Oil Accounts For One Third of U. S. Wealth In Minerals

By United Press

The petroleum industry by far is the leading producer of mineral wealth in the United States, it is reported by the U. S. Bureau of Mines. Values of crude oil and natural gasoline produced by the nation's oil wells in 1937 was $1,627,265,000, or 30 per cent of total value of all minerals produced. The 1937 petroleum output valued was 26.7 per cent above that of 1936, and 57.6 per cent above that of 1935.

The bureau's "Statistical Summary of Mineral Production" reveals that the proportion of total mineral wealth represented by petroleum has more than quadrupled since 1911, when it was only seven per cent. Production of bituminous coal and anthracite was second to petroleum in 1937 with a dollar value of $984,598,849. Pig iron was third with $731,129,455. Total value of all minerals produced was $5,440,000,000.

Evidence that petroleum production has not only increased in value but has kept pace with demand is presented in the book, "The Mineral Industry During 1937," which says:

"In the middle twenties it was feared by many that the time was near when the known reserves could no longer maintain the rapidly increasing output, and that the production curve would soon inevitably take a turn downward, but this has not yet come to pass, due to the discovery of new reserves and the improvement of recovery methods. As a matter of fact, although petroleum production since that time has amounted to more than the known reserves were then, the reserves have continued to grow and are now greater than they were then."

The material supplies, he added, create five hours employment in the factories and mills for each two hours labor provided on the actual project.

Nearly Every County In Nation Receives Aid From the WPA

By United Press

FORT WORTH, Texas.—Public Works Administration improvements are found in 9,068 of the nation's 3,071 counties, PWA Labor Advisor Ray C. Kirkpatrick said during a visit here.

The national program embraces 25,000 projects, he said, on which $1,206,000,000 has been paid in wages and $3,850,000,000 for materials. The $1,865,000,000 program instituted this summer will furnish $516,000,000 more in wages.

Kirkpatrick, who stopped at the regional PWA office here en route from Washington to the American Federation of Labor convention in Houston, said that only 36 per cent of the money spent for wages goes to workers at the construction site. The other 64 per cent goes for materials.

The material supplies, he added, create five hours employment in the factories and mills for each two hours labor provided on the actual project.

GERMANY HAS CANCELED HER ORDER ON JEWS

By United Press

Germany has agreed to cancel a deportation order which would have dumped thousands of Polish Jews across the border into Poland, the Polish foreign office said today at Warsaw.

The foreign office said Germany's decision was made after negotiations.

The Nazi action, attributed to fear that Polish regulations would stand Polish Jewish nationals in Germany, was a sensational stroke in a broad picture of world affairs that included:

1—A declaration by Japan in connection with the U. S. protest against these restrictions in China, that the nine-power treaty governing policy of the great powers in China must be revised.

2—A protest followed by threat of military action by Japan against France, alleged shipments of war materials to China through French Indo-China.

3—The new Japanese ambassador to Italy said the power of England in Eastern China was ended and Japan would dominate the nation.

4—Indications from Geneva that a purge of the League of Nations' secretariat was underway with dismissal of one high French official to smooth the way to eventual return of Germany as Italy to the league.

Labor Opposed To Chain Store Tax

By United Press

Labor's opposition to the proposed Patman bill that would put a "death sentence" tax on chain stores was written into the closing session of the American Federation of Labor national convention at Houston. Forceful resolutions instructed labor's executive council "to study and act."

The 55th annual convention's committee on legislation went "on record" as condemning and disapproving the Patman bill and all forms of taxation which prostrate the taxing power of the government to a weapon for the destruction of worthy enterprises by business rivals.

It recognizes that "the object of this proposed punitive tax is not the raising of revenue but the open-stated destruction of one form of retail distribution for the benefit of other forms."

"The destruction of chain store operation which would result from this proposed law," the labor group protested, "would dislocate upwards of one million wage earners, many, and an increasing number of whom, are members of organized labor, and have an immediate effect on living costs."

In urging the executive council to action, the Federation's legislative committee reported:

"Aside from the interests of the very large number of wage earners involved, are the interests of the entire population as consumers. Chain store operation results in lower prices of the necessities of life. If these prices are the result of the exploitation of labor, the remedy lies through the vigorous and successful campaign now going on for their unionization. If they are made possible through unfair trade practices, abundant legislation already exists for the correction of those practices and further safeguards can be provided as the need is developed."

"Labor clearly realizes that it cannot obstruct the growth of technological efficiency. It is our function to see that the wage earners and the public receive their share of such improvements in better working conditions and in lower prices and better quality of product."

"Your committee believes that the so-called Patman bill runs in direct opposition to the entire trend of modern industrial development and of established policy on the part of the public and organized labor."

W. K. Gordon and Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company Celebrate Two Anniversaries During October, 1938

1. Thurber, Texas, as it appeared several years ago, a friendly, busy little mining town.
 2. The famous McClesky well that came in a gusher, opening the Ranger oil field in 1919.
 3. An old Thurber landmark.
 4. The Texas Pacific Coal Company's first coal mine.
 5. The 'old Opera House' presented leading road shows.
 6. W. K. Gordon of Fort Worth.

PORT WORTH, Texas—“The Father of Ranger,” W. K. Gordon, who for fifty years has been an important part of the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company will observe two anniversaries this month—each with a hard days work. The beginning of the Ranger Oil boom twenty years ago marked the inauguration of the most dramatic era in the history of Texas commercial development. This month his company also is observing the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company at Thurber in October of 1888. Gordon's persistence, determination and faith led to the discovery well of the Ranger field which opened up a vast source of wealth for the people of West Texas and contributed largely to the present proud position of Texas in the petroleum industry. That determination and energy is still evident in the “retired oil man” who fills every day with activity and accomplishment.

 In October, 1918, the McClesky well drilled on a Texas Pacific Coal company lease was brought in—a gusher. And Gordon was a happy man. As manager of the coal company, he had urged the officers to permit him to drill for oil but because of adverse reports from visiting geologists, he had not been permitted to follow through with his ideas. “It was necessity that forced me into looking for oil,” Gordon said in relating the trials and tribulations that preceded the discovery of oil on the Texas Coal company lease. “Labor trouble brought on the organization of unions. Union wages ran the production of coal so high that the railroads were threatening to put in oil burners because of our prices. We just had to have oil and I knew where to get it,” he said. “As a mining engineer, I'd studied geology and couldn't help knowing what certain formations indicated. Geologists from out of the state came down, looked it over shook their heads and made adverse reports. They didn't have the nerve it takes for wildcatting but I knew the ground too well to give up and besides we just had to have oil,” he related.

“Finally Edgar Marston, then president of the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company, a man who had confidence in me gave me an O. K. on a ‘go ahead’ program and I stepped out with a leasing crew headed by Luther Davenport.”

“After some activity around the mine at Thurber, a delegation came over from Ranger. There was a preacher, the county officials and another leading citizen who asked me why we didn't come around Ranger to spend some money. They'd had a long drought and things were slow. We came to an agreement of twenty-five cents an acre lease price and a one-eighth royalty.”

“I drove the stakes down myself on the more than 30,000 acres. I never was so busy before in my life—nor happier. I now had my chance to test my belief that beneath that earth lay a sea of oil.”

“First to come in was a gas well on the Nannie Walker farm and then the McClesky oil gusher which set the ball rolling and the mud to splashing. From then on we had a boom and the T-P had oil to supply the railroads right at the time they were converting their coal burners into oil.” With the discovery of oil the price of T-P stock went from $141.00 to the huge price of $2,040.00. At this time the company also changed its name to the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company.

Born in Spotsylvania, Virginia, and educated as an engineer in Fredericksburg, he came to Texas in 1889, one year after Col. E. D. Hunter of the Hunter-Evans Cattle company of St. Louis had started the Texas Pacific Coal Mine at Thurber. Gordon was engaged as a civil engineer by the Colonel but his industry soon put him into the position of mining engineer. In 1900 he became manager of the mine.

For half a century he watched Thurber grow from a mining camp to a village, then to the most important town between Fort Worth and El Paso, only to drop again to almost a ghost town with the closing of the mines which came after the oil boom.

He is known as the best loved executive to work in the mines. His fairness, kindness and consideration endeared him to his people who rejoiced with him in his triumph of the Ranger discovery field.

Today as chairman of the board of directors of the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company, he is proud to have been a part in the company's pioneering of Texas natural resources. Other officers of the company are: J. R. Penn, President; John Hancock, Vice President and General Counsel; R. Seibel, Treasurer and Secretary; O. E. Mitchell, Vice-President in charge of Sales; C. E. Yager, Vice-President in Charge of Exploration.

Welfare Conference For South Is Due At Birmingham

By United Press
BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Leading figures in Texas and other southern states today were engaged in large scale planning for the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, to be held here Nov. 20-25.

Indications now are that more than 1,000 leaders in various activities throughout the 13 states of the South are planning to attend and take part in the conference, said Mrs. Louise O. Charlton, Birmingham, general chairman for the conference.

"The conference is designed to be the South's answer to the recent National Emergency Council report on social and economic ills of this section," she said. "It is an expression of the Southern people's determination to find remedies for those ills that will be acceptable to the Southern people."

The Southwide session has been called by more than 200 sponsors representing each of the 13 states covered by the National Emergency Council report. They are Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and Texas. The sponsors include a number of leading southern editors, labor leaders, industrialists, university and college presidents, writers, ministers and others.

Unanimous endorsement of the purposes of the conference was voted by three outstanding southern labor groups in the past few days: the International Typographical convention in Birmingham; the Tri-States Hosiery Workers Federation at Knoxville; and the newly-formed southern organization of the American Newspaper Guild at Memphis, Tenn.

The conference will feature panel discussions on labor, health, education, labor relations, freight rate differentials, child labor and youth problems, race relations, suffrage, constitutional rights, farm tenancy, and other problems of the South.

Among the Texans who already have enrolled as sponsors are Arthur J. Mandell, Houston; Dr. Edwin A. Elliott, regional director of the National Labor Relations Board, Fort Worth; Rev. H. M.

Both Spencer and Mickey won national acclaim for their performance in "Captains Courageous." In the upper left is Spencer Tracy who portrays the role of Father Flanagan, famed founder of "Boys Town." At the right we see Spencer and Mickey Rooney as they arrived at Boys Town and are greeted by its citizens. In the lower left Tracy is shown in a highly dramatic scene with Mickey. And at the lower right Mickey is shown with Bobby Watson, who plays the highly important role of "Pee Wee" in "Boys Town." "Boys Town" is a $250,000.00 Movie Quis contest picture. "Boys Town" will start today at Arcadia Theatre.

Couple Get Married After Several Trials

By United Press
CLEBURNE, Texas.—Three Johnson County officials last hour of sleep and Bill Mabry, 20, and Laura Groshouse, 17, drove 200 miles—but the couple finally got married here.

Mabry and his bride lived in Fort Worth, but they decided recently to elope to Cleburne, 40 miles from their home, and be married. They arrived at County Clerk Frank Clark's house at 5 p. m., and waited two hours for a license before they gave up and drove back to Fort Worth. Clark was not at home.

At 1:30 a. m., the couple returned to Cleburne with the groom's father and some friends. Clark, reeled from bad, was sorry, but he couldn't issue a license unless the girl's parents consented.

So the party got Dr. M. T. Knox out of bed and secured a medical certificate for the groom before they drove back to Fort Worth and returned with the girl's mother.

At 5 a. m., they awoke County Judge J. P. Seroyer. He performed the ceremony, and the entire group went home to Fort Worth.

COMEDY AND THRILLS REIGN FIRST IN SHOW

HOMER MEACHUM
 "The Irresistible Comedian"

Billed as distinctly "Not A Spook Show," THE HAUNTED HOUSE offers a sensational array of novelties, chilling thrills, and real old-fashioned laughs, interspersed with mysterious happenings, ghostly spirits, and weird, uncanny sights.

THE HAUNTED HOUSE features HOMER MEACHUM, one of the cleverest blackface comedians on the stage today, supported by Bert Berry, Character Actor; Dick Brown, Leading Man; Susanna McCarthy and others, who vie with each other to provide chills, sensations and laughs for their audiences.

Wherever T H E HAUNTED HOUSE has played since its debut, it has been in the prime of its entertainment, and have proclaimed it as vastly different, and so delightfully funny, that it was re-estimated to find a new idea in MID-NITE SHOWS for a change. This special show will be offered on the stage in addition to the special screen feature.

Farm Relief Pins a Medal on Abundance

Secretary Wallace's "two price" scheme for disposing of American farm surpluses by subsidized cut-rate sales to the needy may be wildly impractical, dangerously socialistic, or just plain screwy, but there is one thing to be said for it. It is the first farm-relief measure which treats bumper crops as a blessing rather than a curse.

So far we have tried to handle the farm problem by assuming that the age-old goal of agriculture—to make the earth yield as bountifully as Divine Providence would allow—was somehow wrong.

We have talked about over-production of farm produce and about surpluses of foodstuffs just as if every mortal in the land were getting all he could eat of every desirable food, day in and day out; and to follow a policy like that at a time when some millions of people would be starving if it were not for government help is a certain way to get into confusion.

So we had, first of all, the outright destruction of crops that were ready for the market—the burning of wheat, the killing of pigs, and so on. All this amid scenes of widespread want.

Next we had acreage reduction, with federal government—which meanwhile was providing food for millions of its citizens—paying farmers to produce less and less.

More recently we have had elaborate schemes for dumping our surpluses on foreign shores; and when you study that plan for a minute, it appears to be the queerest of all. For the net result of this would simply be to make American-grown foodstuffs available to foreign consumers at bargain rates, and at the expense of the American consumer and taxpayer. If anyone is going to benefit in that way, shouldn't it be the American rather than the foreigner?

Now this new rabbit sticks a tentative muzzle over the edge of the hat. We shall probably get some six months of argument, pro and con, before the exact shape of the plan is clear. Meanwhile, it can at least be said that the proposition does represent a new and slightly more logical approach to the problem.

For the underlying trouble with these other schemes is that they all operated on the thesis that abundance is a disaster. Far from giving us the answer to this generation's baffling problem about want in the midst of plenty, they accentuated that problem. They represented a national refusal to face the implications of the age of plenty.

The new plan at least heads in the other direction. Difficulties in the way of putting it into effect probably will be many. He would be a dullard indeed who couldn't think of at least half a dozen, just off hand.

But for the fact that it does represent an effort to make plenty mean plenty, we may all be thankful.

JOYOUS SEASONS

In winter there are no roses blooming in the deserted, wind-swept, snow-covered garden; nor in summer do crested snowflakes fly. Each season has its own work, its own beauty, and by hands of another season this work cannot be done, this beauty cannot be breathed. And so of man's life. Each season has its own duties and its own joys; and if they are not laid hold of no other season can make up the loss; they are gone down the dim, untraversed river forever. Each day, indeed, has its own duty, its own smile, its own tear, its own heart-throb. If only it be lived in for itself, life would be fuller and richer in everything; and the clusters of blessedness hanging from the boughs of each day would proclaim life's every season to have wrought well, and to deserve well, for what lies before. Alas! That we let the burdening tomorrows crush the energy and strength out of today, so that its work is undone or merrily done. Give yours today a chance, my friends. Give it only its own work to do, and evening will find you laughing over the beauty and faithfulness that smiles up to you from the well-done duties; and the eternal tomorrow will meet you with kisses of tenderness, not with wounding blows.

ADVERSITY

Adversity is but the stepping stone to loftier peaks, if we but master its purpose. We too often succumb when the dark veil is lowered and the shaded curtain of doubt lets not the sun shine in. We are most times victims of adversity when we let self and selfish motives and desires predominate the inclination of our minds. Great men fall when self is exclusively the pilot. However great the initiative of man, it should not be his desire or will to do for self, but the will of God let me do. Nations fall, kingdoms crumble and adversity hovers when people pull the stained curtain of man-made wisdom over the mantle of the human soul and say, "I am my own pilot; I will set my own sail." We should not be disappointed if in the midst of the torrents of water our ship is wrecked, and in the wilds of the deep we are found helpless creatures crying unto the rocks and the mountains to remove our own righteous robes, left bogging to be dashed in the righteousness of God whose security is sublime and adversity is blotted out.

ANSWER: Yes. There are numerous authentic records of rains of fish. Small fish, swept into the air by hurricane gales, may be carried considerable distances and dropped with rain.

the great bell rings above in the ears of God. Some scarcely stir the bell, for they pray so languidly; others give an occasional pluck at the rope; but he who wins with Heaven is the man who grasps the rope boldly and pulls continually with all his might.

A DOLLAR AND A PENNY

A big silver dollar and a little brown cent.
Rolling along together they went;
Rolling along the smooth sidewalk.
When the dollar remarked—for the dollar can talk—
"You poor little cent, you cheap little mite,
I'm happier and more than two times as bright.
I'm worth more than you, a hundredfold.
And written on me, in letters so bold
Is the motto, drawn from the pious creed,
'In God We Trust,' which we all can read."
"Yes, I know," said the cent.
"I'm a cheap little mite,
And I know I'm not big or good or so bright, and yet," said the cent, with a meek little sigh,
"You don't go to church half so often as I."

Armstrong puts the world 147-pound championship on the block in a 15-round match with Garcia at Madison Square Garden, Nov. 2. Note how the Filipino, a full-grown welter, towers over the Negro who also holds the lightweight leadership.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, it is the custom for cities and municipalities to set aside one day out of the year as "BOYS DAY" and to turn over the administration of the city's affairs to the boys for the day, and

WHEREAS, the boys of today will be the men of tomorrow and it is realized that it will be beneficial to our future citizens to gain practical experience in the administration of the affairs of the city of Ranger.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Hall Walker, Mayor of the City of Ranger, Texas, do hereby claim the hours from 9:00 A. M. to 6:00 P. M. Saturday, October 29, 1938, to be "BOYS DAY" and the city officials have resigned their said offices for this day and the administration of the city affairs will be executed by the boys of the City of Ranger, who have elected their Mayor and other City officials, and the citizens of Ranger are respectfully asked to cooperate with these officials for the day.

Witness my hand this the 28th day of October, 1938.

HALL WALKER, Mayor,
The City of Ranger, Texas.

He's More at Home With a Bat

Babe Ruth, left, tries his hand at a new game in the New York Hippodrome, as Babe Guillermo—a socker in his own right—acquaints the Bambino with the rudiments of Jai-Alai, the Latin-American game which has become so popular in Miami and New York. How to hold the cesta—the basket-like affair with which the ball is hurled in Jai-Alai—was Ruth's first lesson.

ALL OFFICERS FOR THIS DAY READY TO ACT

Mayor, City Commissioners, Fire and Police Chiefs and All Officials Have Been Selected.

Saturday morning, beginning at 9 o'clock, the boys of Ranger will take over the town, operating all the city offices, including the office of the secretary at the city hall, the police and fire departments, and filling the positions of mayor and all the commissioners.

Throughout the day the boys will see that everyone observes the local city ordinances, and will arrest and fine anyone who is found disobeying the law.

The day will start with the Ranger high school band parading the length of Main street at eight o'clock, and all officers will meet at the city hall immediately after the parade, taking office at nine o'clock.

Carroll Boon, who has been elected mayor for the day, will make a public address of welcome at the beginning of the day, probably in front of the Gholson hotel.

Mayor Hall Walker has issued a proclamation declaring Saturday, Oct. 29, as "Boys' Day" in Ranger, and urging everyone to cooperate with them in handling the city's business.

Mayor-elect Boon announced today that since he, Commissioner-elect Dan Davenport and Walter Jackson were under 16 years of age, and since the city ordinances prohibited anyone under that age operating a motor vehicle in the city, they would not drive any of the city cars, but would have chauffeurs to drive them wherever they had to go on city business.

Copies of the city traffic ordinances have been secured for every official, including the entire police force, and anyone found breaking any of these will be arrested, taken to the city hall, where a hearing will be held by City Judge James Ratliff, and fines assessed if those arrested are found guilty.

It has been pointed out to all the officials of the city, who will conduct the city's business for the day, that this is a serious business, and one which gives them good training for the positions they may be called upon to fill in the future. The whole idea is not designed as a gag, nor as a means for arresting and embarrassing anyone who has not committed any offense against the city, and that everyone is expected to conduct himself in the manner of regular city officials.

All money obtained through the fines will go into the treasury of the local Boy Scout troop, to be used in their activities.

Men's Bible Class to Conduct a Contest

Announcement has been made that Judge L. H. Flower will conduct the Men's Bible Class of the First Methodist church Sunday morning. It will be the beginning of an attendance contest between the men's class and the Good Fellowship class.

The contest will end the first Sunday in December. Plans have been made to have several visiting teachers in the class. The class will be taught by Judge Virgil Seabury, instructor of the 9:49 Bible class of the Eastland Methodist church.

Invitations have been sent to old members and all others are cordially invited to attend.

Umberson Has Lay-Away Plan for Christmas Season

In today's Times will be found a page advertisement of Ken Umberson, foremost jeweler of West Texas, announcing his new lay-away plan for Christmas and urging the people to come in and make arrangements for their gifts before the holiday rush.

Umberson carries a complete line of diamonds, rings, watches, silverware, dishes, billfolds and a hundred other items too numerous to mention.

"I have never had a more complete stock," Umberson said, and in lots of watches, rings, diamonds and the like you will find as much as 20 per cent reduction. There is no need for anyone to go shopping around looking for Christmas gifts because you will be able to find a large and complete selection here.

"A small down payment and we will hold your present until wanted."

Taxpayers' Revolt Against Deadheads Started Over State

By United Press
 FORT WORTH, Texas—A revolt of taxpayers against "deadheads" who ignore their taxes is underway in Texas, State Comptroller George H. Sheppard of Sweetwater told the Texas Tax-Assessor - Collectors convention here.

"Seventy-five per cent of the taxpayers are now bearing the full burden of government," he said. "Recently I have heard many of them complain, at my office, that they are tired of bearing this burden."

"Nothing is undermining the government more than non-compliance with the existing revenue laws."

W. Lee O'Daniel, non-voting Democratic nominee for governor, was not mentioned by name, but Sheppard and two men who will be railroad commissioners urged stronger poll tax laws instead of abolition of the tax. Sheppard and G. A. (Jerry) Sadler, nominee for railroad commissioner, both asked for stricter collection of the poll tax.

Railroad Commissioner Lon A. Smith said he thought "that no man should be allowed to hold office without a poll tax receipt."

SERIAL STORY

MURDER TO MUSIC

BY NARD JONES

COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
MYRA DOMBEY—heroine.
Wife of the sensational young band leader.

CHAPTER XXII
"DO you mean," Nelda Starr asked, "that the band won't play 'The Cat's Meow' any more?"

"Perhaps in a year or two—but by that time, of course, it may not be popular at all."

"I've been wanting to hear it all evening!" Her glance swept Archie Mackey and Tait. "I've a record of it at my apartment. Let's go there and have a cocktail and hear the song."

Mackey made a protesting gesture. "Listen, beautiful lady, I have to work. I've been to four night clubs already. It's almost midnight, and I haven't got material for a line! You take Bob and run along."

"Would you like to come, Mr. Tait?"
"Very much," Bob Tait said. But there was misgiving in his heart when he said it.

"Oh, but it will!" The girl's eyes were almost abnormal. Tait's mind went back to his visit with Leonard Mackey when the latter had insisted that the addicts of swing—the jitterbugs and the jacks—were a sign of abnormality.

Did she actually want to hear the record of "The Cat's Meow" so badly that she must leave the Golden Bowl? Or was the invitation, issued to a man she had never met before, simply a subtle build-up toward asking for a spot with the band?

That, Bob Tait was to discover, was a masterpiece of understatement. He followed her out under the spacious marquee of the Pacific-Plaza, saw the doorman fuss with his signal box the moment he recognized Nelda.

"Some little bus," he said. "What is it?"
She told him the name of the engine and chassis, a name familiar to every driver in the world.

"I see..." Tait withheld a desire to turn her over his knee and spank her. The special body, which her father "had built" for her, must have cost several times the price of an average car.

"That's all you know about it?" She shrugged. "Of course he's given me things. Like this silly car. But when I really wanted to have something—something that meant everything to me, he'd never see it my way."

"I think that's a very normal reaction. Singing in a night club is a tough grind—and not all the patrons are the best, you know."

HE could no longer detect the faint perfume which had revealed her to him among all that crowd in the Golden Bowl. His sense of smell had grown accustomed to it now.

MYRA NORTH, Special Nurse -- By Thompson and Coll offenders; that only one woman was arrested in connection with any of the 89 investigations; that 42 per cent of the offenders were married; that the 89 offenders were engaged in 33 occupations; and that rape by force was the most common offense.

suddenly. "It's—so unusual. May I ask what it is?"
Nelda Starr laughed. "If it isn't unusual," she said, "someone is going to get into a lot of trouble. It doesn't have a name—unless you want to call it Nelda Starr—because it was made especially for me."

"Somehow," said Tait, "it suits you. It's enticing and yet—well, dangerous."
She turned her gaze to him. "Dangerous?"

"Yes. Isn't that what you wanted it to be?"
Nelda Starr was silent a moment. "I suppose so." Then: "You know, that's curious that you should say that."

"Curious? You mean that I should think that your perfume gives a hint of danger?"
She nodded. "Yes. Lud Dombey told me that one day."

SOMEHOW the remark started Tait. Even though he told himself not to be a fool he experienced a queer chill. "Of course dangerous, didn't it, for Lud Dombey?"

"That's all you know about it?" She shrugged. "Of course he's given me things. Like this silly car. But when I really wanted to have something—something that meant everything to me, he'd never see it my way."

"I think that's a very normal reaction. Singing in a night club is a tough grind—and not all the patrons are the best, you know."

"Uncle" John McCleary, who has hundreds of friends over this part of West Texas, and who has been confined to his room for the past several months, is gradually improving and feeling much better, he said yesterday.

"You tell the boys," said "Uncle John," that I celebrated my 78th birthday a couple of days ago and thought about my friends everywhere who have been so generous and kind to me since my illness. I want all my friends to come to see me because I love them and appreciate them all."

He laughed and said, "impress on the 'boys' to come out, bring someone with them."
