NYA Boys' School To Open In Ranger By Mid-October

Mayor Hall Walker of Ranger announced today that the National Youth Administration vocational school for boys would be opened Monday, Oct. 17, with 30 boys from over this area of the state living in the dormitory and taking training in woodwork.
The lower floor of the Masonic building, at the corner of Elm and South Rusk streets, will house the school, while the boys will live on the third floor of the Guaranty Bank building, at the corner of Main and South Austin streets.
Trucks left Ranger this morning to bring in more than $3,000 worth of Delta woodworking machinery, which is to be installed in the school for use by the boys. An instructor is to be furnished by the State Department of Education.
Mayor Walker stated today that all the machinery was new and of the latest design, including a Delco electric plant, from which the machinery will be operated, and a complete layout of motor-driven machines of all kinds. Plans call for addition of metal working machinery and a metal school later.
A total of 60 boys has been registered, with half the number taking courses at a time for a period of two weeks, when the remainder will attend the school for the next two-week period.

Austrian Flag Once Flew Over the State

NEW BRAUNFELS, Texas.—Recent crises in Europe involving Germans, Czechs and Austrians reminded local citizens that the flag of the non-existent Austria once flew in Texas.
Texas officially has been under only six flags—French, Spanish, Mexican, Confederate, Lone Star and United States.
But an Austrian flag was raised over the Fort Sopheimer that was built under the guidance of an early colonizer, Prince Frederick Wilhelm Ludwig Alfred Alexander.
When the fort was erected in 1874, the prince had no Texas flag, so he flew an Austrian flag he had in his trunk. He had bought the site of the fort from Spain.

C. F. Shepperd, Claude Strickland, Dr. R. C. Ferguson, Cyrus B. Frost, Judge Clyde Grissom, Oscar Lyvick, Herbert Reed, Leon Rowland, B. E. H. Faries and Congressman Clyde L. Garrett attended a regional Knights of Pythias meeting at Breckenridge Thursday night.

BULLDOGS GET SEVERE TEST IN LION GRID TILT UNDER BULBS TONIGHT

The Ranger Bulldogs, victors in their first conference game with Eastland last Friday, face their severest test of the current season to date when they meet the strong Brownwood Lions, considered by many as a contender for championship honors tonight at 8 o'clock.
The Bulldogs will have a slight weight advantage in the line, with the Brownwood backfield probably weighing as much, or more, than the Bulldog half carrying department, but with Brownwood highly advertised as having the fastest backs in the conference, dangerous men who have a bad habit of slipping away for long gains and long runs for touchdowns.
Most dreaded of the Brownwood backs are Chili Rice, who was so effective throughout all of last year; Frank Murphy, 148-pound speed demon, Bill McCormick, who is playing his first year, but who has showed up well in the two games the Lions have played to date, Dal Fish, 173-pounder and Duncan McClendon, 135 pounds of speed.
The Bulldogs' chief concern will be trying to keep these frolic breaking loose into a broken field, as they have seldom, if ever, been stopped once they have the field scattered where they can get in their hip shaking dashes goalward.
Little is known about the Brownwood passing attack, as it has been used little to date, but has proven disastrous to other teams when it has been used, with such fast men as receivers.
Against Class B Santa Anna last week the Lions completed but one of nine passes, but Murphy dashed off runs of 34, 64 and 47 yards, while the one pass was from Dal Fish, 173-pound back, to Chili Rice and was good for 26 yards and a touchdown. Duncan McClendon raved 54 yards for one score and returned a Santa Anna pass 40 yards to score another touchdown.
All-in-all the Lions accounted for 382 yards from scrimmage, with neatly-executed laterals behind the line of scrimmage giving Murphy an opportunity to circle wide around his right end for long gains and scores.
The Bulldogs, to date, have made their touchdowns on short runs, the longest two of the 12 made this season being a 27-yard gallop by McKelvin against Gorman and a 37-yard jaunt by Houghton in the same contest. So two entirely different types of football teams will be seen in action when the Lions and Bulldogs tangle tonight, before what is anticipated will be a large crowd.

Post Office Will Be Open One Hour Longer Saturdays

The Ranger post office will be open for an hour each Saturday afternoon, it was announced today by A. E. Crawley, acting postmaster.
Crawley stated, in making the announcement, that he had received so many urgent requests from business interests of the city that the post office be kept open on Saturday afternoons he had decided upon the plan of keeping the office open for one hour during the afternoon.
It was hoped by Crawley that this plan of keeping the office open for the convenience of the public would be appreciated and that the one-hour opening period would be sufficient to meet the demands of the local post office patrons.

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 7.—A Texas tavern keeper who allegedly fed one of his hostesses to his pet alligators and buried another in a shallow grave was accused today of a third murder, when Mrs. Dolores Ball 27-year-old brunet told officers her husband, the late Joe Ball, admitted to her six years ago that he had slain Minnie Gotthardt of Seguin and buried her body near Corpus Christi.
Ball committed suicide recently rather than submit to questioning.

Wallace Shakes Up His Department to Coordinate Plans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Secretary Henry Wallace in the most drastic "shakeup" of agriculture department personnel in a quarter century, set new executives to key posts today in a move to coordinate the new deal's farm program.
Resorting to direct action to meet emergencies resulting from farm surpluses and declining prices, Wallace reorganized the administrative agencies of his department. The most important move was that of H. R. Tolley, agricultural chief, to head the expanded bureau of agricultural economics.
Meanwhile senators considered subsidy plans and legislation to allow foreign debt defaulters to purchase commodities.

CZECHOSLOVAK PARTITION IS GOING FARTHER

Destruction of the post-war Czechoslovakia continued at a steady pace today when an autonomous Slovak government was formed by Josef Tiso, within the framework of the state ruled by Prague.
Unexpectedly large grants of Czech territory to Germany by the International Commission, set up at Munich, aroused resentment, but were accepted in Prague as Premier Gen. Jan Syrový called upon the army not to give Germany any cause to invade the republic.
The commission agreed that political prisoners held by both Germans and Czechs would be released in 24 hours.
Adolf Hitler continued his tour of the annexed Sudetenland and was greeted so enthusiastically a bouquet of roses thrown at his automobile scratched his face.
Meanwhile, fascist Italy overshadowed the Czech developments by inaugurating a broad racial program affecting 70,000 Jews.
The regulations were even more drastic than expected, inasmuch as they applied to Gentiles as well as Jews. In the future marriages between Italians and non-aryans will be banned. Government employes may not marry foreigners. Marriages between Italians and even aryan non-Italians must be approved by the government.
The action of the fascist grand council coincided with new warfare among Jews and Arabs in Palestine.
Sixty Arabs were killed in a six-hour battle with police and military aviators near Acre, bringing the total dead to almost 200 in a 24-hour period. The government has been vainly seeking a satisfactory method of dividing Palestine into separate Jewish and Arab states.
Elsewhere:
Spain: Prospects for ending the civil war continued slim, despite apparent success of negotiations between Britain, Italy and France for withdrawal of foreign volunteers.
China: Three columns of Japanese troops, totaling about 150,000, were closing in on 300,000 defenders of Hankow. Japanese reported they had blown up an important railway bridge 90 miles north of Hankow.

MEDIATION OF LABOR STRIFE IS SUGGESTED

HOUSTON, Oct. 7.—The first proposal that the American Federation of Labor mediate its three-year struggle with the Committee for Industrial Organization by the aid of outside "unprejudiced" persons, was made today by Daniel Tobin, head of the International Teamsters Union, in a surprise plea.
Tobin demanded that the federation's 55th annual convention instruct the executive council, of which he is a member, to keep the door open to a truce with the CIO.
"Tell the council in unmistakable terms that it must meet with these people if called upon," he said.
Tobin warned the federation leaders that their responsibility is to the nation's workers, organized and unorganized.
The suggestion of outside mediation in labor's civil war caught President William Green by surprise. Federation leaders had just applauded a savage attack on the National Labor Relations Board by Joseph P. Kamp, chief counsel.

Roosevelt Shows Concern About Spies In America

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 7.—President Roosevelt said today that he is concerned over the activities of foreign spies in America and is studying means of combating them.
The chief executive told newspapermen that he talked over the spy situation this week with Lamar Hardy, U. S. District Attorney for New York. Hardy is prosecuting a German spy case to go on trial soon in New York City.
The President declared that spying in this country is being conducted on a much larger scale than it was 10 years ago, with the activities of foreign agents concentrated on naval and military establishments.

Barriers Between States: Barriers to Prosperity

Gov. James V. Allred of Texas spoke to the point when he warned the recent National Conference of State Governors that various state taxes are creating serious interstate trade barriers.

The states, remarked Governor Allred, are forbidden to erect tariff walls. Yet in many cases they are doing what amounts to the same thing by use of tax laws.

Some states levy sales taxes on materials manufactured in other states. Ports of entry at state boundaries have made their appearance. And these things, said the governor, "are liable to promote economic provincialism if they increase at their present rate."

The development of these restrictive laws is easy to understand.

One state wants to develop its home industries. The products of a neighbor-state compete with these industries; perhaps the neighbor enjoys certain economic advantages which enable it to produce these things more cheaply. So the first state levies a tax on goods from its neighbor. It sets up highway patrols to check on goods which are trucked in. In every way possible, it tries to preserve its home market for its own producers.

All natural enough, certainly—and logical enough, too, up to a certain point.

Yet this trend will inevitably lead to economic disaster if it is not soon checked.

We have been proud of the lofty "American standard of living" for many years. We have compared our lot with that of Europe and have pruned ourselves on the better position which we enjoy. And we have explained our advantage by pointing to our nation's vast natural resources, or by expiating on the energy, hustle, and drive of American men, or by referring mystically to "the American way."

But the plain fact is that we have been more prosperous than Europe largely because we have not had Europe's intricate network of trade barriers to contend with.

Europe has great natural resources, too. Her people come from the same stocks that ours come from and must have equal natural gifts. Her technicians and engineers do not need to take a back seat for ours. All that has been lacking has been that great, untrammelled domestic market which our producers enjoy.

We restrict our own market at our dire peril. These state trade barriers will, if carried far enough, have the effect of regular tariff walls.

And if we drape a network of tariff walls across our great domestic market we give American prosperity a blow from which it can hardly recover.

The sudden tattooing fad in London caught the tattoo artists unprepared. Needless to say.

Polish March Into Teschen

(NEA Radiophoto)

Having fled over the Czechoslovakian border into Poland before the Czechs finally capitulated to Polish demands for the Teschen area, insurgent Poles, led by Dr. Leon Wolf, a former member of the Czech Parliament, paraded back in triumph when the territory was finally surrendered. In this photo, first to show the occupation of Teschen, the armed Polish legionnaires are pictured marching into Teschen, where like the Polish troops who preceded them, they were cheered by the townspeople. This first picture of the march was flown to London and radioed to the United States.

Scarlet Fever Is Still a Menace to Young Children

AUSTIN, Tex.—"Scarlet fever still continues to be a menace to children," said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, in discussing diseases common to children. "Many cases are slight, but they may infect others who may become seriously ill. It is treacherous and undesirable, and the only good thing about it is that if one can avoid it until grown, the chances of ever getting it are excellent."

"Scarlet fever is spread by the transfer of the infection in the discharges of nose and throat, ears, or abscesses of persons ill with the disease and those who are carriers of the infection. The handling of articles used by the patient may cause the disease. "Children under ten years of age are usually susceptible to scarlet fever. Children becoming suddenly ill with fever, sore throat, vomiting and showing a fine red rash, should have medical attention and be immediately quarantined to prevent the spread of this disease. The appearance of scarlet fever in the home should be immediately followed by a rigid quarantine for at least three weeks. The public should be warned against exposing young children to those exhibiting acute catarrhal symptoms of any kind. Take no chances—be on the safe side."

"The use of potent scarlet fever antitoxin is of value in shortening the course of the disease. The antitoxin should be administered within three days of the onset. Scarlet fever antitoxin lessens the complications, such as heart and kidney diseases, discharging ears and infected sinuses that often occur after scarlet fever.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
SEA Service Staff Writer

Carving is a manly art and beef a wily dish.

At Simpson's in London I watched the adoration of Roast Beef of Old England.

But Americans need not apologize for the quality of their meat. However, many American husbands might brighten up their carving technique.

Begin by sharpening the large bladed knife to razor keenness. Keep a steel near you as you carve. Give the knife a few licks on the steel every now and then. No roast cuts better than your blade is sharp.

Press the fork firmly into the center of the roast, and hold it there steadily with the left hand, so that the roast is secure, and will not slide around on the platter.

The platter, of course, should be large, to allow plenty of room for the slices which are cut off. Hold the knife in the right hand. Cut off the first slice, about 1-5 inch thick, cutting from the top of the roast, parallel with the platter, across the grain of the meat, from right to left.

When you reach the prongs of the fork in the center, the position of the fork will have to be adjusted. Move it as far to the left as possible, still holding the roast firmly. When the roast can no longer be held with the fork at the left, move the fork over to the right, under the cut slice.

Do not use a saw-like motion. If you do saw it, the meat will be jagged and uneven. Cut with a firm, steady stroke. Cut each of the other slices parallel with the first, and about the same thickness.

For gravy, take off the fat from the roasting pan, and strain. Nothing need be added.

Four and one-half pound roast (with ribs at one side), 3 cups water, 2 tablespoons salt, 1-2 teaspoon grain pepper, 2 stalks celery, 1 carrot, 1 onion.

Rub the salt and pepper into the surface of the meat. Put the meat into the roasting pan, with sliced onion and chopped carrot and celery in the bottom of the pan. Add the water. Roast for approximately two hours (less, if rarer roast is desired). Place in oven preheated very hot (500 deg. F.). In 30 minutes reduce heat to moderate (350 deg. F.). Baste several times during the roasting.

For gravy, take off the fat from the roasting pan, and strain. Nothing need be added.

600-Year-Old Koran Given to Attorney

EL PASO, Texas.—A 600-year-old miniature copy of the Mohammedan Koran, written in long-hand, has been presented to Samuel K. Wasoff, El Paso attorney, by Dr. Elias S. Khalifah of Beirut, Syria. Doctor Khalifah is a linguist and scholar in Arabic literature.

Tomorrow's Menu

- BREAKFAST: Plums, hot cereal, marmalade muffins, crisp bacon, coffee, milk.
- LUNCHEON: Spinach soufflé, rye bread, fruit cup, cookies, tea, milk.
- DINNER: Roast beef, pan gravy, shredded fresh horseradish, mashed potatoes, Brussels sprouts, tomato and lettuce salad, Concord grape pie, coffee, milk.

Better cut a few more slices than will be needed for the serving round the table, so that when the call for "seconds" comes, the carver will not have to interrupt his own dinner.

But first you must cook your beef. A noted American chef roasts his this way:

Rib Roast of Beef (Serves 6)

Four and one-half pound roast (with ribs at one side), 3 cups water, 2 tablespoons salt, 1-2 teaspoon grain pepper, 2 stalks celery, 1 carrot, 1 onion.

Rub the salt and pepper into the surface of the meat. Put the meat into the roasting pan, with sliced onion and chopped carrot and celery in the bottom of the pan. Add the water. Roast for approximately two hours (less, if rarer roast is desired). Place in oven preheated very hot (500 deg. F.). In 30 minutes reduce heat to moderate (350 deg. F.). Baste several times during the roasting.

For gravy, take off the fat from the roasting pan, and strain. Nothing need be added.

The scriptures, bound in a book 3x2 inches, must be read with a magnifying glass. The book was written in the fourteenth century. Khalifah found it during his travels in the Iraqiian desert.

Constipated?

"For 20 years I had constipation, awful gas blowing, headaches and back pain. Adlerika helped right away. Now I eat oranges, lemons, figs, anything I want. Never felt better." Mrs. Violet Schmitt.

Doctor Recommends Medical Association Direct Public Health

By United Press

HOUSTON, Tex.—Dr. John W. Brown, Houston public health director, recommends turning the control of the state health department directly over to the Texas Medical Association.

Doctor Brown told public health workers from 37 counties here that "mayors pay off political debts in health department jobs," and recommended a campaign to remove obsolete health laws from the statute books.

"Failure of all health departments is the fault of the state government, the doctors and the citizenry because we have neglected to pass proper laws."

Brown is a former state director of public health.

"The doctors in the state medical association should absolutely dominate and direct public health work in the state," he said. "The legal fraternity runs the judiciary. Public health in Texas is the laughing stock of the United States."

Dr. George W. Cox, present state health officer, advocated a movement to organize physicians, nurses and the general public into a "mass health lobby" to increase state appropriations from $500,000 to $950,000.

Everything Looks Rosy Here

Despite recent marital difficulties and separations, lovely June O'D former Follies beauty, still cheers for her husband, Lefty Gomez of the New York Yankees. They are pictured together on the eve of the world series in Chicago.

Doctor Cox said a constitution to assess a special health amendment permitting counties should be adopted.

Dumping Mexican Oil In Texas May Be Halted Soon

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 5.—Action by the federal government to halt the "dumping" of cut-price Mexican oil into the Texas market through Gulf ports was anticipated in the near future by members of the Texas oil industry, following a series of vigorous protests by members of the Texas Railroad Commission, oil men, and United States Senator Morris Sheppard.

Responding to a resolution of protest adopted recently by the North Texas Oil and Gas association at Wichita Falls, which was sent to all customs collectors in Texas, and to Treasury Secretary Henry A. Morgenthau, Jr., at Washington; E. E. Thomson, acting customs appraiser at Galveston, has advised J. Ed Erwin, secretary of the association, that he has instituted an investigation. The customs official will report to the Treasury Department, as soon as necessary technical data is assembled, an opinion as to whether the federal anti-dumping act of 1921 is being violated by the importation of Mexican crude, at prices reported to be substantially below that of West Texas crude oil, which Texas oilmen claim it is in direct competition.

The North Texas association, in its letter to federal officials, claimed the Mexican crude, which is said to be coming from the fields confiscated from American and British oil companies by the Mexican government under its "expropriation" policy, is being sold to a Texas refinery at a price substantially below the price quoted to other nations—a price so low that even when the normal duty of 21 cents a barrel is paid, the Mexican oil is laid down in Texas at prices under those of competitive Texas crudes.

Relief from the situation could come from two sources. If Secretary Morgenthau should find, on investigation, that importation of the Mexican oil violates the federal anti-dumping statute, he could order an increase in duty sufficient to offset the advantage accruing in favor of the Mexican product by reason of the arbitrary price.

If no relief comes from Morgenthau, Texas oilmen are hopeful that the protest of Senator Morris Sheppard, recently lodged with the Committee on Reciprocity Information in Washington, would be effective. Under federal procedure, this committee may recommend to the President an increase not exceeding 50 per cent, in the duty on Mexican oil, if it finds that the domestic industry is being injured by imports from the southern republic.

With overproduction in Texas already forcing arbitrary shut-downs on Texas oil wells two days a week, and the crude price here very soft, following recent reductions, Texas oilmen, and the Texas Railroad Commission have pointed out, the Mexican imports may break the Texas market, with consequent disastrous results in this and other oil producing states.

Customs officials report that about 500,000 barrels of Mexican crude have come into the port of Houston within the past three months, and contracts recently closed between the Mexican government and a Texas refiner call for delivery of more than 7,000,

"OUT OUR WAY" - - - - - By William

000 barrels of cut-price Mexican oil to Texas Gulf ports.

Meanwhile, the Mexican government has firmly refused all efforts of Secretary of State Cordell Hull to work out some method of payment for expropriated properties of Americans in Mexico, so that American oil companies are placed in the position of competing in this country with oil produced by the Mexicans from the seized properties of the American and British companies, for which the Mexican government has made no payment whatever.

C. V. Terrell, railroad commission member, recently described the situation as similar to that of a man "who is robbed by a hijacker, his watch stolen, and then he is asked to buy the watch back from the hijacker who took it."

'Cotton Ed' Is Still 'Hoppin' Mad,' Sub

Senator Ellison DuRant Smith of South Carolina was still "hoppin' mad" when this picture was taken at Washington shortly after his request for a conference between President Roosevelt and a group of southern senators was refused. Although the White House insisted "Cotton Ed," who recently was renominated despite vigorous Roosevelt opposition, was just too late in asking an appointment, Senator Smith saw a direct snub, complained angrily. Senator Smith is spokesman for senators and farm representatives seeking an increase in the cotton loan rate from 8.3 cents a pound to more than 11 cents.

Parking Meter Thief Is Caught

HOUSTON, Texas.—R. F. Lambert, city parking meter expert, was the master mind behind apprehension of a meter thief who had robbed the machines nightly over a period of months — but the $25 reward will be split ten ways.

For a week, Lambert and six of his employees in the meter maintenance division of the city tax office watched the meters on their own time. Their efforts were fruitless.

Then, one night, Lambert took his wife, daughter—Ethel Mae, 11—and son—Donald, 14—down town to continue the vigil. Mrs. Lambert sat in their automobile and Lambert and the children stationed themselves according to his directions.

Lambert spied a man tampering with a meter, chased him down, and took him to jail. The thief was convicted. Lambert took $2.50 of the reward money and gave a like amount to each member of his family and to the six tax employees.

With Our Wildlife
BY JOHN R. WOOD,
State Game Warden

What Our Wildlife Resources Mean to Texas

Did you ever consider just what value our Wildlife Resources mean to Texas? Of course there are several ways in which our Wildlife Resources aid us. Some of these seem to be rather indirectly connected, but are closely enough connected to merit our consideration. We do not always see the birds eating the many insects on the farms and in the cities. Some of these birds work while we are sleeping, and others work at insect control when they are not noticed. Another side to the picture is the economic value. In this the farmers and landowners receive money directly in return for hunting rights. Many millions of pounds of fish and other edible products are sold on the market every day to the consuming public, that are produced in nature. The indirect benefit that could be called direct benefit comes from the sportsmen and nature lovers. In this is included the ones who travel many miles to get pictures of wildlife. Others study the Wildlife Resources from other angles. From this phase of the picture many places of business are benefited; such as hotels, cafes, grocery stores, sporting goods houses, ammunition companies, gun companies, camera companies, automobile manufacturers, and filling stations and others but space does not permit the naming of them all.

In the depression the automobile manufacturers had their sales channels analyzed, and to their great surprise they found that the fourth greatest use to which the automobile is put in the United States is for sporting activities. They found that five million automobiles were annually used for sporting activities; that these cars traveled seven hundred miles each on the average; that the total mileage traveled by these cars was three billion five hundred millions of miles each year. They found that the average life of each car averaged forty thousand miles, which caused an annual replacement of eighty seven thousand five hundred cars, at a cost of seventy million of dollars.

ment of eighty seven thousand five hundred cars, at a cost of seventy million of dollars. They found that five million automobiles were annually used for sporting activities; that these cars traveled seven hundred miles each on the average; that the total mileage traveled by these cars was three billion five hundred millions of miles each year. They found that the average life of each car averaged forty thousand miles, which caused an annual replacement of eighty seven thousand five hundred cars, at a cost of seventy million of dollars.

Texas sportsmen each year spend twenty-five million dollars for guns, ammunition, fishing equipment, clothing, automobiles, gasoline, food, hotel accommodations, and other goods and articles necessary to hunting and fishing trips. Certainly if every industry that benefits directly or indirectly from the money spent on fishing and hunting trips would pool their money and efforts toward an extensive wildlife conservation program and do all in their power to build up our Wildlife Resources in Texas as well as in other states, the nation would see an upward trend in business. If hunting and fishing facilities are increased more people would indulge in this the greatest of all sports, whereby more money would be spent on such trips and the whole country would benefit.

Game Preserves
Authors Note:—There have been many questions asked about the Game Preserves that are being organized over this section of Texas. Many are getting the wrong ideas on this proposition. Too, many people are being confused about the operations of these Game Preserves. I hope that this article will help clear up the many questions that are in the minds of the public.

There are many wildlife species in Texas that are becoming scarce, and now is the time for the sportsmen and landowners to start co-operating and help build up these species. This can be done by a group of land holders pooling their property and work in the name of an association, and all cooperate toward a common cause. The sportsmen, or should I say hunter, can do his part by respecting the signs of the Game Preserve and not hunt unless he has the consent of the operator. One hunter can destroy a full year's work in a very few seconds with a shotgun. For example a farmer has worked hard to raise a covey of quail, and it takes a whole year to do this, and a hunter comes down the road and find this covey of birds on a fence row. He gets his shotgun out and "pot-shoots" the covey with an old splatter gun and kills possibly seven out of ten and the other three wounded, go off to die. Has this hunter done his part in helping to build up a species, which he loves to hunt so well? Instead he is destroying that which he likes best of all, quail hunting. Certainly he is not cooperating with the land holder in helping him carry out his program.

The Game Preserves are organized through the county agricultural agents in cooperation with the Texas Extension Service, Biological Survey Texas A. & M. College and the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, and are marked throughout Texas with a common marker. This marker: Game Preserve Demonstration With Extension Service Texas A. & M. College denotes that that farmer or ranchman has joined with his neighbors to help aid the increase of certain wildlife species that are scarce in that area. This landholder has agreed to improve wildlife conditions on his land and do all in his power to increase these wildlife species; so that the hunter may have more game to shoot at. This sign that he places at the fence corners and on his gates is his means of asking that you cooperate with him in his efforts to increase game for you.

The land operator who are in the association will take inventories of the wildlife species on the areas and will decide, if certain species need protecting. If the inventories show that certain game species may be taken during the season, the hunter with permission of the land owner may take certain amount. The farmer or ranchman will know how much game has been taken, and when a certain point is reached the hunting will be stopped; so there will be an adequate amount of that species left for seed stock for the following season. This is just a good common sense proposition, and I hope that every sportsman will do his part in helping the landowner increase the game on his place; so that there might be good hunting in the future for us all.

Takes Shock Out of Blocking

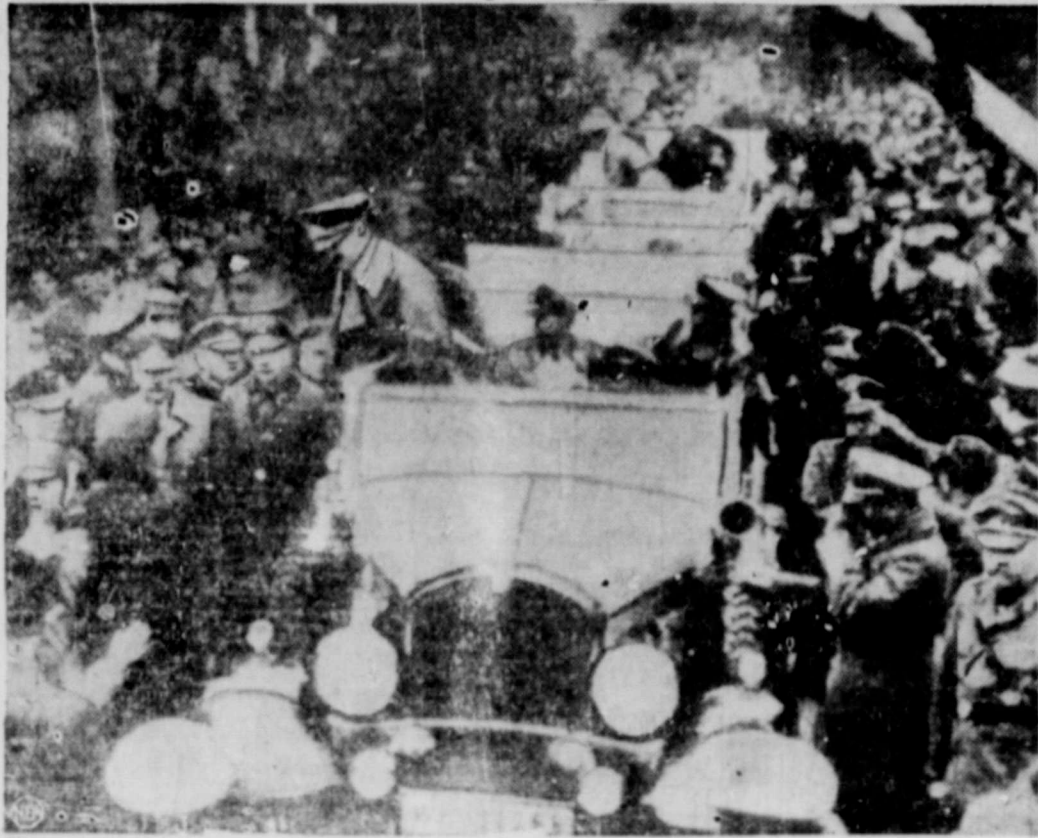

Jackie Dan Rhule of the University of Kansas wears something that looks like a cross between a housewife's apron and a mattress, but actually it is a shock absorber. It is designed to reduce the risk of injury in practice and allow the men to drill more vigorously. Officially known as blocking armor, the equipment is made of heavily-padded white duck. A strap that goes over the wearer's head fastens to the waist in back.

Motorcycle Courier PWA Plans to Beat Deadline

By United Press
FORT WORTH, Tex.—A motorcycle courier raced up to the state headquarters of Public Works Administration here today before midnight Sept. 30 to hand over an application for PWA assistance in building a $170,000 electric distribution system at Polley, Texas, and the books were closed on projects that may receive federal aid under the high speed federal spending program that began last June. The motorcycle courier came from Polley in hopes that PWA would approve that town's project from the group that aggregates $431,026,908 in the seven Southwest states that comprise the fifth region. Most of them must be done, of course, since the billion

Colorado Mines May Be Re-Opened

By United Press
FORT WORTH, Texas.—The whit of mining machinery may re-sound once more around Leadville, Colo., if the Public Works Administration wants to risk three and a half million dollars for a possible seven-fold return. A quarter-century ago, the rich Leadville mining district began losing its fight to prevent water encroachment in the mines. Many mines were abandoned and valuable mineral ore left untouched. A private group asked PWA to provide the money three years ago for draining the water, but the project was refused because it lacked the backing of a duly constituted government agency. The Colorado legislature then created the state mineral resources board, which filed application for a $3,459,968 loan and grant for "draining mines, tunnels, canals and ditches." The geologist's report that accompanied the application said that $20,000,000 worth of ore could be obtained through such a project. The mines have possible gold, copper, silver, zinc, lead, iron and manganese, the geologist said.

dollars that PWA has to spend will be distributed over the entire United States. Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico towns presented 1,048 PWA applications between June and the day of closing. Those chosen for aid must have their share of costs, 55 per cent available in time for actual construction to begin before Jan. 1. The projects also must be of such nature that they will be "substantially completed" within two years. The projects range in size from the $28,000,000 system of dams across the Brazos River to school repair jobs that cost only a few hundred dollars.

CHAPTER IV THE taxi veered to the curb in front of the Claremont Apartments, and Bob Tait's foot was on the running board even before it stopped.

In the entrance way of the Claremont he almost collided with a woman on her way out. She was a striking honey-colored blond, almost too fragile and beautiful to be real.

HE listened a moment at the door before he pressed the bell. To his intense relief there was no sound of Mike Dumphy's indignant, blustering voice.

Tait stepped inside the room and closed the door. "No not-noting."

For a moment Tait did not answer. He tried to fathom beyond Anne Lester's seemingly frank glance. "Listen," he burst out, "do you have any reason to believe that Myrna killed Dumbey tonight? There must be—"

"I'm afraid I had something else on my mind. You see, I'd just lost a job and was trying to figure a way to get it back. That's what I should be doing now. I wish I knew why I'm not."

TAIT tried to make his laugh sound easy. "Simply because she hasn't been his wife long enough to be mixed up in whatever it was that brought Lud Dumbey to his last tune tonight."

"Why?" "It'll be better to be scarce than to try to explain to Mike Dumphy why she isn't here. And he wouldn't quite be able to figure out what I'm doing up here, either. Is there a back way out of this place?"

TAIT quickened his pace. "It's a good hunch, just the same. Remarks like that come back to a person when they're in a jam. We'll go there. But isn't there some spot in town she might hit? Another friend—or a cocktail bar?"

London's Hyde Park Ploughed Into Battlefield

The battle "front" in today's wars is anywhere within range of the enemy's bombing planes. Londoners, knowing full well that their sprawling city would be one of the first objectives when war started, took frantic measures for civilian protection. Pictured above are workmen busy tearing up the face of Hyde Park with zig-zag trenches. The trenches were not needed, but Britons will long remember their foretaste of air war's rain of terror.

Woman Tells Wrong Story to Right Cop

By United Press
 DALLAS, Texas.—Two policemen in a squad car gave chase to a speeding automobile. Catching the speeding vehicle, they listened to its two women occupants tell conflicting stories.
 One of the officers talked to the passenger, the other talked to the driver, who had left her seat when she was stopped.
 "You can't give me a ticket," the driver declared. "I'm the former wife of a policeman—Dal Loe."
 "Hey, Loe," Policeman A. B. Hilburn called to his partner.
 Loe walked over and handed the woman a speeding ticket.

Safety Deep in the Earth

War-time trenches used to be on fighting lines. Now, trenches are built in cities, alongside homes and schools and churches. For war today has no mercy on non-combatants. They are taught to cover in the ground like hunted animals. And that is the bitter lesson the Czech family, pictured above, learned in Prague.

Good Business Is Seen for Holidays In the Southwest

DALLAS, Texas.—The men who are closest to the Southwestern business picture are confident of continued improvement in retail trade through the holiday season—so confident that they are responding to retail merchants' requests with a second Fall Market Season.
 Harvest money, coupled with business men's sigh of relief when Europe's war scare subsided, and the first general effects of the Federal government's spend-lead program, have turned the tide of business sentiment in the Southwest. Merchants are daily reporting that their early season purchases of Fall and Winter merchandise have been depleted, Lester Lorch, president of the Dallas Manufacturers and Wholesalers Association, said today.
 The Dallas Market has recognized these factors by scheduling a second Fall market period, the Golden Jubilee Market Season, during the Golden Jubilee Celebration of the State Fair of Texas. The short market season will be held Monday through Wednesday, October 10-11-12. Monday, Oct. 10 has been designated Southwestern Retail Merchants Day and Dallas Manufacturers and Wholesalers Day at the State Fair of Texas.
 The opportunity to combine their market buying trips, necessitated by the improved business outlook, with their visit to the State Fair of Texas, is expected to bring hundreds of retail merchants from all parts of the Southwest here during the three-day period.
 "It is entirely fitting that the State Fair of Texas, celebrating its Golden Jubilee, should give recognition to the important role that retail merchants have had in development of the Southwestern empire," Mr. Lorch said. "The State Fair has also recognized the long-standing partnership between retail merchants of the Southwest and the Dallas Market by also designating Monday, October 10 as Dallas Manufacturers and Wholesalers Day."

Department Store Sales Increasing

AUSTIN, Texas. — Reports to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research from 106 Texas department stores indicated gains in sales during August of 22.2 per cent over July and 1.1 per cent over August last year.

Aggregate dollar sales in these establishments during the first eight months of the year were practically identical to those of the corresponding period in 1937.

Credit sales constituted a larger proportion of the total than in August last year, while the percentage of collections to outstanding accounts was slightly less than a year ago.

Failures Reduced In Schools of El Paso

EL PASO, Texas. — El Paso school teachers reduced the cost of failures of pupils from $3,677 in the fall term to $1,937 in the spring term of last year, C. W. Webb, Jr., elementary grades supervisor, announced.

The number of failures was reduced from 523 to 359.

"Teachers, by an individual investigation system of failures, have contributed in the main to the decrease of failures," Webb said. "After the twelve-grade system was inaugurated in January, teachers were able to give more individual attention to pupils."

Local grade school teachers revealed in a recent survey that absences cause most failures. Mental retardation, poor foundation, ill health, lack of effort on the part of the student, and home conditions were named in the major reasons for failures.
