WHITE HOUSE PERSONNEL TO BE CHANGED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The White House said today a successor to James Roosevelt as a White House secretary will be named.
Resignation of James Roosevelt as his father's secretary was announced yesterday, along with the impending retirement of Attorney General Homer Cummings from the cabinet. Other changes in high administrative personnel are expected.
Hollywood heard rumors that a movie executive's job waited for James Roosevelt. He denied having accepted any Hollywood job, but said he would return Saturday for another month of rest in California from a recent abdominal operation.

Attorney General Cummings, fulfilling a desire to return to private practice, will be the first of Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet to resign.

McCord learned the trade from his father when he was 16 years old. He still prefers the "old-fashioned" distilling machinery and jealously guards the formula his father taught him for whiskey distilling.
McCord is employed at a distillery in Junex, Mex., having moved from Milton when the plant was relocated.

Eastland Mayor Gives Support to Red Cross Drive

Mayor C. W. Hoffmann of Eastland urged Wednesday that all citizens cooperate in the annual Red Cross membership drive now in progress.
C. J. Rhodes is chairman of the Eastland drive.
The Eastland drive is expected to continue until Thanksgiving, according to R. C. Kinnaird, chairman of the county Red Cross chapter.
"When we take into consideration that when any calamity of any nature occurs to the people of any section of our country and the Red Cross forces are always the first on the ground to render every assistance necessary, it seems that everyone should not hesitate to do his best for the cause," commented Kinnaird.

Ranger Youth Makes Some Long Trips As TCU Band Member

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16.—Garland Montgomery of Ranger is one of the members of the Texas Christian University Horned Frog Band selected to accompany the "Frog" No. 1 team of the nation and the student body to the T. C. U.-Rice football game in Houston next Saturday.
This is Garland's second year in the Horned Frog Band. He plays trombone in the "Swing" Band and the Concert Band.
The trips with the football team are the main features of the band's activities during the fall and in making these trips the band has traveled from coast to coast, appearing in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, St. Louis, Columbus, Philadelphia, New York City and centers of the South and Southwest.
In the spring the band presents concerts in towns throughout the state.
For the past two years the band has broadcast on a commercial program. This year the band may be heard on a sustaining broadcast every Sunday night. On these programs the Horned Frog Band plays both popular and classical selections.
The Concert Band will begin a series of concerts the second week in December. The Concert Band is a smaller group of musicians, chosen for the express purpose of playing music of a more serious and ambitious nature than the functions of the larger band will allow.
Earlier in the fall Montgomery went with the Horned Frog Band to Philadelphia. Last year he traveled to the east.

YOUTH ADMITS TORCH MURDER IN NIGHT CLUB

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Nov. 16.—Sheriff A. H. Golder said today he had a young Fort Clark cavalryman's statement that he and another man started a night club fire in which Mrs. William Tullis was burned to death near Olney last July 12.
Jim Robinson, operator of the club, his son, D. Robinson, and Coy Warren, 19, who enlisted in the U. S. Cavalry three weeks ago, had been named in murder and arson charges.
Golder announced Warren confessed he and D. Robinson fired the night club with the knowledge of Jim Robinson.

DELAY VOTE ON HOLDING AUTO SHOW

Final decision on a proposal to conduct a county-wide automobile show in Eastland during December was deferred, pending further discussion, at a meeting of several Eastland dealers Tuesday night.
The meeting was held in the chamber of commerce with Secretary-Manager H. J. Tanner presiding.
That the suggested show would prove of benefit to the public and automobile dealers was the view of those who attended.
One obstacle in the promotion of the suggested show would be a suitable building in which to house the cars, discussion disclosed. All suitable buildings in Eastland are occupied.
Tanner and dealers are to contact others before the final decision is reached.
It was stated at the meeting that a tent could be rented, if the show was held, from a Waco concern.

TSES Budget Cut Stand Unchanged By Federal Board

Stand of the Social Security Board at Washington has not been changed as to its reduction in the quarterly budget of the Texas State Employment Service, according to information to Congressman Clyde L. Garrett.
A recently announced budget form will result soon in the closing of many small offices in Texas or a personnel reduction in the larger offices.
A delegation of Texas senators and representatives pleaded in vain recently with A. J. Altmeyer, chairman of the Social Security Board at Washington, to rescind the budget cut.
It has been pointed out by some that the budget cut will seriously impair the functions of the TSES offices which receive claims for benefits from the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, in registering the unemployed and aid in finding them jobs.

The movement was led by Harry Bridges, west coast maritime leader, whose deportation as an alleged communist was demanded by Commander Stephen Chadwick of the American Legion at its state convention in Indianapolis, Ind., today.
Passage came with amazing speed after John L. Lewis had crushed an incipient "left wing revolt."

Peoples' Activities In War Time Filed In School Archives

AUSTIN, Texas.—In the archives of the University of Texas there are filed away increasingly valuable evidence of the activities of people of the State during the time of war. More than fifty filing cabinet drawers in the library archives of the University have been filled with collections made by the Texas War Records Collection Bureau, established in October, 1918, and which functioned for several years.
Instigated by the desire of several Texas historians that the war records of the State be gathered and preserved, the bureau selected Dr. Milton R. Gutsch, professor of history at the University, as director of the work.
The search for material brought to the bureau books, war pamphlets, tags, buttons, war music, photographs, newspapers, war maps, and countless State records. Especially complete and valuable is the collection of war-time propaganda posters from, not only the United States, but Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Germany, Canada, and Russia. Some of these are advertising posters with war mottoes of private corporations, and are regarded as vivid illustrations of the crystallization of public opinion during war years.
Dr. Gutsch, speaking of the collection of printed material, said: "Although much of the war literature is of an ephemeral character, it is certainly of value in the study of war propaganda and war psychology. In collecting this literature, preference has been given to memoirs and diaries."
A team of six animal husbandry majors will represent Tech at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago Nov. 26-Dec. 3. They will judge cattle, horses, hogs and sheep. BRITAIN MAY GIVE REFUGEES GUIANA LAND

The United States and Great Britain are considering a plan under which Britain would offer land in her colonies to Jewish refugees from Germany.
Britain would give the land and the United States and other nations would provide the capital. If the plan matures Britain would offer the land in British Guiana and other colonies and then ask the United States and other nations for contributions.
President Roosevelt's denunciation of Nazi persecutions of Jews and his call for improved defense of the Americas resounded around the world.
"U. S. A. Moves to Split With Germany," commented the Daily Mirror in London, where it was indicated a five-power conference, the U. S., Britain, France, Holland and Brazil, would be called to consider the Jewish problem.
"President Roosevelt sheds a tear for the Jews" remarked a Rome newspaper. In Italy the long delayed friendship treaty between the fascists and Great Britain was put in effect.
Nazi pressure on Jews continued. The German minister of economics revealed that $500,000,000 of Jewish holdings had been seized. This is one-third of the Jewish wealth in Germany.
At Dusseldorf, the Nazi party made a martyr of Ernst von Rath, German diplomat, slain by a Jewish boy in Paris.
Mr. Roosevelt's plans for defense of the western world against aggression were received with approval, but cautious approval, in the big South American republics. The reaction in Argentina, Brazil, Chili and Mexico was friendly, but careful. Smaller nations approved the declaration.
Chief importance of President Roosevelt's statement appeared to be in connection with the Pan-American conference at Lima, Peru, where the U. S. delegation is expected to devote its energy to strengthening the unity of the western hemisphere.

The Warriors From Mars
a Sign of the Jitters

That dizzy radio broadcast which had half the country rushing to the telephone to find out if America really was being invaded by warriors from Mars was a sign of the times in more ways than one.

First of all, of course, it was an indication that radio has not yet got its signals quite straight on the matter of its responsibility to the public. Radio seeks to be both an entertainment medium and a channel for news; but to get the two roles confused in one broadcast is as great a blunder as if a newspaper editor should hand over his front page to a gigantic hoax, excusing himself on the plea that he had set an agate paragraph of explanation back among the want ads.

Beyond that, however, the thing is significant for the light it casts on the general state of jitters that prevails nowadays.

It is hard to think of any other time when a stunt like this would have raised such a rumpus. In ordinary times an innocent citizen, taking his ease by his fireside, would have recognized these frantic bulletins about mysterious fires, air raids, hostile armies and so on for the fakes they so obviously were. He would have yawned, fluttered the pages of his newspaper, and wondered idly what those script-writers wouldn't think of next.

And he would have taken that attitude because he would have known, without being told, that those wild stories simply had to be false. He didn't live in the kind of a world where things like that could happen without warning. The framework of world order and civilized decency was still uncracked. It simply wasn't possible for doom to descend on an innocent people without warning.

But today—well, the citizens can't quite be sure. Tell him that a fleet of bombarding planes has suddenly begun to unload its cargo over a populous American city and he will rack his brain trying to imagine who could be doing it, and why; but he will not have the instinctive, confident thought: Why, that simply can't possibly be true.

And in that change you can read the terrible, tragic change that has come over the world we are living in.

It is a world from which security has vanished. You cannot survey it calmly and assure yourself that man-made catastrophes will not appear without warning. You may be able to feel that as far as America is concerned they are highly improbable; but the crust civilization built up so painfully over the savage has cracked, and savagery can and does break through. Those catastrophes can happen, and the world today is in the situation of a man who, strolling by a cemetery on Halloween, suddenly discovers that he really does believe in ghosts.

Perhaps there is in the world a more important task than the one of restoring the old condition of order and security—but it is hard to imagine what that more important task might be. For that kind of security is a fundamental of civilization. Without it, civilization is little more than a sham.

Season for Scarlet
Fever Approaches
Is Doctor's Warning

AUSTIN, Tex.—"The seasonal rise in prevalence of scarlet fever has been noted," Doctor Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, reports. "Each year as cold weather approaches, reports of scarlet fever tend to increase in number. This year, a slight increase in recorded prevalence was noted in September, with a larger rise recorded for October and the first week of November."

Fever, headache, sore throat and vomiting are early signs of invasion by the scarlet fever germ. The incubation period, or the phase between exposure and onset came back to me. He was the mayor of Mansfield and his name was—House!

of illness, is usually from two to six days. On the second day, as a rule, a rash appears which may cover the entire body.

The rash of scarlet fever is usually but not always present. The patient who has symptoms and signs of the disease, but without rash, should be isolated as well as the patient who shows the rash.

A disease such as scarlet fever is dreaded whether in severe or mild form, because of the frequent development of secondary complications especially those of septic nature. Among complications, the most frequent are those affecting ears, neck glands, kidneys or the heart. Convalescent human immune serum prepared in laboratories can be used in many cases to prevent and modify the disease.

Scarlet fever is a disease of the colder months and may be expected to continue until late spring. The current increase in prevalence is not cause for alarm but emphasizes the importance of car-

The operation was successful. Now, Miss Ward is walking again. She plans to visit her parents in West Plains, Mo., as soon as she learns to walk a little better.

I Give You Texas

BY BOYCE HOUSE
A dog with a bank account. Bingo, who is mainly German Shepherd, lives in Jefferson and is a universal favorite. Offer him a nickel and he will take the coin in his mouth and jog to the butcher shop or the drug store—depending on whether he craves meat or sweets.

The recent death of Mrs. Lizzie Henderson, on whose land the discovery well of the Jefferson field was drilled, brings back memories of an interview a year ago. Mrs. Henderson, then 84, came to the county when she was only four, her father bringing 40 slaves from Alabama. He was a surgeon in the Confederate army. For 60 years, Mrs. Henderson had lived in the same house, with the open hallway running down the middle, with its substantial, old furniture, and its old clock with the loud ticking. Sometimes she used a cane with a silver head of William Jennings Bryan (her father was a "free silver" man).

In the '70's and '80's, Mrs. Henderson said, adding, "I love Jefferson. I never want to live anywhere else. Yes, I would like to see the boats come back"—a reference to the palmy days when Jefferson was at the head of navigation and had a population of nearly 30,000.

In the front yard stood a lime tree, a gift from her uncle, Congressman Dave Culberson, one of the most picturesque figures in the history of Texas. She set out the exotic tree and it grew and flourished. Dave Culberson died; his son, Charles A. Culberson, carried on the tradition of public service as governor and as United States senator; years ago, Senator Culberson died. And now Mrs. Henderson is gone. The tree still stands.

Even the automobile publicists have "gone Hollywood." In a description of one of the new cars is this touch, "Airfoam ride with auto-poise control."

The anti-nepotism law ought to be amended so that the spirit of the statute can not be trampled under foot. As the law now is, if you are at the head of a state department, you can't give your father-in-law a job, but you can hire the brother of another state official and that official can hire your father-in-law. The state payroll has become loaded down with kinfolks, many of them lazy, incompetent and performing no real service for the taxpayers' dollars. This job-swapping should be prohibited by law.

People whom I have met and then, the next time, failed to recognize, will understand from this that it is not high hattedness but

At 2:30 Thursday afternoon, Nov. 17, the 1920 club will hold its regular meeting in the blue room of the Gholson hotel.

Mrs. Fred Warren will be leader for the meeting, during which a study of Emerson will be made. All calls will be answered with quotations from Emerson. A discussion on "Self Reliance" will be given by Mrs. Hal H. Hunter.

weeks for our annual pre-holiday sale." Mr. Burch said today, "and the long hot season and backward fall weather make this sale doubly interesting as our stocks of fall and winter merchandise, as well as gift goods, are unusually heavy and more are arriving daily."

Hassens has held many sales in past years, and each has been recognized by local buyers as a bargain event, as the company offers regular nationally advertised quality merchandise on these events.

"We are trying to make this our outstanding event," Mr. Burch stated. Much of our large stock of up-to-date merchandise will be offered at fractions of its real value, and special selling events will be announced through the columns of The Ranger Times from day to day during the sale. We hope the public will visit our store during the coming two weeks and supply its fall, winter and Christmas gift needs while prices are so low."

Ranger Home Demonstration Club Has Meeting

Legion Auxiliary Has Social Tuesday Night
The Carl Barnes Unit No. 69 of the American Legion Auxiliary met Tuesday night, Nov. 15, at the Legion club rooms for their social of the month.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Lee Dockery, membership chairman in charge of the program.

After a ritualistic opening the following program was given: Piano solo by Dorothy Peacock. Vocal Solo by Lillian Ruth Carter, accompanied on piano by Dorothy Peacock.

Reading by Mabel Lee Stiles. Address by Mrs. Lonnie Herring, "For Peace and Democracy, Join the American Legion Auxiliary."

This address was given in a very interesting manner and much good was derived from it by all present.

The opportunities for worthwhile service which the auxiliary offers are each year attracting more and more of the eligible women into its ranks. The auxiliary is a service organization, its purpose being to support the work of the Legion. It's activities cover the whole field of civic and patriotic service, and in them every woman from a veteran's family can find something to absorb her attention and interest.

"As a great national organization the auxiliary gives its members a part in activities of nationwide importance, with the Legion. It is wielding powerful influence for stability in these uncertain times, and is working effectively for enduring peace and secure democracy. Every woman who enrolls now will increase the auxiliary's strength for this work during the coming year."

May we have your membership in the Carl Barnes unit and you help carry on this great work of ours.

Mrs. R. H. Hansford was hostess and served a delicious plate of canapes, pumpkin pie and coffee to Mrs. Grace R. Taylor, L. R. Herring, S. E. Booth, A. N. Larson, J. J. Carter, Peacock, Carrie Brady, Gen Hazard, Preston Burks, J. B. Heister, P. E. Stiles, Ruth Musick, K. E. Ambrose, J. D. McClister, H. T. Schooley, Lee Dockery and Misses Lillian Ruth Carter, Lonnie Herring and Mabel Lee Stiles and Master Bobby Peacock.

House of David is Looking For Game Here In December

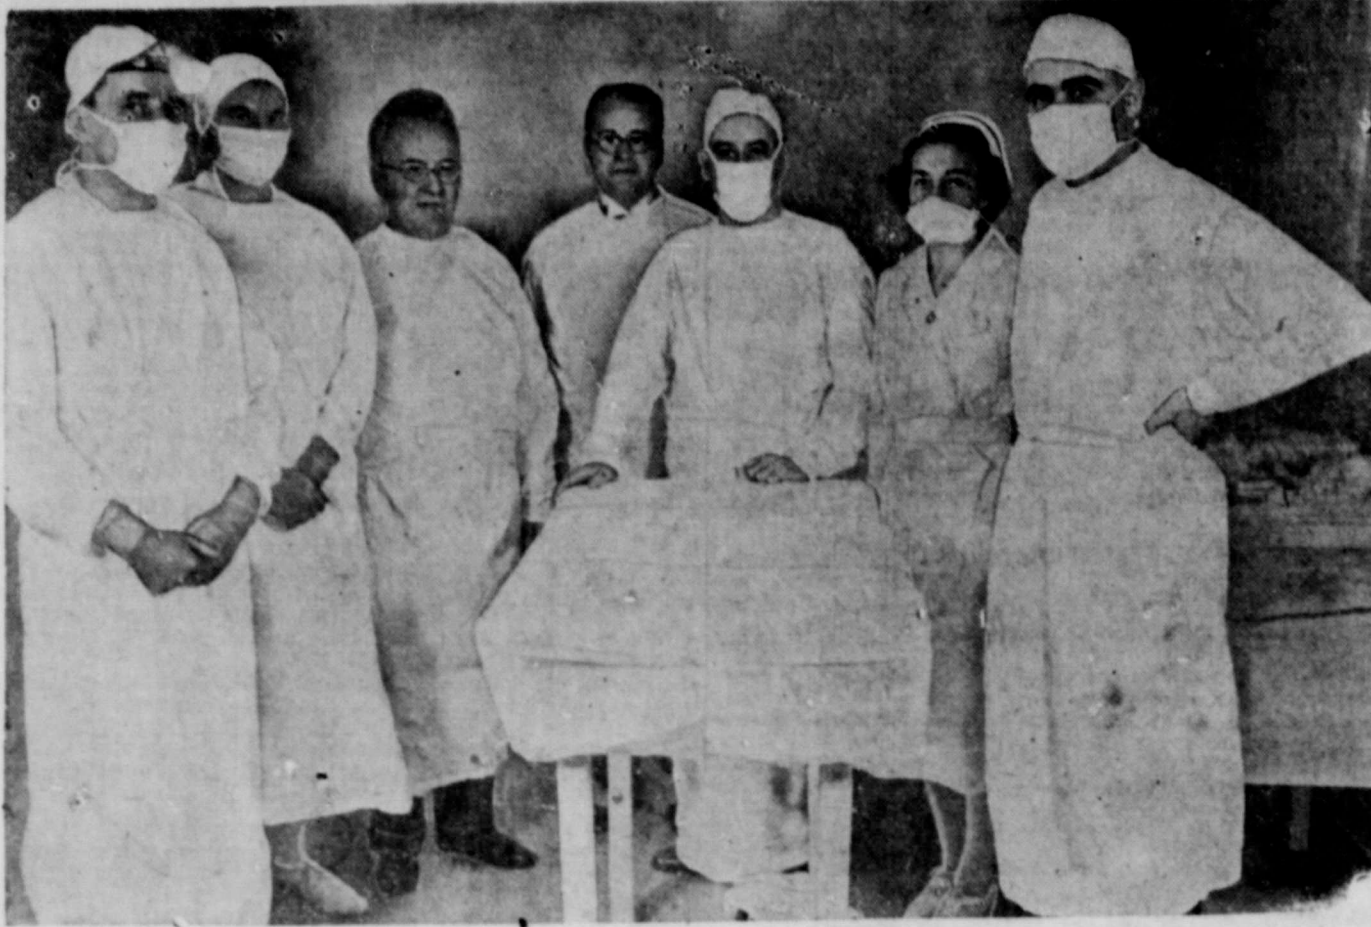

The House of David basketball team, whippersnappers and all, has offered to play a basketball game in Ranger, it was announced today by W. T. Walton, superintendent of schools. If the game is scheduled it will be played about a week before Christmas.

The high school and junior college coaches are anxious to have the team play here, it was stated today, but do not know whether there would be enough interest in the game to justify booking the team on a percentage basis.

The House of David team is reputed to be one of the better squads on the road right now, and has players who are capable of all kinds of tricky plays. They put on a good show, according to advance publicity.

If enough interest is shown in having the team play here the game will be matched, with either the high school or junior college teams being the opponents, or possibly one team playing the first half and the other the second half of the game.

Louisiana Voters Confirm a Tax On Sulphur In State

NEW YORK.—The action taken by Louisiana voters in ratifying a state constitutional amendment stabilizing the sulphur tax basis completes an undertaking which stands as "a significant example of what can be accomplished when government and industry enter into co-operative effort to improve business, increase employment and further the best interests of the people of the state," Langbourne M. Williams, Jr., president of the Freeport Sulphur Company, said here.

Do As Thousands Do to Ease HEADACHE GET GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN

The amendment, passed almost unanimously by the Louisiana legislature last summer, reduces the severance tax from $2 to $1.95 per long ton and provides for ad valorem taxes on sulphur in the group, with constitutional limitations.

Williams explained that, in order to achieve a fair and permanent solution of the sulphur tax problem the industry, on its part, has waived the constitutional exemption from ad valorem taxation on unmined sulphur. The state, on its part, has extended cooperation in the form of a reduction of the severance tax, in order to stimulate sulphur production, he said.

"I am sure that the message to American industry implicit in this action will bring great returns in the industrialization drive which Gov. Leche has so vigorously sponsored and which in two years has been credited with bringing $60,000,000 worth of new industrial construction into the state, with its resulting 20,000 jobs in construction and 30,000 permanent jobs in production," he said.

Williams explained that action looking to readjustment of the sulphur tax basis was first instituted about a year ago. At that time the Louisiana State Board of Commerce and Industry, noting the adverse effect of the $2 per ton tax on Louisiana production, sought the Freeport company's co-operation, asking that it proceed with a $300,000 expansion program originally planned for 1936. In making the request, the board said it felt the industry could well rely on the legislature to "deal fairly with" the tax problem.

LOVERS AWEIGH

BY BETTY WALLACE

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JUDY A. L. C. O. T. T.—admiral's daughter. She faced a choice between two navy suitors.

CHAPTER IX
IN a moment, Judy had recovered her equilibrium. She sipped her coffee and said, "Oh, goodness, even an engaged girl has the right to lunch with another man. We're both acting as though we'd found her in a secret love nest. Come, come! It's probably an old friend, nothing in it."

warm had turned into a day that was really hot.
She dropped Diane off at the bungalow and went home. To her amazement, Jack Hanley's car was parked at the curb in front of her house. Her heart did a funny little flop. It had been so long since she had seen him!

"No," he said. "It wouldn't." Then he stood up and picked up his cap. "Goodbye, Judy. Remember, if you ever need me—if you ever change your mind, I'll be waiting."

"You're imagining things!" Judy said to herself harshly, and she picked up a blue straw that was lying on a table and asked Diane, "How about this one? It's cute."

"I came to tell you I'm leaving," he said. Her mother mumbled something and went out, leaving them alone. Judy said, "Diane told me you had requested Pensacola. But Jack, why?"

"I haven't forgotten in five years," he said. "Transport?" "No, I'm driving." "That's a long trip."

Her interest in shopping for a hat for Diane had flagged. She kept seeing Marvel's face, hearing the lightness of her laugh. That man's hand on the table had been so close to Marvel's reddened fingers. There was something between them—as if they shared a delightful, forbidden secret.

"But I've missed you already. You haven't been near me in weeks!" "Have you really missed me?" "Yes."

AFTER a while Judy went upstairs to bathe her hot face and swollen eyes. It was all over. Jack would find someone else in Pensacola. "He deserves to be happy. He's so fine!"

"You're imagining things!" Judy said to herself harshly, and she picked up a blue straw that was lying on a table and asked Diane, "How about this one? It's cute."

There was a silence. She felt an unaccountable embarrassment. He was looking at her steadily. His dark eyes were grave. His hair was rumpled, as if he had been running his fingers through it. For the first time since she had known him, Judy thought swiftly, "He's so nice looking!"

"Callers!" She sat up, rubbed her eyes. "Who is it?" Her mother said gently, "Dwight Campbell and his fiancée."

"Marvel can buy $50 hats if she wants to," Judy said unwillingly. Diane's eyes lingered on the blue hat. "I told Bill he should have married money," she said. "I suppose I should have, too. That's the dickens of love. You forget about money." She brightened. "Bill thinks I'm beautiful in a sun-bonnet. Come on. I'm not going to buy a hat after all. I've got last year's, and it's good enough to push a baby carriage in."

"OH," she said passionately. "I wish I could I want to know don't you, how much I want to get away from here, show them that I don't care! But I can't. And it wouldn't be sporting, to use you for—"

"What can he want?" She changed quickly. She made her mouth red with lipstick, and put rouge on her cheeks. When she greeted Dwight and Marvel, she was smiling and casual. "This is a surprise!" she said. And then, "What can I do for you?"

WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Possibilities of radio for evil as well as good were known to politicians long before the "evolution from Marx" broadcast which scared so many citizens.

WELL, come on up to the office and we'll talk it over. "I'm in Milwaukee," was the reply. "What?" yelled the man on this end. "I've spent $30 telephoning for a two-cent speech. I thought you were in Washington!"

One of the most recent lessons was learned this year by Senator F. Ryan Duffy, Wisconsin Democrat.

ICE has been selling in Washington at ten dollars a pound, thanks to the super salesmanship of Jim Moran, who recently publicized the ice business by selling an ice-box to an Eskimo in Alaska.

Some nice fellows came to Duffy and said they wanted to put him and his family on a national hook-up in a program displaying "a day in the life of a senator."

Then Moran decided he was a sucker to be selling ice at $7.50 a pound and raised the price to $10. He confidently expects to move the rest at that figure. The idea is that ice dealers stick their own ice into window displays alongside Moran ice and prove by thermometers and other devices that their ice is just as good, though younger.

A HIGH party official at Democratic headquarters asked his secretary to get an important campaign speaker on the telephone through the switchboard.

SOCIAL SECURITY BOARD, now paying out small lump sums in old-age insurance claims to account-holders recently deceased, recently paid identical claims on the death of two male twins. The record showed they were born Sept. 7, 1904, remained unmarried, received identical wages and both died Oct. 4, 1938. The only other thing the record said was "inquest pending," possibly indicating a fatal automobile accident. (Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)
