CLYDE THOMPSON OF THRILL-KILLING FAME CONTINUES RAMPAGE

CROCKETT, Tex., Oct. 20.—Clyde Thompson, 27-year-old convict, who once murdered two men "just to see them kick," and who since has killed three more ruled fellow prisoners at Eastham farm today, in a reign of terror. One authority said that Thompson has so cowed three eye witnesses to his latest killing that they have refused to testify against him, although their appearance before a grand jury had resulted in the "thrill killer's" indictment. That condition was believed to have motivated District Attorney Tom Pickett today when he pleaded, successfully, to obtain indefinite postponement of Thompson's trial, which was to have begun here tomorrow. "The other 27 prisoners in the dormitory with Thompson said he paces the floor like a tiger and they are deathly afraid of him," one official said. Thompson committed his first murders in Eastland county when he was 19. Since then prison officials have had constant trouble with him. Three of his killings have occurred behind prison bars. Eight years ago he killed Loren and Leon Shook near Cisco, and was sentenced to die in the electric chair. This was reduced to life imprisonment and finally commuted to 15 years. For killing a fellow convict Thompson was sentenced to 99 years. The latest slaying was July 27 when Thompson stabbed to death Robert Massey, 37-year-old incorrigible convict.

Thompson told the President that in spite of action to bring oil stocks down "to the proper level" big companies last week cut the price of crude throughout the mid-continent field.

To Pleas for Peace the Nation Cries 'Amen'

When Teamster Jim Tobin got up at the American Federation of Labor convention and declared that labor's rank and file would vote for peace between A. F. of L. and C. I. O. by a majority of 20 to 1, if they ever got the chance, he wasn't saying the half of it.

It is not only labor's rank and file which would vote that way. The country at large would vote the same way. For labor's internal war has exhausted the patience of practically every body.

Underneath the bitter personal antagonisms and conflicting personal ambitions of the top labor leaders there is, of course, a fundamental row over a principle. The issue of craft union versus industrial union goes beyond personalities, and men who honestly believe that labor's salvation lies along one of these two lines will have a hard time in reaching a compromise.

Yet this basic principle is being overshadowed now by something more important.

Things have got to the stage where the principle itself is less significant than the fight which is based on it. For if this fight, of itself, gives labor a crippling blow, then it ceases to make much difference which of the two principles prevails.

Labor has made tremendous gains in the last few years. It has reached a more influential and solid position than it ever before had. The principle of collective bargaining has at last been generally accepted, almost everywhere. Protection for labor's rights is written into federal law.

But the gains that were won swiftly can be lost swiftly, too. Already there are very clear signs of a reaction. In the far west especially there are now pending measures which would seriously limit labor's activities. If the reaction continues, these measures will pass and will be followed by even more stringent ones.

And the point to bear in mind is that such measures have been pretty largely provoked by labor's own internal quarrel. That quarrel has tried the public's patience; all too often it has canceled out the honest efforts of employers to adjust themselves to the new era in labor relations. If it continues, it will lead labor into something closely resembling a disaster.

"Peace at any price" is a dangerous phrase—as witness Mr. Chamberlain and Czechoslovakia. But in this case, peace at the price of compromise, peace at the price of submerging the ambitions of individual labor leaders—such a peace would be cheaply bought.

It is time for labor to settle its quarrel. If it takes the resignation of a few top labor leaders, devising of certain basic programs, direct intervention and mediation by the President—well, okay. The one important thing right now is to get the fight over with.

What's 'Wetter' Than Water?—Oil!

Oil is "wetter" than water as far as movie cameras are concerned, so Movie Star Fredric March "soaks down" a cute member of the cast for his new picture, "Trade Winds," now in production in Hollywood. On the screen, oil drops look more like water drops than do water drops. A property man stands by to give aid should oil get in the young lovely's eye.

Wrong Answer to Right Number

"This is the detective chief; I guess you won't want any service." Thus did Louisville's Chief Joseph Stuart, seated among a battery of bell boxes, answer incoming bookies' calls when he raided and stopped operations at the Cumberland News Service, which supplied information for 600 Louisville book makers. Acting in a reform drive, Stuart forced officials of the service to turn over the keys to their office and then made arrangements with the telephone company to curtail phone service.

Policeman Is Killed By Two Holdup Men

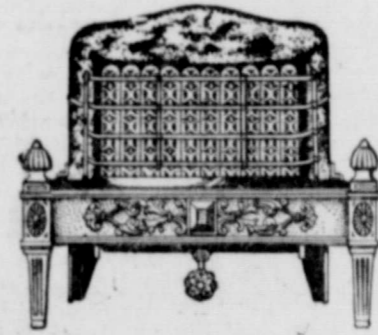

By United Press
CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Two hold-up men fatally shot Policeman John Olson today as he accompanied an insurance company bank messenger. They escaped with $3,000. Olson, a veteran of 15 years on the police force, died a few minutes after he was taken to a hospital. WARRANT SERVICE COSTLY By United Press PRESNO, Calif.—Chief of Police Truax refused to serve 164 bench warrants for motorists who had failed to respond to traffic tags. His argument was that the traveling expense might bankrupt the city. Some of the violators lived as far away as Portland, Ore., others in Southern California and two score in San Francisco. A cash loss of $1,000 is something to weep about, but a paper profit of $10,000 is something to sneer at.

Veneral Disease Control Funds Will Be Available Soon

HOUSTON, Texas — A limited amount of funds allotted to Texas for veneral disease control will be available Nov. 1 for part financing of veneral disease clinics where the state has made available local funds for the project, it was announced at Austin this week by Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Cities that have appropriated funds and are qualified to receive the supplementary state funds for the clinics are Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston.

Clinics will begin operating under the plan November 1, at Beaumont, Port Arthur, Galveston and Corpus Christi.

Other cities over the state are making their local veneral disease control program, and will apply for assistance as soon as they appropriate the local funds prerequisite to state financial participation.

The state funds have been allotted the State Department of Health by the United States Public Health Service under the provisions of the LaFollette-Bulwinkle bill passed by the 75th congress. No funds for veneral disease control have been appropriated by the state legislature and this lack of state funds curtails the amount of USPHC funds which can be allotted for the program in Texas.

The present program, therefore, is a small one designed to cope with the veneral disease as adequately as possible in view of the limited funds available.

The municipal veneral disease clinics are charged specifically with treating veneral diseases among the indigent class at no cost to the indigents. Blood tests are run and treatments secured for all indigents found syphilitic.

Doctor Cox states that free arsenicals for the treatment of syphilitic indigents are being distributed to more than twenty rural and semi-rural sections of the state where no clinics are in operation.

"Our present veneral disease program is the opening wedge to control of the venereal-infectious diseases. The funds available are totally inadequate to care for the veneral disease problem in a state that has six and a half million population and probably three hundred thousand persons infected with syphilis. It is of the utmost importance that the state legislature, at its next meeting, appropriate money for veneral disease control. Our Federal funds will be greatly curtailed next year if a state appropriation for veneral disease work is not forthcoming to supplement them. Without adequate funds the program inaugurated at this time will collapse and our statewide veneral disease control program will be almost at a standstill," Doctor Cox concluded.

Weslaco's Problem of Sewage Is Solved

WESLACO, Texas. — City authorities believe they have found an answer to their perplexing sewage problem.

Because of $100,000 in damage suits resulting from efforts to dispose of citrus waste, the city local wage scales in determining minima above 25 cents an hour, plans to drill wells into sand and gravel strata 240 feet underground and pump the waste into

Farm Foreclosures Are Unnecessary In Eastland County

Possibly 100 unnecessary foreclosures on farm property will occur in Eastland County this fall unless the persons concerned ask for the services of the farm debt adjustment section of the Farm Security Administration, Geo. I. Lane, county supervisor for FSA said. Seventy farmers in the county were benefited through this service last year, he said.

"A request for the assistance of the debt adjustment group does not mean that the debtor is bankrupt," he commented. "Many times his property is worth more than the amount of his debts. Unexpectedly short crops, low prices, insect damage, or other circumstances have left a number of farmers in the county unable to meet obligations secured by liens on their property. In some of these cases, an adjustment which would permit the man to continue farming on a sound plan of operation would be to the advantage of both debtor and creditor."

Requests for assistance may be made by either party, but whatever solution is worked out must be acceptable to both, he stated. Contact may be made with either the supervisor or any member of them.

The citrus waste destroys mainly and kills bacteria which generally remove ordinary solids from sewage.

When the city dumped the citrus waste into pits, citizens filed the damage suits because of the stench.

SERIAL STORY

MURDER TO MUSIC

BY NARD JONES

COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
MYRNA DOMBEY—heroine.
Wife of the sensational swing band leader.

CHAPTER XV
I DON'T want to make any promises I can't keep.

"I believe I can talk them out of it if they do try it," Stephens said. "There's a scandal clause in the contract that they might try to crawl out through—but once I did a favor for Hoskins, the manager, I took over Izzy Pico's band when Izzy got plastered on a night that Hoskins had advertised big."

"Good!" Tait exclaimed. "Then you're the fellow to talk to Hoskins—but only if he brings up the subject. I think the best hunch would be to keep showing up and doing your stuff, as if nothing had happened."

"Sure," said Stephens. "That's what we'll do."

THE next two weeks were hectic ones for Bob Tait. He and Feeley spent days going over the Dombey papers, but there was considerable extraneous stuff and in the end they did little more than establish what Harris Rogers had told Tait in the first place.

Feeley was frankly stymied, and was leaning heavily on the existence of the musician who had written "The Cat's Meow." But he hadn't yet been able to find him, though the city had been combed and Feeley had wired his description to every conceivable musician's union in the country.

The newspapers, weary of an administration which used the police department as a political football, were pressing Barkley hard. There was more lawbreaking, more crime than ever, and while Feeley was guiltless he was bound to be painted with the same brush as the rest of the department.

Tait, too, was painfully aware of the situation, but he had never felt so utterly helpless. There was one bright spot in the outlook—The Swingers were doing well. Under "Torchy" Stephens they were as popular as ever, and nothing was ainted that the Pacific-Flaza would try to break the contract.

TIME and again Tait found himself hating Dombey for the mess he'd made for Myrna. But then, he told himself, Ludden Dombey hadn't figured on being murdered. Gradually Tait discovered that it wasn't the debts so much which angered him, where Myrna was concerned, as it was the immediate past in Dombey's private life.

a chance to look at that past.

Often, as Bob Tait sat figuring over the Dombey books, he'd be disturbed by the face of Myrna—Myrna's eyes or her moist lips, getting between him and the sheet of paper. Perhaps Leonard Macy was right, and he had fallen in love with her without knowing it.

In the days following his talk with "Torchy" and the band, Tait consciously stayed away from Myrna except when he had to discuss business with her. And he began to resent it a little when she would mention Ludden Dombey in a queer, reserved tone as though she and Lud had held a secret she would share with no one else.

TAIT took the certified check to Macy's apartment that night. "Bands aren't in your line, Mr. Macy, and I thought you'd be glad to get your money back. I suppose it was merely in the nature of a loan to Dombey."

"What would make you change your mind?" "You mean what would I consider a fair return on my investment? Well—you seem to be doing very well with the outfit, Tait. Suppose we said $5000?"

"It was only a suggestion in answer to your question," Macy interrupted. "We can let matters stand. I'm not in the least worried about my $1000."

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—The Roosevelt appeal for C. I. O.-A. F. of L. peace hasn't brought it a bit nearer.

There just isn't any peace in sight or even in the wind. The chief reason is that no one can devise a formula by which the two groups can reunite without giving one of the others an upper hand.

John L. Lewis stands on the assertion that C. I. O. would move into the A. F. of L. "tomorrow" if each C. I. O. unit were promised a charter similar to those of other A. F. of L. unions.

Unlikelihood of an early merger doesn't mean there's no chance of a cessation of name-calling and warfare between the two groups, as suggested by Mr. Roosevelt.

Months' chief victory in recent months has been the success of Sidney Hillman, widely known as "labor's statesman" long before C. I. O. days.

ONE wouldn't expect the United Mine Workers to have much trouble getting coal to heat their big, handsomely renovated offices here. But there are some problems involved.

First they had to be cajoled where the coal came from. It must be union mined. Then the question of a fair price came up. Now the difficulty is in getting the coal delivered by union teamsters.

NEW YORK—In saying that the Cubs need a couple of power hitters, among others, and explaining that Philip K. Wrigley is willing to pay handsomely but doesn't know where to turn, Charles (Bode) Weber, general manager of the National League champions, unintentionally places his finger on the biggest difference between the world series combatants.

THE strain to which these fresh men are put in a world series really is terrific. . . . Gordon was so nervous in the opener that all he could hit were singles and doubles. . . . He was so loose in the field I suspected he might fall apart at any minute. . . . Clark Griffith, head of the Washington Senators, who has a good record, calls the play. . . .

GET it pretty straight that Ray Schalk, with Indianapolis during the campaign just closed, will manage the Browns. . . . Ray Blades, Rochester manager, appears to have the inside track leading to the Cardinal job. . . . and Leo Durocher moved around during the world series as though he knew he was going to pilot the Dodgers. . . .

As hot as a tamale! is a good Western expression. It makes a fine dish to talk about, too.

Tamale in Casserole (Serves 8)

One pound round steak (unground), 3-4 cup chopped onions, 1-2 cloves garlic (chopped), 2 cups tomatoes, 1-2 cups broth, 1 tablespoon chili powder, 1 cup corn meal, moistened with water, 1-2 cups sliced ripe olives, 2 tablespoons salt.

Four boiling water over round steak and cook until tender. Strain the broth and chop the meat. Place broth in double boiler, add tomatoes, chopped meat, onion, garlic, chili powder and salt.

When hot, add the corn meal moistened with water. Stir until thick. Cook for 1-2 hours. Remove, add olives and pour into buttered casserole. Bake in hot oven until brown. Serve with cheese or tomato sauce.

More Boys than Girls at Texas University

By Over Two to One

AUSTIN, Tex.—There are more than two men for every woman student at The University of Texas as this year, 6,918 boys having enrolled as compared with 3,057 girls. It is shown by statistics on registration up to September 27 compiled by the Registrar's Office.

A total of 9,975 students had enrolled up to that date, as compared with 9,256 on the comparable date last year. Total enrollment by October 6, however, including late registrations with less of credit, totaled 10,064. The largest percentage increase in enrollment occurred in the College of Pharmacy, which showed a gain of 17.9 per cent over last year. In actual individual enrollments, however, the College of Arts and Sciences showed the largest gain, 220 students, or 4 per cent.

A total of 115 students enrolled in the University's newest branch, the College of Fine Arts, 25 men and 90 women.

Trainman 49 Years Retires, Will Travel

By United Press

ST. LOUIS—Merrill R. Weir, 70, who retired from railroading after 49 years of service, during which he journeyed more than 2,500,000 train miles, intends to "take life easy and do a lot of traveling."

"Travel gets to be a habit with a man when he has gone the equivalent of 100 times around the world," Weir said. "It's a habit that I'm not going to attempt to break."

Weir retired from the Missouri Pacific Lines, by whom he was employed for 42 years, 30 of them as a conductor. After working on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, he joined the Missouri Pacific in 1896 as a brakeman and 12 years later became a passenger conductor.

Vatican Clerk to Go On Trial As An Embezzler

BY ALDO FORTE United Press Staff Correspondent VATICAN CITY. — The huge oak doors of the Tribunal Palace of the world's smallest state have opened for the 11th time.

Mario Politi, 30-year-old administrator of the Vatican library, is on trial charged with misappropriation of church funds. Politi had administered the Vatican library for the past four years. He is the son of a former chauffeur of Pope Pius.

Politi was arrested in August when he aroused suspicion by the type of life he was leading in Rome, frequenting expensive restaurants, theatres and night clubs in gay company. An auditor was summoned by Vatican officials and, after a careful survey of the library's books, Politi was arrested by papal gendarmes and locked up in the Vatican prison to await trial.

The Vatican tribunal was inaugurated in 1929 following the signing of the Lateran treaties which ended the disension between the church and the Italian state. Prior to its opening, criminals were tried by the Italian authorities.

Pep Rally Starts Shortly After Seven

W. T. Walton, superintendent of schools, announced today that the pep rally for the Breckenridge game would be tonight, "shortly after seven."

The rally will be held just as soon after seven o'clock as the band and the pep squad can get to town from the school," Walton's announcement said.

Since more interest is being shown in the game this week than in any previous game, a large crowd is expected for the rally.

Friends of the defendant, after considering some of the prosecution's witnesses in the Hines' trial in New York, are comforting themselves with the old saying: Too many crooks spoil the soup.

Circus Elephant Is Playful at Her Winter Quarters

EL PASO, Texas—Horses, monkeys, elephants and a bear—part of the Tom Mix circus—are wintering in El Paso, and outstanding among them is Babe, five tons of pachyderm playfulness.

Babe, the elephant, has helped stow her last tent for the season, moved her last bit of lumber, and now is cruising about her winter quarters at the livestock show grounds here, getting into mischief as only Babe can.

Allowed to run loose over the grounds in the daytime, she turns on water hydrants, sticks her trunk into windows of the company wagons, and investigates almost everything.

At night Babe is chained, but that doesn't stop her when she really wants to play.

Babe loves white bread, but a two-bale-of-hay-a-day stomach is expensive to fill with white bread. So she robs the circus pantry at night whenever she can.

"Babe pulled her stake while we were asleep one night," said Assistant Manager Charles Warrell. "She picked up her chain in her trunk so it wouldn't make any noise and headed for the kitchen tent, where 18 men were sleeping."

They all were between her and the bread, but Babe, feeling her way with her trunk, stepped over and around the men and gobbled down 40 loaves without waking anyone.

Only the fact that she was loose the next morning and that her tracks led to the pantry tent explained the missing bread.

After eating bread, Babe loves next best to play with her automobile tire.

"When she is not woking, and feeling frisky," Warrell said, "she plays with her tire like a kitten with a mouse. She picks it up with her trunk and throws it up in the air. She stamps on it, stretches it, and runs with it."

Most of the circus animals were left at a Dallas zoo. They are difficult to care for in the winter.

Bulldog Badges Are Offered For Fans

D. M. Cooper, manager of the J. C. Penney Company, Ranger, invites all Bulldog fans to come to his store and receive a badge with the inscription on same "Ranger Bulldogs Beat the Breckenridge Buckaroos," and have it to be ready for the game Friday night.

Cooper is one of the most ardent Bulldog backers in the city and is asking all fans to join him in wearing one of the badges boasting the home team.

"The game starts promptly at 8 o'clock Friday evening and the stands on the Ranger side will be packed," said Cooper, "so as many as possible can, come to the store for the free badge backing the Bulldogs, and let's give 'em some old fashioned rootin' at the game Friday. Come and get your badge."

Distress Signal For Airplanes Invented

PASADENA, Cal.—Anthony Easton, physicist of the California Institute of Technology, and Major Daniel Ellis of the air corps, have invented a distress signal apparatus, designed to aid in locating wrecked planes.

As the tail of the plane invariably remains intact in crashes they have designed a start wave radio device, to be placed on the tail of planes, and which automatically starts sending a signal when a jolt or crash starts the mechanism functioning. The signals can be heard within a radius of 100 miles and can be picked up and followed by a directional finder.

Find Out What Makes You Constipated!

You know that constipation often gives you that dopey, smug, bogged down feeling. Why not get at the cause and prevent it? If you eat what millions do—things like bread, meat and potatoes—the chances are all that's the matter with you is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean what you may think. It's a kind of food that isn't entirely digested, but leaves a soft bulky mass in the intestines that aids elimination.

If this is your trouble, what you need is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains both "bulk" and Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B. And it's not a drug, not a medicine! Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and see if the old world doesn't look a lot brighter! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.
