 1:00 p. m. We invite the parents of the community to visit our club.

The first project taken up in health class of the fifth and sixth grade of Colony was the study of weight. The first thing we did was to make a weight chart in the form of a graph. This is the monthly record of weights for three years. When we weigh we compare our weight with what it should be for our type. In our study of foods we are learning about how many calories there are in foods so that we can select the proper foods our bodies need for growth. We are also learning other health rules to make our bodies healthy. We hope every pupil tries to eat the best food possible, and that their parents will try to help them carry out these health rules.

SEVENTH GRADE: The Seventh grade class finished...

THE JUNIOR CLUB

The girls in our club are in the third and fourth grades. We had a picnic under the big pecan trees on our school ground. We played games and sang at our club meeting. Our club meets on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. We have an enjoyable time at our meetings.

FRESHMAN NEWS

The freshman class of Colony High school was entertained by their sponsor, Joe Patterson, at the Home Economics cottage, Thursday night. Games of table tennis, bingo, "42," Chinese checkers, toning, and others were enjoyed by those present. A salad course consisting of tuna salad, snacks, olives, cookies and lemonade, was served to the following members and their guests: Misses Cassie Williams, Aleene Fitzgerald, and Mary Bell Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Anderson, Christeen Ferguson, Alice Caze, Frankie Lee, Georgia Mae Baggett, Jessie Morton, John Hathcock, R. B. White, J. B. McCleskey, Garland Satterwhite, and the host, Joe Patterson.

JUNIOR CLASS NEWS

The Juniors of the Colony High school have organized their class for the year 1938-39. The officers are: Hubert Thompson, president; Raymond Tarrant, vice president; Joe Baggett, secretary and Winifred Miller, treasurer. For the first social of the year a wiener roast was enjoyed by all of the class at Butler Springs. This social came during the first part of the month. The class met Thursday, Sept. 27, to select a play to be given some time during the next month. The name of the play was "Calm Yourself." The class seems to be well organized and on their way to a successful as well as enjoyable school year.

SENIOR NEWS

A very welcomed letter from the Southern Engraving company was received by the senior class last week. Information that work on the class rings had been started was pleasing to us. Class officers for the year are: Leroy Smith, president Jack O'Shields, vice president; Jessie Hathcock, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Guy T. Smith has been selected as the senior class sponsor.

Sports: The basket ball teams of Colony High School have started their practice for the year.

practice for the year. Two practice games have been played with Morton Valley. In the first game the Colony boys were victorious, the score being 16-25. Morton Valley girls won with a 13-4 score.

The same teams meet Wednesday night to renew their friendly rivalry. Both of the Colony teams were victors. The boys scored out Morton Valley, 17-18. The girls played a fast game with the score 6-18 when the final whistle blew. These practice games are helpful in many ways and we are looking forward to others.

The boys traveling squad composed of Jack O'Shields, Jessie Hathcock, Leroy Smith, Raymond Lain, Raymond Tarrant, Johnnie Stuart, Hubert Thompson. The team elected Leroy Smith as captain.

Six girls played the entire game Wednesday night. They were Imogene Stuard, Mildred Harrel, Norma Jean Hadley— forwards, Norma Ruth Crabb, Anna Mae Ivy, Hazel Eakin—guards, Mildred Harrel was elected captain with Hazel Eakin starring as co-captain. The girls are coached by Joe Patterson.

Another team which is fast taking form on our campus is our Junior girls. They played Morton Valley when the other teams did. The score was 8-14 in favor of Morton Valley. The following girls are coming out for the Junior team: Georgia Mae Baggett, Beulah Jones, Wanda Louise Graves, Christeen Ferguson, Jane Eakin, Elsie Ridling, Alice Caze. Their coach is Mrs. Estelle Adams.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAMS

The first four grades conducted our first general assembly program. It was an amateur program which was broadcast from our auditorium to the students of our school. The program consisted of songs, readings, and plays. Jo Don Ford was master of ceremonies.

The fifth, sixth and seventh grades have charge of the second assembly program. The program, which was announced by Bill Getts, consisted of a song by the fifth grade girls; readings by Jewel Harris and Bobby Ray Eakin; songs by high school trio; and a short play, "Mr. Jones Solves the Problem."

Reconstruction and beautification work on our campus and buildings is progressing nicely. Work is being done by two N. Y. A. boys—Johnnie Steward and Raymond Tarrant. A large flag pole has been erected in front of the campus. Beautification work on the school ground by the removal of rocks and trash has been helpful in making our campus a beauty spot. Rock will be placed around the trees on the campus. Other projects are to be carried out later in the year.

P. T. A. Tuesday evening, Sept. 27th, was the regular meeting of our P. T. A.

After a business meeting in which the plans for the year were reported upon by the various committees and the president, Mrs. O'Shields, a very constructive program was rendered on Parent Education. Mrs. John Ivy was the leader of the program, which was opened by a solo by Mr. Joe Patterson. Mrs. Estelle Adams gave the address of the evening. An enthusiastic round table discussion closed the program.

The Homemaking Club of Colony high school met Friday 23, 1938 for organization. The time set for the meeting was every other Friday, the name Busy Bee, the motto: Buzz to the end; Colors: Green and Gold, and emblem, Bee. The officers are as follows: Evelyn Harris, president; Anna Mae Ivy, vice president; Norma Crabb, secretary; Hazel Eakin, treasurer; Inez Ferguson, reporter; Norma Jean Hadley, song leader and Miss Aleene Fitzgerald, acting as sponsor. The club has been organized for two fold purpose, social and educational.

The program committee is working on the year books and plan to have them ready for approval next meeting.

Here they Come Down Our Street!

Remember the thrill when the six-foot drum-major twirled his gold baton and turned the big parade right down your street? Some of the world's most exciting business was coming right by your door!

There's another parade of exciting business that comes down your street every day—comes right into your home. It's the newspaper you are reading now. On the newspaper's pages march rank after rank of pictures and word-pictures of what the world is making today—from new breakfast foods to overcoats, from jewelry to overshoes. Lots of them are things that you want and need—and you have a grand-stand seat to watch them all march by. Just sit back in your easy chair and take your choice—the newspaper advertisements tell you all about them and even where you can get them. Make it a point to read the advertisements—they bring the world right down your street!

Bulldogs face their severest test Friday night, not excepting the game with Class B Colleton, which the Bulldogs managed to hold to a 0 to 0 tie. The Bulldogs, though they will be their first Class A game, averaged 96 points against Colleton in a competition while holding Colleton to date to goose bumps. It is no indication of the Lions' strength on Friday, but it might be said that the Bulldogs, too, are in a Class B pose and are in favor of the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs, however, are in a Class B pose and are in favor of the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs, however, are in a Class B pose and are in favor of the Bulldogs.

'Would You Mind Carving That in Granite?'

Assistant, Meek Mills, were in this part of the country at the time the two games were played and they surely wouldn't overlook any bets like that. Maybe Cagle was going on the first quarter showing of the Bulldogs and maybe he feels that he will have no trouble defeating Ranger, even after seeing their last half play, because coaches seldom predict a victory unless they feel mighty certain about it. Personally we have been doubtful about that Brownwood game, but we have been asked at least a dozen or more times how we Bought the Bulldog-Lion game would come out and on each occasion we have been careful about making any predictions. In each case we have stated that if the inquirer would meet us at the coffee shop Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and buy the coffee we would tell them which team won. If all take us up we will have to do a lot of coffee drinking.

At football practice earlier this week we talked to a man who lived in Ranger for several years, but had lived in Breckenridge for the past eight or 10 years. Just recently he moved back to Ranger. We did not get his name, but he appeared to be impartial about the two teams. He said that he had been watching the Bulldogs, and thought they were better than the Buckaroos. But, he added, he had recently been to Breckenridge and stopped by to watch the Buck-

Citrus Growers Do Not Approve of a Plan of Proration

By United Press

WESLACO, Texas—Opening of another citrus season in the Lower Rio Grande Valley finds citrus interests faced with opposition to proration of citrus shipments but with both state and federal citrus marketing set up and amended for the 1938-39 season. First meeting of the growers' industry committee for the ensuing season brought a preliminary report on the probable size of the crop from Carl W. Vandervort, who is in action. He now believes the Buckaroos have a better team than the Bulldogs.

manager for the committee. He estimated the new grapefruit crop at 13,662,000 boxes or about 15 per cent greater than last season and the orange crop at 2,145,000 boxes or about 45 to 50 per cent greater than last year. Several members of the Shippers' Industry Committee did not believe the crop would be as large as estimated. The lowest figure suggested being 8,860,000 boxes. Last year's production amounted to 11,850,000 boxes of grapefruit and 1,430,000 boxes of oranges.

Most of the fruit in the 250 orchards included in the preliminary survey, Vandervort reported, checked size 126 or smaller, the figures showing 67 per cent of all fruit examined to be small sizes. About 18 per cent were size 96, 7 per cent size 89, 6 per cent size 70, and 2 per cent size 64. The large sizes, 64s and 70s, were found only in Duncan grapefruit and Foster pink grapefruit, he reported. T. M. Malden of Mission, sales manager of the Texas Citrus Fruit Growers' Exchange, was named chairman of the Shippers' Marketing Committee. Dorsy Cott of Mission was named vice chairman, and Frank Hall of Weslaco was elected secretary.

Fashion Successes

(1) An unusually draped crepe afternoon dress, with bodice and sleeve entwined into high shoulder knots. Note the elbow length softly draped sleeves and the slightly lower waistline with richly enamelled flower belt buckle. (2) Yards and yards of billowing white net is shirred on narrow strips of silver ribbon for the bouffant skirt of this lovely evening gown. A spray of silver leaves trims the strapless décolletage of the tightly fitted bodice. (3) Fashion revolves around the up-swept coiffure, as shown in this beautifully draped Fall crepe model with updraped bodice and sleeves pushed up at elbow and shoulders.

Largest Cantaloupe Grown—Elmhurst, Ill.—This muskmelon weighs 12 pounds, the circumference in width is 29 1/2 in. and in length 31 1/2 in. It was grown on the farm of Oscar Plessinger, who attributes this phenomenal growth to processing and treating of the seed before planting, since the soil has not been fertilized.

Film Lovely—Susan Hayward, movie cutie, assumes a bewitching pose.

Millionaire's Grandson—Clerk at $14.50—New York City—Vincent Dyckman Andrus, grandson of the late John E. Andrus, "The Millionaire Straphanger," has started work as receiving clerk at one of the large department stores here. Vincent is 22, a Yale graduate and brother of Dorothy Andrus, the tennis player.

Even the Best Friends Must Part—Sad indeed are Pamela Holmes, 7, and "Barry," a St. Bernard. Ordered to be exiled by Justice of Peace of Bellport, L. L. Barry, who has never bitten anyone, had been accused of keeping three small children in a boat for several hours.

Can't Take It—This sensitive lassie, competing in the mammoth Baby Show at Hounslow, England, didn't relish being stared at by the judges.

Codeball, the Game With a Kick—St. Louis, Mo.—Introduced by Dr. William Code of Chicago, Codeball may be described as soccer on the golf course. The player, instead of using a club as in golf, employs only the feet in playing the rubber ball over a fourteen hole course, which has its traps, roughs and other hazards. The object of the game is to complete the fourteen holes in the fewest number of kicks.

Stage Star Meets New Screen "Finds"—Vivienne Segal, of "I Married An Angel," meets "Grease Boy" and "Miss Polish," two of the unique rubber puppets to be featured in a new type of color film being produced by Joseph Losey for the Petroleum Industry Exhibition at the New York World's Fair, 1939. The film is expected to be a revolutionary achievement, since the 8-inch puppets are flexible enough to express the whole range of the emotions. In the background is part of a working model for the "Modern City" setting for the film's later sequence, with New York's skyscrapers quite identifiable.

IN UNDERSEA WORLD

A member of the Marine Studios crew, world's largest aquaria, at Marineland, Fla. leads the only captive mother porpoise in the world by hand. This is the only fish that comes to the surface to feed when a bell is rung.

Honor for the Army—President Roosevelt is shown at White House ceremony presenting Collier Trophy, highest aviation award, to Army Air Corps. Left to right, Charles F. Horner, president National Aeronautic Association, William L. Chenerly, editor of Collier's; Brig. General H. H. Arnold, assistant chief of the Air Corps; Major Carl F. Green, and standing directly behind the President, Dr. John E. Younger.

New Protection for Defensive Players—(Right) Bill Moore models the new protective pads for players to wear over their regular football pants during scrimmage, invented by Coach Clyde Crabtree of Miami Beach High School. Thickly padded with felt, it gives the player's stomach, thigh, knee and ankle protection without hampering his movements.

Wanting to keep clear of the Pacific-Plaza's huge lobby, Tait guided her down the short hallway from the Golden Bowl.

dark head for a moment. "Will you need your bag?" he asked quickly. "I have it in my pocket."

THE shot wasn't fired from that table, though. It couldn't have been. Still, she could have slipped away in the darkness, then hurried back to the table before the lights went on.
