of Man Is Hanging In Tree In Ohio

By United Press
COLUMBUS, Ill., Dec. 11.—A man, clad in woollen clothes and a long brown coat, was found hanging by a tree in a corn field today, his body suspended by a branch from a low branch of a tree so low the knees of a man at first believed it to be a man, later theorized that he might have stood under the tree and slipped the noose around his neck and then locked his arms around the trunk of the tree so he could not fall. Indignation and Sorrow Should Mean—Action

The United States has blown off a good deal of steam lately, telling the world how indignant it is over Hitler's most recent outrages against the Jews.

This has been all to the good. The sentiment does the country credit, and it has undoubtedly helped to solidify sentiment against the Nazi philosophy of life. But it is about time for the people of the United States to ask themselves just how indignant and outraged they really are.

Are they, in other words, indignant and outraged enough to do something concrete and substantial for the victims of the Hitler terror?

Germany contains something in the neighborhood of half a million Jews. Every consideration of humanity and plain decency demands that as many as possible of these luckless people be moved from the country. But to do that will take a great deal of money, some careful planning—and, last but not least, the provision of a new place for them to live.

By recalling its ambassador and voicing its indignation in less official but equally eloquent ways, the United States has shown that the fate of these people is—to a certain extent, at least—a matter in which it is directly concerned. Therefore it can hardly do less than take an active part in the formulation and execution of plans for their relief.

Which suggests the possibility that the people of the United States might give some serious thought to the question of relaxing their immigration restrictions in one way or another to permit the entry of some of the Hitler refugees.

It may be that it would be unwise to relax those restrictions. The present immigration policy resulted from nationwide dissatisfaction with the way the old system of free immigration was working; the country's first duty is to itself, and it can hardly change this policy without carefully weighing all of the factors.

Yet the subject at least needs to be examined thoughtfully. And if in the end it is decided that the United States cannot offer a haven to the German refugees, then it is pretty clearly the country's duty to give active support to the best practical plan for settling them elsewhere. It could support such a plan by contributing organizers and administrators, by providing funds, by furnishing transport, supplies and the odds and ends of equipment that the refugees would need to establish themselves in their new land. All things considered, the country can hardly dodge this duty. By the vigor of its protests it has committed itself. It has demonstrated that it is not indifferent to the fate of the Jews in Germany.

But it has talked and protested enough. Definite action to relieve those victims of barbarism is now in order. We shall soon see whether the people of America are sorry and indignant enough to do something—or only sorry and indignant enough to pass resolutions.

THEY BROUGHT BACK KILL TO PROVE THEIR STORIES

Here are members of an Eastland hunting party who posed with their kill at the Texas Public Utilities Corporation ice plant preparatory to storing the deer. The party hunted in the Keizer pasture about 25 miles from Mason. Sixteen deer were brought to Eastland. Back row, L. A. Hightower, Sam Gamble, Hiram Moore, Gayland Poe, Dr. W. S. Poe, Albert Taylor, Congressman Clyde I. Garrett, Earl Conner, Sr., State Representative P. L. Crossley, F. M. Kenny, Ed Sanderson. In front are "mascoets" Bill Hoffmann, son of Mayor and Mrs. C. W. Hoffmann, and Dan Hightower, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hightower. All are of Eastland except Moore who is a Dallas resident.

"The Shining Hour" Metro's newest release brings together a galaxy of stars in an interesting story that is packed with suspense and action. The scenes above from the picture show Joan Crawford, Melvyn Douglas, Robert Young and Margaret Sullivan in bits from the picture which is scheduled to open at the Arcadia theatre beginning today.

SPORT GLANCES By Grayson

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

CHICAGO—Robert C. Zupke is hearing the wolver at Illinois for the first time in 26 years, but the little Dutchman says he built himself a doghouse and will go into it if he has to.

Bob Zupke won't step down until he feels that his successor has fair chance. He believes it would be suicide for a young coach to take charge in the present situation.

Zupke traces Illinois' troubles to a shutting off of the normal flow of talent. Athletes with their eyes open look around these days, and Zupke makes it quite clear that they find more attractive propositions elsewhere. As a matter of fact, developments of more recent date indicate that the Illini needs not only better procurers, but also more reliable hanger-oners, for excellent material has come, gone and departed.

ILLINOIS has won only 17 of 50 Western Conference games during the past nine campaigns. Seven of the 17 have been at the expense of lowly Chicago.

"But ours is the type of team that should go out on the field to fight to live . . . not to try to take the offensive," says Zupke. "I realized that the 1938 team was lacking in speed and talent and this fall. When a team hasn't got it you should coach morale. That is why scores were so close in the Notre Dame, Northwestern and Michigan games."

Not a few Illinois men would like to see Red Harold Grange as a whack at the Illinois job.

But Grange wouldn't step in unless his idol, Zupke, was perfectly willing to step out. It also is perhaps true that the old Gallop Ghost . . . with varied interests . . . is earning 50 per cent more each year than the highest priced drill-master in the Big Ten is being paid on a straight salary basis.

ON the other hand, Grange long has had a burning desire to be head coach of a college team, and no doubt would jump at a chance to hop to it at Champaign if the job were open.

But perhaps the grumbling against Zupke will hustle up Illinois alumni.

Meanwhile, the Monday morning quarterbacks are beginning to get aboard Francis Schmidt, and with their squawking prompt the State more efficient recruiting.

And Frank Bachman of Michigan State is said to have the track leading to Ira Irl Tubbs' post at Iowa . . . provided he will it. Buck Shaw of Santa Clara is said to be second choice.

With moves for more vigorous football attitudes on every level—even at the University of Chicago . . . lives of promising athletes positively will be in danger in the rush, for—

By now it is plain to even Illinois and Chicago alumni that 12-second man can't be coached to catch a 10-second man . . . not even by a Zupke.

Garrett Speaks at Cisco Next Monday

Rio Grande Valley Can Now See Circ

By United Press
EDINBURG, Texas—Beastly veterinary doctors have finally won their fight against the fever tick, children in the Rio Grande valley may get to see circus again.

The last circus in this area was held in 1936. Then several cases of tick infestation were reported, and the circuses immediately cancelled their 1937 engagements because they did not want to expose their animals.

Now, however, only south Hidalgo county remains unquarantined, and Leonard Frost, supervisor of the Livestock and Poultry Commission of the state, believes that this area will be up and again in time for the circus season.

● SERIAL STORY
LOVERS AWEIGH

BY BETTY WALLACE
COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JUDY ALCOFF—admiral's daughter. She faced a choice between two army sailors.
DWAYNE CAMPBELL—ambitious lieutenant. He faced a choice between his wife and duty.
JACK HANLEY—flying sailor. He faced a test of a patient love.
MAR J. HASTINGS—navy wife. She faced the test of being a gun-sailor.

CHAPTER XXX

JUDY was trembling as she supported behind the wheel of her car. Tears stung her eyes. Marvel and Dwight were going to have a baby. This would make right all the tortured little conflicts between them. Marvel would be soft, she'd not be so selfish and demanding. The baby would absorb her time and emotion, and when Dwight was away at sea, her life would not be empty.
"Oh, I'm glad for them!" Judy thought, "Glad! Like a thick fog lifting to let sunshine drench down on the dampened land, happiness was warming through her. All the doubts and fears she harbored in her heart so long were gone.

ture on her cheek. He felt it, and said wonderingly, "Judy, what's happened? What brought you here?"
"Oh, darling, darling, I'm so happy. I'm alive! Alive, for the first time in months. Oh, Jack!" She took his hand. She sat on the side of the bed. He smiled at her.
"Jack, tell me, did you ever feel safe and sure, all the time—did you feel that it was all over?"
He looked at her and said gravely, "I've been worried, Judy. But I'm not now. Something's happened. You're different."
"I'm alive, I tell you! Oh, darling, I didn't want you to know, but I—I was unsure. And I—I did see Dwight."

"I know that," he said quietly.
"Jack!" Suddenly she felt the pain that she must have known, and she said, "Oh, my dear, I wouldn't have done it if I had realized."
"You had to get over it," he said. "Like being stage struck. You outgrew it. I was willing to wait."

You're so wonderful. I was afraid he'd get you."
She lay very still. She said, "It was a dream. A miracle. I can't understand why I didn't know it before. But I just clung to it, I just kept it with me and 'ursed it..."
His understanding was sweet. She said, "And you're handsome, too. Aren't you?" She tried to laugh. "I shouldn't be here. No doubt the nurse is scandalized." She touched his cheek. "Marvel and Dwight are going to have a baby. Isn't that swell?"
He was really surprised at that. "How do you know?"

"SHE confessed," he said. "I eavesdropped."
Then she said, "We'll never speak of them again. When we see them, we'll pretend that nothing—" Her voice broke. That wouldn't be easy. You couldn't dismiss the past just by making up your mind to forget. Possibly Jack would never forget the anguish she had caused him. And Marvel would never forget. And Judy... No, Judy would never really forget either.
He said tenderly, "That's part of living, Judy. Learning."
"I've learned. Truly I have."
There was a silence. They clung to each other's fingers. At last he said, "Suppose we don't wait a week after I get out? I can walk. I walked this afternoon. Maybe the doctor will let me go home tomorrow."
"Silly!" She smiled at him. "If you threaten to leave the hospital, when the doctor says you're strong enough, you know what I'll do? I'll make the chaplain come right up here and marry us here! And then you'll have to do what I say!"
His eyes lighted, his big arms reached for her. "Judy!" After a while he said, "That's not a bad idea, Miss Alcott. Not a bad idea at all. I may hold you to that." And he was kissing her again, until his heart was hammering madly and the room was spinning around her.

THE COMEBACK EFFORT

Will Speak

CLYDE GRISSON, associate justice of the 11th Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland, will speak on "The Doctor in Court" at a meeting of the Eastland-Calahan Counties Medical Society Thursday at the Connelley hotel in Eastland.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS

Letters To Santa Claus

Dear Santa: I am a little girl four years old. I want a doll with a bottle in its hand, a guitar and some candy, nuts and fruits. And don't forget other boys and girls. Yours truly, Marjorie Ann Catlin.
Dear Santa Claus: I want you to please bring me a big pretty baby doll, a trunk, and if you have a doll dresser and chest. I want some to match my doll bed. I would like to have some clothes too. I don't go to school. I am five. Please leave me some fruit, nuts and candy, too. With love, Janice Ruth Bryan, Eastland.
Dear Santa: I am a little boy almost six years old. So please bring me a cowboy suit with two guns, a toy farm, and a tool chest. Also fruit, candy and nuts. Be sure to remember all the other little boys and girls. Bryan Wasson, Eastland.

Dear Santa Claus: I am writing you a few lines to tell you what I want for Christmas. I want some candy and toys. I am three years old. I am a little boy. If you bring me my toys I will like you forever. Don't forget me, Raymond Sato, Eastland.
Dear Santa Claus: I am a poor little boy that won't get hardly anything if you don't help me a little. Of course I can't expect you to help me very much as you have so many to see after. My mother works at the sewing room and can't buy us very much. I would like for you to bring me something and something for my little brother and sister. Our ages are 8, 5, 4. Please think of us, we will appreciate anything you bring us. Santa pal, Bobbie Hanson, Eastland.
Dear Santa Claus: Santa how are you this fine Christmas year. I am O. K. Santa I am 12 years old. I hope you will come to see me. I go to school at South Ward. I am in the second grade and have a nice teacher. Santa, will you please bring me a BB gun, a car and a small gun. I am a good boy to my grandmother and grandfather and help them. Please bring me some candy and fruit. Yours, Mike Valdez, Eastland, North Bassett.

Dear Santa Claus: I am a little girl four years old. I want you to bring me a doll, a doll bed, some house shoes, a little chair, and a play doctor's and nurses kit, a little sewing machine, a cleaning set, some toy dishes, and some nuts, candy and fruit. Your friend, Elizabeth Anne Wright.
Dear Santa: I am a boy eight years old and in the second grade. I want you to bring me a tractor that you can ride in, a toy train, some boxing gloves, a pocket knife, some candy, fruits and nuts, and a drum. Your friend, Charles Wright.

Christ's New Commandment

Text: Matthew 5:43-48; 22:34-40; John 13:34, 35; 15:12-14

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance
I HAVE formerly remarked upon the great timeliness of recent lessons that come with particular appropriateness and challenge into the area of present world conditions and events.
Could there be a more important lesson at the present moment than this concerning Christ's new commandment of love? The civilized world stands appalled at the recent revelations of enmity and hate. We have seen the destruction of boundaries and the downfall of nations because peoples of different race and language refused to live together with mutual recognition of one another and of the mutual interests. We have seen a whole people persecuted, oppressed, robbed, and carried in incredible ways by one of the largest nations of Europe; and we have seen others in the same country similarly persecuted because of their religion.
In another part of the world an ancient and peaceable people has had its life uprooted and its country ravaged by a ruthlessly militaristic nation, concerning whom it may be said that they have only too sadly followed the example set them by western nations at their worst. Here in our own land we realized the menace to democracy that is present in sectional jealousies and in religious, social, and racial bigotry.

Surely there is no lesson that we need to learn so much as the lesson of love, and the fact that there can be no hope or happiness for humanity except where loving relationships are established among men.
JESUS made the message of love distinctive in that he applied it to every phase and relationship of life. He did not set it up as the bond between men in an ideal society, saying, "A day will come when all men will love one another, and when we shall have a society where that is possible." He brought his message of love into the world of actual humanity with all its varying interests and with all its conflicting jealousies and hates. And he said that the only way of bettering this world was where men learned, even in these very conditions, to love their enemies.

JOHN T. FLYNN

BY JOHN T. FLYNN
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK--As the United States turns her eyes toward South America in search of what President Roosevelt calls American "continental solidarity," there is one danger which seems to be overlooked.
One of the commonest of human frailties is found in the pervasiveness with which men flee from imaginary perils into the arms of real ones. At present an immense mania fills the ears about the German menace in South America. This is set up as a giant enemy to be met and conquered. And so much energy is developed to meet and overcome this ogre that we give no thought to the great serpent coiled in the bushes which is the real danger.
The trouble in our South American approach is to be found in our confusion of the terms "Nazism" and "Fascism." They are continually used interchangeably. Hence the discussion as to whether South America has gone Nazi or Fascist becomes obscured in a good deal of fog.
South America is not Nazi, is not going Nazi and probably never will. But South America is going Fascist.
Fascism represents a new approach to the solution of the difficulties of capitalism. It is a form of social government in which the state attempts to organize and plan and control the economic life of the people.
The essence of it is the division between the economic life and the purely political life. The latter is still entrusted to direct state servants, political officials, and even political legislature. The former—the economic life—is entrusted directly to the representatives of business organized into groups and empowered to make rules and regulations affecting production, prices, competition, investment, etc.
This is not German or Italian; although the idea was first tried in Italy and has spread to Germany and other countries. In fact it originated within the country itself.
Nazism includes a Fascist form of government, but it is something essentially German. It includes not only the Fascist government forms, but all those other racial, military and exterior policies which we associate with Hitler's regime.
This Nazism has made no headway in South America because but fascism is making its headway here and promises to make still more.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer
YOU can, if you must, make delicious dishes using canned food.
In this holiday season, time becomes a culinary element. Perhaps these recipes are what you want for those dinners you must prepare after a tiring day of Christmas shopping.

Frankfurters with Onions and Potatoes (4 servings)
One cup chopped onions, 2 tablespoons sausage or bacon fat, 4 frankfurters, 1-2 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1 cup meat broth or water, 3 or 4 cooked potatoes. Cook onions in fat until lightly browned. Skin frankfurters, cut in 1-2-inch slices. Add meat, salt and pepper and broth or water to onions. When hot, add diced potatoes. Simmer gently until potatoes have absorbed most of the liquid.
Sicilian Corned Beef Hash (4 servings)
One can corned beef hash (1 pound 10 ounces), 2 tablespoons butter, 1 1/2 cups tomato puree, 1 clove garlic finely minced, salt and pepper, dash tabasco sauce. Open can of hash. Melt butter

Fort Worth Pastor To Preach In Ranger
The First Presbyterian church of Ranger will be favored today with a sermon by the Rev. Everett B. King, pastor of the Hemphill Presbyterian church of Fort Worth.
Dr. King has one of the larger churches in Fort Worth. He is a young man of unusual ability and consecration. He has conducted revival meetings in many churches in the Presbytery of Abilene, with conspicuous success.
Gordon Wear, president of the Texas Christian Endeavor union, says: "He speaks our language." He comes to this section in the interest of the sesquicentennial of the church as it relates to Christian education.
The public generally is invited to hear Dr. King, and every member of the church is expected to be present.
Dr. King will speak at the Sunday school hour in Eastland, and at 3 p. m. at Strawn.
R. T. U. at 6:30 p. m. Evening worship at 7:30 p. m.

Special Services Are Being Planned At Calvary Baptist
On Sunday night, Calvary Baptist church plans to have a "Black and White" fellowship service on this order: The Macedonian colored Baptist church will attend Calvary in a body, using the reserved section for them. The colored choir will sing for 30 minutes in characteristic style; the colored minister will preach 15 minutes. Reciprocating, the white folk will sing 30 minutes and the pastor, Rev. J. A. Lovell, will bring a 15-minute message.
Sunday night the NYA groups of boys and girls are to sit in a reserved section and special recognition will be given them.
Rev. Calloway, a local Methodist minister, will speak at Calvary Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Temperance Battle Is to Be Renewed
By United Press
DALLAS, Tex.—Dr. T. C. Gardner, state director of the Texas Baptist Training Unions, said that "the challenge for temperance will be renewed" at the 48th annual convention of the unions, beginning Nov. 24 at Wichita Falls.
The 9,000 delegates will remain in session through Nov. 26, Gardner said.

Squirrels In Attic Present a Problem
DALLAS, Texas.—Dr. A. Taylor complained to police that squirrels were eating away his home.
"Wild squirrels have eaten their way through my roof into the attic," Dr. Taylor pleaded with Police Sergeant Ben Wicker. "I would appreciate your coming out and shooting them."
"I can't shoot them—nor can anyone else," Wicker replied. "It is against a city ordinance to fire arms within the city limits."
Taylor was advised to set a steel trap to rid his premises of the squirrels.

Baylor's Prospects In 1939 Are Good

By United Press
WACO, Texas.—Baylor University's football team next fall will miss Billy Patterson, Sam Boyd, and several other seniors on the 1938 team, but Coach Morley Jennings can point happily to the best sophomore prospects in the school's history.
The Bear Cubs played three games, the maximum allotted freshman teams under Southwest Conference rules, and won all three with ease. They beat the Texas Christian University Polliwogs 12 to 0; Paris Junior College 26 to 6; and the Southern Methodist Colts 17 to 2.
Two triple-threat backs, Jack W. and Dwight Parks of Elkhart, Texas, and a half dozen husky linemen will be strong candidates for varsity positions next fall.
Jim Crow, the Baylor freshman coach, declared that the team was "one of the finest I have ever coached." Jack Russell, an all-state tackle at Cleburne high school, was tried at end successfully on the Cubs team.

WELL KNOWN WOMAN
By STAMPFOR
J. E. R...
When a vicious disease threatens, or a hospital cot holds a feverish stricken being, from this box come little vials that bring new life and hope. Many a person in Ranger owes his life to this guardian of health. Surely it deserves to be called "the ice box that's a life box."
