HITLER TAKES LEAD IN ROW OVER DEMANDS

By United Press
Chancellor Adolf Hitler took the lead today in efforts to enforce a satisfactory solution of the territorial squabble between Czechoslovakia and Hungary. Dispatches indicated that Hitler told Hungary and Czechoslovakia to get together and negotiate directly for an agreement which would not yield to Hungary the extensive territory which she demands.

There was no outward sign of a rift between Berlin and Rome, although Mussolini leaned toward Hungary, whereas Hitler favored Czechoslovakia.

Mussolini favored a concession to Hungary which would create a joint Hungarian-Polish frontier. That would cut Czechoslovakia off from Roumania and perhaps impede Hitler's progress toward the Black Sea if he used a subservient Czechoslovakia as a corridor eastward.

Instead of direct negotiations between Hungary and Czechoslovakia, favored by Berlin, Italy was understood to have urged a four-power conference to settle the matter. The probability seemed to be that the direct negotiation plan would win, because diplomatic sources in Rome understood that Czechoslovakia has agreed to make a new offer to Hungary.

The situation remained dangerous, however. Hungary took a determined attitude and called up an estimated 300,000 reserves, charging violent treatment of Hungarians in Czechoslovakia. Troops were under arms on either side of the border, ready for action, if some "incident" led to conflict.

RAILWAYS SAY WAGE CUT IS BUSINESS BOON

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The railroad industry, in concluding testimony before President Roosevelt's wage board, today pictures its proposed 15 per cent wage cut as a possible boon to recovery.

Dr. J. H. Parmelee, chief statistician for the association, challenged statistics of railroad labor which the union presented to show that wage reductions were unjustifiable.

He cited a speech made by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Joseph Eastman in Chicago last April, warning railroad labor to be cautious in its wage demands. These benefits might accrue from a wage reduction, Parmelee said:

- 1—It would permit railroads to call back furloughed employes and thus reduce rail unemployment.
- 2—Railroads could "enlarge their building programs."
- 3—The carriers would be able to increase their maintenance forces.
- 4—The purchasing power of railroad employes might be maintained or even increased through recall of employes now without jobs.
- 5—Industry as a whole would be "stimulated by the purchases of materials and machinery which the railroads would be in a position to make."

6—Credit of some railroads would be improved so they could pay bills and acquire new credits for maintenance and other improvements.

Smoke Blanket Covers City as Oil Plant Burns

Great clouds of black smoke rolled over Linden, N. J., as thousands of gallons of gasoline and oil burned at the eight-acre plant of the Cities Service Co. distillery. This picture was taken at the height of the fire, which destroyed 30 storage tanks.

LABOR STRIFE SETTLEMENT IS NEW DEAL AIM

By United Press
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 15.—The Roosevelt administration made its first definite move to end the dispute between the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization today by suggesting that both sides assign themselves to a mediation committee, which would begin work at once.

In an address at an anniversary celebration of a railroad union, Secretary of Labor Perkins proposed that the AFL and the CIO each appoint "five" trusted and experienced representatives to a mediation committee and give them authority to bind their respective organizations to any agreement they may reach.

She suggested that these 10 men select three impartial persons as additional members of the committee and that the chairman be chosen from these neutral members.

If the AFL and the CIO negotiators cannot agree on neutral members, she said, the choice should be left to "some outside trusted person." If such a plan is accepted some sources believe that President Roosevelt ultimately might be asked to pick the three extra members.

DIFFERENCE IN PROPOSED OIL ORDERS WIDE

By United Press
AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 15.—A proposal to forever end oil field shutdowns and a proposal to shut every oil well in the state for 15 days were both loudly applauded by Texas oil men at today's hearing called by the state railroad commission to consider November production orders.

The wide divergence of opinion of how best to face what oil men describe as a "crisis" carried the hearing well into the afternoon. Beside the divergence of opinion on whether it is better to end Saturday and Sunday closing and let Texas battle to regain "lost markets" or continue the shutdowns to prevent further price cuts the hearing indicated that the Texas commission is ready to abandon its former theory that storage of oil constitutes waste.

Chairman Ernest O. Thompson read into the hearing records the report of the U. S. Bureau of Mines showing that oil stored for 15 years had lost only 1.4 per cent of gasoline and that most storage waste occurred within the first few hours.

The bureau of mines estimates of 1,371,000 barrels of oil as the daily normal market demand for Texas oil in November, was but a small increase over 1,359,000 estimated as October's demand and much less than 1,708,000 quoted by oil men as Oct. 15 production.

An open threat to attack the legality of shutdown orders if they are issued was made by Sen. Joe Hill of Henderson. His senatorial district includes a large part of the great East Texas oil fields.

No order based on the hearing is expected for more than a week. Thompson is leaving for Washington tonight. With-out any orders shutdowns end after next weekend. The last Saturday and Sunday of October were not included in the old order.

Final Rites Held For John Knox, 37 At Sister's Home

Funeral services for John Knox, 37, who died Friday morning at a Santa Anna hospital of injuries received while assisting in treating an oil well near Santa Anna, Thursday afternoon, were conducted Saturday afternoon at Eastland.

Services were at the home of a sister, Mrs. W. K. Hyer, in Eastland and burial followed in Eastland cemetery. Rev. J. I. Cartledge, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Rev. P. W. Walker, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated.

Mr. Knox, although he had resided in the Midland and Odessa area about two years, regarded Eastland as his home. He first came to Eastland from West Virginia, his native state in 1919. He had been employed in oilfield work.

Mr. Knox was born Feb. 2, 1901, at Shilston, West Va. Survivors are his father, John Knox, Sr., Clarksburg, West Va.; one brother, Frank Knox, Stoneham, Mass.; two sisters, Mrs. Hyer, Eastland and Mrs. Roy F. Ash, Clarksburg, West Va., and two children, Jane, 10, and Jack 13, Woodson.

Funeral directors were listed as follows: C. A. Herrig, D. L. Kinnaird, Earl Conner, Jr., J. L. Ernst, A. H. Furse and George Wilkins, all of Eastland.

Hammer Undertaking company, Eastland, was in charge of arrangements.

Latest Attack On Proration Is Closely Watched

By United Press
HOUSTON, Oct. 15.—The oil industry waited with interest today developments in the latest attack on Texas proration laws filed in the form of federal court motions in a criminal case, involving validity of the Connally "hot oil" law.

Renne Allred and Neal Powers, indicted on charges of conspiring to violate the federal act, pleaded not guilty yesterday and filed motions attacking the oil regulatory measures.

Renne Allred is a brother of Gov. James V. Allred, and Powers is a former assistant Texas attorney general. Their motions, asking that the indictment be quashed, asserts that re-enactment of the Texas proration law of June, 1937, "is invalid because it seeks to delegate to the legislature and the railroad commission the power, in the future, to declare what is a federal offense."

Twelve Are Hurt As Interurban Hits String of Tanks

DALLAS, Oct. 15.—Twelve persons were hurt today when a Waco-bound interurban train ran through a switch and plowed into a string of tank cars on a siding near here.

Physicians said that none of the injured were seriously hurt. One of the tank cars was demolished and oil was sprayed over the tracks, but the oil did not ignite.

All of the injured were on the first car of a two-car train. A freight train trailing the passenger coach, was derailed.

HAGAMANS ISSUE A STATEMENT ON LAKE AND PROPOSED SITE

The following statement, issued by M. H. Hagaman and Leslie H. Hagaman, and signed by them, was submitted to the Times Saturday afternoon for publication. Like the articles issued by the city commission on the bond election, it is being run, verbatim, as submitted. The article follows:

"To the Citizens of Ranger:—Prior to the recent bond election we made no statement to anyone about the proposed new lake. Since the election is over we would like to call the citizens' attention to the following facts which anyone who is interested may ascertain for himself without the aid of an engineering firm.

"First: The drainage area of Hagaman Lake is slightly more than twenty-two (22) square miles instead of fifteen (15) square miles as the engineers report. We assume this is an honest mistake on the part of the engineers.

"Second: As every citizen of Ranger knows this city has never been short of water, ever. When Ranger had more than 15,000 people and the industrial consumption was much greater than it is now. The lake has been raised three (3) feet since this period of heavy consumption. We still have ready to raise the lake still more than the city asked for and had placed their pump station and filter plant in condition to stand this raise and there was an upturn in water consumption to justify this increase in the capacity of the lake.

"Third: The proposed Russell Creek lake has twenty-two (22) square miles of drainage area. This drainage area is principally sandy shinnery and sandy land farms. Part of these farms are now terraced and as more of the farms are terraced the run-off from them will be reduced to practically nothing.

"This drainage area is very similar to the drainage area of Lake Eastland which is similar in size to the proposed lake. Lake Eastland has a drainage area of approximately sixty-five (65) square miles.

"As every one knows Lake Eastland went dry in 1930 and the City of Eastland had to use Leon Lake water. Yet Lake Eastland has almost three (3) times the drainage area of the proposed Russell Creek Lake.

"Respectfully,
(Signed) "M. H. Hagaman,"
"Leslie H. Hagaman."

Dallas Youth Is Charged in S.M.U. Co-op Robbery

By United Press

Water Board Will Have Three Offices Starting Monday

Three offices for handling projects of the Water Facilities Board, established the last session of congress, are to be opened in West Texas on Monday, according to announcement Saturday from the office of Congressman Clyde L. Garrett.

Personnel of Garrett's office was notified by the official, who at the present is at Washington on business.

One of the offices will be at Stamford on the California creek watershed, another will be at Colorado on Champion creek and the third will be at Lamesa on Mustang creek.

The one at Stamford will work largely in the northern half of Jones county, part of Fisher county, Throckmorton county and the southern half of Haskell county.

The one at Colorado will operate in Mitchell and Nolan counties.

The purpose of the projects is to organize the landowners for the construction of stock ponds, reservoirs, wells, water spreaders and garden irrigation systems in order to get the greatest use out of the water which falls and nominally runs off of that section of the county.

This work will be financed either from the funds which the farmers have or from loans from the Farm Security Administration at a reasonable rate of interest and a long-time payment, it was stated.

Those farmers in Nolan, Fisher and Jones counties who are eligible to receive the benefits of this project should organize as soon as possible and cooperate with the Colorado in order to get the benefit from those projects. The work will be handled by the Soil Conservation Service through their headquarters in Fort Worth.

Five men will be stationed at each of the places, representing the Soil Conservation Service and the Farm Security Administration. The man in charge at Stamford will be J. M. Bird, and the man in charge at Colorado will be D. C. Lerner of the Soil Conservation Service.

National Defense Plans Are Studied

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—President Roosevelt and his military and naval aides planned a re-arrangement program today that will give the United States the latest type of equipment, the most mobile national defense in the world.

The president and his advisors are well aware of the expense of such a program, but at present little opposition to it in the next congress was expected.

The program, it was understood, would not add materially to the number of men in the fighting forces. Rather emphasis would be placed upon the acquisition of large numbers of the latest type of war weapons.

The Top of the World Gets a Little Cluttered

It would be interesting to find out just how Benito Mussolini is feeling right now.

He seems to be sitting on top of the world, his people are hailing him as a world-saving peace-maker (which is certainly a new role for him), as he has just taken a major part in a history-making event. But it is a safe bet that you could get a look at his inmost thoughts you would find that he is far from happy.

For what has been happening in the last few months is obvious enough, when you stop to think about it. Benito has been slowly but steadily deflated. He still rolls as ominous an eye and throws out as big a chest as ever, but he is strictly the Number Two dictator, now, and the Number One man is growing so fast that there is neither glory nor nourishment in the Number Two spot any more.

Hitler's Germany is the dominant power in Europe today, and there is every indication that it will become more dominant in the next year or so. And all of the boastful talk from Rome about the beauties of the Rome-Berlin axis cannot hide the fact that it is not at all to Mussolini's interests to have Hitler advancing so fast.

Look at what has happened already. A year or two ago, it was a cardinal point in Italian policy to keep Germany out of Austria. Today Austria is part of Germany, and a German army occupies one end of the Brenner pass—looking down contemptuously on the Tyrol, where some hundreds of thousands of Germans live under an Italian rule which is far more oppressive than anything the Czechs ever put on.

Jugoslavia and the neighboring country were likewise marked down as a sphere for Italian penetration and expansion. That dream also has exploded. A great deal of penetration and expansion will take place in that part of Europe in the near future, but it won't be Italian; it will be German, and the Rome end of the axis stands to get precious little sustenance out of it.

The Near East has also been a goal of Mussolini's foreign policy. But the famous old German "drive to the east" is going ahead now faster than ever before, and it would be a hopeful soul indeed who supposed that Hitler was going to revise his plans there to make room for the junior partner.

What is left? An arid empire in Africa and a half-conquered, poverty-stricken domain in Ethiopia.

There may yet be a few pickings in Spain—but even there, it is the German agent rather than the Italian who has been gobbling up the choicest commercial concessions.

So Mussolini can hardly be happy about the way things are shaping up. Already he begins to look suspiciously like the tail to Hitler's kite. The pupil to whom he taught Fascism is in a fair way to muscle teacher clear out of the schoolroom.

First and Second Grades
Since we have been studying the grocery store, we have read stories about city life. Now we are building a city on our sand table. Lavon made a hotel, Joann Boyd made a department store, Clarence made a postoffice, Joann Weeks made a picture show, Billy and Charles fixed the Municipal Airport and Union Station, and Patsy Ruth made a furniture store. We have several houses in our residential section. A group is going to work on the streets this week. When we finish our grocery store, we are to study the work of each of the business houses which we have represented on our sand table. We will use the same house that we built for a grocery store and change the interior each time. Joann Boyd and Joann Weeks were store keepers this week.

Miss Williams was given a fruit and handkerchief shower at the noon hour, Thursday.

Joann Boyd went to Abilene during the week-end to attend a birthday party for her cousin, Marjorie Ann Horn.

Tauline Williams, age 6, typed a letter to her grandparents. This is a great undertaking for so small a girl.

While riding in the pasture Sunday morning, Joann Boyd and her daddy, E. T. Boyd, killed a rattle snake which was five feet long and had eleven rattles.

Third and Fourth Grades
Our Book Shelf
We have sixty-one books in our room, Mrs. Mills, our school librarian, has repaired those in poor condition. They are all bright and clean. Our wish is that we can keep them this way.

We enjoy our room library very much.—Mary Kenneth Harris.

The Third Grade pupils are keeping a weather record every day of this unusually warm weather. They find it an interesting and worthwhile project.—Elvie McCleskey.

Gene Mills and I went fishing in the Colony Creek and caught six little cat fish for the third and fourth grades' pond on the sand table.

My cats, "Boots," is the proud mother of two fluffy yellow and white kittens. If anyone wants a Persian kitten, see me at once.—Harold Smith.

Hallowe'en Carnival
The spoofs will soon be here. We are planning to help with the Hallowe'en Carnival for Friday, October 28. Everyone be sure to come and have a big time eating and playing games.—Don Ford.

Fifth and Sixth Grades
Public Speaking Club
The Public Speaking Club was called to order by the president. Our Secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting, October 7.

The program consisted of a reading by Frankie Ford, a story by Omarene White, a reading by Jimmie O'Shields, and another story by Buddy Loper. Some of the fifth and sixth grade girls then sang, "The Gingerbread Bear." Jewel Harris told some very interesting jokes which were enjoyed by the entire room. Louise Bond dismissed with a prayer.

The following new officers were elected at this meeting: President, Jimmie O'Shields; vice president, Albert Hawkins; secretary, Dorothy Wymer, and Assistant Secretary, Cleus Hames.

Jewell Harris and Junnie Briden have been elected policemen from our room for the betterment of our citizenship.

Seventh Grade
The seventh grade history class has just finished working on an old Indian project. Each pupil was assigned a definite project. Some of these were: bow and arrow, tomahawks, war bonnets, and adobe houses. Everyone enjoyed this project very much.

We are working in our history workbooks. Our unit that we are considering now is "Exploration and Colonization of America." In English, we are making our own workbooks. The exercises are made with the duplicating machine from a master copy. Each exercise is given as addition work along with the units in our text. At present we are working on "Subjects and Predicates."

Library Work
Mrs. Ellena Mills, WPA librarian at Colony High School, has repaired three hundred thirty-eight books from one school year to the beginning of the new term. New books are placed on the ones that are badly worn, pages are mended in the volumes, and other reconstructive work done. The magazines are placed in a permanent form by stitching them with linen thread. We appreciate this work because each student is striving to keep the library in as good condition as possible. It is hoped that many new volumes may be added to the library during the year.

Assembly Program
The high school students had charge of the assembly, Friday. A current popular song, "Music, Maestro, Please," was sung by the recently organized choral club. Yvonne Ivy, the accompanist, gave two piano selections, as well as accompanied Joe Patterson when he sang, "The One Rose." An interesting and educational talk was given by Guy T. Smith on "Safety," after which pamphlets on this subject were distributed to all pupils.

Diagnostic Tests Given
Tuesday morning all high school pupils and the seventh grade pupils were given the Clapp-Yoting English test. The purpose of the test was to find individual weaknesses in capitalization, punctuation, word form, and grammar. Each pupil will be helped on that particular thing which is difficult for him. Form A was given at the beginning of the school year and Form B is to be given some time before the end of school.

Homemaking IB

Each girl has told a story to the children of the primary grade.

For their project they have made toys for children of different ages. Among the toys are cloth animals, doll beds, a paper doll house, wooden toys and dresses were made for several dolls.

Our Day of Rest

Text: Exodus 20:8-11; Luke 13:16-17

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of Advance
OUR lesson very properly emphasizes two aspects of the Sabbath, or the day of rest, which, as the first day of the week, instead of the seventh, has followed out the same principle in Christendom.

We have, first of all, the Commandment concerning the Sabbath Day, emphasizing its holiness and enjoining upon all the duty of keeping it. A day of rest ought to be holy if it is not regarded as holy and if various things are allowed to infringe upon its sanctity, for gain, pleasure, or convenience, the result is that before long it ceases to exist at all—as it has in large measure ceased to exist for great multitudes of people in this modern world.

The situation would be much worse than it is were it not that some remnants of sanctity still attach to the day of rest. The principle is recognized, even if it is not followed, and this fact has led to certain protective laws and regulations or agreements, apart from laws, which have had the aim of establishing for every worker at least one day in seven as a day of rest.

It is doubtful whether, in our modern world and under modern conditions, a day of rest could be observed with the complete respect affects day of rest for some weekly day of rest for every worker. In fact, it might be said that the conditions of modern economic life make this more feasible than ever before.

THE need of recognizing and maintaining the Sabbath Day principle ought not need emphasis. It is a principle sound in health, sound in economics, and sound in its social aspects and influences.

But the Sabbath principle ought to be established in terms of rest and welfare, and not in terms of arbitrary requirements and harsh and exacting rules and restrictions. This is what is emphasized in the New Testament conception of the Sabbath, and the use that Jesus made of it.

We know that it was His custom to go into the synagogue on the Sabbath Day for worship, but religion and worship were not merely matters of form for Jesus but related to the doing of good and human welfare.

When Jesus, teaching in the synagogue, saw a woman crippled with years of illness, He healed her. The ruler of the synagogue, a strict Pharisee, was outraged that anyone should do such a thing on the Sabbath Day; but Jesus rebuked him and reminded him that it was the greatest hypocrisy to relieve the needs and sufferings of animals on the Sabbath, and at the same time make it a breach of the Sabbath to heal human ills or disease.

He enforced the great teaching that the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath.

Our modern society would do well to bear in mind both these principles—that humanity needs a day of rest, and that unless there is something holy attached to it, it will not have much permanency, but also that holiness does not mean formalistic and existing regulations that make the day a burden instead of a day of rest.

SERIAL STORY

MURDER TO MUSIC

BY NARD JONES

COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
MYRNA A. DOMBEY—heroine, wife of the sensational swing band leader.
ROBERT TAIT—hero, newspaper photographer—detective.
ANNE LESTER—Myrna's close friend.
DANNIE FEELY—officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dombey's murder.

Yesterday, Tait is assigned to learn from Macy that has an interest in Dombey's band. Macy then accuses Tait of being in love with Myrna.

CHAPTER XI

"YES," Leonard Macy repeated quietly. "You are in love with the girl. That must be the reason for your interest."

Tait's first reaction was one of anger. It was with difficulty that he restrained himself. Then he realized that Macy meant nothing by his inference. The wealthy amateur detective was merely thinking aloud.

"That's absurd," Tait told him. "I hardly know Mrs. Dombey. Macy nodded. 'I am glad to learn that my surmise is in error. Because, undoubtedly, Myrna Dombey will be convicted of the murder of her husband.'"

Tait's lips closed in a thin line. Then, "Well, I'm afraid you've already made up your mind, Mr. Macy. There's not much need of my staying here longer."

Leonard Macy rose from his chair. "You are always welcome, my boy." He put a hand on Bob Tait's shoulder. "But I want to give you a little advice, if I may. Don't get mixed up in business like this—for a girl. It's not just that you'll find yourself wrong. But you'll find that a woman wasn't worth it. And that discovery is always damaging to a man."

"Thanks," Tait said. He walked into the hallway, turned there to shake Macy's hand. "I wish I were a millionaire, Mr. Macy."

The old man smiled. "Why?" "I'd like to bet you a few hundred grand that you're 'way off first base.'"

"I never wager," Macy laughed. "That laugh echoed in Bob Tait's head as he walked down the hall to the elevator. What made Leonard Macy so sure, so certain? Was it because of something he had not revealed? Did he know something about Myrna Dombey he had not cared to reveal to Tait?"

"You are in love with the girl. That must be the reason for your interest. That was what Macy had said, and Tait began to wonder why else was he concerning himself with the killing of Ludden Dombey? Certainly he was not helping himself, and there was the possibility—not too remote—that he was putting his very life in jeopardy.

He remembered how Myrna had looked on that night of the murder—in that moment before the lights had gone out and Ludden Dombey, tom of the swing cats, had played his final tune. Assuredly she was the most attractive young woman Bob Tait had ever seen, and assuredly he had suffered a pang of envy at the way she was looking at Ludden Dombey up there on the platform. He remembered, too, those wide, fear-filled eyes there in the shack when he and Anne had found her hiding.

No question but that Myrna was a girl to make a man stop and think. But that he could be in love with her was, as he had insisted to Leonard Macy, absurd. He'd seen his share of women. He was tough and cynical. There wasn't a girl in the wide world who could take him over the hurdles unless he wanted to go. And he'd pointed a camera at plenty. He'd snapped by princesses, actresses, and beauty contest winners, and dazzling blonds who had married four men and shot a fifth. He had caught them in their moments of petty vanity, and he thought he knew them by what they were. Why should he be intrigued by this slender girl who had been a stenographer and somehow caught the eye of Ludden Dombey, king of swing?

Why? There was, Bob Tait told himself, no reason at all. And therefore he wasn't intrigued. Yet somehow his logic, as he drove his rented coupe toward his apartment, seemed rather weak.

HE found the apartment empty. Anne and Myrna had gone to Feeley's office and not yet returned. Nervously Bob Tait telephoned the Press Club. No message had been left there for him, and when he received this information he felt infinitely better. If anything went wrong at Dannie Feeley's, Anne was to have called him. "Good old Dannie," muttered Tait aloud.

But he went through almost half a pack of cigarets before Anne and Myrna returned. The latter looked worn and tired. "What happened?" asked Tait, showing out a chair for Myrna.

"Plenty!" exclaimed Anne, dropping wearily onto the davenport and reaching out for one of Tait's cigarets. "Can that Feeley person put you over the hurdles? If there's anything he didn't ask

Wednesday, testimonial service 8 p. m.
Public cordially invited.

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 16.

The Golden Text is: "God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ, who died for us, that, whether we wake or sleep, we should live together with him" (1 Thessalonians 5:9.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings" (1 Peter 4:12, 13.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If Truth is overcoming error in your daily walk and conversation, you can finally say, 'I have fought a good fight. . . I have kept the faith, because you are a better man' (page 21).

Speed Blamed For World's Jitters; Immediate Mass Action Possible

By United Press

SAN FRANCISCO.—Speed, especially in communications is what is making the world so jittery in these times, and paradoxical as it may seem, simultaneously plunging man into a frantic race to barbarism. That is the belief of Dr. Alfred Metraux, ethnologist of the famous Hop museum of Honolulu.

"In primitive society, every member of the tribe," Dr. Metraux said, "knew almost immediately of every event that happened within the organization. The opinion of the whole tribe was crystallized immediately on any issue. The chieftain could make a speech and arouse the group to war on a neighbor."

The same thing is happening today, only on a world-wide scale, Dr. Metraux believes. "Through radio, telegraph, and newspapers, the nations of the world have been brought to the level of huge tribes," Dr. Metraux said. "Action of the masses is immediately crystallized in any international incident or any event of national affairs."

"Until rapid communication brought this strange phenomenon, any single event affected only a small proportion of the population of a nation at one time. Waves of emotionalism that sweep nations now were unknown then. Diplomats could play at the old game of international politics and settle differences without the constant pressure of opinion at home."

Today, however, Dr. Metraux said, "The chief is swept along by the tribe; he no longer has freedom of action. It is for this reason that the entire world is jittery. There never has been a time when threats of war were so frequently made, as now."

Dr. Metraux believes it will take a long time for the world to become adjusted to this state of "tribe mentality." He insists that

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS--By Blosser

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

DUCK presents one of the most difficult carving problems. Can your husband carve one? That's a very personal question, and it must be answered. If there's a doubt, leave this article on his dresser and let masculine pride take its course.

(1) The carving knife must be razor sharp. To make doubly sure, give it a last minute sharpening at table just before carving.

(2) Use a large platter for the roast duck. There must be room on it for the pieces as they are cut. Serve the gravy in a separate bowl.

(3) Press fork firmly into breast of duck, holding it there with left hand. Place knife between body and upper thigh joint, and cut down sharply to sever the tendons and make a clean break. If you serve a piece of leg meat to each person, cut each of the drumsticks in two diagonal slices.

(4) With the duck still on its back, cut down through the center of the breast bone. Cut each half of the breast in three portions. Carve diagonally, not straight down. Do not remove the breast meat from the bone. Cut right through the breast bone, leaving the bone itself with the serving of meat.

(5) For each person, the usual serving includes breast meat, leg meat, stuffing and gravy, unless special preferences are known.

Roast Duck
Four pound duck, 1 onion, 1 carrot, 2 sticks celery, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, 1 tablespoon pickling spice, 2 cups water.

Clean the duck thoroughly and cut off the short wings and the neck (because there is no meat on them). Slice the onion, carrot and celery coarsely. Rub the salt and pepper over the stuffed duck.

Place in roasting pan with water, pickling spice and vegetables. Roast in very hot oven (500 deg. F.) for half an hour. Reduce heat to moderate (350 deg. F.) and cook for another hour.

Turn and baste several times. Stew neck, wings and giblets in liquid in which they were cooked. The giblets cut up fine, and the liquid in the roasting pan, making a brown gravy.

Stuffing
Two tablespoons butter, 3 medium-sized apples, 4 sliced hard-boiled eggs, 1/2 cup bread crumbs, 1/2 cup raisins, 1/2 cup chopped parsley, 1-2 teaspoons salt, pepper to taste, 3 eggs, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 4 hard rolls.

Mix all the ingredients together and stuff the duck. Sew up in skin after stuffing.

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON.—New York's election campaign is the big one of 1938 and it ties in with the presidential year 1940 from several interesting and important angles.

Candidates for governor are: DISTRICT ATTORNEY THOMAS E. DEWEY, 36-year-old zackster who accepted the Republican nomination with a promise to continue his warfare on crime.

ROBERT F. WAGNER, 56-year-old zackster who accepted the Republican nomination with a promise to continue his warfare on crime.

HERBERT H. LEHMAN, now ending a third term. Prospect of Dewey's nomination has been bothering New Deal politicians in Washington for the last year.

ROOSEVELT hoped all along to thwart Lehman's desire to enter the Senate, even persuading reluctant President Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers to let his name be used as an American Labor Party candidate.

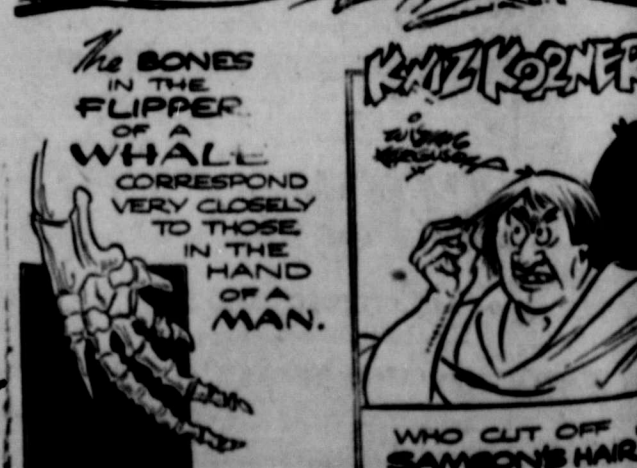

LEHMAN finally realized he would have little political power if the Democrats lost state control through his refusal to run for governor. He was able to date the ticket and have his intimate friend and former secretary, Supreme Court Justice Charles Poletti, named for lieutenant governor.

ANSWER: Although Delilah is commonly spoken of as being the one to cut Samson's locks, the incident is related in Judges 16:19 thus: "And she (Delilah) called for a man, and she caused him to shave off the seven locks of his head."
